County Employees Get Pay Hike

Some 285 Ingham county employees will receive pay raises following approval by the board of supervisors Friday of a record high budget of $5,105,032 for 1966. The new salary schedule will go into effect January 1.

This is an increase over last year's budget of $251,392. Some $90,000 of this increase is accounted for in the area of county employe salary raises and the creation of 11 new positions on the county staff.

Six of the 11 new employes will be additional patrolmen for the sheriff's department.

Supervisors raised relatively few questions over the proposed salary increases. Some discussion evolved from a clause in the salaries committee report that would give the committee power to reclassify employes without the consent of the board.

Robert O. Brugel, city of East Lansing supervisor and chairman of the salary committee, said that the committee would be granted this power, but that it would be unable to hire additional staff members without the board's consent.

While supervisors questioned some of the raises for county patrolmen, they approved without much discussion a raise for the probate office that was even higher than the original proposed salary plan.

All totaled the probate office increase amounted to $6,200 and was deducted from the contingent fund. Supervisors indicated that the higher salaries were necessary to get and keep qualified personnel in the probate office.

In supporting the proposed salary increases for the sheriff's department, Harold Slater, Lansing township supervisor, said that at the present salaries the county sheriff's department was only acting as a training ground for patrolmen who moved on to the better paying police units once they gained experience.

The salary increase does not cover positions of elected officials and members of boards and commissions. Under the salary plan employes at a particular grade or below will receive an equal number of hours off for time spent over normal hours of work.

Employes are also offered partial payment of medical and life insurance by the county, but this partial payment remains the same amount as past years.

The largest salary increases are found in the sheriff's department and the prosecutor's office. Beginning deputies will receive $5,935 to a 5 year rate of $7,214.

All other positions range between these figures and the salary paid to the undersheriff, $8,349 to $10,985.

Assistant prosecutors grade 1 would go from $7,214 to $9,204 after 5 years; grade 2 from $8,349 to $10,985; grade 3 from $9,964 to $12,717 and chief assistant from $10,985 to $14,034.

White Dog Awaiting Decision

The little White Dog one room grade school at Zimmer and Noble roads may be one step nearer a decision as to its future as a result of a public hearing conducted last Thursday night at the school house by the Ingham Intermediate Reorganization study committee.

The committee has scheduled a meeting tonight at the Intermediate board offices in Mason at which time some definite action on the White Dog matter is expected.

The handwriting on the wall showed up rather clear last Thursday night when the committee met with families from the school district of Wheatfield No. 6, the official name of what is commonly termed the White Dog district.

The hearing was called to determine what the sentiment of persons in the school district regarding a possible reorganization plan to do away with non-high school districts.

White Dog is the only non-high school district in Ingham county, but school officials say there are about 500 similar districts in the state.

Fourteen of the 19 families in the White Dog district were present at last Thursday's public hearing. A straw vote was taken to determine the sentiment of the residents.

Many voters indicated White Dog as their first choice and either Williamston or Dansville as their second. There were 8 votes to keep White Dog as it is, 7 in favor of sending its pupils to Dansville and 5 that favored Williamston.

The White Dog school is about 9 miles from Dansville and 4 from Williamston.

Lyle Thorburn, chairman of the subcommittee on non high school districts of the full reorganization committee, presided at the meeting in the school house.

The full study reorganization committee tonight is expected to hear a report of the meeting last Thursday and consider it.

Clarence Bird, a member of the study committee from White Dog district, said a motion to annex White Dog to the Williamston district was tabled at the last meeting until the hearing could be conducted.

Vandals Damage Leek Cemetery

Malevolent destruction at the Leek cemetery on Double road is under investigation by the Ingham county sheriff's deputies. A citizen reported that he found a family tombstone tipped over on Sunday. The caretaker told deputies that everything was in order Friday when he checked the cemetery.

Spook Day Near City Plans Halloween Party

The spooks, goblins, witches and assorted fellow travelers will be out in full force Saturday night at the annual Mason Kiwanis Halloween party. The yearly party is sponsored by Mason merchants and businessmen for area youngsters. The only string attached is that in return for the party the young people refrain from the window soaping and other vandalism which the holiday brings to other communities.

The schedule calls for fun and entertainment for all ages. Paraders in costume will form behind the Mason high school band at the Jefferson Street school at 7 and march to the football field. At 7:15 the costume judging will start.

Campaign Lags

About 35 percent of the Community Chest campaign goal has been collected according to Dr. T. VanderBoll, Mason general chairman. "Collections seem to be lagging somewhat in the entire area including Lansing," he said. Exact figures won't be available until the Mason area report meeting.

Crash Injures Toledo Woman

An accident at the intersection of Hull and Tomlinson roads put a Toledo woman in Mason General hospital with injuries, plus netting her a ticket for failure to yield the right of way.

Injured was Freda B. Chadwick, 63. A passenger in her car who complained of injuries but was not hospitalized was Mrs. Grace Demaska, 79, of 228 E. South street, Mason. Richard L. Kelly, 40, Williamston, told deputies he saw the Chadwick car come into the intersection from Hull road but couldn't stop in time. Kelly was driving a dump truck that struck the front bumper of the Chadwick car spinning it around, deputies said.

Bode Quits At Leslie

Charles R. Bode, superintendent of schools at Leslie, will leave the Leslie school system January 16, 1966.

His resignation was accepted by the Leslie school board Monday night. He said he is resigning to continue his studies at Michigan State university.

Bode came to the Leslie post in July 1962. He succeeded Clarence Vander Linden who had served in the post for many years.

The board has given no indication as to a replacement for Bode but did meet in executive session after the resignation was announced.

The board, in other action, heard a report on activities of the music department and announced that it still is looking for a junior varsity basketball coach.

Fire Hits Old House

A home slated for destruction met an early end Sunday when flames completely gutted the 1-story block house located at W. South street and US-127.

Mason Colonel Leads Battalion in Massed Viet Nam Offensive

Li. Col. Robert M. Shoemaker, son of Mrs. U. B. Shoemaker of 511 W. Ash street, led his crack airborne cavalry battalion into what is probably the biggest operation of the war in Vietnam thus far as 4,000 troopers of the 1st cavalry division joined with Vietnamese army and Marine units to sweep the Viet Cong infested Soui La Tinh Valley 280 miles north of Saigon.

Tagged "Shiny Bayonet", the operation was launched Sunday, October 10, when Shoemaker's 1st battalion, 12th airborne cavalry from the division's 1st airborne brigade made a mass air assault landing under enemy fire, and conducted sweeping operations in the surrounding jungles.

Continuing for 4 days, Col. Shoemaker led his battalion through the surrounding jungles in a grim search to capture or destroy Viet Cong guerilla units. Although damage estimates were not completed, the operation was a success, and present figures show a total of 42 Viet Cong killed, and 56 captured along with numerous Viet Cong suspects.

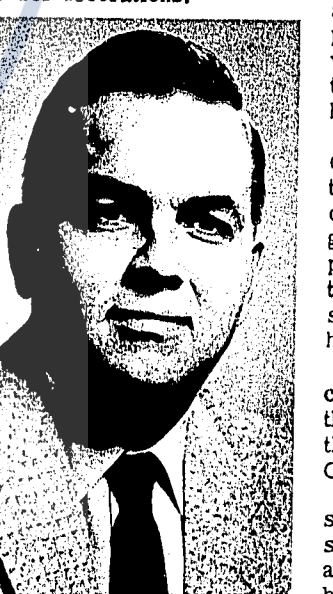

A native of Michigan, Col. Shoemaker attended Almont high school in Almont, Michigan graduating in 1941, and is a graduate of the United States Military academy at West Point, with the class of 1946.

The colonel is a veteran of the Korean conflict, serving as operations officer for the 23rd infantry, and also served a prior tour in Vietnam during 1962 and 1963.

Upon his return from duty in Vietnam in October 1963, Shoemaker became the operations officer for the experimental 11th air assault division which pioneered the air assault doctrine to further increase Army air-mobility, the results of which led to the reorganization of the airborne 1st cavalry division. In addition to being a qualified army aviator and senior parachutist, the colonel is a graduate of both the basic and advanced infantry officer's school at Fort Benning, and the command and general staff college at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas.

Included among his many decorations are the combat infantry badge, bronze star medal, army commendation medal, American expeditionary forces medal, the French Croix de Guerre, and many lesser decorations.

HONORED AGENT-- James E. Mulvany, Ingham county extension agricultural agent, was among 6 men recognized at the Michigan Cooperative Extension service annual banquet Monday night. Mulvany has established an enviable record with his dairy herd health and DHIA program in the county. He received his B.S. and M.S. degrees from Michigan State university in 1956 and 1959 and has been an extension staff member for 6 years.

Charges Shortage In Fund

Gerald Graham, county drain commissioner, in a surprise move at the Ingham county board of supervisors meeting last Friday, charged the supervisors "sounded off on the county's drains and drain laws of which they knew little or nothing of at the board's September 22 meeting.

"Supervisors don't realize the high costs of engineering and what's more there appears to be anywhere from a $20,000 to $25,000 shortage in the revolving fund," Graham said.

At the September meeting some board members expressed displeasure with the way engineering of some of the county drains had been handled in the past.

One drain in particular, the Coolidge drain in Meridian township, was to cost the county about $5,000 for engineering work that was completed even though construction work had never been started or a public hearing held, they maintained.

It was the supervisor's decision to assess the cost of the drain engineering back on the petitioners for the Coolidge drain.

Graham's charge of a fund shortage came just after the supervisors had unanimously approved a record high county budget for 1966.

John M. Patriarche, city of East Lansing supervisor and chairman of the ways and means committee, said his committee had carefully checked the records with the county treasurer and everything balanced.

"It would be difficult for $25,000 to be missing without the committee's knowledge," he said.

Frank Perrin, city of Lansing supervisor, expressed surprise at Graham's statements and indicated he felt it was the commissioner's responsibility to report any such discrepancies and make recommendations to the board.

"I suggest that Gerald Graham prepare a statement indicating where the money shortage is and refer this to the drain commission for its study," he said. "I personally don't think there is anything wrong with the county's book-keeping."

Harry Spenny, county treasurer, said, I can assure you there is no shortage in the county revolving fund as it is carefully checked annually by the auditor general's office and they have had no criticism of the bookkeeping system."

Robert Runyon, city of Williamston supervisor, said, "the ghost must be laid to rest once and for all pertaining to the reported fund shortage, therefore, I move that Graham supply a report to the drain committee indicating where the funds are and what the shortage is."

New Golf Course Job On Schedule

Golfers can start practicing your putting on the living room carpet because construction progress on the El Dorado Golf course at College and Pryor roads is right on schedule. Nine of the proposed 18 holes should be ready for business sometime next June.

Normand Hatt of Mason, president of the El Dorado Recreational Development corporation, said that the fareways are all seeded and coming along nicely with all the greens expected to be topped out this week.

A number of deer are creating a problem on the 9-hole course right now as they are punching holes in the greens with their hooves. Hatt is hoping that the deer hunting season will eliminate some of the damage.

Some of the residential lots in Harmony Acres, which borders on the golf course have been sold, and lots in other areas of the $300,000 development have been staked out and are awaiting the approval of the Delhi township planning commission. Hoping to get a pro-shop in operation before the golfing season starts, Hatt says the corporation has started re-zoning proceedings on the western section of the development. Architects' drawings of the pro-shop have been completed and are waiting for the zoning change.

The plans for the $300,000 country club project calls for an 18 hole golf course, clubhouse, pro-shop, swimming pool and a surrounding residential development. The entire project is to be complete within 2 years.

A FLAG FOR OSLO - The Oldsmobile-Higgins Auxiliary Post 3727 VFW recently presented an American Flag to England. This flag will eventually be flown to Oslo, Norway, representing the United States at the International Girl Scout Roundup. The flag was a gift to Miss Beverly Price, a Lansing school teacher, now teaching as an exchange teacher at the Cantonbury School in London, England. Miss Price will represent the United States at the Girl Scout Roundup, and at that time will take the flag to Oslo, Norway. Presenting the flag to Miss Price's parents were Mrs. Virginia Plyman, Americanism chairman of the auxiliary, and assisting her was Mrs. Marjorie Simpson, president of the auxiliary. Accepting the flag was Mr. and Mrs. Victor Price, Rouse Street, Lansing, parents of Beverly. After the meeting the flag was sent to London by Mr. and Mrs. Price. At the flag presentation Beverly's twin sister, Barbara, was present. Miss Barbara Price is also a Lansing school teacher.

Township To Change Fire Alarm System

Delhi township has begun the process of moving the emergency fire telephone, radio and alarm system from the Estes Leadley Funeral home, 2121 N. Cedar street, Holt, where it has been located for the past 15 years. Joe Kiersey, township supervisor, recently requested of the county board of supervisors, that the Delhi fire calls be handled by the Ingham county sheriff's department as the Mason calls are.

A recommendation from the law enforcement committee is necessary before any definite action can be taken. Until then Mrs. Richard Huber, whose husband manages the funeral home, will continue to be a 24-hour a day telephone sitter. For about 20 years Holt and the township have relied on individuals to answer the emergency phone and sound the alarm. It was first installed in a gasoline station at Holt's four corners. Ironically this station was burned to the ground and the fire phone was moved to its present location which was then the Logan Funeral home.

Some 6 years ago the business was purchased by the Lansing firm and since then Mrs. Huber has assumed all the fire alarm responsibilities. The job which pays $50 a month requires that someone always be on hand to answer the phone.

"The job has become more and more of an inconvenience for me," Mrs. Huber said. "It isn't the fire calls that hinder, but many persons think that the phone is an information center."

Over 180 fire calls are taken a year not to mention all the prank calls, police calls, township business calls, inhalator calls and requests for directions.

Mrs. Huber wants more time to devote to her family, church and community and finds this impossible while she is keeping track of the emergency phone.

Her husband was a fireman until September when he resigned. Huber was badly burned last year fighting a grass fire and was laid up for 3 months.

The telephone alarm system is set up in the Huber kitchen for easy access. "Sometimes I don't get any calls for a long period of time and then all of a sudden I will get 10 or 12 calls in one day, especially in the grass fire season."

Along with answering the phone and sounding the alarm, Mrs. Huber is also expected to man the radio if a fireman isn't left at the fire barn. In such an instance she dispatches the trucks to new fires, listens for their equipment or water requests and waits until every truck is back to the barn.

The Delhi supervisor said he was hopeful of having a decision from the law enforcement committee within 2 or 3 weeks as to whether or not the township alarm system will be set up at the sheriff's department.

SERIOUS BUSINESS - Mrs. Richard Huber of Holt has an important job watching the Delhi township fire phone and alarm system. For 6 years she has been manning the answering service and just recently asked to be relieved of her duties. The possibility of having the phone ring in at the Ingham county sheriff's department is now being investigated.

HERE'S ONE TIME that Mason's defense was able to stop Haslett's running attack. Dave Aldrich is the white shirted No. 34 putting the shoulder to Bill Erskine with the help of an unidentified teammate. Steve Pollok is the Mason player at the right gaining the attention of Haslett blockers.

Mason Defense Crumbles As Haslett Wins Easily

Mason's struggling Bulldogs didn't struggle too much Friday night and went down to an inglorious 19-0 defeat. Haslett used breaks and a sagging Mason defense to cart off the victory.

Friday night Mason has another date which might be listed as dangerous. The Bulldogs will tangle with Holt over on the Holt field. The Rams have had themselves a good year except for a letdown to powerful Gabriels.

Again Mason will see some well-schooled tacklers and blockers plus one of the area's best and quickest back in Lynn Ried.

Ried has provided most of the offensive punch for the Rams this year and is up among the top individual scoring efforts.

The Ram scatback is a 150-lb. runner who hits the line with the smack of a 200-lb. fullback.

It isn't a one-man show by any means. There are other talented Ram runners and the Holt air arm has won its converts this year also.

Mason pulled a complete reversal Friday night at Haslett. After stopping O'Rafferty cold with a defensive gem the week before, it appeared that Mason might be on the way to finishing the season strong. But it was the defense that caused the trouble at Haslett. Mason linemen had no charge. The quick thrusts up the middle by Jeff Erskine and the fast sweeps caught Mason tacklers still in the starting blocks.

Erskine ripped the Mason line for 2 touchdowns and sizeable gains all night.

The Lakers scored fast. Taking advantage of a pass interception they moved in close with Erskine going from the one.

Then both teams failed to get anything going until late in the second quarter when Haslett drove to the Mason 7 before losing the ball on downs. With time running out in the half Mason tried 3 passes. The last one backfired when it was picked off by a Laker defender. He was stopped on the 5 but seconds later Erskine bulldozed his way over.

The third quarter was about even. Neither team was able to move the ball. It wasn't until the last period that Mason managed to cross the mid-field strip and then the Bulldogs were only able to get to the Haslett 40.

Haslett came through with one more touchdown late in the game when Mike Nestell tossed a pass to Mike Kenyon who scooted 45 yards to score.

