Reason: Maintenance Problems

City's 'White Elephant' Shut Down

Mason councilmen gave up on the city's "White Elephant" (the old Al Rice garage at Oak and Jefferson streets) at their Monday night meeting.

Since the original purchase, the building has created one problem after another, but this week the camel's back was broken with the announcement that not only did the roof leak, but now the boiler wasn't working properly.

It didn't take council building and grounds committeemen long to make their decision: shut down the building and find another place to house the police department.

By Tuesday afternoon police offices were moved lock, stock and barrel into the former Consumers Power maintenance building on W. Ash street.

Chairman of the building and grounds committee, John Hamlin, said the building could be rented on a monthly basis at a rate lower than funds required to operate the city's building on Jefferson.

Confronted with the Jefferson street building problems, Hamlin said, "I refuse to authorize any more funds

US-127 Fate Up To Ad Board $50,000 Invested By City

The State Highway commission has met and reaffirmed its position that US-127 from Mason through Lansing will be abandoned by the state to the care of local governments.

This decision was made following a special hearing conducted last Thursday so the Ingham County Road commission, the city of Lansing and Delhi township could present reasons against this abandonment.

Petition Asks 12 Changes

Some 360 area residents have joined with the city of Mason in protesting the lighting and traffic sign situation at the US-127 interchange north of Mason.

A petition seeking street lighting and better signs at the entrances and exits was presented by Frank (Tex) Evans, superintendent-engineer for the county road commission, at a special hearing Thursday on the abandonment of US-127 from Mason through Lansing.

Two weeks earlier Mason's city council asked the State Highway commission to re-evaluate the interchange as several accidents including one fatal crash had occurred at the site.

The city went so far as to ask that better traffic control signs be erected, street lighting installed and if necessary the entire interchange re-constructed to prevent further accidents.

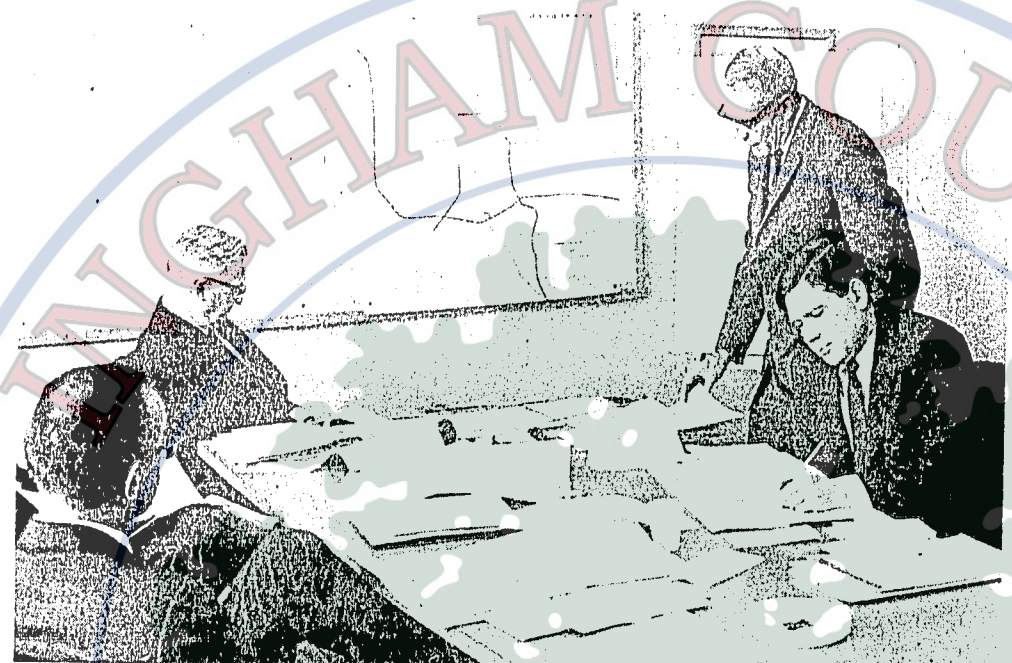

People were more than willing to sign the petition, according to Mrs. Don Densmore. The 360 signatures were gathered at the Densmores' store on Old US-127 within a week's time.

The final ruling now rests with the State Administrative board, which meets in early March.

For the past 3 months the county, the city of Lansing and Delhi township have been fighting the abandonment proposal on the basis that Lansing and the area to the south needs a state designated highway to service the commercial and private needs of the area.

Frank (Tex) Evans, superintendent-engineer of the county road commission, told the highway commission that COUNTY'S SUGGESTION--Frank (Tex) Evans, superintendent-engineer of the Ingham County Road commission (standing), suggested that the state maintain US-127 from Mason through Lansing as a business route during a special hearing Thursday. The State Highway commission indicates they want to abandon that stretch of the road.

3 Draftees Named by Councilmen

The draft is final! Mason now has 6 candidates seeking election to 3 available seats on the city council following the regular meeting Monday.

Petitions were filed by incumbents Mayor Gilson Pearsall and Vaughn Snook, plus a new candidate Francis Fiedler. Draft candidates named are Gerald Bodamer, 237 Washington street; Howard Becker, 112 S. Lawton street, and James L. Maddix, 424 W. Columbia street.

This brings the number up to 6, which is required by the city charter. For several years Mason has had difficulties in securing enough candidates to fill the charter requirements without resorting to the draft.

Gilbert C. Glover, an Ingham county supervisor for the past 6 years, died suddenly Sunday, February 19, at his home, 1988 E. Dansville road, Dansville. He was 54 years old.

COMING DOWN--The police department signs were taken off the city building at Oak and Ash streets Tuesday afternoon. Police Sgt. Allen Winters and city employee Vernon Burns made the move official by placing the signs at the new location on W. Ash street.

Closing Hinges On High Costs

The picture looks black for the former police building at Oak and Jefferson streets. Building and grounds committeemen shut down the building Tuesday after deciding against costly repairs needed on the facility.

Although right now the building is shut down, Mayor Gilson Pearsall says this is only a temporary measure until a permanent decision can be made on the proposed fire-police building.

Howard Roberts, building and grounds committee member, told The Ingham County News a Consumers Power official had guaranteed the city that rent for the new police facility on W. Ash would be under $100 per month. An exact price has not been established as yet.

"This rent represents a much lower cost to the city than the money required to keep the garage building open," he said.

The former Al Rice garage is owned by the city and the $52,500 price tag is taken care of with the possible exception of $10,000 which has been provided for in the new budget, according to the mayor.

Reasons cited for closing the building were the need for extensive roof repair, repair or replacement of the present heating system and the high costs of keeping the building open.

Harold Barnhill, city clerk, told The Ingham County News that last month's utilities bill totalled $229.79; $95.96 was for electrical power and $133.83 was for gas.

Police Chief Tim Stolz explained to the council the reasons for the high bill. He said heat was turned off in all parts

In order to prevent weeds from growing where a person is planning to place stones, they must first dig down 3 inches, then put a layer of polyethylene down.

Most landscaping is left to professionals, but the average homeowner can do it himself by using precast blocks. They are very attractive but can become uneven due to moisture. Railroad ties are used frequently because they are less expensive.

for the repair of the building, we have spent enough money there already."

Voicing his support Howard Roberts, committee member, said: "In view of the roof and boiler problems, I feel the building is uninhabitable and any change which would be reasonable and adequate for the police department will have my approval."

Purchased by the city in 1964 for $52,500, the Rice building was supposed to have been remodeled to suit the needs of a combination city hall, police department and fire barn. City voters wouldn't give approval of the project. Now it will be used only for storage of city equipment that is not harmed by cold conditions.

In stating the existing conditions of the building, Police Chief Tim Stolz told both the law enforcement committee and the buildings and grounds committee that the roof leaks badly, the boiler was not working, there was no ventilation in the building and no privacy.

"There are at least 5 serious leaks in the roof, which forced us to take down the ceiling tile and move the clerk's office into my office. City employees stopped the leaks by removing snow and moisture off the roof, but the situation will crop up again as soon as it snows or rains again.

"Now the boiler is creating problems. I have had to send my clerk home twice this past week as there hasn't been any heat and working conditions are impossible.

roads are increasing at a rate of one percent while population is increasing at a 2 percent rate and highway traffic is up 3 percent, thus calling for added trunkline mileage as well as service arteries.

"The US-127 stretch from Mason to Lansing doesn't carry just county traffic. It has much commercial trucking and tourist travel," he said. "A recent traffic count taken at Howell road just north of the shopping center showed an average of 7,000 to 9,000 cars per day used the route."

Joe Kiersey, Delhi Township supervisor, told the hearing committee, that extensive industrial growth particularly in the Holt area pointed out the necessity for a state-trunkline highway.

"At the present time there are at least 22 industrial parcels being utilized between Holt and Mason on US-127 and this appears to be a prime area for future industrial growth," Kiersey said.

"US-127 is vital to this area as a main truck line and as a representative of Delhi township I think it would be wrong for the state of Michigan to leave Holt without a state trunkline."

Others appearing at the hearing included Lansing Mayor Max Murnighan and Albert C. Boyd, vice-president of the Lansing Chamber of Commerce.

Boyd told the commission a service route was economically important to the area and the opening of the new connector has not reduced Cedar street traffic to any great extent. This, he said, proves the need of a state business route to serve Lansing.

of the building except the immediate police offices, but that it easily escaped through the walls and roof to open spaces.

The police department was not the only department to make use of the building.

The city maintenance department made use of the back garage for storage and repair of city machinery. A large room north of the police offices, commonly referred to as the Sycamore Tea room, was used often by various community groups for sales and meetings. Mason Boy Scouts also have been making use of 2 small rooms next to the boiler room.

"These many uses for the building account somewhat for the high utilities bill," Pearson said.

According to Cliff Walcott, city assessor, the building was taken off the city tax roll in 1964 following the city's purchase. Al Rice paid the 1964 taxes on the building, but since then the city has been minus some $777.51 for 1965 and 1966 taxes which would have been paid had the facility been owned privately.

What Lenten Season Means to Me

By DAVID DIEHL
Mason Kiwanis Club President

The Lenten season, culminating in Easter, has so many meanings to so many people all over the world, that it is impossible not to be affected by it. No matter what your faith, or even if you have no faith, you are influenced by the millions who do observe this season. To a Christian Methodist farmer, such as I, Easter must have its own significance. In the first place I am sure that it is easier for me as a farmer to have faith. Certainly when we invest large sums in seed, fertilizer and equipment we have a deep, abiding faith in a power beyond ourselves that the seeds will grow and mature.

This is a basic faith in someone greater than man. If Jesus had just lived his short span, even as outstanding as his ministry was, without the Resurrection and its implications, his life would be just another legend in this day and age.

God's supreme gift to the world in my opinion was not in the gift of his son, but rather, in the gift of faith of his supreme being and of life after death.

Can You Afford A New Car This Year?

By DICK LYON

Have you been enviously eyeing the new models but arguing with your conscience whether the expense is justified? Then here is some statistical ammunition for your side:

Auto industry economists in recent years have figured out on their computers that every three years is the ideal time to trade for the average motorist under average conditions.

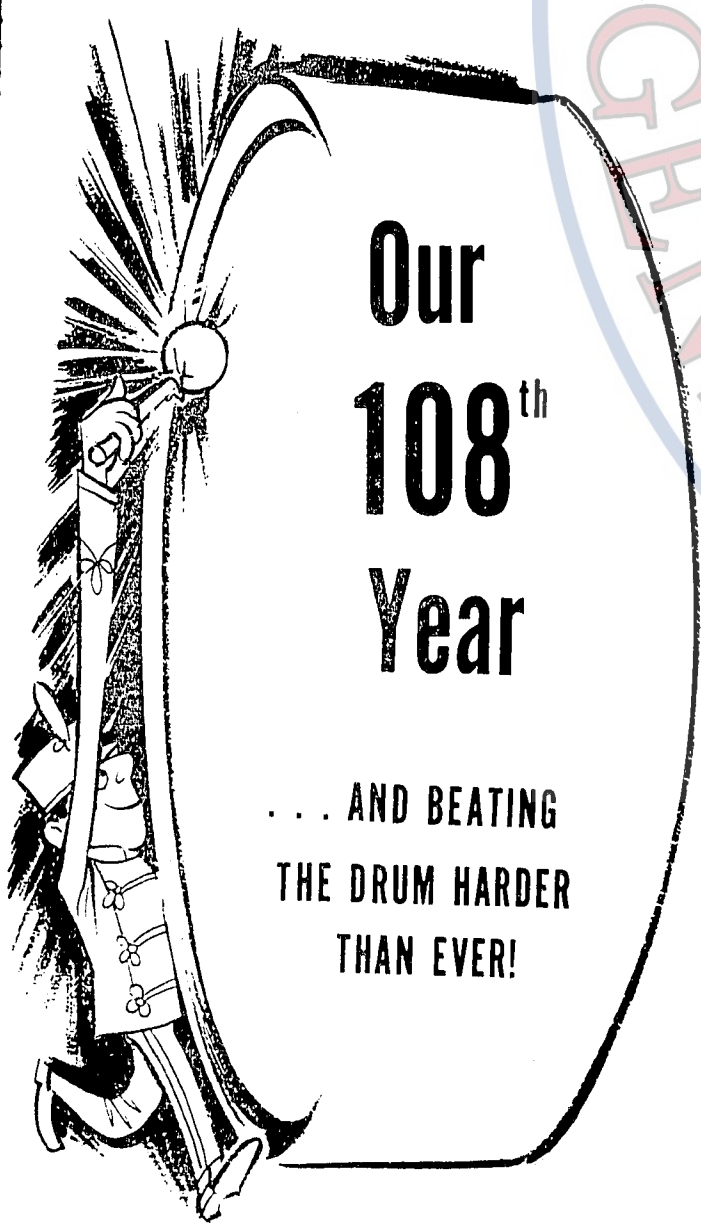

This is the point when your used car becomes noticeably out of style, which adversely affects its resale value. Service costs have already started to soar, offsetting the rate of depreciation which has begun to slow down. Major expenses such as tires and battery ect. can now be expected.

Service costs have been increasing in the last few years, however, much faster than manufacturing costs. High trade union wage demands can be cancelled out to some extent by labor-saving automation. But this is not possible in straight service work.

This year alone, for instance, prices of consumer services generally have risen 4.5 percent compared with 2.5 percent last year and 2 percent the year before.

All of this is making the service-free new car every two years and even every year a more attractive proposition economically for many (locality) buyers.

With the extended new car warranties this year it is more important than ever that you buy from a dealer who is service- and guarantee-minded as well as considering low price. See you next Wednesday.

The name of the game was contact Friday night as Mason edged Howell. Here Mason's Brian Doolittle puts a kink in the neck of Howell's Jim Stepp.

Mason Fights Off Highlander Rally

Mason and Howell didn't play the best ball of the season Friday night but the 2 Capital Circuit teams had the crowd in an uproar most of the night. Mason ended up on top 79-71 and thus held on in third place. Friday night the Bulldogs will take on Okemos in the final game of the season. Next stop is the opening round in the district basketball tournament Monday night. Okemos was trampled by the Bulldogs the first time out but the Chiefs have come on strong in the second round of play. Friday night's game could be a close one.

Mason started out against Howell as if it was going to be a breeze. The Bulldogs jumped to a quick lead but before the period was over the lead had been cut to 18-10. In a hot second quarter Mason added 2 more points to its margin thanks to some fancy shooting by Doug Engle and Pat Birney. The Bulldogs ended up the first half in front 41-31.

The action slowed in the third period but Mason still was able to add another 2 points to the margin. It was different in the last quarter. The Bulldog lead evaporated under the steady Howell shooting and the Highlanders pulled to within 3 points of Mason with a minute to go.

Mason came through with a couple of buckets by Brian Doolittle and some hot foul line shooting to pull away from the Highlanders. Engle had another one of his good nights for Mason. The Mason guard tossed in 20 points, hitting equally well from the outside and on driving layups. He also played an outstanding game on defense.

He was followed in the scoring by Jim Powers with 19, 20 points, hitting equally well from the outside and on driving layups. He also played an outstanding game on defense.

Pat Birney added 14 and Doolittle and Ron Underwood each put in 11. The game marked the return to limited action of Gary Vanderveen, starting center. He tested his injured knee with a few minutes of action in preparation for the final 2 games and the district tournament.

Aggies Win

Dansville came up with a sweet victory Friday night when the Aggies downed Pinckney 71-52. With the season almost over the Aggies have started to jell.

Great debates are not confined to the halls of congress or do they concern only the Vietnam war issue. Howell Coach Norm Burgett had plenty to say to the officials at the Howell-Mason game. He probably felt better after making his point but his arguments didn't sway the officials.

Rocks Survive Scare

Haslett almost took some of the glitter off the Gabriels cage machine Friday night. The Vikings threw a scare into the Rocks before bowing 73-62.

Friday night Gabriels will wind up the regular season at Eaton Rapids while Haslett will entertain front running O'Rafferty.

In the Haslett-Gabriels fray the Rocks went out in front in the first quarter 16-14 but with Bob Youatt taking the starring role, the Lakers forged in front 35-32 at the half.

Then a big letdown stymied Haslett. In the third period Gabriels regained the lead moved far in front. Haslett was able to pare one point off the bulge in the last period.

Youatt's 20 points was the best scoring effort for Haslett. Mike Magley added 11.

For the Rocks Jeff Larkin was high with 21. Steve Nowosacki added 13 and Tim Curtin and Dave Sanders each bagged 12.

Jayvees Defeat Hornets

Mason's jayvee cagers picked up another win Tuesday night--this one at the expense of Williamston. Coach Art Frank's crew came out on top 63-56 after the Hornets had closed the gap to 3 points with a little over a minute to go.

Marv Oesterle was the top shooter for Mason with 16 points. Mike Johnson and Craig Webster added the Mason cause with 12 points each.

