

LONG WAYS UP - Lewis Ketchum of Mason prepares to board a small plane which will take him some 4,500 feet up and drop him out of the plane. The free-fall sky diving is becoming an extremely popular sport in Michigan.

Mason Teen Is Active In Sky Diving Sport

Excitement builds up, a blast of cold air hits his face, followed by a minute or so of weightlessness and then Whoosh--the parachute of 17-year-old Lewis Ketchum opens up bringing the Mason boy back to ground safely. Lewis travels every Saturday and Sunday to Richmond Field near Gregory where he participates in the exhilarating thrill sport of sky diving. Growing in popularity every day, the Ketchum boy is probably the first person from Mason to actively pursue the sport.

His introduction to the sky diving was a complete accident. He and his father Gordon Ketchum of 1155 N. Cedar street, Mason, often go to a state park near the airport to camp. It was only natural for the teenager to stop in at the airport for a look on one of their first trips.

Before Lewis could jump from the plane he had to take 5 hours of concentrated sky diving lessons on the ground. His first jump was from a height of 2,800 feet since then he has jumped 10 times and the last one was from 3,500 feet. This Saturday he will attempt it from 4,500 feet and will gradually work the fall distance up to approximately 13,000 feet.

The bike reunion began at 8 p.m. and lasted until 2 a.m. In that time the majority of youngsters, primarily from Mason, whipped up and down all the main and side streets of Mason causing disturbances and potential hazards to life and limb.

Police attempted to stop the violators and at one time saw a bike enter the Jefferson-Ash street intersection traveling at a speed estimated at 80 miles per hour.

Soon after the sheriff's deputies were called for help in corralling the teens. With 4 cars on the road within the city, officers still had great difficulty in dispersing the gang.

The whole incident started when a Mason businessman complained of the noise and interruption of his business by the youths. Chief Tim Stolz went down and quieted the youngsters only to be called a second time to calm them. As a result of the motorcycle disturbance, 2 juveniles were ticketed.

Commenting on the cyclist incident, Stolz said he didn't intend to put up with this type of thing and he didn't expect the residents of Mason to live with it either.

Stolz indicated he would ask the city council for an ordinance to limit the use of all 2-wheeled motorized cycles within the city from dusk to dawn at the regular city council meeting Monday night.

Until then Stolz has pledged to keep the cyclists under control even if it requires calling on every regular and auxiliary policeman.

Delhi township adopted such a ruling and Lansing is presently considering one this week.

Cyclists Run Wild in Mason

Those on motorized 2-wheel vehicles are going to find travel in Mason somewhat restricted following a loud, boisterous gathering of the cyclists in the area of Hall boulevard and the county park Tuesday night.

Collision Injures 5 On Friday

Five persons were injured in a 2 car accident at Willoughby and Phillips roads Friday night. Three were hospitalized and 2 were treated and discharged.

One car was driven by Rodney Bollman, 23, of 2487 Okemos road, Mason. He, his wife and young daughter all suffered injuries. Bollman and his daughter Trisha were treated and released but his wife Joann as of Tuesday was reported in serious condition by officials at Edward Sparrow hospital. She is in intensive care unit with possible internal injuries.

The other car was driven by Donald Lucas, 26, of East Lansing. His passenger was Geraldine Cullodon, 23, of Lansing. Both of them were admitted to the hospital with injuries.

Miss Cullodon was reported in good condition Tuesday and Lucas was released Monday. Lucas suffered a broken collar bone and Miss Cullodon received several scalp wounds. Bollman and Trisha had bruises and lacerations.

Sheriff's officers said Bollman failed to yield and struck the Lucas car. Officers ticketed Bollman.

County, City Police Aid in Lansing Riots

Area Youths Demonstrate Three Nights

The peace of Lansing has been broken this week by one of the worst youth uprisings in the city's history. Hundreds of police have been called to help quell the riots including 40 sheriff's men and 3 Mason officers.

Since Sunday night gangs of young, immature teenagers and sub-teens have turned a hitherto peaceful city into a scene of carnage and the end does not yet appear in sight.

After Sunday night's outbreak there were rumblings throughout Monday that there would be a repeat performance Monday night. Police in Mason, East Lansing, Michigan State university, Ingham county sheriff's department, Meridian, Delhi and Lansing townships and State Troopers were alerted to be ready.

Early Monday evening radios were chattering in the Ingham county sheriff's department and by 8:30 the call came. Seven patrol cars, each carrying 7 armed men rushed out of the jail yard with sirens screaming headed for the Lansing riot scene.

From other areas, the same program was being carried out. Mason received a call about 9:30 p.m. and Chief Tom Stolz, Sergeant Allan Winters and Patrolman James French headed for the trouble zone. Once there they left their cars in the police garage and boarded the big buses bound for the latest flareup.

A high ranking police officer estimates the uprising is costing the taxpayers of Ingham county about $2,000 an hour in police salaries, wear and tear on police equipment, gasoline and oil.

There are at least 300 or more police officers involved. Police cars have been crippled, streets littered with broken bottle glass, chunks of cement, bricks and other homemade weapons used by the mobs to throw through car windshields and at officers on the law.

How many of the "enemy" there are is problematical. If they were all in one group it might number into a thousand.

Mason Seeks More Doctors

The Mason area needs more physicians, according to a study made by a group concerned about the dwindling number of doctors.

Rev. Joseph Nielson, chairman of the citizens committee to look into the problem, has called for a public meeting Tuesday, September 6, at the city hall to hear reports from several sub-committees working on the problem.

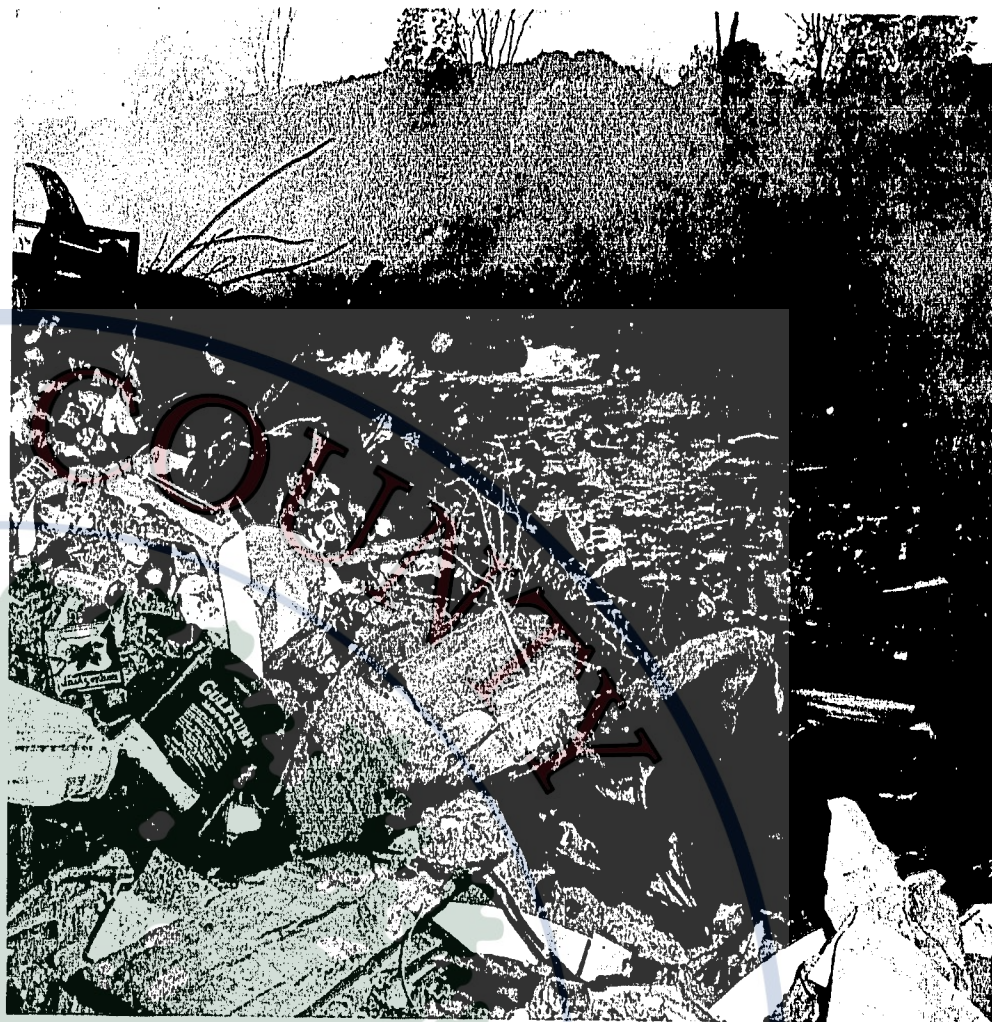

Mason currently has 6 physicians, some of whom do not maintain a full-time practice. Recently, 2 doctors have left Mason, one for military service and another who has moved to Holt.

Mayor Gilson Pearsall is chairman of the important procurement committee. He urged this week that anyone who knows of a doctor who might be interested in relocating in Mason to contact him. He suggested that there are doctors who seek a change of scenery or who desire to move where they can avail themselves of improved medical facilities such as are available in Mason. He also said his committee wants names of interns who will be contacted by the Mason committee.

Currently, the committee is approaching medical schools, foundations, medical associations, senators and legislators as well as advertising in publications read by doctors.

The September 6 meeting is open to the public. Rev. Nielson said. He stressed the point that all Mason doctors are working within the citizens committee and are helping to attract additional doctors to the area.

Mason Proceeds Toward New Dumping Operation

Mason's dump currently in use on N. Mason street

Old Method Doesn't Meet Regulations

Mason may be one of the first cities in Ingham county to create a sanitary land fill in accordance with the recent Act 87 of Public Acts of 1965 adopted by the Michigan legislature.

The city has 2 years to comply with the State's new regulations, but is hoping for faster action. R.R. Robbins, chairman of the city dump committee, indicated to councilmen sometime ago that the city's dump was illegal and some sort of action must be taken to correct the problem.

Such a sanitary land fill is desirable because it would eliminate the constant fires in the dump area and virtually all the odor. Currently Mason's dump operation costs taxpayers about $5,000 per year including the dump supervisor wages.

"There is no question in my mind that the sanitary land fill will be more costly and not as convenient for the users, but we must follow the law," Gilson Pearsall, Mason mayor, said.

Work is scheduled to begin in earnest on Mason's new dump this fall. It is estimated that once the ground work planning is completed the new dump should be in operation within 3 months.

Under this sanitary land fill operation, all refuse is placed in a deep trench, compressed and then covered with soil. Once the trench is filled and covered over the land can be put to good use for recreation or many other purposes.

Some of the problems Mason councilmen face in creating the sanitary land fill operation are--what do they do when the ground freezes; should dump users be required to carry a resident's identification card, what effect will the dump have on the contracts between the city and townships, how many hours a week can the city afford to pay a man to work the bulldozer covering refuse.

Tennis Players Enter Finals

Tennis players from Mason are beginning to put the city on the map as a big tennis town. Showing their game abilities Bill Strait and Pat Birney upset the State Class B Doubles champions in a match Tuesday afternoon.

Pitted against the champs from Sturgis Mason's representatives came through with scores 6-4 and 6-2. Today the boys go on to the final match in Holland. Mrs. Maurice Strait is the coach.

Board of Supers Hear Of County Road Woes

Members of the Ingham County Board of supervisors were charged with the responsibility of cooperating locally, statewide and nationally to provide a reasonable network of all-weather arterial roads to carry today's immense traffic.