In an effort to get some offensive punch started Coach McIntosh came up with a re-aligned backfield in the second half with Ron Underwood at quarter, Ron Webster at a half, Rod Myers at the other half and Ross Cinter at full.

Greyhounds and Chiefs Battle to 13-13 Tie

There was no winner but plenty of excitement Friday night at Eaton Rapids as the Greyhounds and Okemos fought to a 13-13 tie.

The tie left both teams with 1-3-1 Capital Circuit records. Saturday night Eaton Rapids will see what it can do against O'Rafferty. The Raiders had their reputation for defense tarnished last week by Holt. O'Rafferty will be out to atone for that so the Greyhounds can expect trouble.

Okemos also will wait until Saturday night to perform. The chiefs will be tangling with Gabriels and this should not come under the heading of fun — at least for the Chiefs. Gabriels is all but home free with the Capital Circuit marbles. A loss to Okemos would just have to be called an upset.

The Chiefs had to come from behind to salvage a tie with Eaton Rapids.

The Greyhounds drew first blood by taking the opening kickoff and moving 49 yards to score with Dale Bresky driving over from the 5. The point after touchdown try failed.

Okemos came back with a drive of its own covering 53 yards. Jzy Breslin went over for the touchdown and added the extra point to give the Chiefs a lead for a short while.

Before the second quarter ended, though, Bill Gayton found Chet Winegar open and tossed him a pass which covered 7 yards and put the Greyhounds on top. Howard Ledergerber ran the extra point for good measure.

That's the way the scoreboard stayed until midway through the last quarter. Then trouble set in for Eaton Rapids in the form of a bad pass from center which was covered by Okemos deep in Eaton Rapids territory. Larry Wheeler punched the ball over but the point try failed and the tie resulted.

Glads Smother Leslie

Fowlerville's grid fortunes have taken a sudden turn for the better. Friday night the Gladiators trampled Leslie 33-0 and used the win to stay up among the elite in the Ingham County league race.

This week will be the final league date for the Glads. It should be an easy way to bow out for they take on Pinckney, a team which has never gotten started.

If the Glads win they will have at least a share of the Ingham County league title, their fifth in a row.

Leslie has a date at Dansville. The Aggies have got to shake off their skidding ways. After leading the league the first weeks of the season the Aggies have dropped the last 2. While they are out of the race, there will be some glory salvaged if they can dump the Blackhawks. It will also be the final game in league play for Dansville and Leslie.

Fowlerville had team balance in rolling over Leslie. The Glads picked up one touchdown in the first period when Larry Sparks broke loose for 49 yards. In the second period the Glads took to the air with Dave Rossetter tossed a pass to Gary Benjamin on a play covering 19 yards.

In the second half Dan Perroud banged over from the 6. Gary Kenroy picked off an interception and ran it back 45 yards and Bill Call dove over from the 2 to win with ease.

Holt Picker Is Winner

It took the tie-breaker to settle the Ingham County News football contest this week. Jay Gipe of Holt was declared the winner after being tied with Warren Rogers and Fred Sears.

Gipe can pick up his check for $10 at the office of the Ingham County News.

Next week's $10 could be yours just by entering the simple football contest sponsored by Mason merchants.

FRUSTRATION was the main theme of Mason's passing game, or rather lack of it, at Haslett Friday night. Here's a couple of shots depicting the frustration. In the top picture Ron Webster dives for the ball but doesn't quite make it after beating the defenders. In the bottom picture Paul Allaire watches the ball bound away after a futile dive after he had gotten past the secondary.

Holt Runners Compete

Approximately 553 runners representing 70 Michigan high schools competed in the 18th annual Dale R. Sprankle invitational cross country run at Albion college Saturday. Holt in class 111 was among the 12 area schools entered in the event. Holt was the top area team in class 111 taking 12th place.

Rocks Clobber Howell

Gabriels continued its race to the Capital Circuit title Saturday night by swamping Howell 32-6. Tom Jakovac put on a one-man show, scoring 2 touchdowns and passing for 3 more.

This Saturday Gabriels will entertain Okemos. It should be another easy night for Coach Phil Brooks' speedy powerhouse.

Howell has a Friday night date with Haslett. This could develop into a first-rate battle. Both teams have good defenses and have had runners who haven't had much scoring success this season. The Highlanders certainly didn't have any success Saturday night in either department. Gabriels held the upper hand all the way.

The Rocks picked up touchdowns the first 3 times they took over the ball. Jakovac was a thorn in the sides of the Highlanders all night. He punched over once from the one and once from the 2.

In the air he tossed a pass to Dick Carrigan on a play covering 13 yards. Then he tossed a 30-yard bomb to Mike Mitchell and wound up his night by tossing a touchdown pass to Don Cook on a play covering 8 yards on the last play of the game.

Howell's second touchdown of the season came in the second period when Mike Yost plunged over from the 2.

Jayvees Click

Gary Potter ran 2 yards early in the first quarter to put Mason ahead 6-0. Jerry Evans scored the P.A.T. After that it was easy as the Mason Jayvees rolled over Haslett 26-6.

Early in the second quarter Potter scored on a 70-yard punt return. Jim Parker threw the key block that enabled the touchdown. Evans again scored the extra point. Jim Powers scored the third TD for Mason on a 2-yard plunge over center. Mason led at half time 20-0. Early in the third period Mason moved down to the 2 yard line where Gary Potter carried it over. Rick Hoadley's attempted dropkick was blocked. The offensive line composed of Dave McClung, Don Warner, Rick Hoadley, Joel Argensinger and Dale Aldrich opened large holes in the line to allow the back necessary running room.

Haslett scored in the fourth quarter and threatened to score again but Jim Elliott, who played quarterback during the second half, intercepted a pass in the end zone giving Mason the ball on its own 20.

The defensive unit played an outstanding game and Glen Franklin, Rick Hoadley, Joel Argensinger and Jon Lyons rated special praise from coach Herb Schultz.

The Mason JV's play their last home game against Holt Thursday at 7:00.

Panthers Whip Pinckney To Stay in ICL Battle

Stockbridge stayed in the thick of the Ingham County league race by defeating Pinckney 35-12 Friday night. The number of teams tied for top spot was reduced to 3 last week when Dansville was defeated by Williamston.

Stockbridge, Williamston and Fowlerville now share the lead, each having a 3-1 league record.

The Panthers of Coach Robert Boyd can gain at least a tie for the championship if they can take Williamston Friday night. If that happens and if by some chance, winless Pinckney could knock off Fowlerville, the Panthers could take the top spot all alone.

In Friday night's game here, Stockbridge started slowly and couldn't seem to get untracked till after Pinckney drew first blood with a touchdown in the first period. Denny Reynolds, a fleet halfback, counted the 6-pointer on a one-yard run.

After that however, Stockbridge started to move and scored in every quarter. Dale Risner, who can really turn it on when he gets in the open, did just that after hitting off tackle and scampered 42 yards for the first Panther TD. He also ran the extra point.

Stockbridge added another score in the second period after marching 68 yards, with quarterback Tim Howlett hitting Risner for the final 15 yards. Howlett ran the extra point. That same combination clicked for Stockbridge again in the third quarter when Howlett again went through the air to Risner, this time for 22 yards and the TD. Again Howlett ran the extra point.

The Panther's 15 point lead was reduced by six points in the third quarter when Pinckney halfback Earl Schramm scooted 30 yards on a nice run for a TD.

Stockbridge seemed to get stronger as the game progressed and added two more points in the third when end Rob Sooy nailed the Pinckney punter in the end zone.

Boyd cleared the bench in the fourth quarter to give his reserves some added experience and halfback Dan Heron scored on a one yard run.

The final Panther touchdown came when reserve quarterback Sidney Smith rolled out on a pass play, but finding his receivers covered, kept running and scampered 15 yards to paydirt.

Score by quarters:
Stockbridge 7 7 9 12
Pinckney 6 0 6 0

Stockbridge high school's football team winds up league play Friday night when they meet Williamston at Williamston at 7:30.

The Panthers can gain at least a share of the Ingham County League title by beating Williamston.

Fowlerville plays Pinckney but should have no trouble with the team from Livingston County.

Stockbridge, Fowlerville and Williamston now share first place, each having 3-1 records. Dansville is 2-2, Leslie is 1-3, while Pinckney has yet to win a game.

Stockbridge's Little Panthers take on the Williamston JV's at home tonight at 7:30. The Little Panthers have won 3 and lost 2.

Holt Stays in Race By Stopping Raiders

O'Rafferty's defensive might was shattered Friday night by Holt High school, with senior Lynn Ried doing most of the wrecking.

Ried scored 3 touchdowns as Holt defeated the Raiders 19-7 to stay a step in back of Gabriels as the 2 teams battle in the Capital Circuit race. This victory was Holt's fourth in 5 circuit tests and fifth in 6 games.

O'Rafferty, which yielded only one touchdown in its previous 5 games, lost its first game of the season after 4 ties and 1 victory.

Ed Walsh recovered a fumble at the 35 yard line. Ried bolted 26 yards and Joe Boch went 10 in the drive with Ried going the final 2 for a touchdown.

O'Rafferty lost the ball after the next kickoff when Ried intercepted a pass and returned 21 yards. Ried carried the final 5 yards in the 33-yard march.

Ried set up Holt's final touchdown in the second quarter with another interception which was returned 20 yards to O'Rafferty's 35. Pat Brown and Ried combined on a 34-yard pass play with Ried stopped at the one. Ried then barreled over on the next play.

O'Rafferty scored its third touchdown of the season after Jim Wall intercepted a Holt pass in the final quarter. The Raiders marched 78 yards with Mike Flynn sneaking in from the 2. Jim Kelco kicked the extra point.

Hornet Gridders Dump Dansville To Scramble Race

The Hornet Varsity traveled to Dansville in the wet and rainy weather Friday and came home with a sweet 12-6 win. The Hornet win over Dansville made the title go down the wire as Williamston plays Stockbridge which had been picked to clip Williamston.

Early in the first quarter Jerry Ernst connected with Doug Stover on a 35-yard pass play for a Dansville touchdown. The extra point attempt was stopped. Jerry Christensen tied the game on a great 35-yard run for Williamston's first touchdown in the second quarter.

The first half ended 6-6. Late in the fourth quarter Steve Dunkel jarred the ball loose from a Dansville runner and Williamston recovered the fumble. A few plays later Dave Grainger scored on a 3-yard plunge. This is the way the game ended, 12-6. Both teams were hindered by the weather as the combinations of Koss to McNelly and Ernst to Curtis were hampered.

The leading rushers for Williamston were Dave Grainger with 67 yards, Jerry Christensen 35 yards and Bob Dykeman 35 yards. Koss attempted 9 passes and completed 4 for 111 yards. Three were intercepted. The ground attack totaled 160 yards. Jerry Christensen was named Player of the Week.

Hornet JV's Take Aggies

The Williamston Junior Varsity team whipped Dansville 18-0 on a cold rain swept night. The Hornets dominated play the entire game. Tim Cogswell, using Steve Studt, halfback, and fullback Dave Faustman, kept the team on the move. Some very bad punts helped. One went for a minus 6 yards.

The Hornets marched to a 12-0 halftime lead. In the first quarter after a punt the Hornets went down to the 4-yard line. On the next play Tim Cogswell went over for the score. The extra point attempt failed.

After the first quarter ended Tim Cogswell set up another touchdown by hitting Dave Faustman on a 17-yard pass. A few plays later Ed Reynolds scored. In the fourth quarter Cogswell hit Tom Hendricks on a 20-yard pass and that ended the scoring. The game ended 18-0. Dave Faustman led the offense with 85 yards and was followed by Steve Studt with 60 yards. The defense played very well as a unit.

Starr Gazing

by Edie Starr

Have you ever wanted to do some one thing so well, so bad, you could have cried? That's the way it is when I bowl. This bowling is something else again with me. Oh, do I try. On every hand there are advice-givers. One will say, "Move over a board." Another will tell me, "You're twisting your wrist." Yet another advise, "You shouldn't bend so much." I've about decided that I should play something simple . . . like maybe the jukebox. But I refuse to give up the ghost on this bowling.

When I decided to join the bowlers of America, I had every intention of picking up that ball and turning into a female champ. You know what they say about the well-known road and good intentions. I've even been tempted by this game to say a naughty word or two . . . like "damn it!" There are times when I feel like it's either those pins or me. Can you imagine anyone letting 10 pins give them a complex? Well -- imagine it.

I had such high hopes when I began. The hopes must have been high. I actually saved Green stamps to get my charcoal and pink bowling ball. For a while I was known as "sticky-lips Starr." It took 8 books, for goodness sakes. The shoes came as a gift from Pappy -- who does right well at the game.

For about 3 years now I've regularly been toting that ball and those shoes to various bowling lanes, and do you know? -- I'm not much better than when I started. This is where the complex begins. Somehow I always end up feeling like an un-coordinated ox. I watch others. Many are graceful as can be. Who was it that said we should see ourselves as others see us? When it comes to me and bowling, I say, "Heaven forbid." If I ever saw what I really look like when I let go of that silly ball, I'd probably walk away, defeated and dejected, never again to participate in the sport.

Originally the game of bowling was brought to America by our ancestors (bless them) and was known as "Nine Pins". Eventually for some reason I can't think of just now, the game was outlawed and it became illegal to play. Someone finally added the tenth pin and revised a rule here and there and bowling as we know it today came into being.

To all you who are accomplished at this sport and enjoy it, I can only say that I hope the powers that be never discover me at a bowling alley. For surely, if they do, once more it would become illegal. You see, the way I bowl is a crime.

Mrs. Ashley Speaks On Modern Math

The Mason Junior Child Study club met October 20 at the home of Mrs. Jack Silsby. Co-hostesses were Mrs. James Birney and Mrs. Warren Emerick.

Twenty-one members and 3 guests, Mrs. Ramon Waltz, Mrs. Joseph Stid, and Mrs. Dave Cornwell were present. Mrs. Jerry Wilcox was welcomed into the club as a new member.

Mrs. Ruth Ashley, high school algebra and geometry teacher, spoke to the club about modern math. She explained that the term "modern math" is a misnomer; it is, rather, the way it is being taught, the method of teaching, that is modern, not the math itself.

Modern math is the answering of the question why are we doing something. It is the teaching of a structure, a logical system or the "Axiomatic Approach" — an assumption applying to all branches of math. It is the process of using theory and logic to build an arithmetic system, rather than having students learn isolated facts, so they can see a real structure in the math system. This structure consists of three parts: first, a certain set of mathematical elements; second, the operations performed on the elements; and last, the principles that act on the operations.

When math is taught as a unified structure and the student knows what he is doing, how and why he is doing it, he can then more easily remember the process.

One can accomplish better whatever one is doing if one understands it.

Inter-City Council of Federated Garden clubs had its last meeting of the year October 19, at the Aurelius town hall as guests of Aurelius Garden club and the Eaton Rapids Home and Garden club. Seventy were present from the Lansing Branch of Woman's National Farm and Garden, Grand Ledge Garden club, Breton Woods Garden club of Lansing, Red Cedar of Williamston, River Ridge of Lansing, River Forest of Lansing, Mar Moor of Lansing, Holt Garden club, Livingston County Garden club, Mason-Dansville Garden club, Olivet Bulb and Blossom Garden club, as well as Eaton Rapids and Aurelius.

Mrs. Wesley Bintz, president of the group, presided and Mrs. Clayton Hill, president of the Eaton Rapids club welcomed everyone. Mrs. Warren Powers, roadsides improvement chairman, attended the Governor's conference on "Keep Michigan Beautiful" and brought back a glowing report of things to be done.

Mrs. Robert Montgomery, civic beautification chairman, reported on this new department of the year. Civic plantings made downtown by garden clubs are often not cared for, and she suggested this might be a Scout project.

Mrs. O. C. Eppley, district junior gardening chairman, was very gratified at the number of clubs having junior gardening as a project. There are more in the Inter-City clubs than in the rest of the district combined.

Election of officers for 1966 was next on the docket. The new president will be Mrs. George Petrides of Williamston; first vice-president, Mrs. Ray Perkins of Mason; second vice-president, Mrs. James Clark of Lansing; recording secretary, Mrs. Stewart Eskes of Holt; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Leo Tankersley of Williamston; treasurer, Warren Powers of Olivet; historian, Mrs. Albert Thatcher of Perry.

Inter-City Council sent 2 women to conservation conference at Higgins Lake in September, namely, Mrs. Stewart Eskes of the Holt club and Mrs. John Buck of Holt. They took nature hikes and bus trips beside the classes which were taught by college professors. They visited a plywood factory and saw how the small chips are pressed into plywood. Conservation buses transported them around to see different points of interest. One place McLaughlin Steel has a spread of 5000 square miles of pine. They went on an Elk hunt, just to view of course, and learned how the conservation men make their own whistles which if used, will bring the bugle of the Elk back to them. They saw the scarcity of the right kind of trees, caused by logging and forest fires. Deer need cedar, and spruce is called a starvation diet for them.