For Williamston Tom Schubel was high with 17. Jack Mellon came through with 14 and Tom Mauser and Dan Gullick each scored 12.

Leslie Pairings Announced

Drawings were made Tuesday for the Class C district cage tournament at Leslie. The tourney will open Wednesday with Springport going against Williamston in an 8 o'clock game.

Thursday night host Leslie will take on Dansville at 8 o'clock.

The finals are set for Saturday night.

Leslie at 15-0 is the favorite to repeat as district champ. The strongest opposition should come from Williamston.

McMichael Ties Leslie Cage Mark

Leslie didn't make it to the century mark Friday night but the Blackhawks came close with a 92-59 win over Fowlerville. The Ingham County league champs were in no trouble at any time.

The Blackhawks uncorked their big bombs in the last period to run away with the game. In the first period Leslie moved out in front 17-11. By halftime the score stood at 37-28. Going into the last period in front by 8 points, Leslie turned it on with a 37-point period to swamp the Gladiators.

In the process Rod McMichael tied the Leslie school scoring mark set last year by teammate Chuck Lay. The Blackhawk ace bagged 33 points on 11 field goals and 11 free throws.

Lay himself didn't have a bad night. He came up with 15. While this was under his usual production, his work on the boards and on defense was tops.

Ten Leslie players figured in the scoring. For Fowlerville Bob Carson was top shooter with 18.

Panthers Snap Losing Streak

The Stockbridge Panthers ended a four game losing streak with a 61-59 win over Saline Tuesday night. The non-league contest was close all the way and victory was not assured till the final second. Don Camburn scored the Panthers' 61st point in the last seconds. With only one second remaining, Saline called time out. When play resumed, Saline had the ball out of bounds under their own basket. With time for just one shot, Saline tried and missed.

Camburn and Ron Collings were high scorers for the Panthers with 14 each. Dave Carpenter had 11.

Camburn was also the leading rebounder with 11, while Collings had 7.

Bill Haverty and Phil Harris played outstanding ball on defense in the fourth quarter, blocking many Saline shots, to help preserve the Panther victory.

Hornets Defeat Jayvees

The Stockbridge junior varsity basketball team was defeated by Williamston, 59-50, Friday night.

A cold third quarter, when the little Panthers were outscored 20-8, was the big difference between victory and defeat. They came roaring back in the final period and outscored the Hornets, 15-9, but it wasn't enough.

The much taller Williamston five controlled the boards throughout the game. They also hit 45 percent of their shots from the floor, compared to 39 percent for Stockbridge.

Ron Wright was the leading scorer for Stockbridge with 19 points. He was also the leading rebounder with 14. Game scoring honors however went to Jack Mellon of Williamston with 27 points.

Free Throw Inaccuracy Costs Panthers Win

The Stockbridge Panther basketball team lost another game at the free throw line. In their 64-58 loss to Williamston Friday night, the Stockbridge five had 23 field goals to Williamston's 20.

However they only hit on 12 of 22 charity tosses while the Hornets made 24 of 31. Getting off to a shaky start, the Panthers trailed 17-7 at the end of the first quarter. They outscored the Hornets in the second stanza 20-13 and went to the locker room at half time trailing 33-27.

Stockbridge came back strong in the third quarter and within two minutes had tied the score at 35 all. Two minutes later Phil Harris put the Panthers in the lead for the first time. From that time on the lead changed hands several times and Stockbridge was ahead by one point going into the final eight minutes.

The Panthers boosted their lead to five points early in the fourth quarter before hitting a cold streak when they went a full three minutes without scoring a point. Williamston regained the lead after Ron Collings fouled out of the game and were pulling away at the finish.

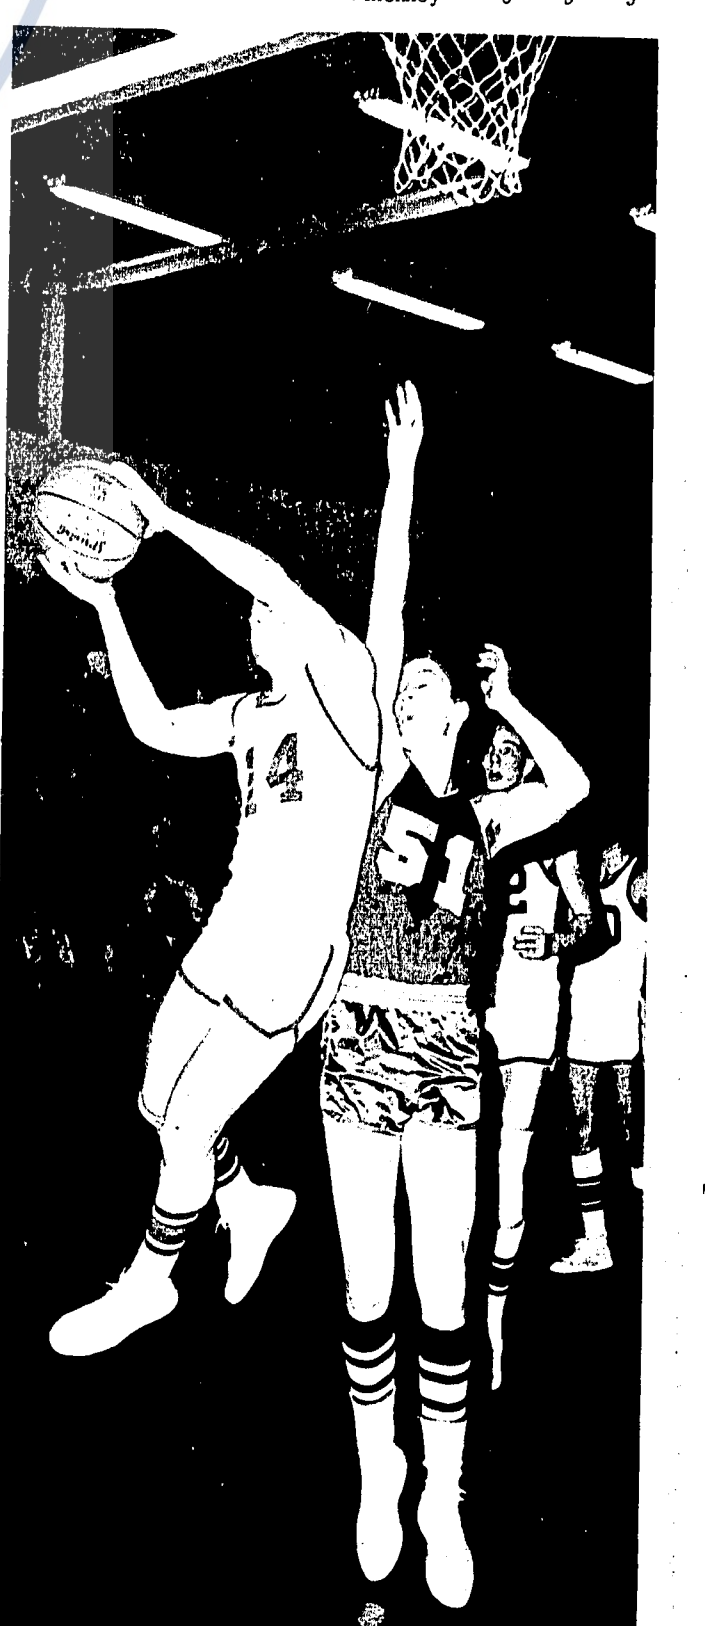

Game scoring honors went to Panther Gail Allen who pumped in 7 field goals and 3 free throws. Don Camburn added 11 while Steve Collins had 10. The leading scorer for the winners was Lott with 16. Don Camburn was again the leading rebounder with 18. The Panthers close out the regular season this week with a non-league game at South Lyons Tuesday night and a game at home with Pinckney Friday night.

Size isn't everything as Mason's Doug Engle keeps on proving week after week. Here the 5-7 Mason guard drives in for one of his many baskets against Howell's taller Dennis Morlock.

Boatmen Must Meet Rulings

Admiral Willard J. Smith, commandant of the U.S. Coast Guard, has announced that as of June 1, 1967 pleasure boatmen will be expected to have their boat ventilation systems meet Coast Guard requirements or face a possible $100 penalty.

The requirements were originally to have gone into effect last June 1, but boatmen were given an additional year in which to get their craft in shape.

Admiral Smith stressed the minimum natural ventilation required by the Coast Guard for closed engine and fuel tank compartments. Coast Guard regulations specifically call for at least one inlet duct fitted with cowl or equivalent and at least one outlet or exhaust duct fitted with cowl or equivalent. Ducts must extend from the open atmosphere

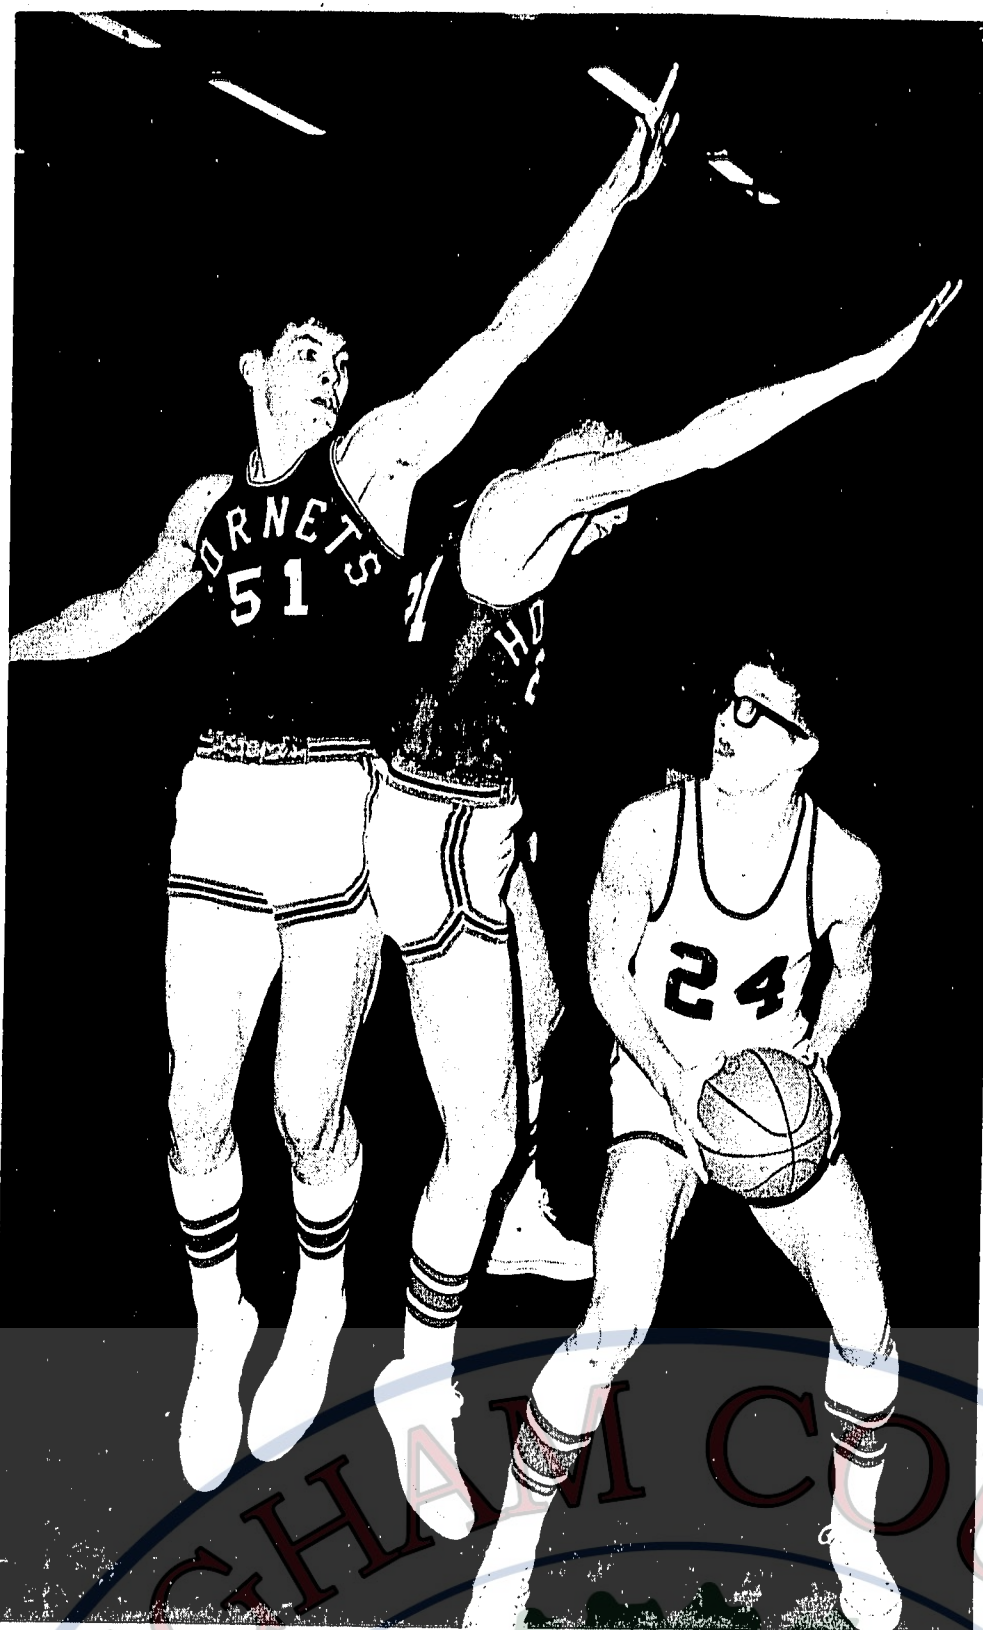

Six U.S. Presidents were members of the National Guard -- George Washington, Abraham Lincoln, Andrew Jackson, Chester Arthur, Theodore Roosevelt, and Harry S. Truman. In his memoirs, President Truman, one-time captain of field artillery in the Missouri National Guard, recalls how his grandmother chided him the first time he entered her home -- in his blue uniform.

Mason's jayvee cagers have come on strong in the last few games to regain their winning form. Here Denny Dancer bags a basket against Williams-ton while Marv Oesterle stands for a possible re-bound.

THEY'RE PICKING ON ME--Mason's Jim Powers had that alone feeling in this bit of action Tuesday night when Steve Duncel and Tom Cogswell closed in but Powers faked both out of position and put the ball through the hoop.

Powers Scores 28 To Help Mason

Mason got by Williamston Tuesday night 83-74 but it wasn't easy. The Bulldogs had to stave off a last-quarter rally which brought the Hornets to within 3 points of the Bulldogs midway in the last period. The Hornets, displaying one of the better passing games Mason has confronted this year, were never out of the game although they trailed from the middle of the second quarter on.

It took some fine shooting on the part of Mason's Jim Powers and Doug Engle to put the game in the Mason win column.

In a hot first quarter Mason finally came out on top 21-20 with Engle contributing 9 of the points and Powers tossing in 8.

The action slowed in the second period but Mason managed to add to the margin and leave the floor at halftime leading 39-35.

Powers again found the range in the third period to keep Mason in front but in the opening minutes of the last quarter the Hornets, paced by Jerry Neigh, Steve Duncel and Barry Lott, closed the gap. The Hornets chances suffered a blow when Lott fouled out and Mason went on to win.

Powers made his 28 points on 12 field goals and 4 foul shots. Engle dropped in 17 points and Brian Doolittle and Ron Underwood each added 10.

For Williamston Duncel was high with 20. Tom Cogswell was close behind with 19. Neigh finished with 15 and Lott scored 12.

The Mason margin of victory could have been a lot greater if the Bulldogs had shown some accuracy from the foul line. While they outscored the Hornets from the "line" 29-22 they made only 10 of 22 attempts.

Chamberlain Urges End To Free World Shipping Into Ports of N. Vietnam

Congressman Charles E. Chamberlain (R-Mich.) said this week he was shocked to learn from the department of defense that "ships flying Free World flags apparently delivered strategic cargoes to North Vietnam last month." He added, "When I asked about this I was disturbed to find an attitude of acceptance among top administration officials."

The congressman, in a speech prepared for delivery on the house floor Thursday, stated, "During 1966 there has been some encouraging progress in the reduction of this traffic... from 256 Free World arrivals in 1965 to 74 arrivals in 1966. The state department says this trade has reached a 'practically irreducible minimum' and that they will 'continue to watch this situation closely'. I say we should be doing more than just watching... especially with strategic cargoes involved."

The six-term representative, a member of the armed services committee, continued, "If diplomatic remedies have been exhausted as the State Department implies... and I am not yet convinced this is so... we owe it to the over 410,000 American troops in Vietnam to look to more direct means. Many informed military people have urged for some time that the approaches to Haiphong Harbor be mined, just as the Viet Cong are continuously mining, with some success, the river channels into Saigon. In one case 7 U. S. Merchant Seamen were killed and their vessel sunk; then yesterday we learned a Navy minesweeper was sunk."

Chamberlain, who has been in the forefront of house efforts to bring an end to the shipping carried on by U. S. aid recipient countries and other Free World nations, also joined in criticism of the state department's decision to go ahead with a shipment of vegetable oil to Yugoslavia on subsidized credit terms, which the U.S. comptroller general has now ruled violates legislative prohibitions passed last session.

The congressman also questioned the administration's plan to permit Poland to repay a $26 million debt in Polish currency rather than U. S. dollars, saying "This is nothing more than a foreign aid gratuity to a country that is making a major contribution to aiding the enemies of South Vietnam. Such a deal is certainly in direct violation of the spirit, if not the letter, of the law passed by congress last session to prohibit aid to those who trade in North Vietnam." Chamberlain noted that after Soviet and Chinese shipping, Polish vessels provide the most important seaborne source of supply to the Hanoi regime.