Speaking to the board at its regular August meeting Tuesday, Frank (Tex) Evans, county road commission superintendent-engineer, said current highway construction in Ingham county is 20 years behind the times.

The road commission is now in the midst of a 20-year program begun in 1958. Cost of the program was estimated at $33,000,000 requiring an average annual expenditure of about $1,600,000.

By 1968 Evans anticipates some 202 miles of primary system will be reconstructed which is far below actual requirements.

"Our total expenditure on primary roads will be approximately $10,000,000 or a deficit in this 10-year period of at least $15,000,000 of badly needed highway funds," he said. "A similar story exists on the local county road system and local street system."

Taking an overall view of the problems facing the county, Evans said: "The dollar expenditure and the standards of construction which we have had to lower from modern standards is appalling."

"In most cases we are not providing facilities constructed to modern standards. We have had to resort to a remodeling process or stage construction on our improvements, in an attempt to keep the county's wheels rolling."

Ingham county road commission is responsible for a road and street system of about 1,100 miles. Of this total 360 miles are primary system highways and 740 miles are local roads and streets outside of incorporated cities.

"As of January 1, 1966 we show that 26 percent of the main county roads are inadequate, 36 percent inadequate exists on local roads and streets and over 20 percent of bridges and drainage structures are inadequate," Evans said.

"So far our road construction work could be compared with a centennial house which has had 2 new bedrooms added, but the commission plans to begin another 20-year program and this time with everyone's cooperation we hope not to fall quite so far behind."

Bad Week

Last week was just not Eugene (Gene) Worthington's week.

Worthington, an auxiliary police officer, was hit by a car while directing traffic in the 700 block of E. Ash street, near the fairgrounds last Wednesday night and suffered leg injuries. He was treated at Mason General hospital and discharged.

Three days later--last Saturday -- Worthington notified police someone stole the hub caps off his automobile while it was parked at his home, 730 S. Lansing street. The caps are valued at $75.

Police said that in the accident Worthington was hit by a car hauling a trailer and driven by Floyd Hensley (Ben) Clancy of 217 N. Lansing street. Clancy told investigating officers that he did not see Worthington.

Officers said the auxiliary policeman was standing in the center of the street with a flashlight and was hit from behind.

Clancy was cited for having no lights on the trailer and for driving in an unsafe manner.

Adult Education Program Is Planned

Beginning this fall the Mason public schools will offer a varied program of adult evening classes designed to meet the interests of the whole community.

During the next 2 weeks a survey will be taken to determine interest in various courses and following that will be an announcement as to what the specific classes will be.

During the fall semester it is planned that several courses will be offered; most of them hobbies, recreational and social skills and physical fitness. There is also a possibility of typing and bookkeeping being offered if sufficient interest is shown.

The program will be set up for residents of the school district not presently enrolled in a regular program. Registration and enrollment procedures will be announced shortly after the opening of school the week after Labor Day.

Tentative plans call for the classes to begin the last week in September and end the first week in December, well ahead of the busy holiday season.

At the present time it is felt that all courses will cost under $10 each. The definite cost for each course will vary depending upon the subject and type of class. More information on this will be available in the next few weeks.

Any individual desiring to stimulate interest in a specific course or program is asked to contact Leigh Beagle at the high school or at his home in the evenings. During the next week your assistance in the survey of interests will be a factor in the success of the program during the next year.

Panthers To Be Feted Baseball Championship

There will be foot long hot dogs, corn on the cob, soft drinks, ice cream and other delicacies.

Parents of the team have been invited to the affair and Smith said he hopes they all would come "to honor the boys for their efforts."

A lot of the credit for the team's enviable record can be credited to their coaches Michael Slowinski and Bud McCrew who guided them through the season.

For 3 years the Panthers have been working for the goal they achieved this year.

They will play a post season game at the baseball diamond at Columbia and Rogers streets on August 17 against the top Pee Wee team of the Holt junior baseball program. The game is scheduled to start at 8 p.m.

The junior league top team coached by Ron Underwood, will play the top junior team from Holt at the county fairgrounds diamond August 6.

Tennis Program Comes to an End

Mason's tennis program wound up last week with final matches being played in elimination and ladder tournaments. Top players in their respective age groups are Marie Aldrich, Martin Gaddy, Richard Birney, and Holly Stribley.

Brenda Slabaugh won the beginners' tournament for both age groups, defeating Teresa Binkowski, winner of the under-fourteen beginners. In all, ninety people participated in the program, including forty-eight beginners.

Net Stars Upset Top Mason Boys

In the St. Joseph Valley tournament at South Bend, Indiana, last week, nearly all Mason boys met seeded players in competition.

Bill Strait advanced to the semi-finals by eliminating Dave Mansfield of Niles, seeded No. 2 in the tourney and last year's runner-up in the state Junior Chamber of Commerce tournament.

He later fell to Anderson, Indiana state champion, in a long, close match 7-5, 6-4.

Pat Birney upset Jerry Smith, also of Niles, ranked 5th in the tourney, then lost to Bill Struck of East Lansing in three sets.

In doubles, Strait teamed with Neil Allen from New York to defeat Birney and Struck, then lost to the Mansfield - Allen duo.

Nine Mason boys entered play at South Bend. Greg Wrook, Jeff Cotton, Jeff Collier, Dennis Dancer, Ed Duke, Kim Augustine, Jack Leonard, Birney and Strait, Birney, Dennis, Dancer, Kim and Kerry Augustine, and Richard Birney this week are playing in the Western Michigan tournament in Holland.

Chip Champs Lose To All-Star Team

The first place team in the chip division of the Mason junior baseball program, coached by Mrs. Richard Gilmore and Mrs. Bed McRae, played a team composed of all stars from the 2 other teams in the league last Thursday and came out on the short end of a 29 to 27 score.

The All Star coaches were Mrs. Norman Berg, and Mrs. Clarence Harrington. Teams in the chip division do not use a pitcher. A batting "T" is used instead.

This is a portion of the dump site on state land at Bruin lake that has Unadilla township residents up in arms.

State Ignores Own Dumping Regulations

GREGORY... Many residents in this quiet little hamlet and in surrounding Unadilla Township, while normally difficult to get excited, are hopping mad this week.

They feel it is bad enough when the state passes a law that imposes certain restrictions on them, but when the state itself doesn't abide by that law, it's no longer a laughing matter.

What the people are up in arms about is the law regarding public dumps which went into effect August 1. Then, area residents learned that the state was continuing to dump its garbage in the same haphazard way as had been done for years.

The situation here came to light Sunday when the Gregory, fire department was summoned to the dump at Bruin Lake which is used exclusively by the state recreation department. Fire from the dump, located in an opening in a wooded area, had spread into nearby grass and trees and firemen fought the blaze for some 5 hours before bringing it under control.

While the new law clearly states that all dumps must have an attendant and that refuse must be covered by dirt every day, garbage from the Pinckney recreation area is still being dumped on top of the ground, over a wide area, at 2 different locations in the area.

Roy Russell, district park supervisor for the state in the Pinckney recreation area, when contacted by telephone, said he had visited the dumping sites Monday morning. He also said he was aware that they had been neglected and that bulldozers would be brought in in the near future to clean them up.

Residents of this area feel that the state should be the first to comply with its own laws, especially since that law forced the closing of the Unadilla township dump, as it has many others around the state.

When asked about the new law, Russell said it didn't apply to state-owned land and that it would be impossible to hire someone to be in attendance at the dump sites. He said there are 2 dumps in the Pinckney recreation area, one on Hanked rd., and the other at Bruin Lake.

sand or more. But the juveniles don't operate that way. They work in smaller groups perhaps 50--and start their section of the city to commit their acts of violence and vandalism.

Monday night the same scene was created again with the worst area located at Kalamazoo street and Butler boulevard on the near southwest side of the city.

In the crowds of youngsters were little ones as small as about 4-year-old dancing in the streets. Older ones were throwing things and brawling. Houses in the neighborhood were filled with adults on porches and leaning out windows. Some were cheering the kids on while others jeered at police.

Police men are becoming weary-eyed from lack of proper sleep during the past couple days. So far officers have handled the situation with reserve, who knows when they will be forced to the "get tough" tactics.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hennik of Lansing motorists had a rather unnerving ride early Monday morning as they were returning home from a drive-in theater west of Lansing. Mrs. Hennik is an employee of the Ingham County News.

They left the theater at 12:30 a.m. and drove east on Main street in Lansing. At Logan street they turned north enroute to their home at Westmoreland avenue and Willow street in the northwest section of the city.

They had proceeded about a block north from Main street when as they reached the intersection of Logan and St. Joseph streets someone hurled a piece of cement block through the right side of their car's windshield. Mrs. Hennik was sprayed with broken glass but escaped injury.

She said the area seemed filled with youths, most of them Negroes.

After the breaking of the windshield the Hennicks rushed to police headquarters downtown to report the incident.

There, she said, was great excitement. Officers were being sent into the area in the southwest part of the city, phones were jangling and white youths were gathering.

The Mason officers were kept on standby duty at Lansing police headquarters and were sent out on call to put down a possible riot on Washington avenue in downtown Lansing.

Weather

Rather cool weather is on the weather menu for this area during the next 5 days, the U.S. Weather Bureau said Wednesday. Temperatures during the period will average 4 to 8 degrees below the normal high of 80 to 86 and the normal low of 56 to 63. There will be only minor day to day temperature changes and precipitation will total 1/3 to 1/2 inch in frequent periods of showers.

It will be partly cloudy this afternoon with a chance of showers and a high temperature near 75. It will be cloudy tonight with occasional rain and a low temperature of 55. Showers will end Thursday and it will be mostly cloudy with a high of about 75.

Probability of rain today is 30 percent, tonight 60 percent and Thursday 40 percent.

Temperatures in Mason during the past week averaged 70 degrees, as compared with 71 degrees for the same week a year ago. Precipitation during the past week totalled .67 of an inch.

How Much Luxury Is Economical?

DICK LYON

In our changing times, more than you think.

At any rate, more than company fleet managers used to think after figuring the whole thing out on their computers.

The stripped-down company austerity model with 6 cylinders and no "plazazz" is gradually being replaced with middle and top-line V-8 models. How come? For economical reasons.

The tastes of used car buyers reflecting our wealthy economy has created a premium market for the luxury model used car. This is largely offsetting the cost to the original owner.

A survey of 82 companies buying and leasing fleets of cars, shows better than half are replacing the typical company "tin can" with higher priced models. Automatic transmissions are standard and power optionals commonplace.

The fleet managers said that bigger V-8 models enabled them to keep cars on the road longer with less maintenance.

There is a lesson in this for many private Mason owners who purchase a 6 cylinder with economy in mind when they do a lot of highway driving. There is just no economy in gas or maintenance in driving a six cylinder car at high speeds on the highway. Decide what you want.

Reminds me of the movie starlet who confronted her manager on her budding career: "Do I buy a sweater too small and become a star or one too large and become a folk singer." See you next Wednesday.

Mary Ann Nottingham Repeats Wedding Vows

The Mason Presbyterian church was the scene of the August 6 wedding uniting Mary Ann Nottingham and George Emory Rouse in marriage. The single-ring evening ceremony was performed by Rev. Philip D. Hirtzel.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Nottingham of Cooper road, Stockbridge and the new bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Rouse, Dexter trail, Mason.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length organza gown featuring a cathedral train and a basque bodice with Chantilly lace and seed pearl motifs at the scalloped neckline, bodice and skirt.

Seed pearls trimmed the pillow securing the bride's bouffant shoulder-length veil of French illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of phalaenopsis orchids and white carnations.