The program of the day was themed "Creating Beauty with One's Hands" by Mrs. James Clark of the River Forest Garden club of Lansing. She showed some beautiful holiday decorations she had made mostly long on effort but short on cost, an idea in which most of the ladies are interested. Corn husk roses, dried arrangements, note paper, lovely wreaths from newspapers and colorful decorations from marbles and furnace filters were some of the lovely things shown.

Aurelius and Eaton Rapids served a hot luncheon before members departed for their homes. The next meeting will be January 18 in Lansing at the Scott Park Art and Garden Center with a Bohemian dinner at 12:00 noon.

Members and their husbands enjoyed an evening of square dancing on Friday evening, October 22 at the Delhi township hall. Caller was Mrs. George Bubalz. Decorations gave the hall a Halloween atmosphere. The social committee, Mrs. Clare Carpenter, Mrs. Harold Lavis and Mrs. William Husband served a late lunch of assorted sandwiches, relishes, chips and dip, donuts, cider and coffee to the hungry dancers.

The square dancers were Mr. and Mrs. Leon Alger, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Bodomer, Mr. and Mrs. Clare Carpenter, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Carter, Mr. and Mrs. William Husband, Mr. and Mrs. William Kester, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lavis, Mr. and Mrs. William Olsen, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Swift, Mr. and Mrs. George Whyte, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Gary Lamphere, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Abbott and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kipke.

OVER 30 YEARS OLD

Methodist Cradle Roll Party Is a Tradition

Pandemonium didn't quite reign at the First Methodist church of Mason's cradle roll party, just almost. Some 70 mothers and their young children attended the fall event last Thursday at the home of Mrs. William F. Dart on Dart road.

This is the continuation of a church tradition which is over 30 years old and was started by Mrs. Dart to help new mothers get acquainted and their children interested in attending Sunday school and sharing with others.

"Many times young families move into town and are hesitant in making the first move toward meeting new people and participating in church activities," Mrs. Dart said. "I try to personally call on all new mothers in their homes inviting them to participate in some church activities, no matter what church."

The cradle roll party has been carried on so many years now that often times new mothers attending were once cradle roll babies themselves.

Recently the Methodist W.S.C.S. celebrated its 25th anniversary and the cradle roll parties had been started long before this organization.

Originally the Christian service of the Methodist church was divided into 3 groups: Home Missionary, Foreign Missionary and Ladies Aid.

Some mothers felt the need to get their children acquainted with the church when they were very young, therefore, babies were introduced to this at a cradle party, given a missionary band and called the "Little Light Bearers".

Other missionary-minded mothers gave their children banks with each child pledging 10 cents a year and they were known as "The Mothers' Little Jewels".

With the formation of the W.S.C.S. these groups were disbanded, but mothers still wished to continue the children's parties and missionary-sharing work through the new organization.

Mrs. Dart, with the help of Mrs. Red (Ruth) Shultis, superintendent of the cradle roll, has carried on this activity all these years.

This is no easy thing and Mrs. Dart with other Methodist women have loyally carried on the tradition twice a year in the fall and spring.

This fall's party was particularly large because the party for the 3-5 age group was discontinued and mothers with young babies plus older children were welcome to bring all their children.

At the party all the children were enrolled for the church cradle roll with Mrs.

YOUNGEST GUEST - The month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Lyon of Mason, David Edward, was the youngest baby attending the Cradle Roll party of the First Methodist church of Mason. Filling out David's registration certificate is Mrs. Harry Shultis. Looking on are Mrs. William F. Dart, (center) who has given the party twice a year for over 30 years, and David's mother.

Shultis recording their birth dates. The church will send each child a birthday card until age 3, when it is felt the youngster is old enough to join the church nursery school. Helping at this party were Mrs. Shultis, Mrs. H. S. Pulver and Mrs. Ray Perkins. While the children play together the mothers aren't forgotten. A puzzle game is used to mix the women up so they will meet each other and can find things of common interest among themselves.

Each year the children find one thing of particular interest to play with in the Dart home, excluding a myriad of toys available. Years ago while mothers were getting acquainted themselves, the young children thought it would be great fun to imitate Fred Astaire by dancing on a table.

This they did on a glass top table. The big attraction this year was a suspended stairway to the recreation room, which was great fun to climb and swing on.

RECIPE

Mrs. Vernon Snyder of 516 S. Lansing street, Mason, is this week's good cook. One of her favorite recipes is Banana-Nut loaf which makes moist, flavorful party finger sandwiches.

After letting the loaf bread cool and set 24 hours, Mrs. Snyder cuts the crusts from both ends of the loaf, then she slices the loaf thinly into about 40 slices. The slices are put together with softened butter and then each sandwich is cut into thirds.

The little sandwiches are a real party treat.

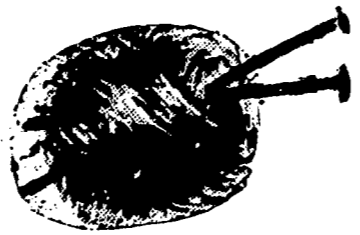

BANANA-NUT LOAF
1/2 cup shortening
1 cup sugar (white)
2 eggs
2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
1/4 teaspoon salt
3 large ripe bananas, mashed (about 1 cup)
1/2 cup chopped walnuts
1 teaspoon vanilla

Step 1: Cream shortening and sugar until fluffy in a medium-sized bowl or electric mixer; add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition.

Step 2: Sift flour, soda and salt onto waxed paper; stir quickly into creamed mixture just until blended; stir in mashed bananas, vanilla, fold in walnuts and pour into a greased loaf pan, 9x5x3.

Step 3: Bake in a moderate oven (350) for one hour or until center is firm; cool a few minutes; turn out onto wire rack; cool completely and wrap in saran wrap until ready to serve.

Redecorating?

Before putting up your new painting in the den, remember this helpful little hint. Place a piece of cellophane tape on the wall before driving in the picture nail or hook. It keeps the plaster from chipping.

Sallies from Sally

By Sally Robinson

There's a community wide activity that has just gotten into motion for the third time. This is the Mason Choral society which annually presents Handel's "Messiah" at Christmas time.

After singing in groups all through high school and college I attended the first practice thinking it was going to be a snap. Not so--it is amazing the number of extremely talented persons that are available for just such a thing in Mason.

Since I haven't sung in 3 years it probably explains away a few of the bad sounds that emerged from yours truly, but often times I became so wrapped up in listening to everyone else perform that I forgot to add my 2 cents.

The group is still looking for more singers particularly for the bass and tenor sections. Believe me the men have some real choice sections that many a soprano would like to have written into her lines.

Warren Emerick, Mason high school choral instructor, is the director. He promises to get the chorus in A-1 shape before the December 12 performance.

Won't you come sing with us? Rehearsals are every Tuesday night at 8 in the high school choral room.

Mrs. Joseph (Marilyn) Johnson of 615 W. Ash street, Mason, came up with a household hint for this week. For those of you having problems getting finger prints off your stainless steel oven or range, she suggests wiping baby oil lightly over the appliances once a week. This will prevent future prints and cover up existing ones.

A woman to be respected is Mrs. A.B. Ball of 621 S. Jefferson street, Mason. A modest woman, she quietly goes about doing many kindnesses for people and never expects recognition or even a thank you.

She is a friend in times of sorrow and happiness. Her calm compassion has eased the grief of many in tragic times. She is associated with happiness in her work as wedding consultant at the First Methodist church of Mason.

For years Mrs. Ball has helped smooth out all the confusing mixups and jangled nerves that go along with a wedding, making possible a memorable event for families and their friends.

Scouting, Church, Red Cross

Mrs. Merwin Everitt Is Busy, Busy, Busy

How does Mrs. Merwin Everitt of 521 Main court, Mason, do it?

She is the mother of 5 children, a Cub Scout den mother, a merit badge counselor, a room mother at Steele street school, an officer of a church circle, Red Cross volunteer, plus many, many other things including a full time job.

Her primary interests are centered around her children and their activities. Mrs. Everitt's scouting work began when her eldest son, Paul, became old enough to join the cubs. Taking over as the Cub Scout den mother, she followed through 3 years in this position until son Paul became a full-fledged scout.

After a year or so's respite, along came son Christie who also wanted to be a Cub Scout. Nothing would do, but for "Mon" to become a den mother again. Christie has another 2 years in this age group, so her work has just begun.

Mrs. Everitt says being a den mother requires about 8 hours a week to prepare the weekly meeting programs, gather necessary learning aids and complete records on each member.

Her troop is Den 5 and a member of Pack 262. At the end of last year Den 5 challenged another cub group to a baseball game. Everyone enjoyed themselves, but Den 5 didn't come out on top. There is a regular opening ceremony for each den meeting followed by a planned program after which the boys try to apply some of the things they have learned. For instance, if the meeting theme is centered around the American Indians, Mrs. Everitt will try to have some costumes or materials available so the youngsters can act out a phase of Indian life.

Den mothers have help with their meetings. Boy Scouts that are working toward a scouting badge come to the meetings and help organize the cubs for discussions, games and activities.

Along with her cub scout duties, Mrs. Everitt is also a merit badge counselor for Boy Scouts in the area of furniture refinishing. When she has a few spare moments, she enjoys making old furniture look new with a touch of paint or varnish.

Because of her knowledge in this area, she was asked to inspect projects completed by Boy Scouts working for a painting badge. The boys have all sorts of scouting instructional books available at the Ingham county library. Normal procedure is for a boy to borrow a book, follow the directions and then take the final product to Mrs. Everitt for inspection.

The inspection itself requires only an hour or so, but often times the boys run onto snags and Mrs. Everitt is called for help.

Although Mrs. Everitt appears to be partial to the cub scouts, daughter Anne was once a Girl Scout and during that time her mother worked on the Girl Scout committees.

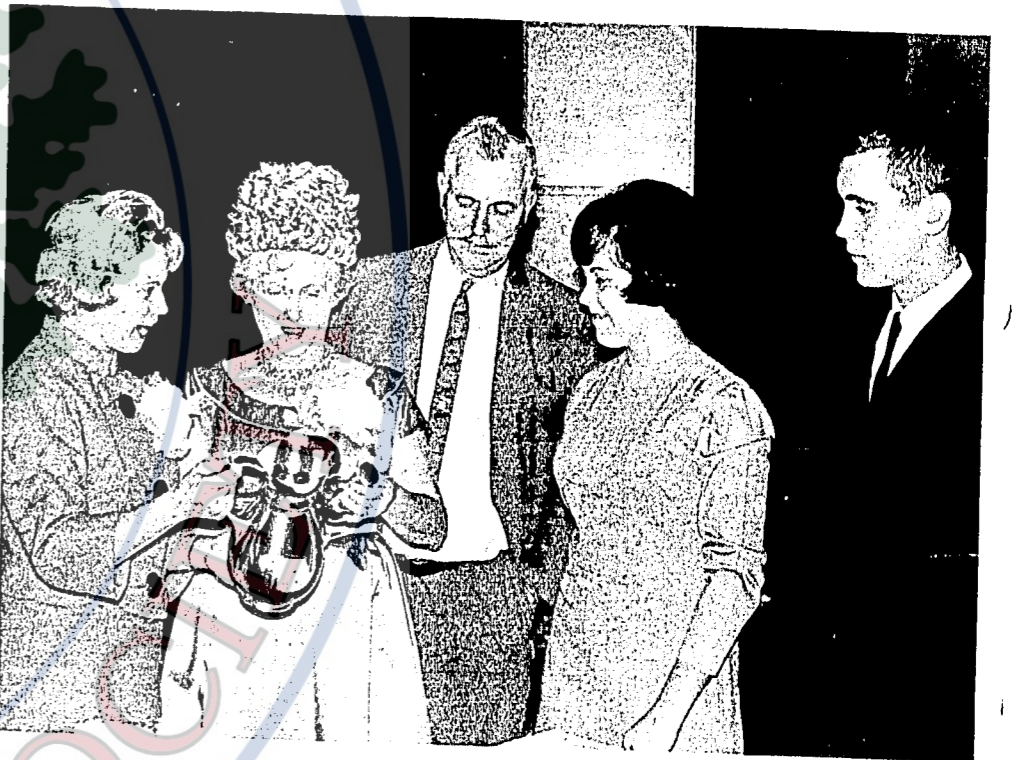

As a room mother for one of the fourth grade classes at Steele street school, she helps with the various class parties that are put on during the year which includes planning games and supplying refreshments.

Mrs. Everitt has many other things that she does for her own benefit and interest, such as, being vice-president and program chairman of the Mary Martha circle of the First Methodist church of Mason.

During the Ingham county fair week she is busy manning the Red Cross first aid trailer. Mrs. Everitt volunteers her services at the first aid room at the Lansing Civic Center for special events. Work on Mason's disaster unit is also part of her Red Cross duties.

Other groups Mrs. Everitt is a member of include the Mason Child Study club, I. For 8 years she actively participated in the club and at one time was the group's president. Now she is an associate member. She worked one year for the Mothers March on Polio and recently was initiated into the Order of Eastern Star.

One would think with all her activities, Mrs. Everitt couldn't possibly do anything more -- but not so. She is a full-time employe at the Bulldog Drive-in on N. Cedar street.

A PARTING GIFT -- Mrs. Clyde Corbett of Lansing and chairman of the extension advisory board, (left), admires the large pewter pitcher which was given to Mrs. Robert O. Schaeffer at an open house in her honor last Thursday. Looking on are Mr. Schaeffer and children, Anita and Joel.

Party Honors Mrs. Schaeffer

A gift of two pieces of pewter, a large pitcher and a "welcome" pitcher, was presented to Mrs. Robert O. Schaeffer by Mrs. Morell Fox of Lansing as a parting gesture at an open house Thursday evening, October 21, at the Delhi township hall in Holt.

Mrs. Schaeffer recently resigned as Ingham county extension home economist October 1 after 16 years to take a position with the rural manpower center with the Michigan State university as an extension program specialist. Her husband, Robert, is chief engineer of the Ingham county road commission.

Mrs. Margaret Foster, the new extension home economist, was a special guest.

The general chairman for this event was Mrs. Morell Fox of Lansing, assisted by the chairman of the advisory board, Mrs. Clyde Corbett, board members and the following committees:

Mrs. Hanford Thorn, chairman of gift committee, assisted by Mrs. Delman Carr of White Oak; Mrs. Howard Vaughn, Leslie, chairman of decorations, assisted by Mrs. Hugh Ellsworth of Holt, Mrs. Maurice Felton of Dansville, Mrs. J. M. MacAllan and Mrs. Edward Asper of East Lansing; Mrs. Ralph Kitchin, Leslie, chairman of refreshments, assisted by Mrs. Paul Baur of Williamston; Mrs. Leo Schirado of Lansing; Mrs. Lawrence T. Smith of Williamston.

Mrs. Lawrence O. Martin of Lansing, chairman of publicity, assisted by Mrs. Jerry Waterous and Mrs. John J. Baker of Lansing; Mrs. David Dietrich of Lansing and Mrs. Kenneth McManus of Mason also assisted.

Hostesses for the evening were the chairman of each committee and past council members. Mrs. Lawrence T. Smith of Williamston had charge of the floral pieces. Mrs. Morea H. Camp, secretary to the extension home economist of Ingham county, assisted with the guest book.

Although Dansville Agricultural school district is in sound financial condition, two major construction jobs this year have used up our Building & Site Fund and reduced the General Fund balance. Fire safety alterations, especially in the high school, made in compliance with State Fire Marshal's recommendations together with construction of two new science rooms and separate heating system, add up to an approximate cost of $75,000.

Our extra operating tax levy of 3 mills voted five years ago expires this year. If we are to continue our program of curriculum, building, and facilities improvement we will need to renew the extra millage levy as well as vote some millage into the Building & Site Fund.

Looking Backward

Williamston Once Had Thriving Industry That Made 35,000 Bricks Daily

By Lula Howarth
News Special Writer

WILLIAMSTON - New houses, new businesses, new industries to-day - looking backward what was the town like yesterday, 100 years ago, 60 years or 30 years?

Were new houses being built? Was there any manufacturing or industry of any kind?

Few of the towns-people can remember the small shops in Tinkertown. Nor can they remember the Williamston Stave Co. that made staves and barrels to the amount that 25,000 barrels were sent in a year to the flour mills in Minnesota and 8,000,000 staves were shipped out.

Older residents can remember when the knitting mill was in operation south of the railroad and the F.P. Van Buren Cold Storage was doing a big business in the 1890's. At this time he was rated as the largest buyer of eggs and poultry in central Michigan. At the same time he operated a big department store.

About 35 years ago there was tile and brick manufacturing on the east edge of town. Tile was first made, then the white clay and red shale went into a high quality brick. In 1932-33 35 to 40 men were employed and 35,000 bricks were turned out daily.

Many homes in this area were built from the brick produced in Williamston.