Campaign 'Unofficial' Sheriff Says

Sheriff Kenneth L. Preadmore of Ingham county made it clear this week that the Ingham County Public Safety association engaged in collecting funds here for advertising to be placed in a brochure, have no connection or agreement with local schools, law enforcement groups or safety organizations.

Preadmore said the safety association is properly registered with the Ingham county clerk to make the solicitation, which is done by phone, but that it is not an Ingham county sponsored project.

Neither does the group have agreement or contract with local officials.

Preadmore suggested that persons wishing to donate money to safety causes "they should consider the Greater Lansing Safety council."

Projects similar to this one have been carried on here before, the sheriff said, and brochures have been mailed to the persons donating money, but they have not been sent to schools of the public.

Hilliard Opposes Primary

A proposal in the state legislature to move primary elections up to September instead of August would make for shorter political campaigns but would create almost an impossible task for the county clerk's office which must deliver absentee ballots 4 days before the November elections, according to C. Ross Hilliard, Ingham county clerk.

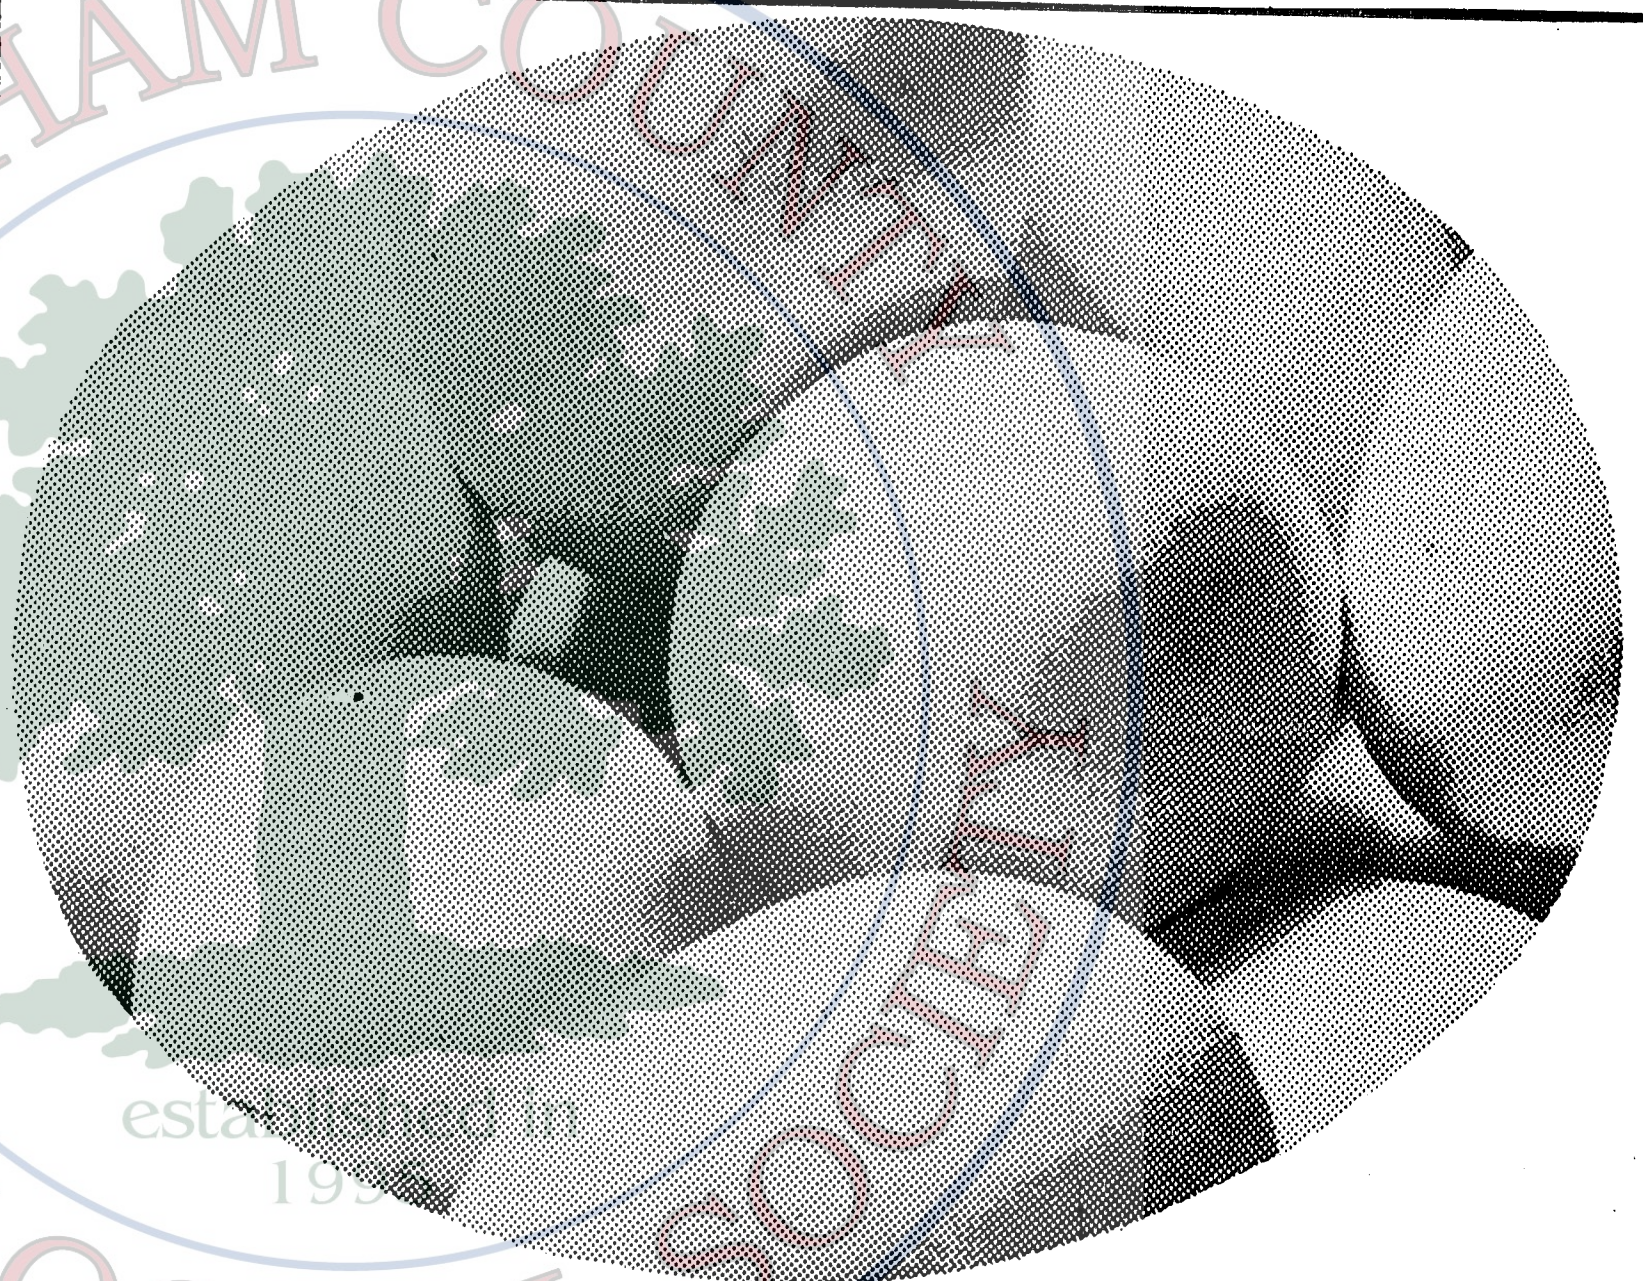

"If this proposal is passed the worst offense would be to the boys in the Armed Forces," Hilliard said.

"After the primary election names of persons nominated for election are submitted to this office and we must canvass each and every one and proof read the ballot. There just wouldn't be enough time to mail out the absentee voter's ballots."

"Boys stationed throughout the world would be discriminated against. If they want to vote, it is their right as citizens and should not be denied. Under this proposal they couldn't possibly cast their votes."

what is the definition of a private brand?

To some people, it is a retailer's own brand created with selling price first in importance and quality second.

To us at A&P, it's the opposite.

Quality comes first.

Value...the best for the least is the rule for our private brands.

If this wasn't true, how foolish we'd be to invest, as we have, literally millions of dollars in processing plants and testing laboratories.

If all we wanted were products we could sell cheaply without quality control, anybody could produce them for us.

The idea of quality private brands isn't new at A&P.

As a matter of fact, it's one of our oldest policies—and by golly, we're proud of it.

Are A&P Private Brands a good reason for shopping A&P? They're one of many.

SCIENTIFIC SMOKER?—Researchers at Michigan State University are trying to teach this caged Capuchin monkey to smoke cigarettes for medical research. He has completed an important first step by learning to suck in by quenching his thirst with the plastic water intake apparatus on the left. Tying playfully with the monkey, affectionately called "Abe Lincoln," is Dr. Stanley Ratner, professor of psychology, one of 3 professors involved in the project.

They Call Him 'Abe Lincoln'

Monkey at MSU Learning To Smoke Cigarets

A small Capuchin monkey, the type that organ grinders use to delight sidewalk audiences, is being taught to smoke cigarettes at Michigan State University for medical research.

Psychologists are experimenting to determine if a reliable technique can be developed to teach monkeys to smoke. If the experiment is successful, large numbers of monkeys can be used in research on lung cancer and other diseases associated with cigarette smoking.

MSU's monkey, less than a year old, has been affectionately dubbed "Abe Lincoln." His early progress was disappointing. But in recent weeks, he has learned to quench his thirst by sucking water through a metal tube. Researchers consider this an important step that resembles the human intake of smoke.

Gradually, small amounts of smoke will be introduced into the tube-water-sucking apparatus to accustom "Abe Lincoln" to smoke. Monkeys find smoke naturally unpleasant.

No one visualizes "Abe Lincoln" dangling a cigarette from his lips or establishing any brand preferences. But some smoke intake measurements may be possible if the water-sucking apparatus, or one similar to it, is successful.

Any regularized pattern of smoke induction in doses similar to that of a cigarette would probably not come for some time.

"We won't hurry," said Dr. M. Ray Denny, professor of psychology, one of 3 researchers involved in the project.

Dr. Denny, Dr. Stanley C. Ratner, professor of psychology, and Dr. Leo Katz, director of the MSU Statistical Laboratory, are directors of the research project funded by the Council of Tobacco Research of New York City. MSU's Board of Trustees accepted a $11,137 grant last week from the council for the project.

The cost of obtaining a Capuchin monkey is comparatively inexpensive, and their physiology resembles man, Dr. Denny noted. Both of these items, Dr. Denny added, make him a good research subject.

Dean Siebert, To Retire

Dr. Fred S. Siebert, nationally known communications educator and authority in copyright law, will retire July 1 from his duties as dean of Michigan State University's college of communication arts.

Dr. Siebert's retirement from the post he has held since 1960 was approved Thursday (Feb. 16) by MSU's Board of Trustees. He will continue on the faculty as research professor of journalism.

He joined MSU in 1957 as director of the School of Journalism after 30 years at the University of Illinois, the last 16 years as professor and director of the School of Journalism and Communications. He also served two years as acting director of Illinois' Institute of Communications Research.

A 1923 honors graduate of the University of Wisconsin, Dr. Siebert worked for newspapers in Eveleth and Hibbing, Minn., Chicago and Duluth before becoming director of general and sports publicity in 1925 at Bradley University.

He served at Bradley until going to Illinois in 1927 as a journalism instructor.

In 1929, he earned the Doctor of Jurisprudence Degree from Illinois and was admitted the same year to the Illinois bar.

With training in both journalism and law, Dr. Siebert has done extensive research and written several books dealing with the press and law.

Two of his books, "Freedom of the Press in England, 1476-1776" and "Four Theories of the Press," have won Kappa Tau Alpha Research Awards. Dr. Siebert wrote the latter work with Ted B. Peterson and Wilbur Schramm.

Allen L. Purchis, a special deputy sheriff for 7 years in Mason and a resident of Lansing, was one of 46 trainees who were recently graduated from a VISTA training program at the University of Oregon.

As a Volunteer in Service to America, Purchis will spend one year working with the North Avenue Community center in Fresno, California.

Purchis, 72, is a native of Michigan. He was born in Petoskey and received his schooling there. His varied employment experience includes 16 years as a forge man and foreman with Atlas Drop Forge in Lansing. Purchis was also a postal clerk and superintendent for 25 years.

His chief leisure interests, he reports, are singing, hunting and fishing. His father, Homer Purchis, resides in Bath.

To Consider Intermediate School Budget

School officers of Ingham county will gather at the Intermediate board of education offices at 147 W. Maple street here next Tuesday, February 28 to consider and act on a proposed 1967-78 budget for the Ingham intermediate district.

One voting representative from each of the 12 school districts in the county is expected to attend the meeting.

A program of services for the 1967-68 school year will be presented and a budget needed to provide the services will be presented to the board members for their approval.

Low Start

Many Generals in the Regular Army started their military careers as privates in the National Guard. A prime example in today's Army is the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, General Earle G. Wheeler who enlisted in the District of Columbia National Guard in 1924 and served a four-year hitch before entering West Point with the Class of 1932.

In addition, the board of trustees endorsed legislation to permit advancement of funds to hospitals that are burdened with great sums of unpaid Medicaid bills due to mechanical delays in payment processing.

Donald E. Walchenbach, president of the Michigan Hospital Association and director of McLaren General Hospital in Flint, classified the board's actions as "urgently needed."

Dems Launch First of Series Of Attacks Against Romney

By Elmer E. White

Democratic legislators launched the first of what will become an increasingly heavy series of attacks on Gov. George Romney; his plans and programs.

Ultimate purpose behind the attacks is to scuttle Romney's prospects as a GOP presidential candidate. The "loyal opposition" must make him look ineffective in his home state at the very least, and ridiculous if possible.

In the current series, Democrats have chosen some petty points as well as some which will gain momentum as the year goes on.

State of the State messages are traditionally presented in joint sessions during the day. So when the governor asked for an evening audience during prime television time, he was accused of preparing a primarily "political speech." He got his way in the end.

Then the minority leadership found fault with the proposed timetable for the legislative session which set final adjournment in late June.

It has been standard procedure to set a May or June closing date, although in recent years this self-imposed deadline has rarely been met. Sessions have been extended on a day-to-day basis.

Democrats argued that the legislature is now a full-time body and should act like one. They loudly protested the June adjournment as Romney's way of providing time to take to the presidential campaign trail.

Republicans countered with references to the 1965 session, when Democrats held control and set a similar mid-year date; and the fact that the Governor can call a special session at will if emergencies arise between sessions.

Another blow has been aimed at the Governor's attempt to slow down implementation of the Medicaid program adopted last year.

Romney has had to eat some crow on this question, but said he plans to propose legislative changes in the law to keep costs of the program down.

Tax reform by far the most controversial matter to face the legislature, is causing the most furor. On this question Democrats are taking aim from several positions.

Some say the proposed 2 1/2 percent individual income tax rate should be raised.

Local levies should be outlawed, with the additional revenue going back to the local units.

Others want a ceiling, which would require a public vote, for any state income tax written into the Constitution. Several Republican lawmakers share this view.

Still others say the people should be given a chance to vote on amending the Constitution to allow enactment of a graduated income tax, now specifically prohibited.

An even balance in the 55-55 House head count and an almost even balance in the 20-18 split of Senate seats bring Democrats' complaints more attention than they might receive under other conditions.

Republicans might need a few Democratic votes on any given issue. Gov. Romney must, therefore, carefully weigh any retort he makes to these early barrages of criticism.

The early part of this session has been markedly different from the picture in early 1965 when the Democrats took control and Romney's national image was still quite hazy and unclear.

At that time, headlines across the state read: "Romney, Dems Will Work Together" and "Honeymoon Session Ahead." The honeymoon obviously is over!

FIX IT QUICK! Somebody goofed and only quick action can correct a situation which poses a threat to the public's "right to know."

It seems that last year Sen. Stanley Rozycki, D-Detroit, felt that a police officer's written opinion relating to a traffic accident should be classified information, available only for analysis by traffic safety experts.

As sometimes happen, the language in Rozycki's bill was revised as it went through the complicated legislative channels. It was enacted into law and takes effect March 10.

No one noticed until the 1966 session was over, however, that the bill as passed might have much greater impact. It could be conceived to close all the police records of accident reports.

As enacted, newspapers might be prohibited from reporting information about an accident unless an arrest was made. Not even "next of kin" could be notified!

Insurance companies could not get information about a client's accident.

In short, the bill which was designed to hold secret except for statistical purposes only one portion of an accident report became a law which tried to suppress all accident information.

Rozycki came back this session with a bill to amend the law and restore it to its original purpose. If it moves promptly through legislative channels, it can replace wording in the law which takes effect March 10.

Understanding Your Health Goiter on the Increase; Iodized Salt Sales Down

By Albert E. Heustis, M.D.

Have you ever wondered why you see the word "iodized" on many containers of table salt at your local market? Well, it's all tied up with a condition known as simple goiter.

Simple goiter is a serious enlargement of the thyroid gland located in the front of the neck. The cause of the disease is simply a deficiency of iodine in the diet. Prevention is equally simple -- adding iodine in small amounts to table salt.

Before iodized salt came on the market this goiter condition of the thyroid gland was so common in our state that it was referred to as "Michigan disease." Unfortunately, the soil and water of Michigan are naturally deficient in iodine content, so people just don't get enough iodine from their normal diet. Because of this deficiency simple goiter was a serious problem here back in the 1920's.

The state health department and the state medical society joined forces in 1924 and got salt manufacturers to add a little iodine to their product -- thus creating iodized salt. Then after much public education to use the new salt, the incidence of goiter fell drastically in Michigan.