Susan Nottingham served as her sister's maid of honor and matron of honor was Mrs. William Dockter of Perry, a cousin of the bride.

They wore identical gowns of silk organza fashioned with empire waistlines and A-line skirts. White embroidered flowers accented the bodices and skirts of robes egg blue dresses and they wore picture hats of a matching color.

Bridesmaids were Dietra Rouse, sister of the bridegroom Mrs. John Rick, Chardon, Ohio. Their matching gowns and picture hats were pale yellow and they carried colonial bouquets of yellow roses and yellow carnations.

Father, Son Leaders In Adventist Church

GRAND LEDGE--The majority of Seventh-day Adventists in Ingham county visited Grand Ledge on the week-end to attend their church's 98th annual camp meeting. While there they heard and many met a church executive who, although still seeking and respecting the advice of his father, is giving him orders.

Pastor Neal C. Wilson, of Washington, D.C. was named last month to head the North American Division of Seventh-day Adventists. In assuming this high church post he became the head of all "conference presidents" the position which his father, N.C. Wilson holds for the state of Michigan. The offices of the Michigan Conference are in Lansing.

The 48-year-old church executive was the guest speaker on the week-end, in introducing his sons to the 10,000 Adventists meeting in the large stone pavilion Pastor Wilson noted that, though he may have "parental pride" in his son's achievement, he honored and respected his son only because he is a "man of God." His son agreed that title or position never helped a minister to "influence others for good."

Pastor Neal Wilson indicated that this was the first time in the history of the Adventist church that father and son have both held this same high church post. Twenty years ago his father was also named to the post of the head of the North American division.

In other week-end activities the Michigan Adventists donated 220 pints of blood to the American Red Cross; heard that "investment projects" on their Sabbath schools in Michigan have reached the million dollar mark for missions; and listened to the church's television pastor W. A. Fagal, who heads the oldest church-sponsored religious TV program. The program is seen on 240 television stations in the United States, Canada and ten overseas countries.

Wednesday evening, August 3 will be highlighted by the appearance of the First Lady of Michigan, Mrs. Lanore Romney. She will be escorted by a guard of honor and surrounded by school children who will be lining her path to the platform.

The camp meeting will close Saturday evening with a sermon presented by the speaker of the Voice of Prophecy Dr. H.M.S. Richards, of Los Angeles who has headed the international radio telecast for 35 years.

During the 10 days of the encampment, 5,000 church members live on the grounds and attend the 80 special meetings for adults. They send their children to the special meetings and activities planned for them on six different age levels. On week-ends the attendance swells to between 15,000 and 10,000 as people drive in for the occasion.

If You Like Contests---State Fair's Got 'Em

Beauty queens and baton twirlers, youngsters and oldsters, singers and sheep shearers.

All will be part of the contest scene at the Michigan State Fair, which opens Friday, August 26, and runs through Monday, September 5 (Labor Day).

Among the most popular are those staged each weekday for the kids--water-melon eating, ponytail, blueberry pie eating, bubble gum blowing, and others sure to prove messy and funny.

Young drum majors and majorettes also will compete daily, in divisions ranging from novice to the most expert. The state's best baton twirlers always compete in the State Fair contests.

For girls a bit older, the Miss Michigan State Fair competition offers a chance to be named fairest of the fair. Contestants who have won beauty queen titles in the past year in Michigan are eligible to compete. Competition will start Wednesday evening, August 31, with the crowning of the queen slated for Thursday evening, September 1, in the Music Shell.

Teen-age singers and musicians will compete in the Teen Scene section of the fair. Preliminaries in the amateur band contests will be held a week before the Fair, with the 36 top groups slated for competition during the Fair. Folk-singing groups, also of high school age, will vie daily in the Teen Scene.

On Old Timers' Day at the Fair, Monday, August 29, the state's senior citizens will take part in contests for oldest man and woman, longest married couple, longest mustache, and most grandchildren.

Husband calling and hog calling will be in the spotlight on Friday, September 2, with cash prizes going to those with the best (or loudest) voices,

Sees Hospitals' Record Improved Under Medicare

ANN ARBOR--American hospitals are not nearly as sick as they've been pictured recently, says a professor who regularly takes the pulse of the nation's health services.

"Of course there is room for improvement in hospitals, just as in everything else," Lawrence A. Hill says. "But by and large our hospitals are doing a better job now than ever before." Hill is director of the Bureau of Hospital Administration in the University of Michigan's Graduate School of Business Administration. His comments were inspired by national magazine articles with such titles as "Our Hospitals Are Killing Us" and "Our Sick Hospitals."

"The facts of the matter are that hospitals have been doing a generally good job for some time, and that Medicare will enable them to do a better job rather than a poorer one," Hill says.

He describes the hospital as the only place in the community where the quality of a physician's practice is routinely scrutinized by his colleagues.

"Every patient's clinical record is open for review by doctor's professional colleagues. Every doctor's credentials are checked before he is admitted to the staff. Inexperienced doctors have only limited hospital privileges. It's not a perfect system, but it's a reasonably effective safeguard for the patient."

"On the other hand, there is no system of quality checking or control on the care a doctor provides in his office or in the patient's home."

Medicare will reinforce the quality control system by requiring participating hospitals to set up "utilization committees," made up of doctors, to pass on questionable admissions or long stays.

"The critics insist that every citizen should have equal access to the most modern medical techniques and facilities--and as a social goal that's excellent. But I think every citizen should also have access to trunk-line air service, to the finest cultural activities, to highly skilled police and fire departments. Why single out medicine? We can't have an open-heart surgery team in every hospital any more than we can have a classic Greek theater in every town. There just aren't enough professionals to go around or enough patients to keep small-town professionals busy."

"It's said that top-quality medical care ranks first in people's scale of values. But every day there are patients with unusual illnesses who would rather be in their hometown hospitals, where their families can visit easily, than in a major medical center in Ann Arbor or Detroit."

"It's said that each community wants the best care for its citizens, yet communities will try to outdo each other rather than combine into regional hospital systems where care could be better."

The charge that hospital care is often poor is frequently based on the so-called "classic" study done in 1964 by Columbia University and the Teamsters Union. Experts examined records of 430 patients admitted to 98 New York City hospitals and concluded that 43 per cent were treated poorly.

Hill argues that the survey--covering roughly four patients per hospital--was too small to be conclusive. He cites his bureau's own 1961 study of Michigan hospitals, which covered many more patients, as a better index of quality.

One of the problems, Hill agrees, is the tendency of doctors to cluster in the cities and bypass the rural areas.

This can be solved, he believes, "by letting the market take care of distribution."

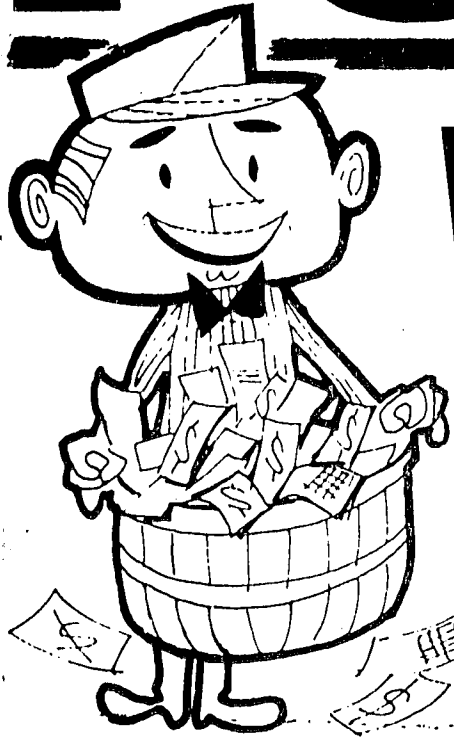

"If smaller communities, by combining resources, can offer a doctor enough in terms of patients, facilities and money," he says, "it will get the medical care it demands. The long-run answer--not an easy one--is to build more medical schools and produce more doctors. Some of them will have to go to the rural areas to make a living and build a practice."

Fines, Fees Distributed To Libraries

Harry G. Spenny, Ingham county treasurer, this week announced distribution of fines and fees for breach of state laws collected in Ingham county during the past year.

The total amount of $125,761.85 was distributed among the 3 public libraries in the county. Lansing board of education under which the Lansing library operates, received $72,130.82, East Lansing, $17,973.63, and the Ingham county library system, $35,657.40.

Giant Beavers May Have Roamed Stockbridge Area Centuries Ago

Possible evidence that huge beavers may once have inhabited this area was uncovered within the village limits last week. Several pieces of wood, that appeared to have been gnawed, were unearthed about 14 feet below the surface at the site of the rest home being constructed by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ranch on West Main Street.

Ranch said he believes the wood and the teeth marks are the same type that were discovered a year ago in the Fitchburg area. At that time several pieces of gnawed wood were found in the Fitchburg Park while workers were excavating for a pool. They were taken to Michigan State University where Charles E. Smith of the MSU Museum said, "The logs are definitely a significant find and it is possible they could have been cut by beavers of the pleistocene age (over a million years ago)".

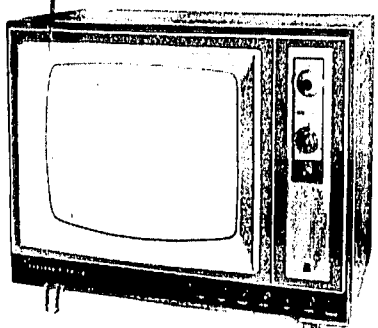

Ranch believes that because of the similarity of the logs and also in the sites in which they were found, it is quite possible that beavers the size of grizzly bears may once have lived in lodges in this immediate area.

Traffic Deaths Less in July

Michigan traffic deaths in July numbered 196, which is 15 or seven per cent fewer than 211 in the same month a year ago, according to State Police provisional figures.

Delayed deaths will increase the total.

The state's toll for the first seven months this year is 1,203 which is 111 or 10 per cent higher than 1,092 in the same period in 1965.

July averages were 185 for the five years 1961-65 and 163 for the 10 years 1956-65. High July was 221 in 1937 while a near-record mark of 219 for that month occurred in 1964. Low July toll was 59 in wartime 1944.

The water accident toll in Michigan is continuing to increase sharply.

At the end of July there have been 212 deaths in 368 accidents since the first of the year, respective increases of 33 and 30 per cent. In addition, at least 85 persons have been injured.

Property damage accidents only numbered 89.

Official reports in 184 drownings are broken down as follows: 24 boat operators, 16 boat passengers, 91 swimmers or waders, 17 who fell through ice, 33 who fell from a bridge, bank, dock or pier, 1 who fell into a septic tank or well and 2 who attempted to rescue another.

No reports have been received as yet on 28 other drownings.

4-H Tour Scheduled August 13

Plans have been completed for the 2nd District 4-H clubs' annual livestock tour which will take place on Saturday, August 13. The tour will start from Waterloo at 1:30 and will stop at the Busy Beavers and Henrietta Heroes. Those wishing to do so can terminate the tour at the chicken barbecue at the Henrietta Fire Barn.

Summer achievement for the district will take place at the Henrietta Fire Barn on Saturday, August 27. Members are reminded that all projects are to be in place by 2:30 p.m. and released at 4:30.

Chairman Martin Hannewald has appointed the following project chairmen: Entomology, Bill Stanley; First Aid, Jean McAllister; Photography, Dick Baron; Crops & Conservation, Martin Hannewald; food, Helen Hannewald; flowers, Russell Beeman; Gardening, Don Mushbach and Iva Mushbach; Dog care, Harold Martin.