In 1940 the Clay Products Co. was sold to Ohio buyers and was closed down. Now there is a small lake and huge piles of shale and dirt that is partly overgrown with grass and shrubs and makes an over all picture resembling the foot hills of Switzerland.

325 Attend Open House

Parents of Mason high school students went to school Tuesday night.

Approximately 325 of them visited the high school at an open house but of a somewhat different format than is usual at such gatherings.

The parents came to the school at 7 p.m. when they registered and were free to inspect the building until 7:40 p.m. when they were called to an assembly at which Robert Prudon, principal of the high school, explained the operation of the school.

When the assembly closed the parents were given copies of the schedule of class instruction which their children follow daily and they went from class to class. Teachers were on hand in each classroom to teach the class which lasted 10 minutes. During that time the teacher explained the purpose of the class and the areas of the course and then devoted the final moments to a question and answer period.

During the evening practically every parent paid a visit to Mason's new swimming pool in the building.

At the close of "school" parents were served light refreshments in the cafeteria.

20. In Memoriams

HILLO - Margaret. In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, who died, October 28, 1964. Two dear bright eyes, a tender smile, A loving heart that knew no guile, Deep trust in God that all was right, Her joy to make some other bright. Hunter Is Shot
Dennis Shackelford of Stockbridge was taken to Foote Hospital in Jackson suffering from a gunshot wound in his left arm as the result of a hunting accident Friday. It was the first accident of the hunting season to be reported. Dennis, 27, was hunting with his younger brother in a field northwest of the intersection of Dexter Trail and Brogan road. The 20 gauge bolt action shotgun being carried by the younger boy caught on a bush, causing it to go off, the blast striking Dennis' left arm just above the elbow.

The WSCS will have a rummage sale on Friday, November 5 from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. at the Methodist church, Mason. 43w2

Jim Gavin, director of Camp Highfields, the boys training camp project now building and organizing in Onondaga township, presented a certificate of appreciation to President Alton Stroud of the Mason Kivans club Tuesday night. The Mason Kivans provided $2,000 to assist with the project.

COMPLETELY GUTTED--A early home in the path of the US-127 by-pass project was destroyed in an early Sunday morning blaze. Mason volunteer firemen were called, but could do little to stop damage to the one-story block building. An overpass is to be built at Sitts-W. South directly through the smoke-gutted building.

PLAQUE CEREMONY - Boy Scouts from Troop 98 of Mason placed a marker at the Sycamore Park this week in recognition of the Hogsback esker which the Scouts traced as a group project. The sign is a memorial to Maurice Persing a former Scout executive who lived in Mason. An esker is defined as a narrow ridge or mound of gravel and sand drift deposited by a subglacial stream. Scouts participating in the ceremony are (left to right) Fred Carrier, Steve Armstrong, Bill Jacobs, associate advisor, Butch Osterberg, Chuch Perfitt and Terry Zanger. One Scout, Mike Beratta, couldn't make the event.

Homecoming Activities Set at MSU

Special activities are scheduled for this weekend on the campus of Michigan State University as homecoming festivities get into full swing Friday.

The high point of the weekend will be Saturday's football game against Northwestern in Spartan Stadium. Kick-off time is 1:30 p.m., with a crowd of 70,000 expected. MSU President John A. Hannah will address representatives of more than 50 alumni clubs gathered for the annual alumni banquet at 6 p.m. Friday in the Kellogg Center.

The Ingham County Alumni Club will sponsor an alumni reception beginning at 8:30 p.m. at the Walnut Hills Country Club.

Also on Friday at 8:00 p.m., the Dave Brubeck Quintet will present a jazz concert in Jenison Field House. Tickets will be available at the door. Following the concert, the MSU Singing Statesmen will lead the crowd in a traditional midnight carillon-sing at the base of Beaumont Tower, historic campus landmark.

Preregade ceremonies feature awards for homecoming displays and presentation of the homecoming queen and her court.

The traditional homecoming dance will be in the MSU Auditorium from 8:00 p.m.

Steam Thresher's Life Was One of Hard Work

Steam threshers a thing of the past? Not so with Loren R. Sweet of 3142 Klipp road, Mason, he remembers vividly all the ins and outs of owning, operating and maintaining such machines.

Sweet, known by all his friends as "Buster", was a steam thresher for over 42 years. He covered the entire countryside in and around Mason.

At age 17 he started out by running the steam engines owned by Walt Wick, a farmer located just west of Aurelius Center, and Henry Northrup of Dexter Trail. He soon had his own machine and 7 men who traveled around with him getting the crops in.

His crew consisted of 4 bundle pitchers, they put grain into the thresher, one wind stacker, man who made the straw stack, one man tended the separator, one man drew the water with horses for the engine and Buster tended the engine.

Some of the farmers Buster remembers working for are Almon Chapin of Eden, Forest Smith, Victor Sitts, Walt Gunn and Harry Freshour.

"In those days the farms weren't so big, most of them ran about 160 to 200 acres," he said. "I enjoyed working at all the farms and the time required to thresh one farmer's field was sometimes a half day, 2 hours or once and awhile an entire day."

An industrious man, Buster soon had silo filler, grain thresher, bean thresher and a corn husker, all powered with a steam engine.

During harvesting time Buster was on the job at 6 a.m. and sometimes never quit until 8 or 9 p.m. He never had a day off when the crops were ripe, because his machines required all of his Sundays for repair work.

"I didn't tear the machines to pieces like some of the threshers did—I made them last," Sweet said. His machines were so well cared for people used to say they were worth more when he was through using them than the original purchase price.

In those days there were many young men who wanted work and Sweet's daughter Mrs. Fred Lovette remembers how her dad used to come home spluttering about "those young kids." It seems that the boys used to shovel beans into the thresher so fast it would jam the machine. Those youngsters are now farmers or businessmen themselves in Mason.

Some of the young employees that Buster could remember working for him were Milton Beebe, Chet Fletcher, Ludell and Paul Cheney, and Owen and Bernard Smith.

The only remaining Mason thresher to start in the business the same time as Sweet is Roy Evans of Sitts road.

While threshing was going on each farmer's wife prepared hearty meals for all the workers. Whenever they knew Buster Sweet was coming the menu invariably contained molasses cake, apple sauce and cherry pie, some of his favorite foods.

Besides threshing, Sweet also ran a farm and a saw mill. In the winter when the threshing business was nil Buster would travel around to wooded areas cutting trees for lumber.

When working in the woods Sweet and his family would live in what called the predecessor today's mobile home. They lived in little shanties on wheels. Sweet's wife Hattie, who died 8 years ago, would feed the crew of men, usually 15 to 20 men, 3 times a day until the work was completed.

In 1942 Sweet quit threshing and made way for the combine. He then devoted most of his time to the family farm which contains 242 acres and centers around dairy cattle. The land has been in the family since 1837 and the home Sweet lives in was one of the first in the Mason area to be designated as a centennial home.

Last spring Buster Sweet retired at age 83 because of bad health, until then he never missed a day on the tractor working.

Theater Razing a Tough Job

Work of razing the old Rayner opera house on E. Maple street is moving along slowly, but Elvin Childers of the Ace Wrecking company of Lansing, who has the contract to raze the 80 year old playhouse, says he hopes to have it to the ground in about 3 weeks.

But there are a lot of ifs in the process. "First," Childers said, "we must get the roof off and then see what we have before us. If we can get a crane with a clam into the building to remove the beams, and if removal of the beams will not affect the west wall of the theater which is also the east wall of the city hall, we can move ahead."

The west wall of city hall wall, has been "tied", that is, steel rods have been run through to tie the wall together to hold it.

Childers said the east wall of the theater, along an alley, is pretty weak. He said it may be necessary to take out the wall before the rafters are removed.

"We want to get it down low enough to keep it from collapsing in the alley," He said. Childers said it was hoped to get the roof off within a few days and then the next setup can be explored.

Childers described the city hall wall as "brittle". "We might have to use pilasters to hold it," he said.

After the roof is off, Childers explained, workmen will determine if it is safe to remove the beams because of the city hall wall.

The old theater site was purchased several months ago by the Mason State bank. Oren W. Hall, executive vice president of the bank, said today the demolition work is a "hand job".

Youth Jailed, On Probation

One Stockbridge teenager was placed on probation and another jailed to await sentence following their arraignment in Ingham Circuit court in Lansing Friday.

Patrick H. Murphy, 18, who pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of simple larceny, was placed on 6 months probation and ordered to pay $50 costs. Stockbridge police charged that he took a carburetor from an automobile last February.

Michale Allen, 17, was jailed to await sentence after he pleaded guilty to resisting arrest by Stockbridge police. They said Allen ran when they stopped him for reckless driving.

The Melting Pot

By HAYDEN PALMER

Somebody is playing pranks on the Maryland state police in general and Colonel Carey Jarman, head of the department, in particular.

Jarman is trying to determine who sent out releases to 15 newspapers and radio stations in the Baltimore area over his signature that urged Maryland motorists to drink one or 2 martinis for safe driving.

The news release was sent by telegram and the bill was $97, for which he was billed. Jarman is busy denying that he had any connection with the telegrams and trying to determine what to do about the bill.

The telegrams said that "a driver after 2 or 3 drinks has a better visual acuity than a non-drinking driver and will be less subject to accidents". After reading the telegram, Jarman commented, "Great lands above".

The alligators in San Jacinto Plaza at El Paso, Texas, are having a bad time. Police are keeping the alligator pool under surveillance to see that the public doesn't get too close, not because any people have been hurt—but the alligators have been.

Within recent weeks one alligator was stabbed in the eye, one was grabbed and thrown in the air and another was stoned to death.

Little Denise Shelton of Dayton Ohio is nursing an injured arm which was broken by a pheasant. Denise, who is 8 years old, was riding with her parents in a car when the pheasant flew into the side of the vehicle. The impact also killed the pheasant. Denise has a couple of its feathers as a souvenir.

Twins occur on about one of 80 births, records show, and a mother with one set of twins has a 1 to 17 chance of having a second set.

But Mr. and Mrs. John Hilding of Toledo, Ohio, have knocked this theory cock-eyed. They have 3 sets of twins. The 3rd set was born recently. The others are 2 and 5 years old.

There are other children in the Hilding family too—3 boys aged 2, 6 and 7.

If you live in the Jersey Islands, part of the Channel Islands, it will cost you more taxes for a long car than it does a short one. Jersey has a population of 65,000 persons. There are 30,000 cars on the island and 500 miles of roads.

So the island government decided to tax the cars by length.

While Mrs. Castmir F. Wilinski of Hammond, Indiana, was carrying food to precinct elections officials last November 3, someone stole her automobile. The missing car turned up last week in a parking garage in Gary, Indiana with a $300 parking storage bill against it.

Police had recovered the car an hour after it was stolen but an error was made in listing the license number. Finally the error was spotted by a clerk in the National Auto Theft Bureau in Chicago. The garage settled for $38.50, the usual fee for 30 day parking.

A couple of hunters wanted to make sure they would come home safely to Minnesota when they started out on a trip to bag game in the White River forest of Colorado. Don Mallinson and his brother, John, both were attired in fluorescent hats and bright jackets. They drive a bright red truck carrying their horses. They had planned to paint the horses a bright yellow.

When they parked near Craig, Colorado, and let the horses out of the truck a shot rang out and one of the horses fell dead. A second shot killed the other animal. The Mallinson brothers took for cover.

Soon a group of hunters arrived to check the kill. When they saw what they had shot down none of them would admit that he ever fired his rifle. Mallinson said.

Halloween pranksters in Sault Ste Marie are at it again. For the third time the town's cannon is missing. Last week some one took it from a warehouse.

The cannon is a French-made World War I piece. About the same time every year the cannon has disappeared only to show up Halloween with a loud bang on the Sault Ste. Marie campus of the Michigan Technological University. Folks are awaiting the usual bang again this year.

FRANK GUERRIERO, a community-minded insurance man, is this week's distinguished citizen. A resident of Mason for 19 years, he has been a member of the Mason Kiwanis club for 18 years and is now secretary of the club. A pet project of Guerriero's is the Camp Ingham, Highfields, an opportunity camp for boys near Onondaga. He is treasurer of the corporation and was a member of the original planning organization for the camp. Guerriero has been a member of the Red Cross board of directors for 3 years and has been chairman of the Mason blood recruit program for 8 years. He is a member of the American Legion Browne-Cavender Post #148 and is a past general chairman of the Mason Community Chest. Guerriero, his wife Betty and family live at 807 S. Barnes street.

Anyone Want a Pink Or Bright Orange Jail?

Anyone want to buy a pink jail—or a bright orange one?

Detective Captain Versile Babcock of the Ingham County Sheriff's department has them, along with a set of stocks, for which he would like to find a buyer.

All this equipment comprises left overs from Mason's centennial of last summer. Babcock who played the role of the "Keystone Kops", a comedy Centennial police force, inherited the jails and the stock when the Centennial ended.

Babcock wants especially to sell the pink jail because "the centennial committee has $25 tied up in it". The pink jail was obtained from Allegan and the orange one from Eaton Rapids, both of which towns had used them in their centennials.

Babcock is hoping some village or city which is planning a centennial will take the things off his hands and out of his back yard where they are stored.

How To Combat Anxiety

Everybody experiences anxiety, according to the National Association for Mental Health. Few people are fully aware of what unrelieved anxiety does to people, and what can be done about the pain caused by constant uneasiness of mind.

Highway accidents, job failures, family spats, and even physical ailments have been attributed to excessive tensions and worry.

Experts who have dealt with all kinds of mental and emotional problems point out that not all anxiety is bad. Nor is rest always the best cure. Anxiety is often like the pain which alerts the senses and causes a woman to withdraw her finger quickly from an iron still to hot to handle. Sitting down and brooding are not usually the best ways to overcome tension and anxiety. Whacking a little white pellet around the golf course or beating a rug hung over a clothesline, pruning the shrubs and cutting the grass may be far better than following the well-intended advice of friends: "Relax and don't worry."

Professional advice may be

You Don't Say

By Sally Robinson

Each week the Ingham County News Inquiring reporter asks a question of 5 persons at random in downtown Mason. This week's question is:

"What do you think would be a good use for the $7,000 profit made during the centennial celebration?"

Dr. Thomas L. Hopp, 1355 W. Dansville road, Mason;

Personally I think that the funds could best be used by putting the money toward some sort of community hall facility which could be used as a meeting place.

"Another good idea that isn't my own, but which I think would be another good place to spend the money and that is for bleachers to be used in conjunction with the swimming pool."

Mrs. Donald Densmore, of Densmore's IGA Foodliner, Mason;

"I would like to see the money put toward a community museum. There are several old homes in the center of Mason that could be easily converted into such a building."

"With the centennial just completed, I am sure there are many people with items they would like to donate to such a museum, surely enough to make a good start toward such a facility. All we need is a building."

Jack Ackerman, new owner of the Modern Cleaners of Mason;

"I recently became aware of a situation in Mason that could be greatly improved with the centennial profit. There are several Mason young people who are mentally retarded that won't receive the type of technical training they need to secure gainful employment."

"The $7,000 could be used to start a continuing program of special education for these youngsters, giving them a new lease on life while benefiting the community at the same time."

Mrs. Karen Field, 416 Park street, Mason, an employee at the licensing bureau of the sheriff's department;

"I feel the centennial profits should be used to carry on the centennial theme. This could best be done by putting the money toward a museum."

"The Pink School is over 100 years old and I think it should be preserved. It would be nice if the school could be moved closer to town and converted into a centennial museum."

John H. Dart, of Dart Insurance Agency, 100 Ash street, Mason;

"It seems to me that it would be appropriate for the centennial to endow a Mason Historical society with all or at least part of the profits."

"If feasible, a museum might be started to preserve articles donated by Mason area residents. This historical society could take over the museum project and see it through completion, as well as, handling its future operations."

Take a good look at yourself. Don't shoot for the moon, if you want to avoid anxiety. Some people expect too much from themselves, and get into a constant state of worry and anxiety because they think they are not achieving as much as they should.

Talk out your troubles. It often helps to get your worries "off your chest" when you can confide them to another person in whom you have confidence: a sympathetic friend, an understanding member of your family, or the pastor of your church.

It is a sad act that too many people wait too long before seeking spiritual advice when they need it. Don't be afraid to tell your clergyman about your problems. That is why he is there, and you should be able to depend upon him to honor your confidence.

12 Years in the Dark Continent

Ex-Missionary Predicts an End To the Turbulence in Africa

Africa, now a turbulent nation, will settle down in the future. Various sections are now pulling against each other but in time this will cease and the country will be calm.

Only a few of the tribes in the African nation are indoctrinated with Communism. All reports in Africa show that G. Mennen Williams, former governor of Michigan and now secretary of state for African affairs, is doing a good job in Africa and is well liked by the people.

The Belgian Congo government has done more for Africans than any other by providing natives with better homes, better jobs and better pay, better food and better education.