However, the battle is still not over, because recent studies have shown that goiter is on the increase again. This is especially so in regard to children. And coupled with this fact the sale of iodized salt is falling off, as compared to plain salt.

Another survey showed that one-third of the table salt on the market still is non-iodized. Well, I'd like to make one thing clear to everyone -- if the word "IODIZED" does not appear right on the box of salt, pass it up for another box that is so marked. As there is not a state law requiring manufacturers to put iodine in salt -- it is strictly up to you to see that your family gets this needed supplement to their diet.

Put iodized salt into your family's diet right now, and keep it there for good. This will effectively stop the serious danger of iodine deficiency in your child's system. The only difference between the treated salt and regular salt is the tiny bit of iodine that is added. You won't even notice it -- but your child's health depends on the use of this salt.

Under 21 Man Behind Wrestling In the Mason Schools

By Douglas Dilday

Recently, I gave you a brief report about wrestling here in Mason. Now I would like to give you a brief resume on the man responsible for building the team and the team spirit.

This man is always on the go. His unyielding drive and determination won't let him sit still. His name is Ben Blackston. He is a teacher at Mason Junior High, but lives in Lansing.

Blackston isn't a big man physically, but to the Mason wrestling team, he is a man 10 feet tall. He has earned the respect and admiration of the team in such a way that it's hard to believe, and for a first year coach, this is a pretty good size feat, seeing that he had no connection with wrestling at all until he came to Mason!

It's hard to put into words the kind of man you see in Blackston. You have to meet him and talk with him to understand what I mean. He is the sort of person who constantly has a ready smile and has time to listen. That's something that all teenagers are attracted to. He is continually friendly, always greets you with a "Hi."

But, all good things come to an end, as the saying goes, and so must Blackston's reign over the wrestling team. He will leave us this year to go to Central Michigan university, where he will train for missionary work, his deepest interest. Naturally, a first is always remembered. So it will be with Mason's "first" wrestling coach. But I know Blackston is the type of man who will succeed wherever he goes and I hope we will not have heard the last of him when he goes to Central Michigan. For he is the kind of person who will help anywhere he can, to anyone, over and over.

Hospitals Snowed Under By Medicare Paper Work

Michigan hospitals, snowed under by a blizzard of Medicare paperwork and under severe financial pressure caused by slow processing of Medicare and Medicaid claims, began Wednesday a campaign aimed at simplifying and speeding up the 2 health care programs.

The Michigan Hospital association board of trustees, acting on recommendations by its committee on Medicare, has called on the U.S. congress and Michigan legislature to make whatever legislative and administrative changes are needed to simplify Medicare business procedures and reduce the amount of data required for claims handling at all levels.

As a result of Wednesday's action, the M.H.A. will also seek financial aid from the Social Security Administration for hospitals which have large amounts of unpaid Medicare accounts receivable on their books.

In addition, the board of trustees endorsed legislation to permit advancement of funds to hospitals that are burdened with great sums of unpaid Medicaid bills due to mechanical delays in payment processing.

Donald E. Walchenbach, president of the Michigan Hospital Association and director of McLaren General Hospital in Flint, classified the board's actions as "urgently needed."

The telephone number---373-2175 -- remains the same.

We Get Letters

Country Is Rich, But Broke

They tell me we are the richest nation in the world. I'd like to meet the fellow that started that rumor, maybe I could get some questions answered which have been bothering me.

The term riches can be applied to many things. But ordinarily when we speak of riches, we are referring to money. If this nation is so rich with money, why is it so many people are always broke, busted and doing business on the cuff?

I know we have a nice crop of millionaires, but I also know there are millions who have to struggle for an existence. If our nation is so rich with gold, why is there a national debt of $325,000,000? Each year we must dig a little deeper for several more billions.

Why is every state in the red and asking for more taxes every year? This is not to mention the millions they have been getting from the federal government. Yet there seems to be plenty to pay big political pensions, our congressmen sing that old hymn: "We're going higher some day."

Our own state law makers don't even ask, they just reach down and take what they want. What's more the "big brass" don't let inflation bother them when it comes to their pay checks.

We have more royalty than all the other countries put together: kings of industry, oil barons, labor czars and emperors of education. As for queens, we have them by the scores -- everything from Miss America down to the queen of the sauerkraut barrel.

We have an abundance of credit cards, promissory notes and millions of mortgages.

Our big trouble is that we are flat broke, but nobody has had the guts to tell us yet. So what if only 57 percent of us know who our congressmen are or all he has done in the past several years to make himself known. Maybe I had better not ask how many people are now on the government payroll from the dome on capitol hill to the little governments by the side of the road. You can bet I include Michigan also.

Harry H. Doesburg Stockbridge.

Flood Warning

Here's a thought concerning public service.

Since we have lots of snow, expect lots of flooding this spring, now is the time for property owners to take a look at their basements, make sure that their things are put up high and dry -- that the sump pumps are in good working order.

None of the various insurance policies insuring dwellings or their contents, insure for flood, backing up of sewers or drains, seepage through walls, collapse of walls when caused by pressure from water, surface waters etc. This type of peril is uninsurable.

If the people think of it, they can save themselves a lot of expense and loss. I thought it might be a good editorial, or a news item. Mason Resident

News Reader Enjoys Old Photographs

I have enjoyed the old picture feature in your paper, especially the picture of the Eden school in the January 25th issue sent in by Julius Chapin.

I, too, have the large picture of this as I was in the picture. I noticed one mistaken identity, as Viola Maye was not in the picture. The girl sitting on the arm of the red chair was Flora Wood instead.

I remember so well the day this picture was taken at a photograph studio in the "Lawrence Block" just back of the present Dart Insurance building. And as I remember there was a Ketchum store also in that block.

That day there was a couple of dwarfs doing a few comedy stunts. They were the first dwarfs I had ever seen. My name was Cora Kirby, but now my name is:

As dinner of den 1 (one) pack 736, I would like to thank you and your employees for teaching us how a paper is put out. We found it very interesting to find out just how the paper that we read is put out. Thank you again.

SMOKE AND RUINS--Following the tragic blaze Thursday morning, which snuffed out the lives of the 3 Joseph Wagner children of Williamston, firemen searched through the rubble for the youngsters' bodies. Some 6 hours after the fire began, smoke was still rising from the ruins.

Early Morning Fire Takes Lives Of Three Williamston Children

WILLIAMSTON -- Gale winds whipped flames through a 2-story brick home at 1081 Linn road killing 3 young children and totally destroying the house Thursday at 1:30 a.m.

Victims were the children of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wagner: Jody Lorraine, 3, Joseph, 5, and Jeffrey, 6. Mrs. Wagner, the former Judy Gardner of Mason, was asleep in a first floor bedroom when the blaze broke out, but managed to escape, state police said.

Mrs. Wagner apparently tried to re-enter the home for her children, but was forced back by the flames, they said. She then drove to a neighbor's home for help. Mrs. Wagner was admitted to Sparrow hospital in Lansing for treatment of shock and smoke inhalation. The family had moved into the home, which is over 100 years old, this past fall. Wagner, on his way home from work in Lansing, drove into the yard at 2 a.m. to find the house a mass of flames and firemen battling the blaze.

Kirt Hunt, Williamston township fire chief, said the state fire marshal had investigated the disaster scene and could find no apparent cause of the fire.

Firemen were at the scene during the early morning hours and through the day searching for the children's bodies. Hunt said the children were apparently all sleeping in a large upstairs bedroom.

Dorwin Hoffmeyer, county coroner, was called to the scene at 2 p.m. Thursday. Some 16 firemen worked through the day. State policemen sighted the fire while they were patrolling on I-96. Williamston residents at the scene said flames were visible in town some 3 miles away.

Funeral services for the children were conducted Saturday, February 18, from the Gorsline Brothers Funeral home of Williamston. The Rev. Milan Maybee of Mason officiated. Burial was in Alchin cemetery, Webberville.

Surviving are their parents, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Wagner of Williamston and Mr. and Mrs. Glen Gardner of Dimondale.

DURING BETTER DAYS--The over-100 year old Wagner home at 1081 Linn road, Williamston, was an impressive 10-room brick house before the disastrous fire struck Thursday morning.

Ingham Hospital Has a New Name

OKEMOS -- The building on Doble road that has been known for several years as the Ingham County hospital, has a new name.

It will be known hereafter as the Ingham County Extended Care facility.

A name plate over the entrance to the building will be removed as also will be a sign on Doble road which notifies motorists of the approach to the facility.

The Social Service board, which also is a new name to replace the Social Welfare board, has received word from Washington that the structure on Doble road is not a hospital at all.

"A hospital", the leaders of the Medical Assistance program in Washington explained, "is a place where people receive intensive and acute care."

Out at the Doble road building the 200 or more patients function with less than emergency care and are contented.

So the board decided to change the name of the institution.

White House Pays Tribute To Leslie Mother Who Has 5 Sons in U.S. Services

LESLIE--Mrs. Philip Flannery, 1387 Catholic Church road, Leslie, has received a letter from Lieutenant Colonel James U. Cross, United States air force, who is the armed forces aide to President Lyndon B. Johnson.

The letter voices "the admiration of the President for your contribution to the war effort." Mrs. Flannery has given 5 of her 7 sons to the armed forces of the United States.

They are Robert R. Taylor, now serving with the navy in Vietnam; Daniel L. Taylor, now serving at Fort Carson, Colorado after completing service in Vietnam; Larry B. Taylor, now at Fort Benning, Georgia; Donald B. Taylor, now out of service, but who just completed service with the army in Germany, and Charles Taylor, at Fort Knox, Kentucky.

In his letter, Colonel Cross said: "It has been brought to the attention of the President that you presently have 5 sons serving in the armed forces. 'On behalf of the President, may I say that such dedication and loyalty to the responsibilities of citizenship to this nation strengthen and inspire the President. With families such as yours in the forefront, he is confident that we shall succeed in preserving freedom and achieving peace. He is proud of the share that you and your sons have in that great enterprise."

"Please accept the gratitude and admiration of the President for contributing so much to the American purpose and promise."

Prior to the receipt of the President's message to her Mrs. Flannery received a letter of congratulations from Congressman Charles E. Chamberlain of the 6th Michigan district, for her patriotism and her contribution to the American cause. Congressman Chamberlain was instrumental in bringing Mrs. Flannery's patriotism to the attention of the White House.

After 98 Years

Old Church on the Hill At Okemos Being Razed

By RUTH STILLMAN News Special Writer OKEMOS--It was with mixed feelings that members of the Okemos Community church congregation met in the former sanctuary of the old white frame building on February 12. The reception for new members took place in this 98 year old room because it was to be the last religious service there.

Dismantling of it prior to demolition was to start the next day, making way for a new church unit.

The pastor, John E. Cermak, offered a closing prayer, giving thanks for the heritage of the faith symbolized by this building and the ideals for which it had stood in the community for nearly a century and asking for Divine guidance in the future work of this congregation. He then invited people to visit the balconies and basement and to visualize the past.

This spired church on the hill has been a part of the landscape of Okemos for many years, and when the steeple had to be removed 2 years ago as a safety precaution it was sadly missed.

In 1869 the trustees of the Okemos Methodist society purchased an acreage on the hill, north of the main street in the village from Mrs. Caroline Bray, paying $200. This society had been formed about 1840 by the several families who made up the tiny settlement on the banks of the Red Cedar river. They met in the log homes with occasional visits of a circuit rider until a school house was built about 1846 (where presently stands the fire-station and library) and the school house became available for religious services.

After the close of the Civil War, there were 3 church groups in the village and from 1864 to 1870 they all built houses for worship; the Presbyterians in 1864, the Baptists in 1867 and the Methodists finished theirs in 1870.

The first of these 3 churches stood on the corner of Hamilton and Moore streets (present daynames). The Baptist church was recently converted into the Okemos Manor when that congregation built a new church, thus the Methodist was the last to continue to be used for religious purposes.

The building was erected at a cost of $2400. It was the New England type of meeting house, with a belfry and steeple. Early stereopticon pictures show that it was vertically sided with batten strips. The double door is capped by a four section curved fan - light and flanked on each side by arched windows.

The inside was typically furnished with a small center rostrum, pews facing it on each side and at the front. The two wood burning stoves, near the entrance, gave welcome warmth to those who had ridden in open sleighs or buggies.

Early in 1890 the plastered walls were paneled to the ceiling with oak, tongue and grooved, laid in a diagonal pattern. This wood was all hand sawed and even the older children came after school to lend a hand.

Last week some of this oak was exposed when the later installed wall board tiles were stripped off.

The bell is engraved with the date 1878. There is no available record of its cost but records do show some

Tax Panel Discussion Is Slated

For their February 22, meeting at the Y.W.C.A. downtown Lansing the Ingham County Democratic Women have chosen a panel on tax structures. The time is 8:15 p.m.

Rep. H. James Starr from Lansing will moderate the panel, consisting of Rep. Richard Young, tax attorney from Dearborn Heights, and Rep. George Montgomery, chairman of the tax committee from Detroit.

The speakers will discuss continuing, expanding and proposing new programs, which will be effected by legislative decision on the state's fiscal structure. They will discuss taxes, cutting services, cutting salaries and reducing commitments.

They will suggest the best tax plan under the new constitution and later changes which might be made in the constitution to meet the needs.

Interested citizens in the Lansing area are invited to hear this discussion from experts.

Church Meet Set

DANSVILLE -- The fourth quarterly conference for the Dansville and Vantown Methodist churches is scheduled at the Dansville church Saturday evening, February 25. Dr. Joseph T. Edwards, of Ann Arbor, district superintendent, will preside over the meeting which will hear reports on the work of the churches and elect officers for the churches for the coming year.

interesting glimpses of other furnishings.

An organ was purchased for $95, chandeliers to supplement the bracket kerosene wall lamp, the repair of pew cushions, the making of rag carpeting, the purchase of velvet pouch collection bags, the order to cut burdocks around the foundation.

This early way of life changed with the coming of electricity in the early 1920's. The buggy sheds and hitching rails were removed, stained glass windows came in 1927, central heating was installed.

In 1956 the Methodist Conference released the property to the Okemos Community church, which had been the result of federation in 1929 and the new brick sanctuary was built adjoining the frame building. It was opened ten years ago February 3.

Thus the old building became the church school and office unit.

Now the "white church" as it has been called gives way to another change as its site has been chosen as that for a new unit in the church building complex.

This new unit has been designed by architects who have incorporated several portions of the old church in the new. The bell will be mounted on a central tower. The stained glass windows will be used as interior panels and some of the staunch old beams will appear as rugged crosses set into the outside walls.

Due to the widening of Okemos road the main entrance to the church has been less accessible so the east side will now become the formal entrance, admitting to the sanctuary, offices, study and lounge. The new entrance will be easily accessible to parking areas.

The new brick structure will harmonize in line and color with the sanctuary but still keep the feeling of the hill top site chosen so many years ago by the founders of the church.

The Britch Construction company will erect the new building and work has started on the razing of the old structure.

FAST DESTRUCTION--The Okemos Community church, an area landmark, fell easy prey to the claws of the wrecking crane. The steeple collapsed seconds after this picture was taken.

"BE IT HEREBY RESOLVED that the following Vevay Township Ordinance be approved:

An Ordinance to amend an Ordinance known as the Vevay Township Zoning Ordinance No. 3, adopted by the Vevay Township Board October 7, 1957.

THE TOWNSHIP BOARD OF VEYAY TOWNSHIP, INGHAM COUNTY, MICHIGAN ORDAINS:

Section 1. That an Ordinance known as Vevay Township Zoning Ordinance No. 3, adopted by the Vevay Township Board October 7, 1957, be and hereby is amended by adding sections 3.5 (5) and 3.6 (7) thereto, said additional sections to read as follows:

Section 3.5 (5) TEMPORARY TRAILER COACHES under the conditions specified in Section 3.6 (7).

Section 3.6 (7) TRAILER COACH TEMPORARY USE PERMITS

When conditions exist that are unique to a particular situation, a Temporary Use Permit for a trailer coach on an individual lot or parcel may be issued by the Zoning Board of Appeals, such permit shall be granted only when it can be demonstrated that circumstances or practical difficulty exist that would unquestionably result in hardship to the applicant. Hardship shall not be deemed economic, but shall be evaluated in terms of the use of a particular lot or parcel of land and the unique land use needs of the applicant.

(a) Requirements: A Temporary Use Permit for a trailer coach on an individual lot or parcel may be issued under the following conditions:

(1) Such trailer coach shall only be allowed in District D.

(2) Only one (1) such trailer coach shall be allowed on a lot or parcel of 1 acre or larger PROVIDED that the lot or parcel in question contains a permanent dwelling which conforms to the requirements of this Ordinance.

(3) Such trailer coach shall provide a minimum of 100 square feet of floor space per occupant.

(4) Unique and temporary conditions shall exist which justify the need for a trailer coach on a given lot or parcel, such as a dwelling for seasonal farm labor, aged family members, domestic employees, or similar dwelling needs of a temporary nature that relate to the use of the principal dwelling on the property in question.

(b) Filing Procedures: A payment of a fee of $10.00 shall accompany an application for a temporary Use Permit for a trailer coach. The applicant shall submit the following information to the Township Clerk when filing such application:

(1) The written consent on 50% of the owners of premises bordering upon the lot or parcel where it is proposed to locate said trailer.

(2) The written consent of 50% of the owners of all dwellings within 300 feet of the proposed site of the trailer, PROVIDED that this requirement shall not include any dwellings located adjacent to the proposed site if said dwelling is separated from the proposed trailer site by a state highway of 100 feet in width or more.

(3) A written statement by the applicant indicating the unique reasons for requesting a Temporary Use Permit for a trailer coach on the lot or parcel in question.