A potluck supper featuring hot dogs will take place at 5 p.m. Everyone is to bring their own hot dogs and buns. All men and boys are asked to bring balls, bats and gloves for a "dad and son" baseball game.

The district leaders will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dwan Dancer on August 29 for an evaluation of the achievement day events.

Class of 1916 Gathers for 50th Reunion

Members of the 1916 graduating class of Mason high school and their guests gathered at the Country Kitchen restaurant at Harper road and US-127 last Saturday for their 50th year reunion.

There were 37 members of the class, 23 of whom are still living. Of this number 16 attended the reunion. With their guests the group numbered 30 who were served a luncheon at 1 p.m. After the luncheon the afternoon was spent in reminiscing with each member accounting for his 50 years since graduation.

Letters were read from members who could not attend. Mrs. Grace Potter of Mason recited a poem in costume, "How Do I Know my Youth is Spent? My get-up-and-go has got up and went."

Among guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Symons of Coldwater. Symons was principal, science teacher and coach for a number of years at Mason high school.

Others in attendance included Mr. and Mrs. Ross Doolittle of Edinburg, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Davis of Indian River, Miss Viola Beaumont and her sister, Irene and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Searles, all of Lansing; Mr. and Mrs. W.H. Southworth of Okemos; Don Doble of Doble road, Mason; Mrs. Grace Potter of Mason and her daughter, Mrs. Norwood Bush and granddaughter, Patricia of Chelsea; Mrs. Marguerite Cave, Mrs. Keith Toaz, Mrs. Ethel Nichols, Mr.

and Mrs. Frank Everett, Mrs. Tena Fair with her daughter, Mrs. Woodman and grandson, and Mrs. and Mrs. Clayton Matteson, all of Mason.

Yoks from Locks

Phyllis Diller, star of ABC-TV's "The Pruitts of Southampton" who has commented on her wild hairdo that it isn't hair at all, her clothes dryer blew up and it's lint, was startled when she walked onto the series set to find every crew member wearing a Diller-type wig.

Credit for the prank goes to Grady Sutton, who plays Sturgis, the Pruitts' butler. His reward: That famous Diller "Haw, haw, haw" and a "Bless you, Grady, for breaking the tension. We've been working pretty hard."

This Week's Recipe

Try your luck with this black raspberry pudding cake. This recipe is particularly popular because it doesn't require too much work in the kitchen and yet is a welcome change from pies or cookies for desert.

Combine 1/2 cup sweet milk 1 tablespoon butter, 1/2 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon baking powder, pinch of salt.

To this add enough flour to make a stiff batter--place in a greased cake tin.

Mix together the following and put on the top of the mixture: 1 cup black raspberries, 1/2 cup juice, 1/2 cup boiling water, 1 tablespoon butter.

Bake the mixture for 30 minutes at 350 degrees. Serve while warm with a scoop of ice cream on top. It's bound to be a real favorite.

Cataract Clouds

Like front on a window pane, cataract is a cloudiness within the lens of the eye that blocks the passage of light. Surgery is the only recommended method of treatment for cataract and is successful more than 95 times out of 100 in those patients for whom an operation is recommended.

Cameos

Are Coming

The cameos are coming and "Batman" has them. The quick scene with a guest friend will be expanded this fall into a regular feature on ABC-TV's popular series.

Among those scheduled to appear as guest friends are boxer Archie Moore, Ted "Lurch" Cassidy, Dick Clark, Sam Jaffe, and Van Williams and Bruce Lee -- the co-stars of ABC-TV's new fall adventure series "The Green Hornet."

Sight Sneak Thief

More than 1,392,000 Americans over the age of 40 have glaucoma and half of them do not know it, warns the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, Inc. Glaucoma, the "sneak thief of sight," may result in blindness unless detected early and treated continuously.

Bee Line

Molly Bee, featured vocalist on NBC-TV's daytime color musical, "Swingin' Country," describes the town and country music on the show as a combination of pop and corn, or, if you prefer, "pop-corn."

A new flame-retardant finish improves nap resilience of cotton blankets and carpets.

Vacation and honeymoon are over and its back to the salt mine. Thank Goodness! Honeymoon plans called for 5 hours per day of sunbathing on Lake Michigan sands while all the frizzled nerve endings healed.

Nothing can equal the beautiful sands of Lake Michigan. Old Sol beats down and the beach gets whiter and hotter--so hot little time was spent soaking up the sun. Forced to an alternative, the better half and I took in the sights at Stony Lake, White Hall's scenic drive and then on to Silver Lake.

All was going well in the nerve repair area until Silver Lake. The sand dunes there are unique when viewed from one mile away, but nothing would do but we should take a drive through the sand mountains via special truck-scooter affairs.

Being a chicken at heart, my wishes were observed and we boarded a scenic vehicle rather than the thrill ride. Well let me tell you, the nerves are really shot now. Going up was great, the view beautiful and not too many bumps--it was the getting down. My stomach, heart and good humor were left on the top of Mt. Baldy, as the dune scooter plunged straight down that mountain of sand. The old knees start to shake the moment I think of it.

If someone had taken my picture on arrival at the scooter barn, the negative surely would have been blank as I had turned all sorts of colors and finally settled on transparent white.

There are terrific plans afoot for a bigger and better adult education program for Mason this fall. Leigh Beagle is presently taking a survey of courses Mason adults would be interested in participating in.

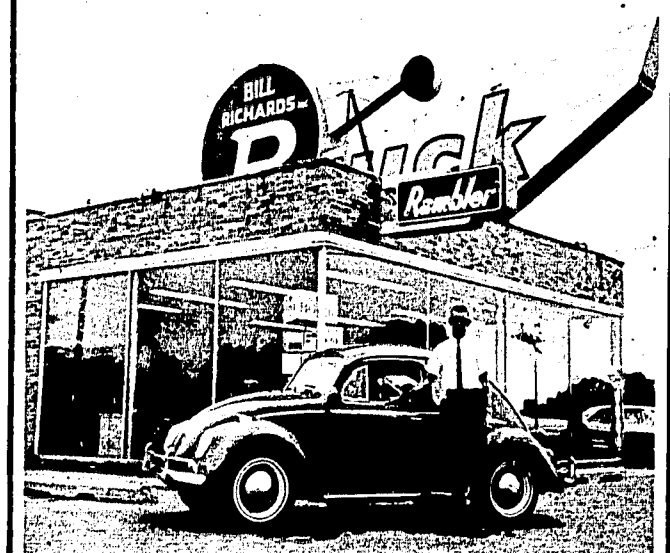

There are high hopes for capacity classes in not only recreational and physical education areas, but possibly in the areas of child psychology and any other classes that persons demonstrate an interest in. Give Leigh a call if there is a particular subject you would like to know more about. As for me I'm sure it will have to be basket weaving for the next 6 months.

People say competition is good and I agree, but specify it should be friendly. Such a situation exists between Valerie Backus and myself.

Val, whose vocation is being mother to 5 and wife to one, is a special writer for the State Journal. Last week she was a special writer for the Ingham County News. She more than ably took over the Sallies from Sally during my absence.

Just to show I appreciate all her thoughtfulness, I am going to make one of her famous pumpkin pies -- that is after this non-cooking cook purchases cookbook, stove, pie pan and a spatula. I am placing complete faith in the old fable about "beginner's luck."

Youth Prepare for Nation's Biggest Industry

Would you believe -- that farming employs 6 million workers -- more than the combined employment in transportation, public utilities, the auto industry and the steel industry? That one farm worker produces food, fiber and other farm commodities for himself and 35 others? The U.S. Department of agriculture says you had better believe it! Farming is the biggest industry in the U.S. What's more, American agriculture had advanced more in the last 50 years than in all the prior years of our history.

In these last 50 years the nation's 4-H club members have kept up with the new agricultural practices and have produced their share of food and fiber. Scores of the nation's successful farmers today got their start in 4-H, according to the Cooperative Extension Service which supervises 4-H club work.

Right about now some 106,000 young 4-H farmers are getting ready to harvest crops including corn, oats, soybeans, sugar beets, cotton, sorghum, milo, alfalfa, and and truck garden produce of sweet potatoes, tomatoes, cabbage and squash.

In the process, several thousand compete for county, state and national awards provided by the 4-H Field Crops program sponsor, Arcadian Products department, Allied Chemical corporation.

These junior farmers don't just plant the seeds and reap the harvest. They make soil tests, practice conservation by rotating and terracing, restore and eroded land, learn to judge crops, maintain farm machinery, and also study marketing.

Many of the older 4-H'ers have outpaced more experienced farmers with their yields. Some are already in partnership with their dads or are renting acreage on their own.

With the aid of 4-H scholarships provided by Allied Chemical, six young people

Summer Days with Children

What are these summer days like for your children? Are the days planned to have real meaning for them?

Most of a child's play is spent in play, notes Bettie Mowery, Extension Home Economist for Jackson, Calhoun, and Kalamazoo counties. Through it he learns many things. Ideally children's play should contribute to their physical, emotional, and social development. Mrs. Mowery makes the following suggestions for making summer days with small children more enjoyable.

Children's Book Corner

By Mrs. Noel Miller
Children's Librarian
Holt Memorial Library
The lure of faraway places will become a reality to you when you visit your library during the remaining vacation days.

The Village Tree by Yashima shows Japanese children along a river. The outstanding illustrations convey the joy and security in this childhood world of play.

For older children, Secret of the Samurai Sword by Phyllis Whitney tells of the adjustment of an American-born Japanese girl to the customs of Japan. A spine-tingling ghostly tale that is well worth reading.

The Good Master by Kate Seredy is the story of a Hungarian tomboy, Kate, is a general pest and her gentling by an understanding uncle, "the good master", makes a charming story. Hungarian festivals, household crafts, the work of the ranch, the good food, and the warm family life add color and charm to a delightful story.

What then, Raman? by Shirley Arora is the story of a shy, earnest Indian boy who has learned to read, the only person in his village who is able to do this. But his learning sets him apart and the boys of the village avoid him.

Raman slowly learns that privileges bring responsibilities. The story is sensitively written and conveys a thorough knowledge of India today.

A gay story of Paris is Family Under the Bridge by Natalie Carlson. The hero is an elderly, jaunty hobo named Armand. His home is a snug corner under an old bridge. Much to his surprise and horror he returns home one night to find three children, or "starlings" as he calls them, occupying his home. The adventures that follow are sometimes humorous and sometimes sad, but in the end Armand finds himself shaved, cleaned up, regularly employed and the grandfather of a family.

A South American story, Secret of the Andes, by Ann Nolan Clark takes place in a high Peruvian Mountain valley. Cusi, the Inca Indian boy, lives with an old Indian herder, helping him to guard the llama flock while learning the traditions and lore of his people.

A recent title, Bushbabies by William Stevenson, vividly portrays the land, people, geography, wild life, folklore and a bit of history of Kenya, where the author once lived. A splendid insight to the mystery of one part of Africa. These and many other titles are awaiting you at the Mason branch of your county library and any of the other branch libraries of the county.

Make it easy for children to help themselves. A sturdy stool or steps in the bathroom and a low rod for their towel and wash cloth lets them help themselves while freeing you to do other things. Also select clothes that are easy for children to manage themselves. But most important, remember to help children only when they seem to need it. Small children also can help you with some small tasks throughout the day. Through helping, children learn what work is like and what adults are like as they work. On rainy days, when children's outdoor play is limited, Mrs. Mowery suggests letting them ride their tricycles in the garage.