These are some of the opinions expressed this week by Rev. John M. Hnatyshyn, pastor of the Seventh Day Adventist church in Bunker Hill and a former world leader in the Seventh Day Adventist church. He returned a few years ago after serving the church for 12 years in Africa and 13 years in India.

Pastor Hnatyshyn serves both the Adventist church in Bunker Hill and the church in Morrice. Because of health reasons he did not return to his world labor.

While in Africa he was stationed in Capetown but traveled throughout the country where his denomination has hundreds of churches, small and large, schools, hospitals, dispensaries and clinics.

He left Africa just before the massacres in the Congo brought the country into the world spotlight a few years ago.

But today he still keeps a close eye on affairs in the dark continent. When the massacres and fighting broke out the Adventist mission near Elizabethville was caught in the cross fire of the rebels and Belgian government troops. Nearby were 15,000 to 20,000 women and children waiting for food and clothing which the church had sent to the area for distribution.

Finally a welfare officer of the mission got in touch with the American consul in Elizabethville and explained the situation. The people were waiting and the mission officials wanted to distribute the supplies, but the fighting was preventing it.

The American consul communicated with both sides in the fighting and a 2 hour cease fire was ordered while the mission officials distributed the food and clothing to the waiting natives.

C. L. Torrey of Washington, D. C., treasurer of the Seventh Day Adventists in the world, was at the Cong mission when the fighting started. He was shaving in the mission office when a bullet shattered the mirror he was using. He escaped with cuts on his head.

Rebel bands, Pastor Hnatyshyn said, would travel from village to village and call upon the people to join their ranks or have their village destroyed. They demanded that villagers take what they called a "blood bath" in which blood taken from the rebels was sprinkled on the converts. This, the rebels said, would protect them from the bullets of the Belgians and the darts and arrows of enemy tribesmen.

But when they came to one village they were met by a tall Watust tribesman who was a minister of the Christian faith. The rebels went through their usual warnings of "join us or be destroyed" and demanded that the Watust minister take the blood bath.

"I already have been washed with the blood of Jesus Christ", the Watust replied. This enraged the rebels but one of their number stepped forward and said: "Leave our pastor alone. He is our friend."

And the mission and school were saved.

Pastor Hnatyshyn told of the many other dangers that lurk in the dark continent. There are, for instance, the red ants, known as the driver and soldier ants. They travel in armies of thousands in what looks like a long rope, he said. The soldier ants are scouts seeking food and when they find the entire army attacks.

They are vicious enough to kill a person.

Then there are the white ants which eat and destroy wooden homes.

The Belgian government in the Congo built homes of blocks for the natives to curb the activities of the white ants, Pastor Hnatyshyn said. Buildings at the missions have floors of cement to keep the ants away.

Other dangers are the wild animals and snakes. Pastors Hnatyshyn has had narrow escapes from the red ants, crocodiles and elephants on 2 occasions.

And the snakes -- especially dangerous are the green and black mamba snakes, about 4 feet long that drop from trees and make their way into huts. They move with great speed and their bite is very poisonous.

While in Africa Rev. Hnatyshyn became acquainted with a former tribal witch doctor, who had been converted to Christianity. He gave the pastor his ceremonial robes, which include a Basuto blanket, a headdress made from the skin of a jackal and ostrich feathers and a number of bones taken from animals and chickens. There was the hoof of a goat, the hoof of a cow, the hoof of a donkey, a lion's tooth and a leopard's tooth, a bone from a monkey and 2 ivory pointers, one representing a man and the other a woman.

The person seeking the aid of the witch doctor, perhaps to find the thief who stole his goats, must chew upon an herb and then expectorate on the bones. Then the witch doctor throws the bones and the pointers point and the monkey bone tells where the thief is.

"A lot of all this is guess work, of course", Rev. Hnatyshyn remarked.

The Seventh Day Adventists have about 900,000 members in Africa, Pastor Hnatyshyn said.

MASON STATE

The Bank That Grows With the Community And With the Times

Mason has had its share of girl athletes, too. Here is the Mason high school Girls Athletic association in 1938. Listed by their maiden names are: Back row, Beverly Jewett, Donna Bateman, Elnora Bullen, Norma Sparling, June Slusser, Dorothy Dietrich, Betty Bateman, Lucille Richards; second row, Charlotte Burgess, Doris Coffey, Doris Thompson, Joyce Every, Harriett Lay, Myla Baldwin, Kathleen Baker; front row, Mrs. Otis Clipper, advisor, Billie MacField, Betty Wiegman, Betty Eifert and Mary Jeanette Davis.

It's Worth It

Nothing creates as much fervor in a community as a proposal for a community or school swimming pool. There are other proposals which might come close but swimming pool talk seems to catch the imagination.

That's why the reports on Mason's 3 weeks old swimming pool listing the jammed use of the fine facility is so good to hear. The 3-year discussion prior to voter approval was evidently worth it.

The pool is being used almost every available hour and people have nothing but good words for the way it is being run.

During the school day it is getting a work out. In the evenings and Saturdays it is filled to capacity. That's as it should be.

Too often public improvements are made and facilities are provided at great trouble and expense but after the goal is achieved the great demand seems to disappear.

With Mason's swimming program there should be no excuse for a Mason youngster and many adults not being able to swim.

The pool was costly. The pool will be costly to operate. But if it continues being used as it has for the past 3 weeks, the cost is justified.

They Take Care of Their Own

A few weeks ago Mason police officers stopped a motorist speeding a few miles over the posted limit on US-127 inside the Mason city limits. Such a ticketing is not news.

But circumstances of this particular instance point out how legislators have taken care of themselves and point to the need for legislation to rectify the situation.

In this instance the motorist ticketed happened to be a state legislator from a neighboring county. To his credit the legislator didn't plead legislative immunity, but he could have.

The 1908 state constitution granted immunity to legislators from civil arrest during a legislative session but did not exempt them from arrest for felony, breach of peace and treason.

When the new constitution was written and adopted in 1963 legislators were granted immunity during a session—But our legislators implemented the constitution with some legislation of their own.

It seems that legislators are immune from arrest 15 days before, during a session and 15 days after a session end. They are immune from every type of arrest.

In implementing the constitution they were not solentient with others. For instance electors going to the polls are immune from civil arrest but are accountable for felonies and other illegal acts. Servicemen going to and from duty have the same strings tied to their immunity—but not our legislators. They took care of themselves.

It might seem like small potatoes to harp on this subject but it is a dangerous situation which should be corrected.

Treats But No Tricking

Most communities have traditions. Here at Mason one of those traditions comes up this week end during Halloween festivities.

In Mason the trick or treating is forgotten. That is the tradition. With few exceptions it has worked for close to 30 years. As a consequence vandalism in Mason has been minor.

The treating in this community is done by Mason Kiwanians in cooperation with Mason businessmen. Saturday night the goblins and witches will be entertained royally at the football field, at a dance and with a movie.

The only string attached to the community party is that youngsters not take part in the pranks which plague other communities — pranks which actually are vandalism.

Such an agreement has 3 parties. The Kiwanians and businessmen are prepared to do their part. In the past Mason youngsters have fulfilled their part of the bargain. Parents are the third party. They should impress upon their youngsters that trick or treating isn't done in Mason and should point out why it isn't done.

The Most Wanted Gift For Servicemen Overseas

Reprinted from Davison Index

For many thousands of young Americans now serving with the armed forces of the United States in remote corners of the earth, their military duty is the occasion of their first separation from home and family. Most of these young men will still be far away at Christmas, 1965.

And because they are remote, the time is rapidly approaching when family and friends must select their mail gifts if these young men are to enjoy them on Christmas Day. It can be assumed that every member of the family who sends a gift to a man in service wants it to be meaningful to him; something he receives with warmth and enthusiasm, because he really wants it.

But what do these men want? The American Red Cross through its extensive program of Services to the Armed Forces has the answer — direct from the men.

With man after man, the answer was the same. Gifts made by the sender and things pertaining to home have much greater meaning than purchased gifts. Depending on the climate where the men are stationed they prefer hand-knit sweaters, homemade cookies and candies; pictures of the family and hometown newspapers.

These responsible young men, handling tough assignments, often under the most difficult circumstances, obviously are thinking much of home. And from home they deserve the best we can give them.

The United States Post Office recommends that for APO points overseas, surface mail should be sent between October 21 and November 10. Mail and parcels by air should be sent between December 1 and December 10. For the Far East and Southeast Asian destinations, the opening date for each method is recommended.

Mail early and if you really want to please him most, send something from home with a part of yourself in it.

Down

by the Sycamore

March 27, 1947

Why do you pin a Sycamore label to your column; don't you know the world is growing smaller and we are now citizens of One World? were a pair of questions I took up Monday morning.

Probably my questioner had been reading the American Mercury. There is an article in this month's Mercury along the same line. A man or woman can spend all his life in Vevay or Alaledon or on Oak street and still live in the universe, or he can pen himself, his thoughts and his ideals onto a city lot, a farm, a golf course, a beer parlor or his place of business.

We all must live somewhere, and down by the Sycamore is as much a part of the world and of the universe as down by the Hudson, along the Rhine or the Volga, the Yangtze, the Amazon or the Congo. To the men from Mars, the Sycamore valley is as much as mystery as the valley of the Nile. To the man who lives only for his own sake his office in London or New York is as much a prison as a back forty up in Roscommon county. To the man who looks up above the trees, who refuses to permit his mind to be penned in by the walls of his house or even by the walls of the Empire State building, he is as much a citizen of the universe out in Wheatfield or White Oak township as though he lived in the White House.

If the prime minister of Great Britain has to have a house number, and he does (No. 10 Downing Street) it shouldn't do any great harm for a man to give his house number as 1776 Columbia or even say he lives in the fertile Sycamore valley.

This week some people started out to observe put-away-your snow shovel week but they couldn't go through with it. In the interests of good health my wife coaxed me away from the fireside Monday night. With rain pelting down by the bucketful we went to the Fox to see Sister Kenney. All during the show the man behind me coughed and hacked. Then we had to wade through snow to get home. I was just getting my feet warm over the register when the power went off. I thought some of applying the Sister Kenney hot-pack method along in the night but there was no way to heat the water.

Folks with bad colds and coughs should have a special section at theaters—a sneeze and cough room—similar to a cry room. Special pews should be provided in church for the coughers, too. A man or a woman with a cold needs the solace of religion more than other people but he should sit off by himself.

Barbs and Praise

Mason barbers should notice a boom in business.

Thanks to a policy decision made by the Mason school, some of the shaggy male heads are going to be cropped shortly.

The physical education department has passed down the rule that includes an either/or condition.

Either the longhaired males (?) must get their hair out to get in the new swimming pool or they must wear bathing caps. Some have resorted to the bathing caps in order to save their pampered bouffant styling.

So pool visitors shouldn't jump to the conclusion that topless swim suits are permitted when they see a swimmer in bathing cap and trunks breaking water at the pool. It's just those males who prefer the kooky look.

Lawrence Appely, a student of management and human relations has come up with an assessment of what's wrong with people. He listed the 5 main attitudes of most of us toward our fellow men — all of which lead to problems.

They are:

1. Savagery — The other fellow is my enemy. I should try to destroy him.

2. Slavery — The other fellow is to be conquered and put at my service.

3. Servitude — The other fellow should serve me at what I am willing to pay and be satisfied with it and be grateful that I am willing to do this for him.

4. Paternalism—The other fellow needs help. I will determine what is best for him and do it for him at what I think is the right time and in my way because he does not know what is good for him.

5. Brotherhood—The other fellow is capable of being far more than he is. It is my responsibility to help him develop to his fullest potential.

Do you find your attitude toward any group, race or nationality in this group?

Some sage made a comment that the great push and drive of people of the United States is toward the 5-day weekend.

He pointed out that there are 2 perils to the short work week. One is that some other more industrious nation working on a 7-day week work schedule may conquer us. The other peril is that before another more industrious nation overcomes us we will probably bore ourselves to death.

Arch Brown

country and town

Mary Poppins had a word for it -- supercalifragilisticexpialidocious! That word sums up a trip to the British Isles which came to an end Friday morning.

Returning to the office this week and attempting to get back in harness, somehow the pile of tourist booklets and the fully-packed note pad fail to measure up with the impressions and the "feel" of roaming England and Ireland for 3 weeks. So in a word, Mary Poppins' "supercal . . ." (you know the word) comes closer than any other to covering the ground.

Fellow columnist Hayden Palmer who so kindly took care of this corner of the editorial page while I was away, has paved the way for my travelogue on England and Ireland. He has proved that a visit to the travel section of Ingham County Library is almost as rewarding as making the trip itself — almost, but certainly not quite as good. True, if it's statistics you want, they can be had in a few library books. But if it's a first-hand glimpse of the people you're after, if you want to know what others are thinking, better go see for yourself. That's what I did.

Probably the most comforting impression I returned with is that English and Irish people genuinely like Americans. At worst, the English look upon Americans as successful younger brothers who, though sometimes resented, are still considered "part of the family". We (oh, yes, the BW was along, too) happened to be in London the day the American embassy was picketed by those who apparently disapprove of the way the Viet Nam war is being conducted. Upon returning home and reading the old daily newspapers that had been thrown around our front yard, I was shocked to read accounts of a substantial resentment towards America as exemplified in the London picketing. The facts as witnessed first-hand just don't justify any newspaper bothering to give the incident any space at all. It's discouraging that about 25 kooks in England can get such misleading headlines in American daily papers.

The Irish are in love with Americans — and mainly because of John F. Kennedy. The former president in life and death created a bond between Ireland and the USA that will endure. When the average Irishman knows he's talking to an American, he will quickly tell you about his admiration for the late president and in fact with some emotion will tell you intimate details of the Irish reaction to the news that the president was dead. But L.B.J. should be glad he doesn't have to stand for re-election in Ireland!

In both England and Ireland we soon learned that we wouldn't brag about the antiquity of Mason as expressed in this summer's centennial observance. A house in England or Ireland that would rate merely a centennial sign is considered contemporary. During one discussion, I made this point with a group of Englishmen who turned out to have more faith in the qualities of America than I indicated. They countered that while the longevity of the British Isles may be a strength, the freshness, the vitality and the accomplishment of so many worthwhile things in so short a time, is the great strength of America. After that, I tried not to be so impressed with the ancient history of Britain.

Kangaroo Court Marks Pep Meet At Leslie High

By KATHY ISHAM
Leslie High School
LESLIE — A Kangaroo Court was the highlight of the pep meeting for the "Blackhawks", Friday, October 23. The pledge to the flag and a cheer started out the pep meeting. Then the Kangaroo Court was called to order.
Don Houghtaling presided with Lon Cooper, Jim Bobzlen and Bob Schultz as assistants to carry out the sentences. Chuck Lay was the first case called before the court. He was found guilty of singing songs on the players bus on the way home after the Pinckney game.

Dansville Teen New FHA Head

CORINNE WEBSTER
DANSVILLE — Corinne Webster, a junior at Dansville high school, was elected president of Region 8 Future Homemakers of America, at their annual fall meeting at Michigan State university, Saturday, October 23.

Region 8 had 32 FHA chapters representing more than 1000 girls in this area. The other girls who were elected officers for 1965-66 were: Kathy Lightfoot, Williamston, vice-president; Barbara Kalsek, Corunna, secretary; Doris Morgan, Eaton Rapids, treasurer; Mary Lou Hatch, Leslie, historian; Sarah Diehl, Dansville, pianist; Cathy Cline, Perry, song leader; Judy DeFriend, Perry, parliamentarian; Mrs. Coridon Webster, Dansville, region mother; Mrs. Gary Briggs, Dansville, region advisor.

Past, Present, and Future was the theme that opened the meeting.
The following chapters representing more than 1,000 F.H.A. girls attended: Bellevue, Brighton, Byron, Charlotte, Corunna, Dansville, Durand, Dewitt, Eaton Rapids, Elsie, Fowler, Fowlerville, Grand Ledge, Haslett, Holt, Webberville, Howell, Lansing, Lansing-Everett, Leslie, Mason, Morris, New Lothrop, Olivet, Ovid, Westosco, Perry, Pewamo-Westphalia, Pinckney, Potterville, Williamston.

The guest speakers were Reverend Robert Townley from Midland and Richard Byrum, state F.F.A. president from Leslie. Reverend Townley stressed the rising problem of teenage morals. He brought out that what you do in the present will affect you and your future as well as our families and society of tomorrow.

Byrum pointed out that never before have the challenges and opportunities been so great for the young people of our country.
"I believe that our generation of Americans can and will hold true to the best tradition of our National life and we must dedicate ourselves to a better world for tomorrow."

Mrs. Rex Todd Withers state F.H.A. advisor gave a talk on our responsibility to use the past as a guide, live today so we can make the future a better place for the next generation.

She listed the 7 traits to good self development as Integrity, Forgiveness, Loyalty, Responsibility, Concern for Others, Determination and Faith.

The case of Mary Pomroy was next. Mary was found guilty of deserting the Blackhawks to go to Mason's Homecoming last Friday.