(c) Review Procedure: The Township Clerk shall present to the Zoning Board of Appeals all of the information required in the foregoing subsections (a) and (b) at a regular or special meeting. The Zoning Board of Appeals shall approve or deny the request within 60 days from the date of the submission of such request by the applicant. If approved by the Zoning Board of Appeals, the Township Clerk shall issue a Temporary Use Permit.

(d) Permit Revocation: In the event, after granting a permit and upon investigation, the Township Clerk determines that there has been misrepresentation in the application or that the standards set forth in this section have not been complied with, he shall notify the applicant in writing of revocation of said permit and the reasons for said revocation.

(e) Permit Expiration and Extension: A Temporary Use Permit for a trailer coach issued under this section shall be valid for a period of one (1) year from the date of the issuance of said permit. At the end of this period, the applicant may apply for an extension of the Temporary Use Permit for another one (1) year period by a written request to the Township Clerk. The Township Clerk may grant such an extension if, upon investigation, it is determined that the same unique conditions exist as existed in the original application and if it is found that all the standards and other requirements of this section are being met. If a written request for extension is not made by the applicant, or if it is determined that the applicant no longer qualifies for a Temporary Use Permit under the standards and requirements set forth in this section, the Township Clerk shall notify the applicant in writing of the expiration or revocation of said permit.

Section 2. The effective date of this Ordinance shall be 30 days after the passage thereof."

At Valentine Party

Foreign Language Group Translates Cupid Cards

By CONNIE BROWN
Holt High School

Valentines, valentines and more valentines! That's what it was Tuesday evening at the Foreign Language club Valentine party. After exchanging cards, the club members participated in a game involving Valentine messages in German, Latin, Spanish, and French.

The members, on signal, began translating and writing down the messages. The winner was the one having the most correct messages when time was called.

The group also played "Pit." Refreshments of Valentine cookies and milk were served. The faculty advisor of Foreign Language club is Mrs. Leona Steinfatt.

The juniors listened to the last 3 of the information meetings sponsored by the guidance center. Monday, Rev. Philip Townley, from the First Methodist church of Warren, spoke to the seniors, as well as the juniors, on the topic of "Marriage and Your Future."

It was an informative talk. Tuesday Mr. Dave LaFave and Mr. Bob Boucher of Lansing Community college, spoke on "The Two Year College." They explained several different degrees granted by a community college. They also told of the advantages of a 2 year college.

Mr. Charles Seeley, Admissions Counselor at Michigan State university, spoke Wednesday about "The Four Year College." His speech was more concerned with explaining how an applicant is evaluated before he is accepted for admission. He also gave an equation for success in college "S equals AM 2" - success equals ability times motivation squared.

This completes the first phase of a 3-phase program. The second phase has also been completed - the administration of the Kuder Preference tests. This was done in 11th grade English classes Wednesday.

The third phase will be group meetings to interpret the tests and decide a plan of action for individual students. The program is being presented through the joint efforts of Mrs. Alice Baumbach, Mr. Rolfe Gordhamer, and Mr. Carl Miller.

Annual Staff met Tuesday evening. Organizational pictures taken several weeks ago, were on hand and layouts were started. Class layouts were also started. The staff hopes to meet twice next week to assure progress on these layouts.

The 8 members of the Holt Honor society executive committee travelled to Howell Tuesday afternoon. Arriving at the school early in the afternoon, the group was conducted on a brief tour of the school ending up in the library where Honor Society officers from 6 schools gathered.

Represented were Hartland, Fowlerville, Gabriels, Pinckney, Holt, and, of course, Howell. The purpose of the workshop was to discuss and possibly solve the many problems faced by Honor Societies. After a brief get-acquainted discussion, the officers divided into groups according to their office.

Small groups discussed Honor Society projects, the selection of nominees for Honor Society, graduation ceremonies, installation of officers, and the general problems of Honor Society. The small groups exchanged ideas and possible solutions. Refreshments were served and then students returned to their respective schools.

The Holt Honor Society had a general meeting Wednesday after school. The main and only purpose of the meeting was to adopt a resolution to have the initiation banquet and ceremonies held in the high school gymnasium. A resolution, presented by Sheri Hill, sets the date for March 30. It states that the banquet will be catered as to meat only. Table linen and service will be rented and current members will provide the salads, vegetables, rolls, and desserts.

The resolution also included a provision to do away with the previous motion to have the ceremonies outside the school. The resolution was (See Language on Page B-12)

Friday night against Stockbridge. This victory put the Hornets in second place in the Ingham County league. Now Leslie will have to fight for the first place title when they play Williamston next week. The JV's also won their game Friday night, making it only one game that they have lost this year.

The game was held at Stockbridge and 2 buses were taken. A pep rally was held in the gym during the last part of 6th hour. The game against Leslie next week will be a home game for Williamston.

WHS Spartans Win First Game of Season

By MARSHA LOTT
Webberville High School

WEBBERVILLE--The fans shouted, whistled and cheered Friday night as the Webberville Spartans beat the Potterville Pirates with a score of 55 to 48. The Spartans had lost all their games this season and winning this one meant a lot to everyone especially seniors John Swain and Chuck Ross.

Webberville was ahead of Potterville throughout the game. The starting 5 for Webberville were John Swain, Robert Terrill, Tom Swayer, Dean Silsby and Steve Chase. There was a dance after the game Friday.

Every one was happy and it was truly a victory dance. Disc jockey, Ralph Dansby, played and everyone enjoyed themselves.

There was a Pep Assembly Friday in preparation for the game with Potterville. The cheerleaders put on a skit about the Spartan Indian tribe. This was real imaginative. The cheer leaders also did cheers and the assembly ended with the singing of the school song.

The Athletic Boosters sponsored a basketball game Wednesday to finish paying for the whirlpool bath. Some of the elementary teams played and there was a game between the Webberville and Williamston Booster clubs. Webberville won by a mere 5 points.

23 Dansville Musicians Bring Home Many Honors

By CAROLE LAXTON
Dansville High School

DANSVILLE--Hall, Seniors! Counting from last Monday, there are only 74 more days left until graduation! (Providing that "Old Man Winter" keeps his snowy blasts to himself.)

The past week was just an ordinary, run-of-the-mill week with ordinary, run-of-the-mill occurrences.

Monday night, the Girls' Athletic association traveled to the Edru roller skating rink in Holt and exercised to their heart's content.

The day before, Saturday, several members of the outstanding D.H.S. band participated in ensembles in Grand Ledge. Their performances were rated numbers from one to 5. One is excellent, 2 is very good, 3 is average, 4 is below average, and 5 means the person is really out of it.

For his solo, Mark Felton received a two. Clara Tutthill accompanied him on the piano. Dave Stamply and Corinne Webster also received ratings of 2 for their individual solos with Sarah Diehl and Clara Tutthill accompanying them on the piano. For their clarinet quintet, Sarah Diehl, Mary Fairbanks, Dorene Graf, Diane Newman and Kris King received a rating of 2.

Mary Wing, Sally Bowne, and Cathy Putt, accompanied by Clara Tutthill, also got a 2 for their performance. Not to be outdone on their flute duet, Susan Nottingham and Clara Tutthill received a rating of 2. They were accompanied by Sarah Diehl on the piano. For their saxophone duet, Cheryl Dietrich and Linda Battige got a rating of "Very Good."

Darrell Brahman, Corinne Webster, Jim Mueller and Rod Clickner did a top-notch job and received a one for their brass quartet. Also, Clara Tutthill, Susan Nottingham, Sally Bowne, and Mary Wing received a rating of one for their flute quartet.

All in all, the band members did a great job and Dansville and Director Gary Norris can be very proud of them.

Tuesday, the F.H.A. and F.F.A. met at different times in the gymnasium to watch a health film. Another health film was shown to the Seniors Thursday morning.

"Daddy Date Night" was Tuesday night, sponsored by the F.H.A. Each member brought her dad to the school for an evening of fun and games. Once everyone was there, Dallas King, Corinne Webster and Clara Tutthill presented a skit on family communications and how to improve them. Mary Fairbanks acted as chairman.

Spanish club finally got around to electing a treasurer and program chairman. Treasurer is Darrell Brahman and the 2 program chairmen are Brenda Rouse and Charlie Galbreath.

Wednesday night, the G.A.A. and the Varsity club combined efforts and went swimming at Mason. (Fun for all and all for fun!)

A very exciting National Honor Society assembly was held Monday in the gymnasium. From the senior class will be Chuck Cook and Sue Felton. Kathy Diehl, Linda Cooper, Andy Cornett and Linda Battige from the junior class. The sophomores are Darrell Brahman, Ann Clery, Candy Miller, Ron Burgess, Cerise Furhman, Brenda Rouse, Sue Nottingham, Carol Curtis and Liz McPhee.

The guest speaker was the Rev. Mr. Robert Brubaker from Brighton. He is quite well-known around the Dansville and Vantown area because he was the minister for the Dansville and Vantown Methodist churches a few years ago.

To get into N.H.S. a senior must have a 3.0 average, a junior must have a 3.1 and a sophomore must have a 3.5.

Art Pupils Go All Out To Boost School Spirit

By RUTH CAMP, Stockbridge High School

School spirit can be shown by a student body in many ways. If they are enthusiastic about certain projects or activities, then students have school spirit. Whenever members of any school class, group, or organization display avid devotion to their cause, they have school spirit.

This esprit de corps is especially evident during various sports seasons, when the student body turns out in force to cheer their team.

Team support can also take other forms. At Stockbridge high school for example, 6 talented art students have gone all out to boost school spirit. The six, 3 boys and 3 girls, have spent many hours making signs and posters to help their fellow students and members of the athletic teams attain a high degree of enthusiasm.

The students are Steve Ward, Paul Stephens, and Marty Lindberg, all seniors; and Jane Killam, Cynthia DeLong, and Barbara Daugherty, juniors.

It is not unusual to see the basketball team practicing for the next game at one end of the gym, while at the other, the artists are busy with huge sheets of paper brushes, paints and other tools of their trade.

Having made signs of all shapes and sizes, some so big it took several students to carry them, the group recently completed a slightly different project. This task not only won the admiration of the student body and the school administration, but also of many adult fans who attend the games.

With the help and advice of James Lawrie, art teacher at the school, the 6 youngsters drew chalk portraits of all the members of the varsity basketball team and their coaches.

The pictures are now on display in the gym at the school. Although 1 of the artists, Marty Lindberg, is a member of the basketball team, none of the other players knew of the project until it was finished. Robert Boyd, athletic director, reported the basketball players were quite thrilled to see their pictures on public display.

Only 4 of the 6 artists are presently enrolled in art class, although the other 2 pull several weeks ago and, due to weather, it had to be postponed until Monday evening.

A good old-fashioned taffy pull sounds like fun and it is. According to members of the Holt and Mason chapters of Future Homemakers of America, a taffy pull is great sport and a wonderful way to get acquainted.

The Holt FHA invited the Mason chapter to the taffy pull several weeks ago and, due to weather, it had to be postponed until Monday evening.

About 6:30 p.m. the Holt FHA's began to cook the taffy. They made 2 batches--one pink peppermint and one plain. About 7 p.m. the Mason girls, headed by their president, Rosanna Eddy, arrived by bus. By the time they got their duds off and their aprons on, the taffy was ready. With well-buttered hands, they dug in. Lots of energy was expended on the taffy as it was twisted and pulled and pulled and twisted. As it was ready, the taffy was cut and wrapped--that is, what escaped sampling.

After washing up, the girls played Twister, Password, and Charades. Because this was a school night, the party broke up about 9 p.m. The girls left with full tummies and pockets and a host of new friends.

The Holt Future Homemakers is sponsored by Mrs. Beverly Wilson. The Mason Chapter is sponsored by Mrs. Helene Howlett.

Truck Operators' Map Is Off Press

The 1967 Michigan truck operators' map is off the press, the State Highway Commission reports.

The map provides information for truckers on loads, bridge clearances, truck lengths and speed limits. This year the map shows that 7,987 miles of Michigan's 9,207-mile system of free-ways and other state highways are designated as all-season routes. These highways can carry normal legal truck loads throughout the year.

Prior to 1958, an arbitrary 25 percent reduction in load limits was imposed on all state highways during spring months. A 1957 study, however, showed that all highways built since 1940 were capable of carrying full legal loads throughout the year.

The all-season highway designation established in 1958 has resulted in considerable savings for Michigan's transportation industry because trucks are able to travel fully loaded throughout the year on all primary state highway routes, as well as, most secondary highways.

The truck operators' map is available at all highway department weigh stations, Highway Department District Offices and at the Chief Weighmaster's Office in Lansing.

Russian House Feature Of Home Builders' Show

A Russian house, chosen as being typical from a number of plans obtained from the library of Congress, will be shown for the first time in the Central Michigan Area at the 1967 Home-Building exposition, February 22 through 26 at the Lansing Civic Center. The exposition is sponsored by the Lansing Home Builders Association.

The house is built with American materials, as Russian materials are not available. Materials used, however, are similar in appearance to those used in Russia.

The Lansing Home Builders Association is presenting this exhibit as an opportunity for the people of the Central Michigan area to become better acquainted with Russian living conditions. It is not intended to point up differences. The house has two rooms and a bath.

The kitchen shows a sink and a choice of woodburning, coal, or gas stove. The stove furnishes the only heat in the house and is usually connected to a brick core which absorbs the flue heat and gives some heat to the kitchen-bath area. The third room is a combination living-bedroom, and has two small windows.

The Soviet Journal estimates the cost at 24,700 rubles. At the official Soviet rate of exchange of $1.11 to a ruble, this house would cost $22,000. Best estimates to mass produce this house in the U.S. are about $2,000,

Let The Bells Ring Again

How many readers can remember the pealing of the church bells on Sunday morning? Not just a simple, 2 or 3 "ding-dongs" by one bell, but a time when the bells of all the local churches rung out, long, loud, and clear.

Remember the scene? . . .

The bells would start to ring, and continue to ring as people left their homes and made their way to church on Sunday morning. The ringing of the bell acted as a summons, calling people to come and worship God. It also was used to signal marriage, death, or victory. The bells tolled when a nation entered war, they rang again when the battle was over. They could be heard often during the celebration of historic events.

What has happened during the last few years? Many of the old church bells remain silent. Most new churches do not even have a bell.

Why are the bells silent? Why do they not ring on Sunday morning . . . before . . . and even after church services? Why do they not ring to announce joyous occasions, or in remembrance of great moments in history?

Could it be that the sound of the bells comprises an unnecessary noise? Or is it simply another form of complacency which seems to be creeping into our modern society by leaps and bounds.

We agree that this nation still has many brave and courageous young men. Men who explore new horizons, others who give their lives defending freedom. We also have a "homefront" which, we are sad to say, is rapidly decaying. A "homefront" where healthy young men can burn their draft cards, where others can use unorthodox methods to escape military service.

A "homefront" where parents go one way and their youngsters go another. A "homefront" where all too few families gather around the head of the house to hear a few verses from the Bible.

While there must be changes in an advancing society, is it necessary to take away all the old customs? Is it necessary to silence the church bells?

What would be the response of the people if they were ordered by their governor, or president, NOT to ring the church bells? We can remember another country where such an order was issued by a power crazed dictator, and where citizens actually were tried in courts for defying that order.

We say that any country, no matter how strong, will eventually weaken and collapse when its people become so complacent. . . so indifferent that they don't really care what happens around them.

So what if that old chunk of cast iron hanging in the church belfry is only a symbol? Maybe that's just what we Americans need more of. . . something to reawaken our dying love for God and mankind. . . something to make us slow our rapid pace and take time to pray and worship God.

Let us not throw away all our old customs just because some educated "genius" tells us they are old fashioned. Let us have a nation of God fearing people who have strong ideals, of families together and not divided. Let the bells ring out. . . loud and clear.

The High Price of Insurance

This editorial is directed to employees of The Ingham County News, but the message is appropriate for anyone who receives a paycheck or writes one:

The payroll deduction for your social security has been increased starting January 1, 1967, to 4.4 percent based on earnings up to $6,600. Since Ingham County News makes an equal contribution to your social security, the company's payment also increased on that date.

In 1966, you paid 4.2 percent on $6,600 or a total of $277.20 to the social security fund. In 1967, with the .2 percent increase, you will pay $290.40 into the fund. If you make $6,600 or more a year, you and the company put in $580.80 each year as a total.

Let's explore this payment a little further. Suppose you just started work here and your age was 21, and suppose you work until you are 65.

If there were no more increases in social security payments, that would mean total contributions by you and the company of $25,555.20 during the 44 years of your employment.

If the contributions were placed in a trust fund accruing 4 percent interest per year, the interest over 44 years would amount to approximately $22,500. That means at age 65, you would have at least $48,055 in your account. With that amount of money in the bank drawing 4 percent interest, you could withdraw $160 per month for the rest of your life in interest alone and never touch the principal.

If you chose to spend all you had accumulated in your account, you could draw about $560 a month for 10 years before you ran out of funds and in addition you could work and earn as much as you pleased without losing this income!

The maximum amount payable now under social security is between $124 and $135 a month.

Makes you wonder, doesn't it?

If Everybody Received A Guaranteed Wage

If Congress adopts a two-way income tax (take tax from rich; give cash to those making less than $3,000) we insist that the $250 not be sent by the month. Instead, send it by the day, a $10 bill each workday.

There are other reasons for being poor; Sickness crushes some, Alcoholism impoverishes many, Inability to get out of bed in the morning ruins careers, Too large a family. Never learned to say "No." And just plain hard luck has defeated scores.

But, by and large, a reason a Caucasian is under $3,000 instead of over is because he does not know how to hang on to money.

With $250 in his pocket from a freshly cashed check, some men could not possibly get by a tavern. Another could not ignore a race track. Some housewives buy cigarettes and coffee and run short of milk for the children before the month is out.