On a nice day when children are tired of the old games, you might try giving them a simple barrel. This gives them something to turn somersaults over, climb in and out of and roll around. Such activities help children use their arms and legs. A mid-morning snack helps children relax if they have become too excited. It also gives you a chance to sit down and relax with them. Children will probably make less demands on you at other times if they have the firm feeling that you have given them some of your time.

Encourage your children to play by themselves some of the time. This helps them to become imaginative. Young children need supervision in their play but not interference or constant direction. Since children tire quickly of any one kind of play, allow for frequent changes during the day, Mrs. Mowery concludes.

More Service Industry Urged

Michigan's economy will run smoother and longer if it adds more service industries, says a Michigan State university economist.

Dr. John P. Henderson points out that by depending principally on manufacturing, the state's economy is prone to wide fluctuations in income and employment.

Writing in the current issue of the Michigan State Economic Record, Dr. Henderson notes that the last recession once again underscored the state's reliance on manufacturing, particularly automobiles. In the next recession, he adds, the Michigan economy "will find itself right back where it was in 1961, for the structure of the economy has not changed."

Dr. Henderson urges expansion of the service industries to include trade, finance, transportation, public utilities, government and miscellaneous services.

The fastest growing area, he notes, is the miscellaneous category which includes hotels, motels, hospitals, business and professional, laundries and dry cleaning, education, and repair services.

Set Short Course in Feeding

Interest in winter lamb feeding in Michigan has had its "ups and downs" in recent years. R.C. Lott, Ingham county agricultural agent, says state figures on shipments of feeder lambs showed an increase of nearly 20 percent in the first 6 months of 1966.

Michigan hit a low of 11,000 feeder lambs in 1958, bounced back to 50,000 head in 1964 and then took another drop in 1965.

To provide livestock men interested in lamb feeding with the newest research information on management and feeding practices, Michigan State University is holding three one-day Lamb Feeder Short Courses:

Aug. 16--4-H Cabin, 4-H Fairgrounds, Coldwater.
Aug. 17--Legion Hall, Tecumseh.

Aug. 18--103 Anthony Hall, MSU Campus, East Lansing. These topics will be covered by MSU lamb feeding authorities: Future outlook for ewe flocks and lamb feeding in Michigan; price outlook for feeder lambs; using lambs to clean up cornfields after corn picking; use of implants to increase gains and improve feed efficiency; keeping feeder lambs healthy; feeding practices and review of recent research results on lamb feeding from many experiment stations.

Animal husbandrymen Graydon Blank and L. H. Blakeslee; Veterinarian C. C. Beck and Agricultural Economist David Cole of the MSU staff will handle the sessions. Further details on the meeting can be obtained from the county extension office.

Navy Extends Aid Program For Nurses

Nurses working toward their baccalaureate, masters or doctoral degrees in nursing may now apply for navy financial assistance through the Navy Nurse Corps Candidate Program.

In addition they must meet navy requirements as to age, health, academic average, and marital and dependency status.

Nurses who are selected for the Navy Candidate Program receive their tuition, room and board, textbook allowance and a monthly salary from the navy. Six months prior to completion of degree requirements they are appointed as Ensigns in the Nurse Corps, Naval Reserve.

Candidates receiving two years of navy assistance obligate themselves for three years of active duty following graduation from the 4 week Naval orientation course. Those who participate in the program for only one year incur 2 years of active duty as a nurse corps officer.

For details and further information contact the nurse programs officer: Lieutenant Mary K. Meehan, Lafayette Building, 144 W. Lafayette, Room 428, Detroit, Michigan, 48226.

Farm Views And News

By R.C. Lott

We have completed harvesting one of the best crops of wheat in several years. The weather man cooperated in keeping the moisture low and quality high. Fifty-five and 60 bushel yields have been rather common.

Coe Emens Jr. of Vevay township harvested an average of 73 bushels per acre on a 13 acre field. The winter kill was slight and fertilization program has been good. Wheat responds to heavy fertilization usually requiring 400 pounds per acre of 5-20-20 or 6-24-12, depending on the soil types. If soils are dry at planting time, not over 250 pounds of a high analysis fertilizer should be drilled in with the seed. The rest should be applied in a separate operation unless the drill places the fertilizer one inch to the side and one below the seed. Too much fertilizer drilled directly with the seed may cause germination damage, especially if the soils are dry.

Seed requirements should be secured early as the supply of good clean seed is limited. More rye seems to be prevalent in wheat fields this year than usual. Genesee is the most widely selected variety of white wheat although "Avon" has equalled "Genesee" in the MSU trials with a year average of 53.9 bushels per acre. Charles Wilcox of Dansville grew a field of "Monon" red wheat this year and said it yielded as well as his Genesee. In the 5 year average at MSU "Monon" yielded 51.3 bushels compared to 53.3 bushels for Genesee. Monon is early in maturity and medium to short in plant height, thus can stand heavier fertilization with nitrogen without the danger of lodging. It is resistant to hessian fly and leaf rust. MSU wheat researcher, Dr. Everson, is in the process of developing new varieties of white wheat that are shorter in straw and resistant to mildew and hessian fly. He predicts that in 10 years all of our recommended varieties will be resistant to hessian fly. In the meantime we need to hold off wheat planting until after Sept. 17, the fly free date for Ingham County.

Extra Nitrogen Where Needed

Twenty to forty pounds of extra nitrogen (N) per acre will increase the yield of wheat 5 to 15 bushels. Full benefit is obtained only where ample phosphorus and potash have been or are applied. Fertilizer analysis and rate should be based on soil test results.

How much Nitrogen? The amount of nitrogen which should be applied ranges from 0 to 40 pounds per acre, depending on supplies from the soil, from manure, legumes and organic matter.

Holstein Breeders To Exhibit in Italy

Approximately 40 head of Registered Holstein dairy cattle will be shipped by air this month to be displayed at Cremona, Italy, home of that country's national and international dairy expositions. The joint project by USDA and the Holstein-Friesian Association of America will promote U.S. purebreds in this active export market.

The cattle will be accompanied by 3 herdsmen from this country on the overseas flight, during their fitting period, and from show time until they are situated on the farms of their new owners in Italy. All ages of cattle will be in the exhibit, but the largest group will be bred heifers due to freshen this fall. A small contingent of bulls will also represent North America's biggest dairy breed at the Cremona exposition.

Selections for the exhibit are coming from all parts of the country, depicting several of the top American blood lines. The United States herd will be assembled in southeastern New York, then trucked to Kennedy International Airport for the non-stop jet flight to Milan.

Shipment coordinator for the project is F. Murray Wigsten, owner-operator of Wigsten's Highline Farm at Pleasant Valley, New York. He will precede the flight to Italy to check accommodations for the arriving bovines. Charles J. Larson, assistant executive secretary of the Holstein association, will also be on hand when the Cremona show opens September 9.

Cooperating in the U.S. pavilion activities will be the U.S. Trade Fairs and Livestock and Meat Products divisions of the USDA. The Holstein Association is coordinating cattle selection, housing and exhibit functions.

Italy is among the top volume buyers of Holstein dairy cattle from the United States. Last year, 648 Registered Holsteins were officially transferred to Italy. The breed has experienced strong acceptance there because of increased demand for dairy products, the world-famous productive ability of U.S. Holsteins, and suitability for veal and beef uses.

Milk Seen Top Farm Product

Milk still ranks as Michigan's most important farm product. Michigan State University agricultural economists report that annual milk sales averaged over $200 million in the last five years and made up about 28 percent of the total farm product sales.

Sales of all cattle and calves ranked second with an average of a little more than $90 million.

MARKING AN EPOCH—This marker at highway M-36 and Meridian road in Ingham township announces the bronze tablet placed there by the Michigan state highway department which marked the start of the first farm electrification project in Michigan.

Rural Electricity Began In Area Near Dansville

By Lula Howarth
News Special Writer

It's difficult to think of homes and farms of today with no electricity. There are those among the younger generation who can't remember when there were no electric lights, no refrigerators, no powered washing machines, no vacuum cleaners or electric typewriters, electric guitars or Hammond organs.

There are many people a few years older that have a clear memory of the time when kerosene oil lamps were the accepted lighting system for most homes and an oil lantern furnished such light as was to be had in the farm barns.

There were big wood ranges for cooking. Heavy flat irons heated on top of the range for ironing. Hand egg beaters, stone churns with a wooden dasher or a barrel type revolving churn were used and a can opener that was a hazardous implement with the uncertain movement and the sharp jagged edge left on the can.

Electric mixers, can openers and knife sharpeners, electric sewing machines and vacuum cleaners, fry pans, roasters and corn poppers are some of the things accepted as common place equipment in the home which was not thought of as available to the average house wife 50 years ago.

Changes followed in rapid succession after electric lights were installed in farm homes in 1927.

The old milk cooler that had to be filled with water pumped by hand if there didn't happen to be wind enough to turn the wind-mill. Equipment for milking in the barn is no longer an oil lantern and a milking stool.

Now there is power wired into the barn to run the milking machines, to run the milk through pipes, to weigh the individual container of each cow's milk and then send it on to the big tank.

There have been water heaters installed and all of the milking equipment is washed automatically.

All of this work is done by electricity, a few years ago unknown on the farms.

Michigan has many ways of preserving the memory of early days and the records of changes in today's living. On M-36 at the roadside park just east of Meridian road is a bronze plaque mounted in a concrete base with this inscription:

"East two miles from this point, north two miles and west three miles runs the first rural electric line built in Michigan for the study of electricity's usefulness in farm life. This pioneer beginning in rural electrification was accomplished through the co-operation of the Michigan State College Farm organizations, Consumer Power company and 12 farm families who wanted electric light service. This marker was dedicated August 25, 1938 by which time 92,000 farms were receiving electric service from Michigan Utility companies."

The Consumers Power recently laid 8 miles of gas line into the town of Dansville to serve the city and school building and extended it to about 4 miles into the country to serve 40 rural customers. This new progress is parallel to the first, rural electrification in 1927 which was an experimental project at that time. From this experiment the first farms in the U.S. were serviced with electricity which increased to 100,000 farms.

The 40 rural customers will be serviced for gas by September 15. According to Robert Lawler of Consumer Power the first customers of the 40 will have service by Sept. 1.

The picture of the band carried by the News last week on its editorial page was identified as a Mason band. The band should have been identified as that of Dansville.

Their winnings include: second and 7th place produce of dam, third and 6th place aged cow, 6th place senior yearling heifer, 3th place senior get of sire, 6th place four year old cow, 6th place daughter-dam entry, and 10th place three year old cow.

B. Dale Ball, East Lansing, won 4th place on his senior get of sire entry and 8th on a 3 year old cow.

Gerald Smith, Williamston, received 6th place on a junior heifer calf and a 4th place ribbon on a senior heifer class entry. Both entries are 4-H project animals.

Other Ingham County exhibitors were Gary Smith, Williamston; and Tom and Dan Brown, Mason.

This year's show, the 18th annual event of its kind sponsored by Michigan Holstein breeders, was widely attended by dairymen from lower Michigan and surrounding states. James Lewis, Hamilton, Ohio, judged the classes.

SLOW "ACTION"

Wheels of government often move exceedingly slow. Witness a case which was heatedly debated two years ago and now flairs anew.

Early in 1964, the state civil service commission began fighting to get the larger secretary of state fee branches under its jurisdiction.

These are the offices which distribute auto license plates.

For decades, the secretary of state has been blessed with one of the largest patronage organizations in these fee branches. He decides where branch offices should be and who should manage the offices.

Contention of the civil service commission is that the largest of these, primarily in large metropolitan areas, employ several full-time people and do a volume of business which warrants their inclusion under the civil service setup.