Vickie Water was found guilty as charged of flirting with the players at the gate for the game last Friday.

Bill Rogers was charged with sleeping on the bus on the way to the Pinckney game. Like the rest Bill was found guilty.
Rodney Jupp was charged for the Reserves losing to Fowlerville Thursday night. All five were then blindfolded. One at a time they had shaving cream thrown in their faces. All this really had the student body roaring and they all learned to be careful of what they do and say. When the "convicted" persons were given a chance to defend themselves, Vickie said she thought the players should have been convicted not she. But it was all in fun. After the court was dismissed several more cheerleaders were led by the cheerleaders, and the school song ended the pep meeting.

Weekly Activity day again found every club busy. The FHA made final plans for their trip to Michigan State university Saturday for the Region 8 meeting. The girls all enjoyed the trip and had a lot of fun getting acquainted with the girls from other FHA chapters.
All the classes have been busy working on their floats and final plans are being made for the Homecoming. Discriptions of all floats and cars had to be turned in to Denise Miller this week.

The Seniors are also busy preparing for the Homecoming dance. A special Disk Jockey will be at the dance after the game next Friday. A decoration theme will carry out the class colors and plans are being made for a Special Grand March dance.

Students at Leslie High got a vacation Tuesday and Wednesday because of parent-teacher conferences. This was designed so the parents can know how their children are doing in school and so the parents can get to know the teachers.

Dansville FHA Planning Mixer
The Dansville Future Home Makers of America are sponsoring a mixer Friday, November 5. All alumni, parents, and high school students in the Dansville school district are invited. The dance is from 8 p.m. to 11 p.m.

Square dancing, polkas, and the Charleston will be highlighted dances of the evening, topped off with a variety of entertainment put on by the local talent.

Drama Club Planning Plays at Mason High

By PATRICIA O'BRIEN
Mason High School

The Drama club met for the first time last week. Approximately 70 students attended. Officers elected are: Jon Burhans, president; Carol Haynes, vice-president and Jennifer Byron, secretary-treasurer. The student council has loaned the club $25 to help it organize. With the organization of the drama club, Mrs. Oesterle, the advisor, hopes to build props and costumes for a variety of plays.

She would like to present both classical, modern, humorous and tragic productions. Students signed up for the field of dramatics in which they are most interested. There is still time for any interested student to join.

The student council met last Tuesday. The first topic was the cost of the new concession stand. The council was told that the cost would amount to about $150 and they voted to finance the building. The total cost of the concession stand amounted to around $400. The council then voted that each forthcoming junior class, including this year's, will pay one-fourth of the price until the building is paid for.

Members of a committee for a student court reported that they are writing to schools which have student courts to learn the values and failings of this.

On Tuesday, October 19, the Mason Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America met for its annual initiation. The president, Beverly Barr, introduced Mrs. Wheeler, Mrs. Ketchum, Mrs. Bartlett, Mrs. Shoemaker and Mrs. Palmer as the Chapter Mothers for the coming year.

The varsity cheerleaders have been selling high school jewelry in the concession stand during the noon hour. The jewelry includes initial pins, bracelets, charms and pin-ups. The pin-ups were sold to pep club members only. Orders were taken and students will pay for their purchases when they arrive.

Band Receives Welcome Gift
The band has received a generous gift from last year's graduating class. Following the senior trip last spring, the class had some money left over and as a result the sum of one hundred dollars was given to the band. Director Charles Davidson said, "Here's our new snare drum."

Paul Enfield won a tricycle race in which he and Dave Jury, and Lee Ann Johnson rode against one another.
The rest of the freshman class was assembled on the stage and shaving cream was sprayed on them all.

After the initiation ceremonies, the sophomore and freshman classes joined each other in a dance. The music was provided by Joe Myers, Spencer Austin and Tim Taylor. Refreshments were served.

The freshmen's reactions were varied. "Oh, how horrible!" and "I'm going to die!" were mingled with "Oh, it wasn't so bad!" and sighs of relief that it was over. The general feeling was best summed up by Bob Booker, "Well, we're going to get our turn next year."

Don Burnham led Chuck Casteel, Dennis Fillwood, Linda Perkins, Gene Kielhorn, Dick Cheney, Brenda Ojaos and Marlene Wood in jumping jacks and push-ups. Marlene Wood led the group in touching their toes.

Gail Baker, Donna Espinoza and Marsha Shaw had their legs "shaved" by Larry Klyver, John Kenoyer, and Steve Studt. The girls then "shaved" the boys' legs and face.

Bob Booker, Jerry Warne and Steve Hüllerberger ratted Chris Keener, Marilyn Bower and Shirley Perkins' hair.

Upon entering the cafeteria, the freshmen boys and girls were painted with red lipstick and blue eyeshadow amidst screams, protests and much laughter.

The sophomore class sat on one side of the cafeteria and the awaiting Freshman class on the other. Also, attending were sophomore class sponsors.

The first task was given to Becky McNeilly, Margaret Scarlett, Annie Lueck, Gary House, Brain Lockwood, and Russell Wygant, who were locked in a dark room with the PA system on. Their cries of "Russell, please!" "Help!" "Who's that?" etc. were piped into the cafeteria.

The next group of Freshmen were paired off and the couples passed a livesaver on one-half of a toothpick. Those participating in this were: Ed Reynolds, and Linda Kirkbride, Chuckie Dmochowski and Marlyce Joramo, Ed Hill and Connie Hummel, Jay Adams and Linda Eberly, Ron Hall and Sandy Schneemann, and Kip Grant and Connie Gorsline.

Then Kathy Casey and Andy Hogg, Pam Hahn and Marc Daignault, and Bill Posey and Janice Eldred passed an apple from boy to girl to boy... Larry Johnson, Terry Brunson, Barb Brunner, Jon Myers, Lisa Petrides and Danny Gulick raced to the bottom of flour bowls, only to learn that there was nothing in them to begin with.

Then a number of freshmen were called upon to exhibit their singing talents. Dave Faustman sang "Mary Had a Little Lamb." Cindy Smith sang "Satisfaction." Mark Fisher recited "How Does Your Garden Grow?" Steve Rathburn and Dale Weller both tried "Row, Row, Row Your Boat."

The provincial members from last year were promoted to active status at the assembly also.
The guest speaker was Dr. Howard Kehde, consultant for the organ, junior float committee and works at a local drug store.

Cindy, also a junior, maintains a constant 3.5 average. She is the FTA representative to student council, and last year ran for the presidency of the FTA groups of Michigan. Cindy also is a member of the National Honor Society (NHS), the AFS, 4-H club vice-president, chairman of the junior float and teaches a Sunday school class at Faith Lutheran church.

The applications from these girls will be sent to New York where they will be looked over and the ones selected who are the best qualified.

Panthers Regain Trophy

By RUTH CAMP
Stockbridge High School
STOCKBRIDGE - The Stockbridge-Pinckney football trophy is back in the Panther trophy case following the Stockbridge victory over their long time rival Friday night. The score was 35-12, some different from last year when Pinckney won the trophy.

Head coach Robert Boyd presented the trophy to team co-captains Tim Howlett and Rob Sooy during the dance that followed the game.
School spirit at the game was tremendous, with the pep club band and all the spectators yelling lustily.

The band put on a pre-game and half time show. A dance number and a sharp military drill were included in the show between halves.

After the game was over, the band led the victory parade back to school where a 15¢ record dance was getting under way.

Fourth period classes were dismissed ten minutes early last Friday so that report cards could be handed out. Senior high classes went to their designated rooms and the junior high students were given their cards during the period. Now that the first six weeks are over and students know where they stand, everyone can buckle down and work harder.

The varsity cheerleaders have been selling high school jewelry in the concession stand during the noon hour. The jewelry includes initial pins, bracelets, charms and pin-ups. The pin-ups were sold to pep club members only. Orders were taken and students will pay for their purchases when they arrive.

Band Receives Welcome Gift
The band has received a generous gift from last year's graduating class. Following the senior trip last spring, the class had some money left over and as a result the sum of one hundred dollars was given to the band. Director Charles Davidson said, "Here's our new snare drum."

Paul Enfield won a tricycle race in which he and Dave Jury, and Lee Ann Johnson rode against one another.
The rest of the freshman class was assembled on the stage and shaving cream was sprayed on them all.

After the initiation ceremonies, the sophomore and freshman classes joined each other in a dance. The music was provided by Joe Myers, Spencer Austin and Tim Taylor. Refreshments were served.

The freshmen's reactions were varied. "Oh, how horrible!" and "I'm going to die!" were mingled with "Oh, it wasn't so bad!" and sighs of relief that it was over. The general feeling was best summed up by Bob Booker, "Well, we're going to get our turn next year."

Drama Club Planning Plays at Mason High

By PATRICIA O'BRIEN
Mason High School

The Drama club met for the first time last week. Approximately 70 students attended. Officers elected are: Jon Burhans, president; Carol Haynes, vice-president and Jennifer Byron, secretary-treasurer. The student council has loaned the club $25 to help it organize. With the organization of the drama club, Mrs. Oesterle, the advisor, hopes to build props and costumes for a variety of plays.

She would like to present both classical, modern, humorous and tragic productions. Students signed up for the field of dramatics in which they are most interested. There is still time for any interested student to join.

The student council met last Tuesday. The first topic was the cost of the new concession stand. The council was told that the cost would amount to about $150 and they voted to finance the building. The total cost of the concession stand amounted to around $400. The council then voted that each forthcoming junior class, including this year's, will pay one-fourth of the price until the building is paid for.

Members of a committee for a student court reported that they are writing to schools which have student courts to learn the values and failings of this.

Don Burnham led Chuck Casteel, Dennis Fillwood, Linda Perkins, Gene Kielhorn, Dick Cheney, Brenda Ojaos and Marlene Wood in jumping jacks and push-ups. Marlene Wood led the group in touching their toes.

Bob Booker, Jerry Warne and Steve Hüllerberger ratted Chris Keener, Marilyn Bower and Shirley Perkins' hair.

Upon entering the cafeteria, the freshmen boys and girls were painted with red lipstick and blue eyeshadow amidst screams, protests and much laughter.

The sophomore class sat on one side of the cafeteria and the awaiting Freshman class on the other. Also, attending were sophomore class sponsors.

The first task was given to Becky McNeilly, Margaret Scarlett, Annie Lueck, Gary House, Brain Lockwood, and Russell Wygant, who were locked in a dark room with the PA system on. Their cries of "Russell, please!" "Help!" "Who's that?" etc. were piped into the cafeteria.

The next group of Freshmen were paired off and the couples passed a livesaver on one-half of a toothpick. Those participating in this were: Ed Reynolds, and Linda Kirkbride, Chuckie Dmochowski and Marlyce Joramo, Ed Hill and Connie Hummel, Jay Adams and Linda Eberly, Ron Hall and Sandy Schneemann, and Kip Grant and Connie Gorsline.

Then Kathy Casey and Andy Hogg, Pam Hahn and Marc Daignault, and Bill Posey and Janice Eldred passed an apple from boy to girl to boy... Larry Johnson, Terry Brunson, Barb Brunner, Jon Myers, Lisa Petrides and Danny Gulick raced to the bottom of flour bowls, only to learn that there was nothing in them to begin with.

Then a number of freshmen were called upon to exhibit their singing talents. Dave Faustman sang "Mary Had a Little Lamb." Cindy Smith sang "Satisfaction." Mark Fisher recited "How Does Your Garden Grow?" Steve Rathburn and Dale Weller both tried "Row, Row, Row Your Boat."

The provincial members from last year were promoted to active status at the assembly also.

Introducing the tuned car. 1966 Buick.

What makes a car a car is styling, performance, ride and handling. Only when they're all tuned together is the car a Buick. Like this '66 Skylark Gran Sport.

Safety is part of the tuned car's plan. And that plan is this: To make driving safer and more pleasant. For example, every tuned car comes with back-up lights (to make seeing where you're going easier, even when you're going where you've been). Seat belts front and rear are standard, too. And so are two-speed windshield wipers and washers, an outside rear-view mirror, a shatter-resistant inside mirror, padded dash and sun visors. None of them will do you much good, though, unless you use them. But then, the tuned car itself couldn't do much for you, until you own it. How soon will we be seeing you? Tomorrow would be nice. Wouldn't you really rather have a Buick?

There's an authorized Buick dealer near you. See his  Double-Checked used cars, too.

Mrs. Allen Salder, president of the Okemos Woman's club and Mrs. George L. Whitehead, president of the Haslett Literary club.

The theme of the meeting was "Education and Unity for the World of Tomorrow." Keynote speaker for the meeting was Dr. Leroy Augenstein of the Michigan State University, department of Bio-Physics, who spoke on "Moral and Ethical Responsibility in Tomorrow's World in the Light of Today's Science". Mrs. Parkhurst conducted a workshop with emphasis on "Community Improvement and Law Observance". She presented material on the protective services program conducted by the Michigan Department of Social Welfare which has been responsible for recent legislation concerning the "battered child".

Mrs. Fraser presented the recent report made to the governor by the Commission on "The Status of Women". There have been workshops in Traverse City, Grand Rapids, Marquette and Jackson; there will be one in Detroit on November 5. The aim of this commission is to further and to promote legislation to insure women equal pay with men for equal jobs and to eradicate discrimination against women in certain types of jobs.

There was a "Diamond Jubilee Banquet" in the new Howell high school on Wednesday evening at which time "Jewel" clubs, where clubs 50 or more years old, were honored. Especially honored was the Haslett Literary club which has been in existence for 88 years. A luncheon honoring past presidents of the district was on Thursday. Among those honored were Mrs. Parkhurst of Okemos. The film "Unity and Diversity" was also shown at the meeting. This film shows the history of the General Federation of Woman's Clubs and has been filmed in preparation of the diamond anniversary of the general federation next spring.

Experiences with the headstart program and other poverty-related programs in which Okemos youth contributed their time and effort last summer, will be highlighted at the next meeting of the Okemos Woman's club. Sue Ralston, who helped at the Allen Street school and Jane Cumberland, who worked at the Red Cedar school will tell of their weeks' participation with the headstart program.

Walter Willett will tell of his experiences with a group of 19 youths in an American Friend Service work-camp in Ixtacuixtla, Mexico, where the community service projects included school construction, English classes, recreation program, library and clinic participation, and even sewer installation.

Bill Sower will relate some of his experience in a work camp, also sponsored by the American Friends Service in Moodyville, Maine. This group worked with culturally deprived children of ages 3 to 11. One of their projects was to build a playground which helped to fuse the elements of two isolated groups within one community.

Chairman of the program will be Mrs. N. P. Ralston. The meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Henry Kennedy, 4578 Tacoma blvd. Mrs. Elwin Willett and Mrs. Karl Vary will be co-hostesses.

Delhi To Buy Up Bonds

HOLT--The Delhi Charter township board Monday night voted to purchase from Murel G. Sancrant and Associates, a Detroit financial investment firm, 130 sewer assessment bonds, maturing in 1968-1969, 1970 and 1971 at a price equal to their face value of $1000 each plus 5 percent interest for a total of approximately $136,500. This represents a saving to the township of $18,125 by purchasing the bonds now instead of waiting for them to mature.

If allowed to run to their maturity date, the bonds would be worth $154,625, which includes the principal of $130,000 plus interest to maturity of $24,625.

By purchasing the bonds now the township will obtain them for $136,500 or a saving of $18,125.

The bond matter and the adoption of a $147,049 budget for the township in 1966 were the 2 most important matters to come before the board.

In other action the board: Received a petition from residents on Fay, Kenral, Tolland, Wemple, Main, Furney streets and West boulevard asking for street lights.

The petition was signed by about 100 persons. The board voted to obtain engineering for the job and install 6000 lumen lights on the streets.

Received a communication from the Board of county road commissioners asking Delhi officials to meet with it to review the year's road program in the township and to discuss the program for 1966.

Supervisor Joe Klersey appointed members of the township road committee to attend the meeting set for November 8 at 1:30 p.m. at the road commission offices in Mason.

Received a copy of a letter sent to the Meridian Charter township board from Gerald K. Winans, project director of the Community Service council asking adoption of a resolution providing for equal rights for negro and other minority groups in the township. Supervisor Klersey referred the letter to a special committee composed of Trustees Ted Sample and Kenneth Hope.

Received a letter from Francis Fine, developer of Buckingham estates in which Fine asked that blacktopping of streets be done in an area of about 3000 feet at a cost of $6,000 to $7,000 before sidewalks are constructed. Fine said he would guarantee the sidewalks by a security bond. The board decided to amend its sidewalk policy so that the blacktopping may be carried out.

Heard a report from Supervisor Klersey that he had been unable to find any person to take a temporary job of 2 weeks or a month duration to reduce the number of stray dogs in the township. Allowed claims totalling $6,958.66.

Holt Youth's Balloon Goes Into Ontario

HOLT - Holt elementary school boy decided to turn loose a balloon and see how far it would travel before returning to earth.