Don't let Uncle Sam say he can't do it. If he can keep track of every income tax in the United States of America in a computer, he can kick out 25 checks a month much more cheaply than he used to write 12 a year.

Twenty-five $10 checks sent each week day will do a poor family a half again as much good as one big check on the 3rd of each month.

News Management as Usual

The new assistant secretary of defense for public information is no improvement over his former chief, Arthur Sylvester, who has resigned. The Senate armed services committee, nevertheless, has approved the nomination of Phil G. Goulding for the job, despite his admission that he adheres to the Sylvester concept that the government "sometimes" has the right to withhold information in the interest of national security.

That is a convenient excuse for continuing the whole of Sylvester's allied body of doctrine. Sylvester announced that the government has "an inherent right to lie to save itself" and that "news is part of the arsenal of weaponry" available to the President. At a Saigon briefing of correspondents, he was quoted as telling his auditors that he regarded the press as "handmaidens of government," adding, "Look, if you think any American official is going to tell you the truth, then you're stupid. Did you hear that? -- stupid."

Goulding contended that he did not mean that government officials have a right to lie, but "national security" offers a wide blanket. He also said that Secretary of Defense McNamara favored candor on the part of his subordinates in their appearances before congressional bodies -- a statement that we do not believe, from past appearances of members of the joint chiefs of staff, other department officials, and McNamara himself.

If there is a right to lie in dealing with the public, it is a right monopolized by the government and allowed to no one else. Try lying on your income tax return and the government will send you to jail. Try evading the detailed census inquisition and you will get in a jam. The government is the servant of the people, and it has no ordained right to delude them. Unfortunately, the people will have to content themselves in the understanding that government falsehood has become chronic and that they must take anything emanating from Washington with a peck of salt.

Breakaway Poles, but No Breakaway Drivers

Hundreds of people die in Michigan every year when the cars they are riding in leave the road and hit a tree, utility pole or some other almost-immovable object. Highway departments can't eliminate all of these hazards, but they are trying.

Trees are being removed along county as well as state roads. Now the State Highway Department is about to start using breakaway light poles and sign posts on new freeways. Theoretically at least, the new poles will break when hit and the offending cars will suffer less damage.

A car traveling at 40 miles an hour will wind up with a two-foot gash in its front end if it hits the conventional type pole, according to the State Highway Commission; but at the same speed it won't have more than a three-inch dent to show for its misadventure if it hits one of the new poles.

This is encouraging -- but not very. Motorists who hit light poles and such things usually are traveling a lot faster than 40 miles an hour. That's the trouble in the first place. They probably would stick to the roadway if they weren't going so fast.

We are all for anything that helps to reduce highway fatalities. Breakaway poles may help. But no sane driver will count on it. Highways are getting safer all the time but not motorists.

There is no stronger word in the language than woman. The word denotes strength and vigor, it carries dignity. Beside it, such terms as girl and lady sound weak and insipid.

Last week I never heard anyone mention the passing of Dr. Gertrude O'Sullivan without referring to her as a woman--a wonderful woman, a kind woman, a good woman, a gracious woman, a helpful woman. The adjectives were not needed. Dr. O'Sullivan epitomized womanhood at its highest. Woman and womanhood possess stronger meanings because of her life. . . . Woman was created for something better, something higher. All of us recognize it immediately when we meet a woman who measures up. We all recognized it in Dr. Gertrude. . . . Dr. O'Sullivan was a doctor, a woman doctor, perhaps a doctor woman. She would have been a great woman had she never been a physician. Yet being a physician gave her greater opportunity to develop as a woman, gave her greater opportunity to serve as a woman.

Marshall Simpson was inspired in the choice of words he spoke at the funeral services for Dr. O'Sullivan.

"There are a few men and women," he said, "and some classes of men and women, that stand above the common herd. The soldier and the shepherd and the sailor frequently stand there, with the artist rarely and the clergyman hardly ever. But the physician almost as a rule. A doctor is the brightness of our civilization; and when we look back over a full lifetime and marvel at man's history, the doctor will be remembered as the one who shared the least in that period's mistakes, and the one who stood the highest in its attainments and virtues."

"Our gratitude is lame and our thanks often more embarrassing than welcome, yet we give it now in memorial to one we love and honor, even in death, because with them all, this doctor had a greater virtue--faith."

Barbs and Praise

Maybe it can be chalked up to snow sickness, February doldrums, income tax blues or something in the city water, but there seems to be a malady running through Mason in the last few weeks which bears the symptoms of "bad mouthing" the old home town. An increasing number of people are guilty of running down the home town. There is a difference between constructive criticism and bad mouthing. Many people do not recognize that difference.

While standing by awaiting my turn at a local gas station, an attendant was heard telling a "foreigner" with Eaton county plates on his car that business was bad.

"Nobody's trying to do anything about it," he said.

On another occasion last week a good upstanding man in the Mason business community made the remark in my presence that the trouble with Mason is that the old crowd at the city hall is trying to run the town. He got a little hostile when I asked him how many council sessions he had attended and how many times he had expressed his views to city councilmen.

The trouble with any community can be traced to the fact that too few people want to do anything except bellyache. Mason councilmen and city officials are genuinely interested in making Mason a better community. They make mistakes, sure, but they are trying.

What is lacking is interest on the part of most of the community.

We have a lot going for us. We have a fine school system, we have a full spectrum of active churches, we are served by excellent highways, our street system compares favorably with any other community. Sure, there is room for improvement in every phase of our community but that improvement will not be the product of negative complaining.

A growing progressive community must be sold. It must be sold to ourselves before we can expect to sell it to others.

So, let's quit bellyaching for bellyaching's sake. Let's think positive. If something is being done wrong by the city council or the school board then speak out but do it in a positive manner. We need to emphasize how we "can" do something instead of constantly harping that we "don't" do anything as a community.

This is the week that children recount the George Washington stories. It is a good thing for George's father that he lived in the 18th century instead of today.

If a modern young George Washington had cut down that cherry tree and his father had taken him to task with a belt across the seat, recent supreme court decisions and legislation would have left dear old dad open for trouble.

George could have maintained he confessed under duress of parental brutality and the American Civil Liberties Union would have gone to bat for him.

George wasn't much of an athlete either. He gained a big reputation for throwing a dollar across the Potomac river but that was nothing compared to LBJ who throws billions around the world.

Mason's clothes-conscious clothes cleaner, Jack Ackerman, claims the quickest way to spot good clothes is to pick up a 2-year-old with jam on its face.

I can believe that -- I live with a 2-year-old. It's uncanny how she can carry such hidden treasures on her dress, in her socks or under her shoes -- until you pick her up and it's suddenly all over yourself.

Have you tried one of the sensational News want ads yet. You'll notice that a lot of people have if you turn to Section D of this issue of the News. The fabulous results are due in part because News want ads are now being inserted in the Holt Community News (another 5590 homes) free of charge. That means that a News want ad now goes into more than 12,500 homes which is why your phone will ring and ring and ring with results and results and results. If this sounds like a commercial, it is, but honestly we are all fluffed up over the success stories advertisers are reporting.

Fact is, we're giving want ad users a lot more attention than ever before. It now takes 2 gals to handle the special News want ad telephone lines plus a back-up typist. A gal is even on duty at the News (phone 677-9011) until 8 every Tuesday night for those last minute ads for Wednesday's paper. This week's want ad section contains more want ads than in any weekly publication in Mason in the history of the town. And how about that!

It is considerate of animal lovers to remind us to feed the wild animals in winter when the ground is covered with snow. But it isn't quite as easy as they sometimes make it sound.

Out in our neighborhood we have birds, wild animals (mainly squirrels), and other animals not so wild but a good deal bolder and hungrier (dogs). The birds are supposed to like sunflower seeds. The squirrels are supposed to like nuts. And the dogs will eat anything. We have tried to earn a 4-star rating in the animals' Duncan Hines guide by providing each with its favorite dish.

The trouble is that no matter where we put the sunflower seeds, the squirrels get them. These are remarkable squirrels. If we manage to put the bird feeder where they can't reach it from the ground they can get to it from the roof by jumping, swinging, or doing a half-gainer with a full twist. They can walk along a wire. They can leap 6 feet up from soft snow. We sometimes wonder whether they know what squirrel-guards on a bird feeder are for.

The only way to see that the birds get the birdseed is to keep the squirrels from getting it.

Then there is the matter of water. The trouble here is that no bird or animal, no matter how thirsty, will approach a pan of water until at least 20 minutes after the water-bearer has left. And by this time, in all probability, the surface of the water has already frozen. Surely the animals wouldn't want anti-freeze in it. Maybe a jigger of brandy would do. That's something we still have to try.

The Melting Pot

By HAYDEN PALMER

Out on Catholic Church road in the Leslie area there is a mother who should and I am sure does feel very proud today. She is Mrs. Philip Flannery who has received a letter from the White House in recognition of her great sacrifice in the cause of American justice.

She has given 5 of her 7 sons to the armed services of her country.

Mrs. Flannery's great sacrifice came to the attention of the Ingham County News several weeks ago from a letter sent by a person who thought some mention of what Mrs. Flannery has done should be published.

The News sent a reporter and photographer to the Flannery home.

There we met a friendly, happy woman who was surprised that a newspaper should take the trouble to visit her and learn about her 5 sons who wore the uniform of the United States army and navy. With her at the time was one son who had just returned from long service in Vietnam. She has another one there with the United States Navy. She has another who has just completed a hitch in the army in Germany and 2 others now serving at army posts in this country.

Mrs. Flannery pointed out that it kept her busy carrying on correspondence with her boys scattered throughout the world.

After the story was published, the News wrote to Congressman Charles E. Chamberlain, representative in congress from the 6th Michigan district.

He already had read the story and was impressed, as we were with the sacrifice this rural Leslie woman had made to her country.

Congressman Chamberlain sat down and wrote a letter to Mrs. Flannery voicing his pride in her sacrifice in giving her sons to fight for their country.

He went farther than that. He took the news story to the White House where it received attention.

This last week Mrs. Flannery received a note from Lieutenant Colonel James U. Cross, armed forces aide to the President. It pointed out "with families such as yours in the forefront the President is confident that we shall succeed in preserving freedom and achieving peace."

I congratulate Mrs. Flannery for receiving this recognition which is so justly due her and her sons.

Reisig Gives Supervisors Report on Crime Increase

Crime increased in 1966 for the 9th consecutive year in Ingham county and in the President's state - of - the - Union message he proposed a "Safe Streets and Crime Control Act" for 1967, indicating citizens unrest and recognition of the need for more effective law enforcement.

Donald L. Reisig, Ingham county prosecuting attorney, recently presented his 1966 annual report to the Ingham county board of supervisors.

Reisig said, "felony warrants increased 33 percent in 1966--rising from 392 cases in 1965 to 519 cases in 1966. Although the total warrants authorized by the Prosecutor's office increased only 12 percent over 1965, most disturbing is the vast increase in serious assaults, armed robberies and breaking and entering offenses," he stated.

Some statistics showing the rise of crime concerning the Prosecutor's office are:

Increases from 1965 to 1966: total warrants 3,489 to 3,882; misdemeanors 2,744 to 3,061; sexual offenses 43 to 50; check offenses 101 to 141; automobile thefts 34 to 49; narcotics violations 4 to 9; breaking and entering 49 to 68; robberies 12 to 46; felonious larcenies 58 to 87, and felonious assaults 7 to 31.

Murders decreased from 6 to 4.

In 1966 "53 major jury trials were held, consuming a total of 101 trial days," Reisig said. "Due to the pressing need for a new circuit judge, the Ingham County Circuit Court has a record number of 223 pending Circuit Court cases," he added.

Furthermore 302 cases are pending hearing in the Municipal Court for the city of Lansing and 242 cases are pending adjudication in all other justice or municipal courts of the county, exclusive of minor traffic matters," Reisig said. The greatest single deterrent for obtaining 'equal justice' for the law-abiding citizen is the delay between apprehension and trial caused by court congestion, he added.

The prosecutor further stated, "In Michigan, the Law Enforcement Training council began work to upgrade police training and recruitment standards and a 'Crime Commission' was organized to review the entire spectrum of problems dealing with the administration of criminal justice, corrections procedure, and the total impact of crime on our society."

Also legislation was passed, "particularly the codification of the conspiracy law and the revising of the search warrant law, which could be of major assistance to law enforcement officials," he said.

The Miranda v. Arizona decision of the U.S. Supreme Court "requires police agencies to guard against any infringement of the right of self-incrimination," he said. The effect on these agencies cannot be measured.

"There is no way of ascertaining how many more arrests would have been made or how many more convictions would have been obtained if police officers were allowed to use the confession of a criminal defendant. There is no question that the day-to-day routine of the police officer in providing public protection and in apprehending accused criminals, immediately became more difficult, more time-consuming and more costly," Reisig said.

A new type of problem has arisen, he added, that is, reversing judgments on a number of cases in Ingham county where the defendants had previously pleaded guilty.

"But in cooperation with this office, the courts have revamped the procedures for the taking of a plea of guilty," he said. "We are still attempting to determine with finality whether or not yesterday's due process of law is effective today."

Intoximeter Pilot Study Is Underway

The East Lansing post of the Michigan State Police this week began a pilot study in the use of a new type intoximeter for analyzing the breath of suspected drunk drivers.

Five intoximeters have been obtained for the 3-month study. Two are located at the East Lansing post and 3 other units have been placed under a cooperative test in the sheriff's offices in Ingham, Eaton and Clinton counties.

East Lansing post troopers, who will administer the breath tests, were instructed in the use of the instrument recently by Dr. Glenn C. Forrester, of Niagara Falls, New York, who is associated with the Intoximeter association there and with Intoximeter Midwestern at St. Louis, Missouri. Chemical analysis of the breath samples will be made at the Michigan Department of Health laboratory.

Motorist submission to the breath testing is not compulsory but the intoximeter, while it does indicate degree of intoxication, also protects innocent persons whose symptoms of intoxication may be due to other causes, such as illness.

State Police used an old type intoximeter about 20 years ago but later this was discontinued.

MSU To Open 2 New Colleges

Two new residential colleges opening this fall at Michigan State University have been named the James Madison College, after the fourth president of the United States, and the Lyman J. Briggs College, after a distinguished MSU alumnus.

The action was taken by MSU's Board of Trustees at its meeting Thursday (Feb. 16).

Small semiautonomous residence colleges, Madison and Briggs are the second and third undergraduate programs to be established within the framework of the larger university.

Their forerunner and prototype of the "small college within the university" concept is Justin Morrill College which opened in 1965. It offers a liberal undergraduate education with emphasis on foreign languages and intercultural understanding to its current 544 students enrolled in the freshman and sophomore classes.

Tree Falls Wrong Way into Road And Car Hits It

Charles F. Finley, 38, of 3151 Edgar road, Mason, told sheriff's deputies he was driving along Edgar road Sunday afternoon when he saw a tree fall down in the road in front of his car. He applied his brakes but couldn't stop in time and his car went up on top of the tree.

Finley was not injured. Bavelio Math, 47, of 4180 Edgar road, the tree cutter, explained he did not see the car coming and the tree, after being cut down, fell the wrong way into the highway.

accepted and the meeting was adjourned shortly thereafter.

Holt High school has a new club in the forming. It will be the girl's "key" club. Sponsored by the YWCA, the club, the Y-Teens, will consist of girls in all 4 grades, 9-12. A large turnout was on hand Thursday after school for the information meeting about the club.

Mrs. Rothenberger, coordinator of Y-Teen clubs, was present to tell of the aims and purposes of the club. She demonstrated with a slide show of a typical Y-Teen member and told a little about the service projects of the club. Membership in the YWCA is also membership in the Y-Teens and entitles the girls to participate in all Y-Teen projects.

Mrs. Rothenberger told about 2 Y-Teen projects in the near future -- a trip to Detroit on April 1 to see "Hello Dolly" with Carol Channing, and a Fashion show on April 29.

The next meeting of Y-Teens will be Monday after school. Mrs. Peter Kressler is the faculty advisor of the club.

The Holt Chapter of Future Homemakers of America met Thursday evening. The evening had been previously set as the date for the Holt-Mason Taffy Pull, but it was postponed until Monday evening, February 20. At this meeting the girls discussed candidates for the regional officers. They also decided to make cookies to serve at the Winter Homecoming dance. The rest of the meeting was devoted to making decorations for the dance.

While working on the decorations, the girls discussed activities for the future. Rev. Robert Townley will be at the high school Wednesday, February 22, to speak to the entire student body. The girls also talked about the possibility of having a slumber and pizza party. Daddy Date Night, an annual FHA affair was also discussed and vague plans for the event were made. The girls hope to be able to go "kite flying" late in March for another group activity.

The profit made by the club is not yet known because all the shirts have not yet been given to the customers. The sponsor of G.A.A. is Mrs. Sue Quane.

The Junior class had an assembly Friday morning during homeroom to discuss their class play, "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," and the junior-senior prom. At this time Mr. Howard Ellis, who will direct the play, spoke about what he expects the class to do as a whole to ensure a good play and large turnout.

He told the group of the props that would be needed and asked them to be on the lookout for them and any costumes they may find. Tryouts for the play will be held Monday night and Tuesday afternoon. Results of the tryouts will be posted Wednesday.

State Gilt, Boar Sale Scheduled for Thursday

The annual Michigan bred gilt and boar sale will be held at the livestock pavilion, Michigan State University, on Thursday, February 23. Approximately 50 bred gilts from some of Michigan's finest herds will be offered for sale according to Edward C. Miller, MSU extension swine specialist. All major breeds will be available.

The favorable hog prices has brought about a big demand for breeding animals. Ingham County Extension Agent R.C. Lott says now is a good time to cull poor producing sows and replace them with good meat-type gilts.

In addition to the bred gilts, several production-tested boars will be auctioned. All the boars are littermates to hogs tested at the Michigan State University swine evaluation center.