The commission ordered fee payments stopped as of June 30, 1964 to the selected large offices. Civil Service examinations were given and over 100 top rankers on the written test were interviewed orally that spring to allow the Commission to establish a roster of available managers.

When the state treasurer failed to stop the payments, the commission took the case to the Ingham county circuit court.

Jurisdiction of the case in the circuit court was challenged by the secretary of state, who contended a decision on the matter should come from the new court of appeals.

Thus a two-year stall occurred until recently when the court of appeal decided the question before it. The question, however, simply meant the renewal of the basic issue of whether the large branches should be changed from fee offices to civil service salary-pay basis.

The court of appeals decision said only that the circuit court did have jurisdiction in the matter.

Thus, a fight which was almost forgotten will start anew. How long it lasts could be considerable because circuit court dockets throughout the state are heavy and the Ingham county bench is no exception.

student help
Despite a late start, an undetermined number of fall freshmen in Michigan will get state assistance with the high cost of attending private colleges and universities.

Questions of church-state separation were sharply debated before the legislature gave approval to a $3.5 million appropriation which became law August 1. It provides scholarships to students at private schools recognized by the state board of education.

Some 40 institutions would be included in the eligible list, most of them church-related.

Students could be eligible for scholarships under the new law if their family's income was $10,000 or less, with smaller amounts being available to youths from the higher income families.

With just over a month to mull over an estimated 7,000 applications, officials in the department of education anticipate little difficulty in distributing the $100-$500 grants provided under the law.

Webberville Youth's Stay In Germany Is Concluding

By DOUGLAS WAITE

WEBBERVILLE -- My stay here is quickly drawing to an end. This will be my last article from Germany as a 4-H member international exchange student. I'll try to sum up many of the differences and also many of the things that are the same in America and Germany.

Of course the biggest difference is the language. Since I couldn't speak German very well it was a big help to me that many of the people could speak English. They usually take about 6 years of English which is their first foreign language.

As I have said before we always eat 4 meals a day. Breakfast is eaten at about 8 a.m. in the morning. It usually consists of 2 or 3 kinds of bread with about 3 kinds of cold meat, honey or jelly. Then at 12 noon lunch is eaten. This is the big meal of the day. It is made up of beef or pork and lots of potatoes. This is with a salad usually lettuce or cucumbers and milk or coffee to drink and occasionally tea.

The next meal or what the English call "tea" is eaten at 4 in the afternoon. This again is bread of about 3 kinds and jelly or cold meats and milk or coffee to drink. The final meal is at 7:30 p.m. This meal varies more than any of the others. They then have a possibility of many things from bread and potatoes to soup or eggs. The only time we have a dessert is at the noon meal.

Their national sport is soccer. They call it football here but it is the same as we call soccer. The World Championship for soccer was held in England for the past 3 weeks. Everyone here was excited about the games because Germany had a good team and made it to the finals but was defeated by England in an overtime period.

The farms are quite mechanized and are becoming better all of the time. They have much of the same machinery as in America but it is usually German made.

The farms in the area I am in now are all putting in pipeline milking. At the present time the milk is picked up in cans. The larger farms are usually about 120 acres.

The homes on the farms are often old and made of brick. Many new homes are being built and on the edge of industrial cities many apartment buildings are being built or have been built. In the homes many old antiques are used which have been kept in the family many years.

Teen-agers usually start actual dating about 18 years old if not later. They go to dances and parties when they are younger but nothing is very serious. They don't marry until they are about 26 years old for the boys and a couple of years younger for the girls.

The rock 'n' roll music is the same in the U.S. except the ones that are popular here now were popular in the States quite a while ago. Except for some German records the music is in English.

The country varies throughout but I hope this article and the others have given you a little idea of what I have experienced and what it is like here.

Computers Show Dairy Potential

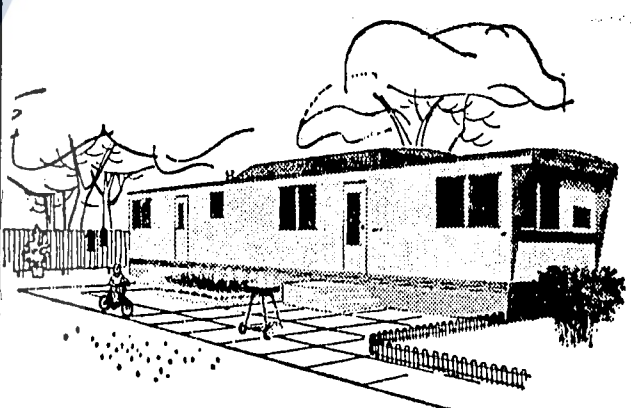

Michigan State University dairy scientists, after 10 years of gathering information, have now successfully genetically ranked every registered cow in the state in Michigan.

Once they gathered this data, they were able to program MSU's 3,600 computer to handle the vast information. Now it is possible to make complete, updated genetic ranking of every Michigan cow in a matter of hours.

These genetic rankings are indications of the cow's potential breeding value. In other words, each cow in the state is given an index value which indicates how well her offspring will do in terms of milk production.

This genetic herd ranking is the first of its kind for any state in the nation. Not only is it an excellent guide for farmers to decide which calves to keep for improving herd production, but it is also useful to breeding herds who can now select at a glance the best cows in the state for producing the best possible bulls for artificial breeding.

Use of Price Support Program Emphasized

With the 1966-crop wheat harvest in Michigan about completed, Frank Light, Chairman of the Michigan ASC State Committee, emphasized in a recent announcement that the basic purpose of the loan program is to help growers to obtain the best returns from their crops. To this end he added, the program makes it possible for producers to obtain a government loan, provided the crop is placed in approved storage, either on the farm or in a warehouse.

With current stocks of wheat considerably lower than in recent years the market price has strengthened throughout the spring and summer months. Mr. Light pointed out that producing the wheat crop is only part of the total job since marketing played such an important part in the net returns to the grower.

He added that reports throughout the wheat areas has indicated that farmers are storing considerable wheat rather than selling at harvest in volume as in previous years. Mr. Light pointed out that producers who wish to retain title to their wheat and market it later in the marketing season may obtain financing through low cost loans, if the wheat is eligible for price support. He added that the loans average less than 3 1/2% interest. Under price support loan, grain remains the property of the farmer until the maturity date, and he is free to redeem it and sell it at any time that it is to his advantage to do so.

Light also pointed out that price support loans may be obtained on 1966-crop of oats, barley and rye that are currently being harvested in Michigan. He added that the loans may be obtained immediately on either farm-stored or warehouse-stored grain by contacting the ASCS office.

Continuing his comments, Mr. Light announced that 39 varieties of wheat had been designated as undesirable for the 1967 program. Varieties are classified as undesirable due to inferior milling or baking qualities because they are grown in areas where the variety is not adapted to the climate. The majority of these undesirable varieties are grown in the west; however, he added that the undesirable varieties grown in Michigan in the past are a hard red spring wheat variety known as Henry, a white wheat known as Gaines, and hard red winter wheat of the varieties Blue Jacket and Purkof.

He noted that representatives of the Crop Improvement Associations support this action to help improve the overall quality of U.S. wheat production. Undesirable varieties are discounted 20¢ per bushel under the price support loan and purchase program.

Clearance!

Clearance time comes once a year. Then prices go down to move out the '66 Fords just a little faster than they've been moving out all year. If you're penny-wise, you couldn't pick a better time to buy. Which Ford for you? The choices range from big, full-size luxurious LTD's to compact, economical Falcon 2-Door Sedans. And in between there's something for nearly everybody. Performance Fairlane... Sporty Mustang... Even distinctive Thunderbirds. And these are the first 4 Ford's ever built. They have features you don't find on other cars—our exclusive 2-way Mustang Convertible, for example. Or our 2-way convertible Reg. See your Ford Dealer for a great buy—while they last!

Notice to White Oak Township Residents

Approved by the Ingham County Board of Supervisors on July 12, 1966:

Lewis Wilson
Eugene G. Wavgar
Zoning Committee

An Ordinance to amend an Ordinance known as the "White Oak Township Zoning Ordinance" enacted by the Township Board of White Oak Township, October 16, 1957.

THE TOWNSHIP BOARD OF WHITE OAK TOWNSHIP, INGHAM COUNTY, MICHIGAN, ORDAINS:

SECTION 1. The White Oak Township Zoning Ordinance, enacted October 16, 1957 and amended February 23, 1959 and December 3, 1959 and June 2, 1960 be and hereby is amended in manner following:

SECTION 3.4--YARDS
Every main building or structure hereafter erected or moved upon any premises in this District shall be provided with yards having no less than the following sizes:

(1) Front Yards--Fifty (50) feet in depth, provided that no building or structure located on a State or Federal Highway shall have a front yard less than seventy-five (75) feet in depth.

(2) Side Yards--Fifteen (15) feet in width on each side of all buildings including accessory buildings where the premises are used for one or two-family dwellings only PROVIDED that if the side yard abuts upon an intersecting road, that side yard shall have the same main depth as the front yards referred to in the immediate preceding paragraph. Side yards on premises used for other purposes in this District shall have a minimum size as determined by the Board of Appeals in the same manner as provided in paragraph two (2) of Section 3.2 for size of premises.

SECTION 4.1--DUES
No building or structure shall hereafter be erected or moved upon any premises and used, nor shall land or premises be used for other than one or more of the following uses:

(1) One-family dwellings.
(2) Bona fide agricultural uses, but not including the keeping or raising of livestock except upon written application made to and permission granted by the Board of Appeals.

(3) Accessory buildings, structures and uses customarily incidental to and above permitted or approved uses.

SECTION 4.2--SIZE OF PREMISES
(1) Every parcel of land upon which a dwelling is erected shall be not less than eight (8) rods by ten (10) rods in size in the platted areas of the district and in the unplatted areas shall be not less than one (1) acre in size with a frontage on a public road or street of at least ten (10) rods. In platted areas, corner lots at intersecting roads shall be at least ten (10) rods by ten (10) rods in size.

(2) The minimum size parcel required for other permitted uses including accessory uses shall be determined by the Board of Appeals as may be reasonable for such use as in conformity with Section 1.2 upon written application to the Board.

SECTION 4.4--YARDS
Every main building or structure hereafter erected or moved upon any premises in this district shall be provided with yards having no less than the following size:

(1) Front Yards--Seventy-Five (75) feet in depth.
(2) Side Yards--Fifteen (15) feet in width on each side of all buildings including accessory buildings, PROVIDED that if the side yard abuts upon an intersecting road, that side yard shall have a minimum depth of seventy-five (75) feet.

SECTION 6.1--USES
(1) All uses permitted in Residential Districts, Green, shall be permitted in this district, PROVIDED that in connection with said use the other provisions of Article IV be complied with.

(2) All bona fide agricultural uses as more specifically defined below.

(3) Nurseries and greenhouses.

(4) Parks, playgrounds, recreational and community center buildings, provided that no facilities for overnight lodging or other residential accommodations shall be allowed and provided that all such activities be noncommercial and not operated for profit.

(5) Churches and schools.
(6) Accessory buildings, structures and uses customarily incidental to the above permitted or approved uses.

SECTION 7.1--SCOPE OF ORDINANCE
1. Except as specified in paragraphs two (2) and three (3) below, no land shall hereafter be used or building erected or moved upon premises in this Township other than in conformity with this Ordinance. All buildings hereafter erected or moved upon premises in this Township shall also conform with the White Oak Township Building Code.