Scott Hummel and his family had attended the 1966 Oldsmobile show, where children were given balloons filled with helium. Scott attached his name to the balloon and released it.

Nine days later he received a letter from Marley Winters, Strathby, Ontario, Canada. The balloon had come down on his farm. He wrote to Scott, enclosing a map showing where he lived. He wanted to know when the balloon had been released.

Scott has answered his letter.

Pam Smith and other members from the Webberville group were in charge of the refresher for the group. They sang songs along with other entertainment.

The school jewelry ordered by the cheerleaders has arrived. It includes bracelets with the words "Webberville H.S." engraved on them for the girls and key chains inscribed with initials "W.H.S." for the boys.

'Merger Won't Change Welfare Aid' - Minnis

By PATRICIA BOGART
 News Special Writer

Welfare aid in Ingham county will undergo no drastic change as a result of the planned merger of county and local welfare departments under the state department of social welfare.

"Ingham county has kept its standards so close to those of the state that receivers of aid will not be affected by the state's authority to set minimum aid restrictions," said Dayl V. Minnis, director of the Ingham County Department of Social Welfare.

The merger, which will increase state welfare costs by $1.6 million, was passed by the legislature this fall. It will combine the county department of social welfare and the bureau of social aid, 2 departments which had the same responsibilities and great duplication in their work. The merger will bring about a more efficient operation of the welfare department.

"The workers and myself served in a dual capacity under the two departments," Minnis said. "There was a great duplication of work as cases had to be filled once under each department. Now I will be dealing with one staff instead of two."

Minnis backed the merger for over 10 years to save time wasting duplication of actions in the welfare department.

"The Ingham County Board of Supervisors voted to merge with other counties even if the legislature hadn't passed the bill," he said. "We've wanted this for a long time and now all the legislature is saying is that we have to do it."

Minnis served on a legislative committee last winter to push the bill.

"But some state organizations were opposed as were two counties that did not want to voluntarily merge," he said. "They felt that the bill would take away local control of aid and give it to the state."

"Although it is the first time the state has been given authority to set a minimum standard for aid from federal funds standards for direct relief payments are still made by the counties," Minnis said. "Amendments to work out partnership agreements between the state and county were included in the bill."

"The state is divided into 10 districts under the Michigan Association of County Social Welfare boards and directors." This gives the counties considerable say.

The welfare department is still in the process of change. All county employees have to take civil service exams in order to work for the state.

"The state said that if our workers passed the exam they would stay assigned to the same jobs," Minnis said. "The workers have until December 31 to take the exam, so the new department should be operating by January."

"Also groups such as the League of Women voters are trying to eliminate grant ceilings in the Welfare Department. These ceilings place a maximum on aid given to people on welfare and it is felt that the state can afford to eliminate it and pay by need."

The department has had money problems in the past.

"Last year was the first time in four years we stayed within our budget," Minnis said. "The increased cost is not the result of more case loads, but the rising cost of living."

Ingham County will get $401, 800 more from the state under the new bill. This figure is based on 1964-65 expenditures.

With more state aid coming, the welfare department expects to be able to do much more and stay within its budget.

Trick Or Treaters Plan Collections for UNICEF

DANSVILLE -- Dansville children will be out Saturday, October 20 "Trick or Treating" for UNICEF, the United Nations Fund for children's relief around the world. Working as co-chairmen of the project this year are Mrs. Wayne Taylor and Mrs. Wells Moses.

The ringing of the fire siren at 6 p.m. will signal the start of collecting. Boy Scouts will be on the corners in the village to insure the safety of the children. Rural youngsters are asked to call on members of their community. Residents are asked to turn on their porch lights.

A Halloween party at the school at 7:30 p.m. will follow the canvass. The party is sponsored each year by Dansville merchants and organizations. Entertainment will include a costume parade, a magician, door prizes and treats.

Sixth grade pupils have made posters advertising the collection. These are being displayed at school and in places of business this week. Poster winners are: Mrs.

Prize Goes To Grange

Wheatfield Grange No. 851 received the first prize for community service in their district No. 7 at the Michigan State Grange session at St. Johns last Wednesday evening at the annual banquet.

Mrs. Berton Johnson, community service chairman, was there to receive the award of a $50 bond, banner and plaque. Wheatfield has had this honor every year since entering the contest 10 years ago. This was the first of the 2 year program and will continue as a 2 year program. Sears Roebuck Foundation sponsors the project.

Honored by Congress

General Ostrander Retires; Served Country 28 Years

MAJOR GENERAL DON R. OSTRANDER

Major General Don R. Ostrander, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Ostrander of Stockbridge, who retired last week after serving 28 years in the U. S. army and U. S. air force, was given a signal honor when a speech by Congressman Weston Vivian of Michigan commending him for his services to his country was published in the Congressional Record.

General Ostrander was commander of the air force office of aerospace research which has its headquarters in Washington.

"General Ostrander has rendered exceptionally distinctive service to the army and the air force and his country for the past 28 years and has earned a place of high esteem in the eyes of all who know him," Congressman Vivian said in his remarks from the house floor. "I am certain that the other members of the house join me in recognizing General Ostrander's meritorious career and wishing him equal success in the future."

A native of Stockbridge, General Ostrander was graduated from the U. S. military academy in 1937. First serving as an aviation ordnance officer in the United States, he was assigned to the 8th air force interceptor command in England as an armament and ordnance officer at the height of World War II, in May 1942. He served there until July 1944.

While in England, General Ostrander helped modify the P-38 fighter aircraft to accommodate a bombardier with a Norden bombsight on the initial test missions over battle areas of Europe.

General Ostrander later was assigned to the Army Air Force Tactical Air Command, before attending the Command and General Staff School, and the Industrial College of the Armed Forces. Shortly thereafter, he embarked on his career as an Air Force manager of science and engineering activities.

After spending some time in the armament laboratory and in the Engineering Division of the Air Materiel Command, General Ostrander, in 1951, became Deputy Commander of the 6540th Test Wing at Holloman Air Force Base, N. Mex. In 1952, when Holloman was redesignated the Holloman Air Development Center, he became the first commander of that center. He held subsequent responsible positions with the Air Research and Development Command before being appointed Assistant for Guided Missiles Production with the NATO International Staff in Paris.

General Ostrander was then elevated to the position of Deputy Director of Advanced Research Projects Agency, Office of the Secretary of Defense. From late 1959 to August 1961, he was Director of the Office of Launch Vehicles, National Aeronautics and Space Administration, and then Vice Commander of the Ballistic Systems Division.

Air Force Systems Command. In October 1962, General Ostrander became commander of the Office of Aerospace Research. As commander, General Ostrander has had the responsibility for monitoring research programs being conducted in widespread laboratories in the United States, as well as the support rendered by the command's foreign elements in Brussels, Belgium; Fort Churchill, Canada; and Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. The general's command also monitors research done for the Air Force through contracts and grants to colleges, universities, and private firms throughout the United States and abroad.

General Ostrander was awarded the distinguished service medal October 15 of this year.

At his retirement ceremony in Washington, D.C. October 15th, General Ostrander was presented with the Distinguished Service medal.

His family consists of his wife, Frances, and three children, Mary Frances, Sally Ann, and Donald Richard. They reside in Alexandria, Virginia.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Ostrander of Stockbridge. A sister, Betty, is with the University of Michigan school of law. A brother, Jack, is connected with Michigan State university.

Farmer's Club Will hear Ball

Dale B. Ball, newly appointed state commissioner of agriculture will address the meeting of the Lansing Farmers' club at a dinner in the Masonic Temple in Okemos Monday, November 1 at 6:30 p.m.

His subject will be "Reorganization of the state's department of agriculture". Ball is a Michigan State university graduate and has been a teacher.

Roadside Markets Popular

Fresh-picked, top-quality farm produce is assured Michigan travelers who stop at roadside markets displaying a new "Michigan Certified Farm Market" sign.

The attractive green, white and cream rectangular markers may be displayed only at farm stands adhering to a rigid code of ethics, said Melvin Andrus, marketing specialist with the Michigan department of Agriculture. Andrus makes regular visits to check the certified roadside markets.

The Michigan Certified Farm Markets Association was formed a little over a year ago by 23 roadside stand operators in eight southeastern Michigan counties. It has grown to 37 members in 15 counties around the state.

Members subscribe to a code that includes offering only high-quality merchandise in good condition, plainly priced and described. They adhere to grade standards and employ honest advertising in their promotion.

Market buildings must be clean and attractive, and adequate parking facilities must be maintained. There must be sufficient advance signs visible from the highway so the motorist has time to slow down, thus preventing a traffic hazard.

The success of the Michigan Certified Farm Market program is indicated by the organization's rapid growth, which seems to indicate the shopper prefers this type of roadside stand.

Members seem to appreciate being checked for compliance with the code of ethics, said Mr. Andrus. He indicated members are quick to make corrections in their operations or facilities.

New Containers

The milkman of the future may bring the family milk supply in a plastic, throw-away bottle. And, for families with many milk drinkers, a refrigerator size can or tank may be dropped off and picked up every few days. These are the predictions of Michigan State university dairy experts making forecasts for Michigan agriculture in 1980.

Co-Op Extension Service Farm Views And News

By JAMES MULVANY

Unusual weather is the usual for Ingham county's Octobers and Novembers, consequently the corn harvest is an expected problem. Corn moisture is still running high for this date and holding up the works.

It appears that no corn will be dry enough to harvest and store in cribs as ear corn in October. Moisture levels should drop to at least 25 percent or less for cribbing.

Pete and Joe Stid out Dexter trail way, however, have started picking with their picker-sheller in coordination with a dryer. They found moisture running at about 40 percent on October 18, but had dropped to 35 percent by October 20.

Good drying weather can bring the moisture level down about 2 percent per day. John Williamson of the Leslie Cooperative elevator reported some corn coming into his elevator as low as 27 percent on October 12.

Moisture level doesn't bother Marvin Lott, Meridian road dairyman; he is harvesting full force. Lott gets by the moisture problem by putting the corn in his silo as high moisture ground ear corn. The corn is picked into side unloading wagons and dropped into his chopper which is equipped to grind the ears and blow the feed into the silo.

He uses a one-half in mesh screen in the chopper to get the partial size desired in the ground corn silage. He fed this type of feed last winter with excellent success. Marvin reports that his cows prefer it to dry feed and production was satisfactory.

Lott boosted the protein of the corn ration to 13.5 percent by adding 10 pounds of urea per ton of ear corn going in the silo. Total cost per ton of feed for protein supplement is $.53 or 5.3 cents per pound of urea.

Last season the dairy farmer was forced to place ear corn in temporary cribs at a moisture level too high for safe storage. This corn kept well until warmer weather came in March.

Knowing that it had to be moved from the cribs then Lott ground it and blew it into his silo. This was a very good solution as the grain kept very well in the silo and fed until he ran out in August.

Many may want to consider high moisture corn in silos as a way of beating the harvest problems this fall.

Barden To Head MSU Cow Ag Body Joins State Top Ranks

A fruit grower, a beef and general farm owner, and an Upper Peninsula lady who represents consumers became officers of the Michigan Commission of Agriculture at the commission's annual meeting in Lansing October 12.

Donald R. Barden, prominent South Haven fruit grower, became commission chairman, succeeding Edward J. Wright of Saginaw. Blaque C. Knirk, Quincy, beef farmer, was elected vice chairman, to succeed Mr. Barden. Mrs. Kay D. Slek of Iron Mountain was elected secretary. She succeeds Mr. Knirk.

Richard K. Stout, Marshall, and Mr. Wright are the others on the five-member commission, which sets policies for the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

This was the first meeting of the Commission of Agriculture since B. Dale Ball became Director of Agriculture. Ball succeeded George S. McIntyre, who accepted a position at Michigan State university. Director Ball served as deputy director of the department for the last 12 years.

The Michigan Department of Agriculture, one of the largest state agencies, is charged with enforcement of more than 100 laws and regulations protecting the public food supply, control of insects and diseases in plants, and livestock disease control. It also works with numerous commodity groups to generate expanding markets for Michigan farm products and to promote excellence in agricultural output.

Under planned state reorganization, eight commodity groups and commissions will join the Michigan Department of Agriculture. They are: Michigan State Apple Commission, Michigan Cherry Commission, Michigan Potato Industry Council, Michigan Racing Commission, Michigan State Fair Authority, Board of Managers of the Upper Peninsula State Fair, Michigan Weather Service, and State Soil Conservation Committee.

A registered Holstein cow owned by Michigan State university, East Lansing, has entered the select circle of national and state leaders on Dairy Herd Improvement registry test.

Holstein-Friesian Association of America reports that Michigan Winterthur Star 5323184 (GP) has completed the third highest official national milk record made by a Senior two-year-old milked two times daily in the 365-day division of the DHIR program. Her official 347-day production totalled 25,430 lbs. of milk and 581 lbs. of butterfat. This record also breaks a previous all-time state milk record for Holsteins in this same age group, milking frequency and division.

Michigan Winterthur Star was bred in the herd of her present owner. She was sired by Kingstead Winterthur Pabst 1232296 (VG), a bull that has earned Gold Medal sire recognition.

At the head of this national age group in milk for the 365-day division on a twice daily milking schedule is Westmoreland Wallie Bridgette 5343630, a Registered Holstein cow owned by C. H. Stikney & Sons, Springfield, Ohio. "Bridgette's" 365-day record totalled 28,690 lbs. of milk and 1,146 lbs. of butterfat.

These new records were made under the rules of Dairy Herd Improvement Registry - one of two herd testing programs conducted by the Holstein Association. This and the Herd Improvement Registry testing program have a combined enrollment of over 141,600 Registered Holstein cows in over 3,200 herds.

Pear Yields To Double

Michigan's pear production will likely double by 1980.

Yields are expected to jump from 1.5 million bushels (1960-64 average) to about 3 million bushels. This production level will require about 12,000 acres with an average yield of 275 to 300 bushels per acre, compared with 9,800 acres and 151 bushels per acre in 1960-64.

A team of Michigan State university scientists expect that Michigan will continue to increase its share of the U.S. pear output, but the west coast will remain the major producing region. Some areas in the east and south could become more competitive with Michigan if the fireblight problem is solved.

The Project '80 scientists list several reasons for Michigan's expected growth as a pear producer. 1) Pears fit well in a diversified fruit industry, 2) Growers have the know-how, and 3) State processing outlets are developing and growing.

More Grapes Predicted

Grapes are among Michigan's most prosperous fruit crops. Production is expected to jump 55 per cent by 1980.

Michigan State university scientists expect that Michigan will be producing about 90,000-100,000 tons of grapes on about 25,000 acres in 1980. This compares with 53,900 tons on 22,400 acres in 1960-64. Yields per acre should jump from 2.28 tons to about 3.5-4 tons.

Michigan's share of the juice industry should continue to expand, but the fresh and wine markets will continue to be dominated by California. New management and harvesting systems may cut production costs by 50 per cent.

The projections were made as part of Project '80, MSU's futuristic look at Michigan's rural potential by 1980. Investigating the future of the state's grape industry are R. P. Larsen, Myron Kelsey, Paul Woolley and George McManus, Jr., of MSU's Cooperative Extension Service staff.

More Apples

Michigan State university scientists predict that Michigan's apple production will double in the next 15 years. The expected rise in production should be greater than that of the entire nation. The 1980 crop is estimated at 28 million bushels.

Intermediate Board Studies New US Act

The elementary secondary education act of 1965 which provides a maximum of $600,000 in the county to schools which are eligible for grants from the federal government for providing an enrichment program in the schools to assist children of needy families in gaining a better education was reviewed by the Ingham Intermediate board of education at its meeting in Mason last week.

The money will go to various schools which make application for the so-called poverty act which sets up a set sum for each pupil whose family income is less than $2,000 a year.

The money is to be used by the schools for improving its general academic courses.

Several schools in the county already have taken steps leading toward an application for federal funds under the act.

The board also announced a change in its operational policy regarding the use of special education rooms if there are not enough handicapped children to fill a room when it is completed.

The board pointed out that the economical time to build a special education classroom is when it is part of a larger building project and sometimes there are not enough children to fill the room for a year or 2.

The board policy has always been that there is no county reimbursement until the room is occupied with special edu-

C of C Reaches No Decision On Welcome Wagon

WILLIAMSTON - After listening to an explanation of the Welcome Wagon program by Mrs. Dwight Camp of Lansing and watching movies showing its operation, the Williamston Chamber of Commerce, at its meeting last week, reached no decision on adopting the program.

Meanwhile, the merchants plan to continue their own Newcomers' club. Mrs. Harold Pletz and Mrs. Lawrence Van Tassel are in charge of the club, which sends gifts and welcome cards to new residents in the Williamston area.

Children. The new policy adopted last week establishes a cut-off at 5 years so that if used anytime within 5 years the school district would suffer no reimbursement loss.

Library To Get New Furniture

The Hall Memorial library is to have some new furniture.