Information on rate of gain, feed efficiency and carcass evaluation of the animals will be available at the time of sale. The qualification for sale requires that all animals meet minimum standards for back fat, length, loin eye area and weight for age.

Miller points out that the cost of a good herd sire represents a very small percentage of the total cost per pig farrowed. "If a boar costing $200 sires 40 litters per year, the cost per pig produced is about 50 cents. The boars at the state sale will be ready for service this spring.

"There is no substitution for good breeding stock. The quality of market hogs from a commercial feed lot will depend to a large extent on the quality of boars used during the past 2 or 3 seasons," Miller explained.

The sale is sponsored by the Michigan Swine Breeders association. Animals will be exhibited in the morning and the sale starts at 1 p.m.

NO MORE DISHWASHING--Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Snyder of Pleasant Lake won't have to wash dishes at home anymore. They were the lucky winners of an RCA Whirlpool portable dishwasher, given as a door prize at the grand opening celebration at Shaws' Appliance, 120 W. Maple. Lorraine Bebee drew out the winning names. Dave Shaw (center) presents the Snyders with their prize.

Beef Cattle Housing Changes Frequently

Styles in housing for beef cattle on feed change almost as often as modern automobiles.

R. C. Lott, Ingham county extension agricultural agent, says the beef cattle housing trend is now moving toward the totally confined system. This differs from the open system of housing in that no fully concrete lot is provided and cattle are totally confined under a roof.

With most housing systems now being built in Michigan of this type, one question often asked is -- How much space is needed per animal?

The county agent points to research conducted at Michigan State University during the past year. Animals were allowed 20, 25, 30 and 35 square feet each in different pens. Up to 900 pounds, the rate of gain was severely depressed in the smaller pens.

On the basis of these tests, MSU animal husbandry specialists believe it is best to rate space requirements on live weight rather than the number of animals.

They now recommend that in conventional bedded housing, totally confined under a roof, a minimum of 3 square feet of floor space be provided for each 100 pounds of cattle on feed. For example, a 400-pound calf would require 12 square feet; a 1,000 pound steer 30 square feet.

The county agent said Michigan recommendations for conventional open housing have not changed in the past 10 years. These are 2 square feet under roof and 3 square feet of concrete lot per 100 pounds of cattle on feed.

For both housing systems, frequent bedding and allowing manure to accumulate to a depth of one to 2 feet under the roofed portions is suggested. Scraping the paved lot free of manure at least once weekly is recommended, the agent concluded.

4-H Horse Clinic Set

The 4-H horse project is a popular project for many boys and girls in 4-H club work.

In the 4-H horse project, members learn to care for and feed their horses as well as learn about good horsemanship.

A horse clinic will be held at the farm of Jim Drewyor on Billwood highway, Saturday, February 25, from 1-4 p.m. This will be an opportunity for members to learn to select and judge horses. Drewyor will have various classes of horses for the members to judge and give reasons on their placings.

Demonstrations will also be given under saddle.

To reach the Drewyor farm take Saginaw to M 100 (Potterville road), turn left (south) to Billwood highway, left (east) 1/2 mile on south side of road. Or, from the south, take old 78 to M 100, right (north) to Billwood highway, right (east) 1/2 mile.

Farm Views And News

By JIM MULVANY

Many things are happening legislature-wise concerning farm labor. Workmen's compensation seems the most talked about, yet is probably the least important. As the workmen's compensation now stands it affects only those employers who have several employees and will in general not affect the livestock farms in our area.

Probably of greater concern to farmers in Ingham county is the legislation in the mill concerning minimum wage. Especially that part which will require employers to keep accurate records of hours each employee works. This would involve a great deal of bookkeeping for those hiring a large number of employees such as fruit and vegetable people.

Good or bad, many farm labor regulations will soon be on the scene. At a recent meeting with a group of colleagues we had an opportunity to discuss some of the migrant labor housing requirements now in effect.

Some indicated it was legislation not desired by the general public and had been forced upon agriculture. "Why should a farmer be expected to maintain a house or residence superior to what the migrant laborer is accustomed to at home?" one person suggested.

It seemed somewhat of a paradox that only a few minutes later I read the report of 6 children who had lost their lives in a migrant housing shack in Allegan county. Certainly there must be some minimum standards on migrant housing that the public can gracefully request.

Hired labor will continue to be one of the limited resources on farms in the future.

At present one-man farm owners can not think in terms of expanding programs beyond what they can handle with their own labor. This situation will likely have considerable bearing on the kinds and scale of farms in Ingham county that survive in the next decade.

Boyne Falls Man Named 'Beekeeper of the Year'

Frank Hrushka, Boyne Falls, has been named Michigan's first "Beekeeper of the Year."

The ward was presented to Hrushka during Farmers' Week at Michigan State University by the Michigan Beekeepers association.

Hrushka, a 3rd generation beekeeper, operates about 600 colonies of bees in Charlevoix and adjoining counties and, in recent years, has developed a smaller winter operation in Florida. Each spring, he trucks most of his colonies to fruit orchards, chiefly sour cherry orchards in the Grand Traverse area, where they are rented to fruit growers for blossom pollination.

The Boyne Falls beekeeper has been active in the Michigan Beekeepers Association for many years and was president of the organization during 1965-66. He is also on the board of directors and several committees of the American Beekeeping Federation.

Purebred Dairymen Set Meet

It's going to be a little late but Michigan State University's 1967 Farmer's Week will be completed on March 25. That is the date Michigan purebred dairy cattle breeders will have their "day" originally scheduled for January 30, when the king-sized snow storm cancelled the first day of Farmers' Week.

Members of the staff of the MSU department of dairy science say the program will be "according to the book," just as planned for January 30. It will be an all-day event at Kellogg Center Saturday, March 25.

The dairy breed association's--Ayrshire, Brown Swiss, Guernsey, Holstein-Friesian, Jersey and Milking Short--horn--will meet at 10:30 a.m. and hold noon luncheons. Afternoon meetings will also be held by these groups.

At 1 p.m. a special session will be held for the wives of the dairymen on "milk makes the difference." Speakers will be Miss Jane Poole and Miss Hilda Hesse of the Dairy Council of Detroit and Miss Joan Baker, Battle Creek, of the Dairy Council of Southern Michigan. This will be an illustrated discussion of the many uses of milk in our present day eating pattern.

Business sessions of the three associations will continue in the early afternoon and at 4:30 p.m. a social hour will be held for all of the MSU visitors.

The annual All-Breeds Dairy Banquet will be held at 6 p.m. in the Big Ten Room at Kellogg Center with Dr. Sylvan H. Wittwer, director of the Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station, as the speaker.

At this session awards and recognition will be given for the highest yielding dairy herds and cows in Michigan during 1966.

The big award is the annual Michigan Dairyman of the Year who is selected by the MSU Dairy Department for outstanding work in the dairy industry and as a community leader. The name of the dairyman to be honored will not be made public until the banquet at which 400 are expected.

Re-elected Director

Charles R. Lockwood of Mason has been re-elected to the Michigan Concrete Burial Vault association board of directors. A businessman and active member of the Wolverine Engineering firm of Mason, Lockwood will serve a one year term.

Michigan's Higher Prices Drawing Wisconsin Milk

Dr. John Ferris agricultural commodity marketing specialist at Michigan State University, reports in the mid-February market report that the price difference between Michigan and Wisconsin milk is making in-shippments profitable for Wisconsin dairymen.

He also sees: Spring price gains in the fed cattle market will be difficult to achieve and underestimation of the spring pig crop last year may put pressure on the hog market. Wheat growers are warned to keep a sharp eye on the market and sell stored crops when prices rise.

Here is his report:
MILK--Class I utilization prices are being watched closely because of in-shippments of carton milk from Wisconsin. Class I prices in major southern Michigan cities run from 93 cents to $1 per hundred weight over those paid by dealers in Milwaukee. This is enough difference Dr. Ferris says to make such in-shippments profitable.

CATTLE--The cattle market reacted negatively to the "January 1 Cattle on Feed Report," which showed more cattle on feed than expected--a 7 percent increase over the year before. Prices on choice steers dropped a dollar or more. Increasing average weights on cattle slaughtered also depressed the market.

The fed cattle market will very likely continue under pressure through the spring with price gains somewhat difficult to achieve. But when the inventory of heavier cattle is worked off, chances are good for a moderate price recovery. Choice steer prices, in the last half of 1967, may be averaging $2-$3 above the $25-$26 level of the last half of 1966.

HOGS--A "bear" element in the hog market is the possibility that the 1966 spring pig crop was underestimated. In December and January, hog slaughter was 25 percent over the low level of the year before. The late spring pig crop would have indicated an increase of around 10 percent. If the spring pig crop was underestimated, this may also be true of the 1966 fall pig crop. Pressures from seasonal supplies will hold prices at lower levels in March and April.

WOOL--Returns from wool are assured through 1969 by the National Wool act. The incentive level for shorn wool marketings during 1966 was 65 cents a pound, and in 1967 it will be 66 cents a pound.

EGGS--Egg-type chicks hatched during December are estimated at 35.7 million chicks, an increase of 32 percent over December 1965. The hatch for the entire year of 1966 totaled 574 million, 18 percent more than in 1965.

Egg prices dropped sharply in January and into early February.

TURKEYS--Turkey growers intend to raise 8 percent more turkeys in 1967 than in 1966 according to the USDA. If growers carry out their intentions, the U.S. turkey crop would be about 125.2 million birds, a new record and well above the 115.7 million turkeys raised in 1966.

WHEAT--Weather and prospective shipments to India have dominated the wheat market in recent weeks. Parts of the dry area in the plain states received beneficial moisture in the late January snow storm, but far short of the amount needed.

A Congressional team visiting India has recommended additional shipments between now and June. The President's budget carries only a modest increase in PL 480 authorizations for wheat in the 1967-68 crop year.

Snow has materially helped the prospects for the winter wheat crops in the Midwest and has added to soil moisture supplies in the spring wheat areas of the northern plains. The short term price outlook continues to be touchy and farmers still storing wheat should keep in close contact with the market and be ready to sell on price rises.

DRY BEANS--The USDA recently analyzed the dry bean situation as follows:

"Total disappearance of dry beans likely will be much greater this season than last, with gains expected in both foreign and domestic use. Because of below average U.S. bean crops in 1964 and 1965, exports were curtailed and inventories in Europe reportedly declined to relatively low levels. Therefore, a strong European demand appears likely.

"Despite prospects for increased total use, dry bean supplies this season are heavy relative to trade requirements. Markets for beans likely will continue weak into mid-1967, with prices averaging relatively low."

POTATOES--The USDA expects no major change in the overall price level on potatoes into mid-spring. Market prospects are less favorable than a year ago, when a regional shortage of good quality stocks resulted in rising prices into late spring. This year with abundant storage supplies of suitable quality potatoes in the East and Midwest, buyer demand in these areas probably will be less aggressive.

APPLES--The USDA recently analyzed the fresh apple storage picture as follows: "In mid-January, shipping point prices for preferred varieties, grades and sizes in Washington continued well below a year earlier, but prices in the eastern and central states averaged higher.

The U.S. season average price to growers for the 1966 apple crop (for all uses) has been tentatively estimated to be about 12 percent above the 1965 price of $2.04 per bushel. A larger citrus crop and supply could curtail apple demands, the MSU economist warned.

Tips for Dieters: Eat Less, Exercise

Americans annually spend 100 million dollars on phony reducing products.

But the best way to reduce, according to Michigan physicians, is by cutting down on food and getting more exercise. The best weight control is based on balancing food intake with activity output, according to C. Allen Payne, MD, president, Michigan State Medical Society.

Here are 5 simple rules to keep in mind, especially as the holiday season approaches, says Doctor Payne:

2. Plan to lose no more than one or two pounds a week. Rapid reducing may leave you tired, irritable and vulnerable to disease. Pounds lost quickly often return quickly.

3. Cut down on your portions, but balance your diet. Your body still needs the nutrients contained in milk, meat or substitutes, fruit and vegetables, breads and cereals.

4. If you're hungry between meals, eat low calorie foods such as celery, radishes and consommés.

5. Eat less, exercise more.

Doctor Payne adds that, "exercise will help in your campaign. Remember: weight control is a matter of balancing food intake with activity output."

Forage Second Only to Corn as New Milk Production Records Reported for Area Holsteins

Michigan farmers used 1.3 million acres of land to produce $13,192,000 worth of forage in 1965. Nearly three-fourths of that forage acreage was in alfalfa.

Although research at Michigan State university shows four tons an acre is not a difficult yield to attain, the average Michigan farmer harvested about 2 tons an acre.

H. L. Kohls, Michigan State university crop scientist, believes farmers should give more attention to their alfalfa production practices and increase their yield and income. Vernal is still the most widely adapted variety in Michigan. It combines hardiness, wilt-resistance and yields better than most other varieties when planted for a long stand.

DuPuits is a fast-growing, high-yielding variety that does not have as much winter hardiness and wilt-resistance, Kohls points out. It is best adapted in the southern part of Michigan where 3 cuttings per year are made and where short rotations of 2 to 3 harvest years are maintained.

A new variety, Saranac, has yielded very high in MSU trials and the seed should soon be available for use in Michigan for comparison with Vernal and DuPuits.

Most farmers in Michigan grow an alfalfa-grass mixture. Alfalfa-brome grass is the one most commonly used. Dr. F. C. Elliott, Michigan State university crop science researcher, has developed an unnamed rye grass. His tests indicate that it is early and higher yielding than other varieties of perennial rye grass. Further testing will be made with the new variety, both as a mixture with alfalfa and as a forage crop.

Michigan farmers could up their alfalfa yield by following good liming and fertilizing programs and by planting certified and adapted seed, Kohls believes.

4000 Bushels of Corn Donated To Feed Deer

Frank Light, chairman of the Michigan Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, announced this week that the U.S. Department of Agriculture is donating 4,000 bushels of corn to the Michigan Department of Conservation. This corn will be used to feed starving deer in the Upper Peninsula.

The state department of conservation will make this grain available to conservation clubs, local community groups, and others interested in distributing it to the starving deer.

Three thousand bushels of this corn are available from government-owned storage in Wisconsin, to be fed to deer in areas of the western part of the upper peninsula, and 1,000 bushels from government storage in Gratiot county, Michigan, to be fed in areas in the eastern part of the upper peninsula.

Organizations or individuals interested in distributing this corn in areas specified by the conservation department should contact the district game biologist.

Light said additional corn would be donated for emergency feeding of wildlife if it is determined by the state conservation department that it is needed. It would be distributed by interested conservation clubs or community groups.

Beef Tour for 1967 Slated for March 1

The 1967 beef tour will be held on March 1, 1967 in Jackson county. The morning stop will be at 10:30 a.m. at the Floyd Barnes farm on Cross road, Horton.

This stop features a 110 head Angus breeding herd including 70 cows making maximum use of non-tillable land with minimum investment in facilities. He also feeds out 150 steers in an auger bunk.

Noon lunch will be served at the Concord Methodist church; Dr. John Ferris, agricultural economist, Michigan State University, will speak on "Using Beef and Grain Futures to Hedge Your Business."

The afternoon stop will be at 1:30 p.m. at the Lyle Cunningham farm on Little road, 3 miles northeast of Concord. This is a completely remodeled system with a capacity of 2,500 head per year. There are 1,500 cattle on feed at present.

Corn silage (7,000 tons) is stored in a 90' x 240' x 16' horizontal silo with a mechanical unloader. High moisture shelled corn is stored in one 20' x 60' and two 24' x 60' tower silos. Cattle are fed in fence line bunks. One 50' x 240' shed and two 60' x 240' sheds house the cattle with no outside lots.

Those who wish to pool rides are asked to meet at the Co-operative Extension office in Mason at 9:30 a.m. and reservations should be made in advance for the luncheon according to R.C. Lott, county agricultural agent.

4-H Leadership Workshop Set

Many 4-H members have asked the questions: What are some opportunities for leadership in the 4-H program? What can a junior leader do to help develop leadership among younger members? What are some personal, local, county and state opportunities for a junior leader in 4-H?

These and many other questions on "Opportunities for Leadership in 4-H" will be answered at the leadership workshop and bohemian supper Saturday, February 25, from 3:30 to 10 p.m. at the Alameda town hall, Holt road, Mason.

Judy Stone, Mason; Rod DeGroot, Charlotte; and Rodney Dessert, Howell; have planned an interesting program for leaders and older 4-H members.

Mark Rae Joins Jr. Angus Club

Mark Rae, 10, Onondaga, has been granted a junior membership in the American Angus association at St. Joseph, Missouri, announces Glen Bratcher, secretary.

This new junior membership entitles the member to register purebred Angus at regular membership rates and to the privileges of the association until the age of 21. At that time junior members are eligible to convert to lifetime memberships in the association. There were 192 young people in the United States to receive junior memberships last month.

AGRICULTURE IN ACTION

Jaycees Help Better Agriculture's Image

BY MELVIN WOELL

It is hard to outdo the Jaycees when it comes to helping improve the image of agriculture. Through their "Outstanding Young Farmer" program, they focus attention each year on those young farm businessmen who do an unusually fine job—often under trying circumstances.

Again this year the Michigan Jaycees are sponsoring the state-wide search for 4 young farmers who, under the rules, have done the best job of farm management and have made the most impressive mark upon their communities in other ways.

Judging is based on progress made by the candidate toward sound farming goals and in view of obstacles which may have to be overcome. Sometimes the major problem is nothing more than a lack of cash. Sometimes it is poor land or bad luck with crop or livestock disease.

One of last year's top 4 had the disadvantage of a non-farm background. In past years, top winners have found success in spite of such personal tragedies as farm fires and major accidents.