2. The erection, alteration and maintenance of public utility structures and of power, communication, supply, disposal, distribution and similar utility facilities, including accessories essential therewith as authorized and regulated by law, shall be permitted in every Zoning District, it being the intent hereof to exempt such structures and facilities from the application of this Ordinance.

3. All buildings and structures customarily erected and used on farms in this Township, except dwellings and garages, shall be exempt from the provisions of the Ordinance, PROVIDED, however, that no building or structure other than an addition to or extension of an existing building or structure shall hereafter be erected less than 100 feet from the highway right of way or less than 50 feet from any side line of the premises; and such addition or extension shall come no closer to the highway than the principal building to which it is attached.

4. No structure shall be erected on leased land unless lessee shall have a life lease thereon.

SECTION 7.3--WATER TABLE AND MUCK LAND
In all districts of this Township, construction of dwellings is prohibited where the water table is within five (5) feet of the surface of the ground, except where the dwelling to be constructed shall be constructed on a slab and without a basement and the approval of the Zoning Administrator based upon a determination that the construction will not be disadvantageous to the residents of the proposed dwelling and effect.

SECTION 7.4--JUNK YARD OR DUMP
The maintenance of a junk yard or area for the dumping or disposal of rubbish or other waste products is prohibited in this Township except as operated by the Township Board.

SECTION 7.5--TRAILERS
1. Mobile Homes or trailer homes may be used in the Township as permanent dwellings when the requirements of this Ordinance and other applicable Township Codes and Ordinances are met.

2. Mobile homes or trailer homes may be used in the Township as temporary dwellings in connection with seasonal farm operations, the construction of a conforming building, or as emergency housing during periods of repairs to dwellings which have been so damaged by fire or other accidental causes, or by the elements, as to render them uninhabitable.

a. A special permit for such use of a mobile home or trailer has been obtained from the Township Board of Appeals. Said permit shall be valid for a period of ninety (90) days and may be renewed at the discretion of the Township Board and the Township Zoning Board.

b. The mobile home is connected with sewer and water facilities which comply with the Ingham County Sanitary Code.

c. The mobile home will not be placed on a permanent foundation nor will any cabana or other addition be made.

d. Such use of a mobile home shall terminate upon expiration of the special permit or when the necessity for such ceases to exist, whichever occurs sooner.

3. Mobile Homes or Trailer Homes shall be permitted in the Township upon compliance with the following requirements:

a. The trailer shall be located upon a parcel of land of at least one (1) acre in size, to which land the trailer owner shall have legal title.

b. The trailer owner shall occupy said trailer.

c. The trailer owner shall be the permit holder.

d. Each trailer shall have its own well on said acre of land and the trailer shall be connected with the water-carried sewage disposal system which complies with the Ingham County Sanitary Code.

e. The trailer shall be at least forty (40) feet long by eight feet wide, and shall not be placed upon a permanent foundation.

f. No cabana or other addition shall be permitted.
g. Approval shall be obtained from all residents and property owners within a 1000 feet radius of said one acre parcel.

h. Permits shall be obtained from the Township Zoning Administrator and require that the trailer be located in compliance with requirements of Section 4.4.

i. A permit may be denied or revoked if occupancy or continued occupancy should be in conflict with any other provisions of this ordinance.

4. Trailers presently existing in said Township may be allowed to remain so long as they meet all other requirements of this ordinance and other township ordinances as non-conforming uses.

SECTION 9.1--CREATION OF BOARD OF APPEALS
There is hereby created a Zoning Board of Appeals which shall perform its duties and exercise its power as provided by Act 184 of the Public Acts of 1943 as amended and by the provisions of this ordinance.

SECTION 9.2--MEMBERSHIP
The Board of Appeals shall consist of three (3) members. The first member shall be the chairman of the Township Zoning Board, the second member shall be a member of the Township Board appointed by the Township Board; and the third member shall be selected and appointed by the first two members from among the electors residing in the unincorporated area of the Township: Provided, That no elected officer of the Township nor any employee of the Township Board may serve simultaneously as the third member of or as an employee of the Township Board of Appeals.

SECTION 9.3--REMOVAL
Members of the Board of Appeals shall be removable by the Township Board for non-performance of duty or misconduct in office upon written charges and after public hearing.

SECTION 9.4--POWERS AND DUTIES
The Board of Appeals shall have the following specified power and duties:

a. Review: The Board shall review, hear, and decide upon appeals from any order, requirement, decision, or determination made by the Zoning Administrator in the enforcement or application of this Ordinance.

b. Variances: The Board shall have the power to authorize upon an appeal specific variances from such dimensional requirements as lot area and width, side, and depth regulations, and off-street parking and loading requirements as specified in this Ordinance. Provided, however, that all of the following variance conditions are adhered to and that at least one of the following special findings can be satisfied:

Special Findings: If ALL the foregoing variance conditions can be satisfied a variance may be granted when the Board determines that any ONE of the following special findings can be clearly demonstrated:

a. That there are practical difficulties or unnecessary hardships resulting from the physical characteristics of the property in question which make it unfeasible to carry out the strict letter of this Ordinance. Increased financial return to the applicant shall not be considered just cause for a variation based upon hardship.

b. That there are exceptional or extraordinary circumstances or conditions which apply to the property in question that do not apply to the properties in the vicinity within the same zoning district and which have not resulted from any act of the applicant subsequent to the adoption of this Ordinance.

c. That such variation is necessary for the preservation of a substantial property right possessed by other properties within the same zoning district.

SECTION 9.5--CONDITIONS OF APPROVAL
In granting a variance, the Board may specify, in writing, such other conditions regarding the location, character, landscaping, or other treatment that will, in the Board's judgment, be reasonably necessary to the furtherance of the intent of this Ordinance and the protection of the public interest. The breach of any such condition shall automatically invalidate the permit granted.

SECTION 9.6--REVERSIBLE CLAUSE
Each variance granted under the provisions of this Ordinance shall become null and void after 6 months unless the construction or occupancy authorized by such variance or permit has commenced and is being carried to completion.

SECTION 9.7--RESUBMISSION OF APPLICATIONS
After a variance has been denied in whole or in part by the Board, then no application shall be resubmitted for a period of one year from the date of the last denial: Provided, however, that a denied variance may be reconsidered by the Board, when, in the opinion of the Zoning Administrator, newly-discovered evidence or changed conditions warrant such reconsideration.

SECTION 2.2--REVISION
Amendments to White Oak Township Zoning Ordinance dated February 23, 1959, December 3, 1959 and June 2, 1960 are hereby rescinded and they are of no further force and effect.

SECTION 3.--INVALID PARTS OF ORDINANCE, IF ANY
Should any Section, Clause, or Provision of this Ordinance be declared by the Court to be invalid, the same shall not affect the Ordinance as a whole or part thereof, other than the parts so declared to be invalid.

SECTION 4.--LEGISLATIVE INTENT
It is the intention of the White Oak Township Board that the original White Oak Township Zoning Ordinance shall remain in full force and effect except as same has been amended herein, and that in the event of conflict in language, definition or description, the original Ordinance shall be deemed to still be in full force and effect.

SECTION 5.--EFFECTIVE DATE
The effective date of this Ordinance shall be thirty days after the publication thereof.

Adoption by the White Oak Township Board on August 4, 1966.

Prosecutor Reisig Raises Some Interesting Questions

Prosecutor Donald Reisig has seen fit to ask for and receive a dismissal of a drunk driving charge against Senator Basil Brown, Highland Park, Democrat. The court action was taken in the justice court of Judge Roy W. Adams in Mason.

The Ingham prosecutor's action raises some interesting points.

You may remember that the senator was arrested for drunk driving several months ago. Then, once again, he was arrested charged with drunk driving on I-96 near Okemos. This time he was headed the wrong way on the interstate highway.

In urging that the second offense be dropped, Reisig said Brown had voluntarily given up his driver's license and had agreed to seek medical help for whatever it is that causes the senator to drink while driving. This evidently satisfies the prosecutor.

The Ingham County News now wonders if the prosecutor's logic will now mean:

Anyone arrested for embezzlement can get off the hook by putting the money back?

Anyone arrested for murder can be exonerated by turning in his gun?

A robber if caught can write a check for the stolen money and have the prosecutor forget it?

A rapist will be released because he takes a pledge?

A car thief will now be forgiven if he gives back the car?

We hope that the prosecutor's decision in the Senator Brown case doesn't set a new standard for law enforcement in Ingham County. The fact that the senator is willing to give up his driver's license is not enough. The truth is that because he willingly has given up his license to drive, he can go get it again at any time and start driving. The motoring public has no assurance that the senator will be any more fit to drive than before he was arrested for drunk driving the first time.

The fact that he is willing to seek medical help for his problem is commendable, yet such a subsequent action on his part has nothing to do with the drunk driving charge against him.

In commenting on the dismissal of the drunk driving charge, Reisig has suggested that it was a courageous thing for him to do and that he had been subjected to much criticism - mainly by fellow Republicans.

The prosecutor hasn't shown half as much courage as the motoring public will have to show knowing that Senator Brown is free to once again drive the wrong way on an interstate highway.

The prosecutor claims that Brown's treatment is the same as that handed out to others at other times. This is a regrettable admission. The prosecutor has the duty of prosecuting those who are charged with disobeying the law. This is the obvious reason the people elect a prosecutor.

Laws should either be enforced or taken off the books by legislative authority. It isn't the prosecutor's job to make this decision. A state senator was arrested for the second time on a charge of drunk driving. It is only reasonable that the applicable laws be enforced regardless of whether the prosecutor is a Republican and the senator is a Democrat, or if the accused is a state senator or a housewife.

The prosecutor would do well to stick to the job he was hired to do - prosecution of those charged with law violation.

The Michigan state police arrested Brown on a charge of drunk driving. The officers ought to be able to expect that if they apprehend a driver and involve themselves with the sensitive action of arresting a state senator that the county prosecutor will live up to his duty and give the accused the right to a fair trial.

Lansing Is No Watts

A woman who works in Mason was returning to her Lansing home after a movie Sunday evening and her car window was smashed by a concrete block. Whoever tossed the block was supposedly striking a blow for civil rights.

But was he?

Strangely enough, the woman wasn't seriously hurt. But she could have been. And even if she wasn't, a block of concrete on the windshield of an innocent woman's car is a doubtful way to improve race relations.

True, Lansing (nor any city) is not one long street of Moore's River Drive homes. Every employee of Oldsmobile doesn't arrive to work in a silk suit. And those who do and don't, in either case, aren't all white or all black. There are no slums of the Watts or Meridian, Mississippi, variety in Lansing. We always believed that Lansing provided about as good an opportunity for anyone wanting the good things of life as could be found. Certainly, nothing has seemed so impossible in Lansing race relations that the only alternative was a riot. Just the contrary is closer to the truth.

Honest civil rights advocates are losing the grassroots support of all races they at one time enjoyed. Rioters too frequently trample the rights of others and the civil rights improvements as well. In Lansing there is ample opportunity for any racial problem to be solved within the framework of law and order and common decency toward fellow men.

A lot of editorializing has been done citing the acts of violence as those of professional trouble-makers and without the endorsement of the vast majority of peaceful Negroes. This may be true. But the time has almost passed when those who place law and order above mob rule must speak up. Rioting, destruction of property of others and killings in the name of civil rights is a farce. The question is, "How much more can the country stand and still cling to a civilized, organized form of government?"

GUEST EDITORIAL

(Reprinted from the Chicago Tribune)
'DON'T GET ME WRONG'

Vice President Hubert Humphrey, the Lippy Durocher of politics, has sent a letter to every newspaper editor in the country begging that some recent remarks made in a speech at New Orleans not be misconstrued. The Vice President, after drawing an appalling picture of life in slum dwellings, made a pitch for the administration's rent supplements scheme. He suggested that the alternative was "open violence in America in every major city and county because people will not live like animals."