The Ingham County Library board Wednesday authorized Renwick Garyle, director of the county library system, to purchase new type compact filing cabinets, book shelving for about 1,300 additional books and new tables.

The board also voted to approve the Ingham county libraries' membership in the Central Michigan Library system in 1966.

Three members of the staff of the Hall Memorial library and 2 members of the library board attended the annual conference of the Michigan Library association in Traverse City last week. They were Renwick Garyle, Clarence Phillips and Robert Scott of the library staff and Mrs. Henry Dunkelberg and Mrs. John Edgar of the library board.

Haslett To Seek Funds Under New Federal Act

HASLETT -- The Haslett public school system has taken the first step necessary to qualify for federal grants under the new elementary and secondary education act of 1965, it was announced this week.

Under this act schools may apply for funds to identify and try to correct educational, physical and emotional needs of students aged 5 through 17 years.

The Haslett schools' first step was the formation of a planning committee to identify the needs and suggest projects which will improve instruction for these boys and girls.

The committee plans to meet with a representative from the Michigan Department of Education in the near future and thus begin the course of action the Haslett schools will follow.

The committee includes the following members: Malcolm Dunham, senior high school representative; Leo Mullen, junior high school representative; Mrs. Vern Ralya, elementary school representative; Mrs. Kathy McLelland, county special services; Mrs. Irma Hill, county health department; Mrs. Eileen Madex, Haslett community; Miss Lila Goodwin, Ingham county intermediate office, and Ed-don Ross, Haslett school administration.

Production Decline

Michigan's raspberry production will likely decline 50 percent or more in the next 15 years, according to Michigan State university scientists. They say that most of the decline will be caused by the lack of disease-free, highly-productive varieties and mechanical harvesting techniques.

School Bonds Get OK

HASLETT -- Haslett school district voters last week approved an $800,000 bond issue 463 to 243.

The bonds will be used to finance a building expansion program at the high school, and the Murphy and Wilkshire elementary schools.

The high school expansion includes a 4 room complex constructed so rooms may be divided by moving partitions and a 2 room complex for arts and crafts and an industrial arts classroom.

At the Murphy school, now a 6-room building, 15 rooms will be added. Among them will be an all purpose room equipped with a stage. A separate kitchen and heating facilities also will be added.

Expansion at the Wilkshire school will include a resource room, offices and a teachers' room.

Other funds from the bond issue will be used for parking facilities at the Murphy school and for the purchase of sites for future school expansion.

Completion date for the projects has been set tentatively for January 1967.

Manistee Is Tops

Strawberry yields in Manistee county are higher than in any area west of the Mississippi. The production increase is largely due to the experimental work done at Michigan State university on fertilizing techniques, irrigation, frost control and plant development.

Apple Bobbing

Michigan State university scientists have used the principle that apples float and bob up and down in water to develop a new apple sizing and sorting system called "Hydro-Handling". The system offers a practical and highly-mechanized means for removing low quality cull apples before they are stored.

Register Now For Merit Test

DANSVILLE - Students who expect to complete their secondary school requirements at Dansville high school and enter college in 1967 can register now at the school office for the 1966-67 National Merit Scholarship program, Principal Don S. Mueller announced today.

The first step for all students who wish to enter the nationwide competition is to take the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (NMQST), which will be given in the school at 9:00 a.m., Tuesday, March 1, 1966.

Students can take the test to obtain information useful in planning their further education or careers as well as competing for the scholarships awarded by NMSC. Along with his NMQST scores, each participating student will receive a handbook to help him understand his educational strengths and weaknesses, evaluate his scores, and compare his performance with that of other high school students across the country. The handbook and other interpretive materials are furnished by the testing agency at no extra cost.

The highest-scoring students in each state will be named semifinalists and will receive further consideration in the merit program. In addition to these awards made by NMSC, more than 280 business corporations, foundations, colleges, professional associations, unions, trusts, other organizations, and individuals give scholarships through the merit program.

Meat Substitutes

Scientists at Michigan State university predict that meat "substitutes" now being experimentally produced from plant proteins will be in commercial production by 1980. Most consumers of the substitutes will be people who must be on special diets.

MIXED BLESSING

Despite legislative efforts to reduce the number of out-of-state students at Michigan's colleges and universities, the total changes little. Some legislators feel that students from elsewhere deprive Michigan students, whose parents are paying taxes, from attending schools here. They have tried to discourage enrollment by charging substantially higher tuition fees for out-of-state students.

University officials feel differently. They argue with some logic that the opportunity for Michigan students to meet and mix with students from other states and countries is a necessary educational experience.

They identify the extra costs paid by the out-of-state student plus the sizable amount of money he and his family spends in the state while he is studying here as economic assets. At MSU, for example, a Michigan resident pays $324 per year for tuition; an out-of-stater pays $870. It is estimated that out-of-state student leaves an additional $1,000 to $2,000 per year with Michigan merchants. Officials from the state institutions also state that despite the influx of student applications, they have not yet had to refuse admission to a Michigan resident whose records indicated he could successfully complete a college degree.

A study prepared for the Midwest Council of State Governments shows that in the 1963-64 school year Michigan's public colleges and universities enrolled 12.5 per cent of their students from other states and countries. This included some 14,275 out-of-state students and 3,900 from foreign countries. Sixteen New England and Middle Atlantic states accounted for more than 11,000 of the 14,275 non-residents enrolled in Michigan in the study period.

Migration of Michigan students to other states was considerably lower than the rate of influx. The other states admitted 4,902 students from Michigan.

Imbalance was noted in the report in all states except Washington, which took in 81 Michigan residents and sent the same number of students here. Students entering Michigan public schools from 31 states outnumbered those leaving here, while 17 states admitted more Michigan students than came here.

Out-migration from Michigan was most pronounced at schools in the far west and southwest.

OPERATION SUCCESS
Real progress seems apparent after the first full operative year of Michigan's community mental health services law.

A total of 13 day care centers for severely retarded were opened during the past year to receive state funds under the law. Another six are in the planning stage. In all, the 19 centers will provide services for 350 people, primarily children.

These new services were credited largely for reducing the state's institutional waiting list to 1,557 at mid-year. This was the lowest number on the list since 1961.

New day-care centers ranged in size from a capacity to serve 12 persons, to the 96-person plant operating in a group of centrally-supervised units in Wayne county. Limitations are designed to keep a ratio of six students per instructor.

Most of the 19 centers are geared to serve two dozen or less. The age range is from two to 26 years, but most set narrower limits such as 5 to 15 years of age.

First centers to open are Wayne, Genesee, Kent, Jackson, Kalamazoo, St. Clair, Muskegon, Oakland, Saginaw, Macomb and Washtenaw counties. St. Clair and Macomb counties each have two day care centers in operation. Among the six new centers are additional facilities for Genesee and Oakland counties and new units to serve Ionia, Calhoun and Monroe counties. The first Upper Peninsula center is planned for next April.

August Report Shows 71 Accidents in August

Prison Inmates To Stage Show

Southern Michigan Prison inmates at Jackson are in the midst of preparations for "Panorama '65" the annual prisoner musical comedy being presented to the public Saturday, November 6, at 8 p.m.

The prison shows are written, produced, staged and performed entirely by inmates under the direction of Don R. Young, SMP music director. "Each year," said Young, "we feel that the current production, naturally is better than last year. But, I feel, this year we can take that attitude without reservations."

In addition to a variety of individual talent, special stage effects and scenic design will play a big part in this year's show, Young said.

activities of the department was made public this week. It showed that 236 arrests were made during the month. Criminal male prisoners received at the jail numbered 187 and 172 male prisoners were discharged after serving their sentences.

Criminal female prisoners received during the month totaled 5. Five female prisoners were discharged. Six male prisoners were transferred to Jackson prison.

Inmates in custody during the month totaled 115 male and 8 female.

Department cars made 157 trips to Lansing with prisoners and clocked 1,884 miles of travel. Patrol cars traveled 29,686 miles during the month and 734 additional miles were traveled after prisoners.

In the driver license bureau 951 operator licenses and 155 chauffeur licenses were issued.

A total of 11,166 meals were served to jail inmates during the month at a cost of 28.9 cents per meal.

Overtime hours put in by patrol officers totaled 47. This did not include overtime hours for command officers, undersheriff, and chief deputy and captain.

Ingham County Farm Bureau One of Oldest

Spread out over the broad acres of rural Ingham county are 28 community groups with a membership of 1,402 who comprise the Ingham County Farm Bureau.

This is the grass roots organization of a much more vast organization known as the Michigan State Farm Bureau which, in turn, is linked to the American Farm Bureau which includes in its members all the county and state organizations throughout the country.

The Michigan Farm Bureau has a membership of 68,000 divided into 1600 community groups.

During the year these groups meet about once a month and discuss topics of interest to them. From these topics come suggestions for resolutions to be presented to each county bureau's annual meeting.

A County resolutions committee meets several times a year to go over the suggestions and finally write a list of resolutions to be presented. At this year's annual meeting the Ingham county group was presented with 12 resolutions, 11 of which were approved and one disapproved. The resolution rejected by the membership was No. 4, which read as follows:

"The alarming increase in dropouts in our country is becoming a major concern with us all. These young people need expert guidance in some trade or vocation as future leaders of our nation. Therefore, we recommend a vocational school for dropouts and those needing vocational guidance be established in our county."

Leaders of the county farm bureau said the resolution was disapproved because it was felt there are enough vocational classes available to dropouts in the county and the dropouts should be advised of these.

The other 11 resolutions were adopted. They included one thanking the cooperative extension service of Michigan State university for the contribution it has made to agriculture, family living and 4-H club work.

Another denounced the one-man-one vote concept of government as "a gross distortion of the spirit and intent of the constitution and urge the congress to speedily enact legislation excluding from court jurisdiction the appointment of all political bodies."

Another urged members to do more writing to their legislative and state representatives.

Another favored a state income tax to yield that portion of school operating costs presently borne by property taxes with additional property tax relief to property owners.

Another urged the county farm bureau board of directors to institute plans for a new site and erection of a farm bureau building.

Another resolved to put before legislative representatives a resolution to "urge our secretary of labor to resolve the law 'barring bracero labor.'"

Another resolution urged enactment of legislation to change the workmen's compensation law enacted by the state legislature in 1965 and pertaining to those farmers hiring less than 3 full time employees, to provide medical insurance with a limit of $1,000 per accident and a time off benefit not to be less than half the employee's income with benefits payable up to one year for disability.

Still another resolution requested the state legislature to enact the so-called implied consent legislation which would provide that at the time of obtaining a driver's license a motorist would give his implied consent that he would be willing to take a chemical test for intoxication whenever a law enforcement officer has reason to believe the driver is intoxicated, under penalty of forfeiture of his license. Other resolutions urged that minor suspects and parents' names be given full publicity after a person has been found guilty, urged the posting of signs giving amounts of fines for scattering litter along highways and urged congressmen to support the passage of the fair trade bill.

These resolutions as do those of other counties are passed on to the Michigan Farm Bureau which prepares a set to be presented at the annual meeting of the state organization. The 1965 meeting of the state group is scheduled for November 9, 10 and 11 at Michigan State university. The meeting on November 10, however, will be at the Lansing Civic Center when Charles B. Shuman, an Illinois grain farmer who is president of the American Farm Bureau, will address the group.

The Ingham County Farm Bureau is one of the oldest in the state and was one of the charter counties when the state farm bureau was organized 45 years ago. Clifford Ward, who is a resident of Leslie township, attended the first annual meeting of the state bureau back in 1920.

The Ingham county bureau is governed by a board of directors of 8 members, each representing 2 townships, plus the chairman of the women's committee, the chairman of the young people's group and a director at large.

Alvin Launstein of Wheatfield township is president of the county bureau and Stanley Fay of Stockbridge township is vice-president.

Board members include Henry Buckingham, director at large; Mrs. Virginia Launstein, chairman of the Ingham county women's committee; Roy Buckingham, chairman of the Farm Bureau young adults; Roger Pelster, representing Locke and Leroy townships; Chellis Hall, Leslie-Vevay; Stanley Fay, White Oak-Stockbridge; Launstein, Williams-town-Wheatfield; Loren Spink, Aurelius-Onondaga; L. K. Moore, Lansing-Delhi; David Diehl, Ingham - Bunker Hill, and Junior Brownfield, Aladon-Meridian.

Launstein, Fay and Spink comprise the executive committee.

2 Horses Will Be Passed On

Since 1957 the Dr. O. Keith Pauley quarter horse chain has been continuing, while enabling deserving county 4-H youths to own their animals. This fall 2 county 4-H members will be awarded quarter horses in connection with the chain. In order to qualify the members and parents sign an agreement to care for the mare, to breed her to a registered quarter horse, raise the colt for a year and to exhibit the mare and/or offspring at the county fair.

Cheryl Swift, 13, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Swift of Mason, is one of the lucky ones to receive a mare this year. The Dr. Pauley horse chain is under the supervision of the county 4-H horse committee and the Ingham county extension office. Miss Swift is a member of the Aurelius 4-H club and her club project leader is Howard Bouts.

The second 4-H'er to receive a horse will be selected by the horse committee in November. Members interested in receiving a registered filly colt may apply by writing a letter to the county extension office, courthouse, Mason, by November 12.

Selection is made on the basis of their previous project work in the horse project; age of the member; home facilities available to care for a mare and raise a colt and their general interest as expressed in their letter to the extension 4-H youth agent.

After the chain mare has foaled, the 4-H member agrees to pass on the original mare of a filly colt to another member so that the chain may continue.

Since 1957 when Dr. Pauley gave 4 horses to the Ingham county 4-H clubs, 10 members have gained inspiration through the privilege of being in this program.

Through the plan these members have gained high-quality horses for their projects, plus raising the quality standards of the horses in the county 4-H horse projects.

4-H members who showed Pauley horses at this year's county fair were Beverly Lyon, Mason; Larry Avery, Okemos; Kay Johnson, East Lansing; and Sara Oglesbee, Leslie.

Those on the horse committee are Bob Densmore, 876 W. Howell road, Mason; Mrs. Alden Sears, 1498 Sherwood road, Williamston; Dean Carmony, Route #2, Mason; Gerald Robinson, 917 Elbert road, Holt; and Mrs. Thomas Cluey, 2222 Haslett road, East Lansing.

Dear friends,

Clergymen and psychologists agree that to say "Come now, buck up. Don't take it so hard" only makes the bereaved feel worse. "Bucking him up" sounds as though you are minimizing his loss.

Honest sympathy, "Yes, it's tough, and I sure know it is" makes your friend feel free to express grief and recover from it. The natural emotion of grief is a God-given safety valve which should not be suppressed.

Respectfully,

Hare Advises Motorists To Beat Car Plate Rush

Secretary of State James M. Hare has urged "responsible insured Michigan drivers to get in line early for 1966 license plates to get away from last-minute rush which could be bigger than ever because of the new Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Act.

"It's going to take longer to process applications for plates this year because of collections to the fund," Hare said. "Since this is the first year, we're bound to have some confusion and delay on collections."

He said this is the reason he is appealing to persons who have liability insurance, have insurance proof such as an insurance certificate, policy, or other affidavit, to get into Secretary of State branch offices early in November to obtain 1966 plates."

Hare said he expected that most of the "buy early" people will be those who will be paying only $1.00 into the new fund.

"Uninsured vehicle owners who will be paying the increased fee of $35 into the fund will probably be among those in the last-minute rush for plates before the deadline of February 28," Hare said.

"And this $35 doesn't buy them a cent's worth of insurance protection," Hare said. "These drivers remain uninsured . . . and subject to Michigan's financial responsibility laws . . . subject to repaying the fund in full in the event a claim is made against the fund for an accident in which they were negligent."

Although collections begin with the November 1 start of 1966 license plate sales at the more than 200 branch offices of the Secretary of State, only accidents which occur on or after January 1, 1966, will be honored by claims, Hare said.

A small staff headed by Robert E. Hall, Lansing attorney and insurance claims man, has been set up to administer the fund. Staffing pattern is expected to grow as the volume of claims gets heavier, Hare indicated.

"It's difficult to predict how many claims will be filed against the fund," Hare said. "We're geared to handle 1,000 the first month and expected heavier volumes as we go along."

Michigan has more than two-and-one-half the number of vehicles that Ontario has and "we expect to process about three times the number of claims that Ontario does, and perhaps more," Hare stated.

"Because of the newness of the fund, and its complete difference from anything in existence in any other state, we'll just play it by ear and hope for the best," Hare concluded.

YOUR HARVEST?

Stop, right where you are! What kind of seeds are you sowing? Do you go to church? Do you sow wheat, clover, or prickly pear seeds? Do you bless your neighbor or curse him? The adage is true, YOU'RE GOING TO REAP JUST WHAT YOU SOW. Clean words, kind thoughts and good deeds bring a glorious harvest. If you sow of the flesh, do not expect to reap of the spirit, YOU'RE GOING TO REAP JUST WHAT YOU SOW. Attend Church every week.