Soil and water conservation practices, leadership traits and contributions to the well-being of their communities are all considered, as is that elusive but all-important thing called "the quality of family life." The farm wife (few of the top winners have ever been single), the children, their abilities and attitudes are all part of the package of impressions closely considered by the judging committee. Last year's winner was Calvin ("Pete") Lutz of Manistee, and perhaps his winning as the state entrant from the Manistee chapter of the Jaycees helped inspire this group to sponsor the state contest and awards banquet this year.

In any event, the 13th annual awards presentation has been set for the night of March 4, at a 7:30 dinner set for the Elk's Temple of downtown Manistee.

There, a substantial list of candidates for the top 4 spots will be presented, as winners in local chapter contests held earlier throughout the state join the crowd in awaiting the judge's selection—and the warm glow everyone feels when someone is publically commended for a job well done.

Agriculture should be proud of the Outstanding Young Farmer program—and of the Jaycees (Junior Chamber of Commerce) who unselfishly make it possible.

In Service

Army Private Dale G. Jones, 21, whose wife, Janet, lives at 438 E. Ash street, Mason, completed an 8-week administration course at Ft. Knox, Kentucky, February 6.

He was trained in the preparation of military records and forms. Instruction was also given in fundamentals of the Army filing system, typing and operation of office machines.

World Starvation Scare 'Too Pessimistic'

All the talk about exploding populations and world starvation is, in most cases, "too pessimistic," according to a Michigan State University agricultural economist.

"I submit that most of what you will read on world food and population in the newspapers and farm journals, even if quoting the 'experts' directly, is too pessimistic," said Professor Lawrence W. Witt. "The future is not bright, but neither is it all gloom," Witt is also president of the American Farm Economics association.

The foreign trade and economics researcher outlined 4 reasons why he thought many of the comments about future world food situations "paint too black a picture."

First, the data on which many of these forecasts are made "are very weak," said Dr. Witt. Errors in statistical and technical details can be as much as 15 or 20 percent. Yet, the "difference between optimism and pessimism" is dependent upon changes of only 1 or 2 percent.

"Second, the future is judged mainly by simple mechanical projections of the recent past," Witt continued. "This method means that judgment about changes in trends is given little attention."

He cited a recent report by a population specialist which indicates a slow trend toward population stability. The specialist, said Witt, claimed that Korea and Taiwan are in the midst of a birth control revolution, and the same process is under way in India and Pakistan. "This population specialist," said Witt, "projects a nearly stable world population by the year 2000, with a population of around 4.5 billion instead of the 6 billion usually projected."

The third reason cited by Witt as contributing to the pessimism about the future world situation has to do with an underestimate of the farm population's ability to adjust to population increase and to utilize improved crop varieties and production practices.

"The larger baby crop of 1955-60 will substantially increase the number of farmers and farm workers after 1970 in most nations of the world," Dr. Witt pointed out. "These workers, combined with improved agricultural technology available in many countries... certainly will accelerate the expansion in food production in many countries."

Finally, the MSU agricultural economist noted that a "need" for food represented by a larger population does not automatically mean a "demand" for food, either at home or abroad.

"There must be purchasing power -- money -- with which to buy it," he explained. "And if India's increase in population is to mean demand for U.S. food, then India (America's largest recipient of agricultural exports) needs foreign exchange -- either by selling other things to the world or through massive gifts of food or of dollars and other hard currency."

Dr. Witt added that there is a "real challenge to determine what really is happening" in terms of world population and the food supply and to make adjustments accordingly. But, clearly, efforts must continue to reduce the rate of population increase and to increase the rate by which food production is expanding in developing countries.

Feed Grain Sign-ups

First reports of 1967 wheat and feed grain program sign-up in Michigan lists 11,893 farms signed in the wheat program and 15,641 farms signed in the feed grain program, it was announced this week by Frank J. Light, chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State committee.

Today's report is based on returns from counties through February 10. It shows signed farms have wheat allotments of 239,635 acres and feed grain bases of 416,142 acres.

Light also reminds producers that the final sign-up date has been extended from March 3 through March 17. The sign-up deadline was extended 2 weeks because of the large number of potential participants throughout the State. It would have been impossible to enroll all participants within the original deadline date of March 3.

Signing an application is the essential first step toward participation in these programs. No further extension beyond March 17 is anticipated for adverse weather or other reasons; therefore, farmers should not wait until the last minute to enroll.

County NFO Leaders Attend State Meet

County leaders and members of the Ingham County NFO attended a closed state-wide strategy meeting at Howell.

The purpose of the meeting was to discuss plans for a milk holding action and to discuss a new approach NFO is preparing to use in an attempt to raise prices on all farm commodities at the farm level.

County leaders were told that the NFO had done everything possible to try to prevent a milk holding action, but that although processors had a better attitude, it looked as though they would still be talking 10 years from now with no higher prices for milk to the farmer unless a holding action is called.

The NFO leaders were told that NFO is adding a new approach to its efforts to raise farm prices. Details will soon be announced. This new anproach will offer farmers an opportunity to use marketing information and a structure offered by the NFO so the basic size of the agricultural plant can be reduced so supply can be brought in balance with demand.

Olin Wild, county president of the Ingham county NFO said, "No one should oppose this dynamic new approach. It is something farmers have always been told they should do. Now they can use NFO to reduce the size of the agricultural plant and bring supply in balance with demand."

The county NFO leaders attending the meeting were: LaVern Eldred, Lucille Eldred, Olin Wild, Glenn Walker, Henry Lippert, Don Wild, Louis Wild, Ed Ottomano, Claire Baker, Bert Schertzing, Ford Hawkins, John Arrands, Harry Allen, Reginald Miner, Marilyn Miner, Ernie Knuck, and J.C. Nelson.

Demand For Artificial Machines Is Great

A working man from East Lansing, a young mother from Charlotte and one from Mason are currently being treated on the all-too-few artificial kidney machines available in central Michigan.

At least one more person at this time is in need of such life-saving treatment in this area. Hopefully, an opening may be found before it is too late.

About 253 hospitals in the USA have artificial kidney facilities. The demand far exceeds the availability. Some-one always must decide who will be treated and who has to go without - who will live and who will die.

The first artificial kidney was developed 20 years ago in Holland. Two main types of machines are used in the United States: the Kalf, or coil type and the kill, or parallel plate type. In the early 1960's the surgical techniques were developed to implant a permanent cannula and shunt in a patient's arm which can be used repeatedly as an access to the artificial circulatory system.

State Police Schools Begin

Separate Michigan State Police recruit and advanced trooper schools at East Lansing will complete their respective 11 and 5 week training sessions Friday, February 24.

Three more schools and other training will follow.

A 5-day orientation session in command responsibilities for a sergeant and 19 corporals will start Monday, February 27.

Two more schools will begin Monday, March 6, one for recruits and the other for advanced troopers. The recruit school will include 2 women candidates for the recently established positions of state policewoman. The training of state policewomen is a first for the department.

Other training is scheduled for a total of 67 officers who will report for schooling at East Lansing March 1 and 2 to qualify them as instructors in the department's yearly first aid program.

By this improved method it has been possible to maintain life in patients with chronic renal failure and also to rehabilitate many to the point where they can carry on their daily activities in a near normal fashion.

There is a major drawback in this method of treatment. The patient must be treated twice weekly for periods of 10 to 12 hours in order to be able to continue to function in a reasonably normal way. Because of the professional time involved and the highly specialized equipment needed this very expensive. At present, dialysis costs about $10,000 per year per patient.

Time is a prime factor in the development of this program. Time for research; time to raise funds; time to train personnel; and time for hospitals to develop the facilities necessary for the establishment of a dialysis center.

Not far from this is someone who can talk with you about the Kidney Foundation program: Don Clark, Aurelius MA 8-3011; Mrs. Darrell Cook, Charlotte 543-2989; Mrs. Donald Cook, East Lansing 337-1513 or Don Riley, Lansing IV 9-2817. These people are all members of the executive committee of the central Michigan chapter of the Michigan Kidney foundation.

March on Measles Slated in County

A county-wide campaign to "end the health threat of common measles" has been announced by Dr. Maurice S. Reizen, director of the Ingham county health department.

The campaign, dubbed the "March on Measles" by the Ingham county medical society and the Ingham county health department, co-sponsors of the program, is set to take place from 1-4 p.m. on Sunday, March 12.

Seventeen vaccination clinics are to be established throughout the county where those under 18 can receive free measles vaccine from a volunteer staff of doctors, nurses and pharmacists.

Money to finance the clinics, expected to draw an estimated 15,000 youngsters, will be provided by contributions that will be accepted at each clinic site, Dr. Reizen said.

"Clinic operation will be patterned very much along the lines of the Sabin oral vaccine clinics here in 1964," he said. "The March of Dimes, nursing and pharmacy groups, teenagers, the P.T.A., Central Michigan amateur radio operators and other organizations will provide transportation, communication and clerical help to keep the operation running smoothly."

In stressing the importance of the immunization program, Dr. Reizen pointed out that "measles is not merely a part of growing up."

"It is potentially a harmful and sometimes deadly childhood disease. Measles can cause serious complications, including pneumonia and varying degrees of brain damage," he stated.

"The incidence of complication is relatively small, but it is a fact that the number of children who died of measles last year was higher than the number of new cases of polio reported in the nation," Dr. Reizen said.

Spokesmen for schools and the health department agree that measles, already reported in Ingham county schools, could reach major proportions this spring and that parents should make every effort to have all children 18 years old or younger vaccinated at the measles clinic or by their private physician.

"Some children, of course are not susceptible for reasons of having measles previously or being immunized the health department," Dr. Reizen said. "However, if there is any doubt, the child should be immunized again as a second shot, while perhaps wasteful, can do no harm."

Dr. Reizen said the only children who should not be vaccinated against common measles are those prone to convulsions and who might have had one in the past 3 years, those being treated or who have been treated for leukemia, cancer or tuberculosis, and those allergic to eggs.

Clinic locations will be announced later, and registration forms will be made available to parents beforehand to speed up the process of immunization.

State Pork Exports May Widen in 1967

Broader exports for Michigan pork products may be a possibility sometime this spring following federal recognition that the state is "hog cholera free."

The last outbreak of this contagious and costly disease of swine in the state was in October of 1965. A state can qualify as hog cholera free if no cases of the disease have been reported for a year and all vaccines except killed virus vaccines have been prohibited for a similar length of time. Michigan meets both requirements.

Dr. J.F. Quinn, state veterinarian in the Michigan department of agriculture, and Dr. C.L. Hendee, federal veterinarian in charge of the state, say apparently there is no more infection.

Since January of 1966 Michigan has been in the final phase of a 4-phase cooperative state-federal hog cholera eradication campaign. Drs. Quinn and Hendee point out that swine producers must remain vigilant for the disease until it has been eradicated in the entire nation. The target date for this is 1972.

"If a swine producer has sick pigs, he should contact his veterinarian at once," they warn.

Several possible foreign markets for ham and other pork products are open only to states that are hog cholera free. Michigan is one of the largest pork producers among the 22 states that reported no outbreaks of the disease in 1966.

In 1964, the most recent year for which figures are available, Michigan produced 261 million pounds of pork worth about $42 million to producers. The counties of Cass, Clinton, Hillsdale and Branch account for about 22 percent of the state's entire production.

The premium you pay for a participating Sun Life insurance policy is not your actual cost—dividends reduce your outlay or increase your savings and protection. Now, from American Motors, the car that wasn't there.

This may well be the most important news to come out of Detroit this year.

A major gap has developed in today's automobile market—a gap that no American-built car is filling. Because this gap exists, over 1,000,000 car buyers a year have not been able to get the car they wanted: a car for the American motorist at a list price competitive to foreign imports.

Today, American Motors' new management and nearly 2,500 American Motors/Rambler Dealers are filling that gap.

As of today, we are limiting future changes in our Rambler American line to essential changes that will further enhance the safety and reliability of these cars.

This will save us millions of dollars—and we and our dealers are passing the savings along to you now. This means that the Rambler American 220 two-door sedan that yesterday listed at $2,073 now lists at $1,839. It means that today, your American Motors/Rambler Dealer has put new price stickers on all nine Rambler American models.

For years, Rambler American has been the best value in an American automobile. Today, priced competitive to imported cars, it is the best automobile value in the world.

This week on television, we promised you exciting news from American Motors.

This is only the beginning.

Income Tax Facts

DEPENDENTS AND EXEMPTIONS

(The following article is the second in a series of 9 articles on income tax filing prepared for distribution to this newspaper by the Committee on Federal Taxation of The Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants.)

An individual taxpayer is entitled to a specific deduction of $600 from gross income for his personal exemption. In addition, exemptions of $600 are granted for his spouse and for each of his dependents who meet certain tests. The law provides 4 of these tests for determining whether a dependent can be claimed as an exemption. Unless all 4 tests are met, no deduction is allowed.

To qualify as a dependent for whom the $600 deduction is allowed, a person must:

(1) Bear a certain relationship to the taxpayer.

(2) Have a gross income of less than $600, although this does not apply in the case of children who are full-time students, or under 19 years of age.

(3) If married, not have filed a joint return with his or her spouse for the taxable year, and

(4) Have received his support from the taxpayer—usually more than half, but it can be more than 10 percent when multiple support elections apply.

Except for non-resident Canadian citizens, most non-resident aliens do not qualify as dependents even if they meet the 4 tests previously stated. Moreover, a taxpayer is allowed only one exemption for a dependent even if that dependent is blind or over 65 years of age.

CHILDREN AS DEPENDENTS

Where the taxpayer provides over one-half of the child's support, a child under 19 years of age qualifies for the exemption even though his annual earnings are in excess of $600. Moreover, a child who is a full-time student for more than five full months, even though more than 19 years of age and earning over $600 per year, can qualify. The important factor is this: The taxpayer must provide over one-half of the child's or student's support for the taxable year.

Claiming an exemption for the child does not exempt the child from filing his own return. A child earning $600 or more per year must file a return. He is entitled to a $600 exemption on his own return even though he might be claimed as a dependent on his parents' return. Even if the child's earnings were less than $600, it is necessary to file a return to have any withheld federal income taxes refunded.

A taxpayer is entitled to a dependency deduction for a married child provided the child meets all of the dependency tests including the furnishing of more than half the child's support. However, even if all the tests are met, a deduction may not be taken if the married dependent files a joint return with his or her spouse for the taxable year.

BIRTHS AND DEATHS

The dependency deduction of $600 is allowed in full regardless of when during the year the dependent was born or died. For instance, a child born alive on December 31, 1966, would entitle the parents to a full $600 exemption for 1966. A dependent parent who died on January 1, 1966, likewise would entitle the taxpayer to a full $600 exemption for 1966.

In addition to close relatives, the law provides that a taxpayer may claim as a dependent an individual who has as his principal place of residence the home of the taxpayer and who is a member of the taxpayer's household for the year. Temporary absence due to special circumstances, such as illness, education, vacation, business, military service, or a custody agreement under which the person is absent for less than 6 months of the taxable year, will not void the dependency deduction. A taxpayer is considered as maintaining the household so long as he pays more than half the expenses, even though the claimed dependent actually owns the house they both occupy.

WHAT CONSTITUTES SUPPORT

The term "support" includes the total expenditures incurred in furnishing food, shelter, clothing, education, medical and dental care, recreation, transportation, and other similar necessities to the dependent. The measure of the support item is the amount of expense incurred by the one furnishing it. If the item furnished consists of goods or property, the measure of the item is the fair market value and not its cost. Lodging is part of support and when furnished in kind is measured by its fair market value, rather than its actual cost. The fair market value of lodging furnished to the dependent is the fair rental value of the room, apartment, or house in which the dependent lives, including a reasonable allowance for the use of any furnishings, utilities, etc. Fair rental value is used to measure support instead of actual items entering into maintenance and operation of the property such as rents, taxes, interest, depreciation, paint, insurance, etc. The fair rental value is the amount which the taxpayer could reasonably expect to receive from a stranger for providing the same type of lodging as furnished the dependent. Where the dependent lives in his own home, the fair rental value is deemed contributed by him to his own support.

Costs of education are part of support. This includes tuition, board and uniforms. Private school tuition is included even though free public schools are available. Scholarship payments are not included in determining the amount of support if the recipient is a son, stepson, daughter, stepdaughter, or adopted child of the taxpayer, and is a full-time student. Where the recipient does not meet these tests, any scholarship payments are part of support.

Where several persons contribute to the support of their parents or other members of the family group, and in the aggregate they contribute over one-half the support but no one person contributes more than 50 percent, those contributing over 10 percent of the support can agree each year to let one of the members of the group take the dependency deduction, provided that each of the persons contributing would have been able to claim the deduction except that they did not contribute over half of the support of the individual. It is necessary, however, for each member of the group to file Form 2120 as provided by the Internal Revenue Service. All persons involved in contributing to the support of others should keep adequate records.

A parent or step-parent of a handicapped child need not include the cost of room, board and lodging furnished by the state at special schools in computing the amount of support furnished the child.

AGE AND BLINDNESS EXEMPTION

Both the taxpayer and spouse may claim additional $600 exemptions for blindness and being over 65. Thus, a taxpayer or spouse may be entitled to an $1,800 exemption deduction if over 65 and blind. These additional exemptions do not apply to dependents.

MSU Enrolls 35,475 for Winter Term

Michigan State university's final winter term enrollment total is 35,475, an increase of 6.7 percent over the figure a year ago, according to Registrar Horace C. King.

The total for the winter term in 1966 reached 33,242, Dr. King said.

Dr. King also reported that 30,905 (87.1 percent) of this winter's students are full-time enrollees, 33,918 (95.6 percent) were enrolled last fall, 21,312 (60.1 percent) are men, and 29,463 (83.1 percent) are single.

MSU's largest college, the college of education, has a winter enrollment of 5,416, which is 15.3 percent of the grand total.

Dr. King notes that 1,133 students are expected to earn degrees at the end of the winter term.

Winter term commencement will be on March 12, and final exams will be March 13-18.