Warning to his theme, Mr. Humphrey got away from his text to say that if he were stuck in a fourth floor tenement in a heat wave, with rats around and the garbage uncollected, "I've got enough spark in me to lead a mighty good revolt under those conditions."

Mr. Humphrey points out in his circular of explanation that he copied this somewhat inflammatory utterance by saying, "I don't want to be misunderstood. I believe in law observance. I believe in law enforcement. I not only deplore violence, I say it cannot be condoned. But I also say, having said that, that's not enough."

All right, Hubert does not want to be misunderstood. If Mr. Durocher occasionally permits himself a little verbal excess in conversation with the umbrine, he, too, does not want to be misunderstood. It is a regrettable development if he is sent to the showers, and Hubert would probably sense a similar injustice if he lost favor with the citizens because there is still enough spark in him to lead a revolt, or riot, as you prefer.

So we assure Hubert that he has not been misunderstood.

We want to assure Hubert further that we did not misunderstand him when he recently discussed taxation. He said the federal government had entered three taxing fields previously reserved to the states. These had to do with poll taxes, public schools, and law enforcement. The surviving area of state taxation, he said, was the maintenance of independent tax systems.

But, said Hubert, if the states don't act to improve and broaden their tax bases - personally, he recommended consideration of a state income tax - then the federal government would have to step in there, too. We do not misunderstand. The federal government has taken over almost everything already. We have Hubert's word that it will complete the job by directing the states how and in what degree to levy taxes.

We did not misunderstand some other persons, too: Lyndon Johnson, when, in commenting on the Los Angeles riots of a year ago, he said that other big cities, among them the nation's capital, could expect the same thing because "the clock is ticking" and that upheavals were predictable when "the clock is ticking" and that upheavals were predictable when "people feel they didn't get a fair shake."

Sen. Bobby Kennedy, when he said it was pointless to tell Negroes living in northern slums to obey the law. To these Negroes, he said, "the law is the enemy."

No, we did not misunderstand. If these weren't calls to mass rebellion, what were they? It may be inconceivable that men in the highest stations in the land encourage civil insurrection, but we do not misunderstand them. The words are theirs, not ours.

"Well lathered is half-shaven," runs the old proverb. That's why in these days when most men shave at home, push-button lather-making machines have been installed in barber shops. No longer does a barber have to waste time working up a lather. That's daubed onto the patient's face by hand. The new method is absolutely sanitary and cuts down on labor and the overhead of maintaining a brush and mug. Like all automatic devices, they sometimes go wrong. I was in the shop of Bill Cummings last Friday, the first customer. A man with a week's growth of whiskers was No. 2 and climbed into Joe Kohler's chair for a shave. Joe pushed the button. Nothing happened. He pushed again. No lather came. Cummings had accidentally pulled the plug mopping up the night before. Consternation reigned until the gears began to mesh and the wheels started turning again. Kohler feared he would have to mix up a batch of lather by hand.

Remember back during the war when a bureaucrat ordered that all bread would have to be sliced by hand? At our house Caroline had never heard of such a barbarous, uncivilized act. She just didn't know how to go about it. She didn't know whether the slicing should be done by shears, a crosscut saw or a knife.

Slicing bread, working up a lather, using a washboard, milking cows by hand, darning socks, sewing on buttons and pushing lawnmowers are becoming lost arts. Several inventors are now working on automatic golf - shooting machines. Frank Guerrero has placed an order for one.

Barbs and Praise

One of the interesting opportunities which goes with spending week ends in the north country is the opportunity of visiting other churches. During the summer the Brown family takes smorgasbord as far as denominations are concerned.

So far this summer we have attended the Rosecommon Congregational, the Higgins Lake Baptist, St. Hubert's Catholic, All Saints Episcopal and Markey Baptist. All were friendly congregations with talented pastors.

Churches in the resort country are well attended in spite of the nearness of sun, sand, water and fish.

One of our favorites is the Higgins Lake Baptist with Pastor Frank Thatcher leading the flock. He puts enthusiasm into those oldtime Baptist-style hymns and the enthusiasm carries over into his sermon.

His subject Sunday was sin and in vacation-land sin is usually near at hand.

He came up with a paragraph in his bulletin which bears repeating.

He cited modern sin as pleasure without conscience, wealth without work, knowledge without character, industry without morality and worship without sacrifice.

After returning from church and scanning the Sunday papers, his words had an added impact.

I do owe Rev. Thatcher an apology for my actions Sunday morning in church. That pained look in the middle of his sermon wasn't due to his pulpit talk. It was due to the pain incurred when a part of my anatomy was pinched in a crack in the pew seat.

It took some adjusting on the part of my pew companions to get me released.

The big time political experts would have a hard time filling the daily newspapers if it weren't for elections. For the past 6 months the pollsters and the crystal ball gazers have written thousands of words telling how the Michigan voter was going to vote and why. After Tuesday's primary they attempted to vindicate themselves and cover their sooth-saying mistakes and by Sunday they were already embarked on telling the Michigan voter what he was going to do in the general election in November.

When the results are in from the November election they will again have the job of making excuses for the mistakes they made in their forecasts.

I am no political expert. All I can do is cast my vote and attempt to mold the voting thoughts of my wife--a feat which I have yet to register success.

But in casting my one vote in November I have several things with which to measure.

I am going to remember inflation, the vacillating of those responsible for our involvement in Vietnam and the way that involvement is being handled.

I am going to remember the untruths and the half truths being fed the American public and the world. I am going to try to ascertain those office seekers who publicly stand in word and action for the concepts of the American way as established by our forefathers.

I am going to try to weed out those office seekers who are kept men.

And above all, I am going to use my vote on the men and women in public office who have not turned their backs on unlawfulness in the streets and the great pressure of civil disobedience we are confronted with today.

That's asking a lot of my one single vote but if every voter measured each candidate by actions of the past instead of wild promises for the future, the United States would be in a much healthier position.

In short I am going to make up my own mind as to how I will vote. I am not going to let Walter Reuther, Rev. King, LBJ, George Romney, Stokely Carmichael, the so-called political experts, the image makers or anyone else tell me how and for whom I will vote.

I hope there are enough other people who feel the same way.

Dick Brown

country and town

Too many times when old friends leave town they (or us) gradually lose touch. But not so with Garnet Brown, now living at 2809 E. Roosevelt, Phoenix, Arizona. Just when we least expect it, Garnet drops us a postcard, or a letter or a special edition of some newspaper. Even more meaningful than what she sends is the fact that she takes the time and interest to even think about us. Garnet's most recent communication heralds the arrival of a grandson, born to Glen and Kay Brown who also live in Phoenix. The boy's name is Jeffery Glen and was born July 14. Great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Rolfe Spear of Mason. Garnet is no relation to the Browns at the News. Not that we would object, for Garnet is one of our favorite people.

Somehow the $75,000 ceremony required to unite Lucy with Pat Saturday didn't seem like a wedding. After the vows, they scurried down the aisle just like any other couple - but then they climbed into that black Cadillac just like they were on their way to a funeral. I thought to make a wedding official the bride and groom had to climb into a sport car with tin cans tied to the bumper, with rocks in the hub caps and "Just Married" scrawled in whitewash across the trunk. And if my wedding was any indication, a cherry bomb should be wired under the hood. I might add that a bomb under the hood in Chicago isn't particularly funny.

Who can remember when a summer contained as many nice days in a row as this year? If it rained and snowed from now until next spring, we would have no right to complain about it. Weather in Michigan this summer has been unbeatable.

The truth has finally come out in the New York investigation as to why the price of food is up and who is getting the money. It was no surprise to me to learn that there are about 3 ounces of wheat in a pound loaf of bread. If you doubt this is true, try compressing a slice of bread tightly in your hand. You can reduce a "refortified, energized, vitaminized" slice of bread to something about the size of a garden pea very quickly. Commercial bread lacks wheat. That's what's wrong with bread - and maybe with the lot of farmers. A couple of years ago Senator Hart saw his mission in the senate to be the exposure of cherry pies that contained fewer cherries than the senator believed should be in cherry pies.

I think he would have an equally good case for exposing bakers who use 3 ounces of wheat in a pound loaf of bread. The New York commission has discovered that farmers have received little or none of any price increase for a loaf of bread simply because there isn't enough wheat in a loaf to put in your eye. If this is the case, think how good a loaf of bread would taste if there were 6 or 9 ounces of wheat in a loaf. Senator Hart, why can't we get federal legislation to guarantee that bread contains at least 9 ounces of wheat per loaf?

If the senator doesn't think housewives are smart enough to count the cherries in a pie, what makes him think they can count the grains of wheat in a loaf of bread?

Actually, the thing that amazes me is that even home bakeries seldom produce a really home-made tasting loaf of bread and that so few people seem to know the difference.

This discourse on bread leads up to the brag that we're tasting home-made bread at our house. No, not my wife, silly, it's my 2 daughters. They turned out a batch of baked goods Saturday that Senator Hart would be proud of. If bunny bread has 3 ounces of wheat in a loaf, I'll bet my daughters' bread had 9. It was that good.

The Melting Pot

There is a little group of people in Mason organized under the banner of the Mason Merchants' association. They are not all merchants, for several members are professional men, but they have one major viewpoint--to do something for the betterment of their city.

I attended one of their meetings the other day and was impressed by the enthusiasm shown.

Right now they have at least 3 projects under consideration, all of which will be of benefit to some segment or all segments of the population.

They are considering an employee - appreciation night at which the merchants will host their regular employees at a dinner and an evening of fun.

That shows the esteem and respect they hold for the folks who labor in their behalf. It reveals a kindly spirit and thoughtfulness that bespeaks business honesty.

The association is not a wealthy organization, but what money it does have the members are willing to spend on a project that will bring a little pleasure to others.

The group also is toying with another more expanded project that concerns what they term "making an old town a beautiful old town". The plan is an ambitious one, to say the least. They would re-do their store fronts so that each would follow a decorative theme that would give the downtown area a new face with quaint and interesting buildings which should make Mason a Mecca for tourists and other out-of-town visitors.

Several other towns Mason's size have tried it and found it successful.

If you have been in Chicago recently and visited what is called "Old Town" you could see of what benefit such a program is. Chicago's "Old Town" has become one of the must spots for visitors to see when they visit the Windy City.

A third merchant project now being planned is for the coming Christmas season, still more than 4 months away. But the merchants do a lot of long range planning which is good for any town.

They are considering street decorations, store decorations and will conduct an outdoor lighting contest as part of the Christmas observance.

You may say the merchants are just looking for more business. They are. But who needs to be ashamed of that? They are entitled to all the business they can get.

The merchants have 5,000 potential customers living within the city limits of Mason. If all the money this represents were kept at home, not only the merchants, but everyone else would prosper and Mason's image would grow in every respect.

MICHIGAN'S SNAKES--Summer is the active season for snakes in Michigan and here are the ones you're most apt to see. If you shudder of the thought of meeting up with snakes, it may ease your mind to know that Michigan has only one poisonous species--the Massasauga or swamp rattlesnake. And even this rattler, confined to the Lower Peninsula and Bois Blanc Island, is not nearly as deadly as many people think. Its poison could be fatal to a small child, but there is no authentic record of a person dying generated many false fears about snakes and clouded the generally beneficial role these reptiles play in the "balance of nature."--Mich. Dept. of Conservation.
