Council's Committee Chairmen Are Selected

Committee appointments were one of the main items of business at the Monday night meeting of the Mason city council.

Mayor Loren Shattuck selected Vaughn Snook, mayor pro-tem, to head the finance and personnel committee; Russell Robbins, was re-appointed to the police and dump committees; Howard Becker, Jr., newly elected councilman, will be chairman of the fire and recreation committees; Howard Roberts was reappointed chairman of the streets and storm sewer committees; Gary Lamphere, was renamed to the chairmanship of the water and sanitary sewer committees and Gilson Pearsall was named chairman of the platting, zoning, building codes, buildings and equipment committees.

Sidewalks and their repair will again be a much talked about item over the coffee tables in Mason, as the council moved to enact the city sidewalk repair ordinance.

This ordinance reassesses the cost of repairs back on the property owner.

Last fall council set the policy on repairs and notified some 75 property owners that they should repair their walks before a certain date or the city would do the repairs and bill owners for the work.

Bids were taken for the remaining sidewalk repairs and were rejected by the council as too high. This spring the council will start again with the program.

A public hearing date of June 5 at 8 p.m. was set for those property owners who failed to fix their walks according to city specifications.

The clerk was authorized to advertise for bids on a tractor for the city complete with rotary blade attachment. Bids are to be submitted by May 1 at 8 p.m.

The council commended the Mason Jaycee auxiliary for their efforts in establishing a Helping Hand program in Mason.

Mrs. John Reilly, project chairman, asked that a member of the council be appointed to help the Jaycee auxiliary with the project. Vaughn Snook volunteered to serve on the committee, which would screen applicants seeking to be Helping Hand block representatives.

Clean Up Time Again

The city of Mason will be giving its residents a hand with spring cleaning.

In recognition of clean up week, city employees will be picking up all refuse placed at the curb on Monday and Tuesday, April 24-25.

All trash must be in containers and no garbage or ashes will be accepted. This weekend would be a good time to hoe out the attic, basement and garage, so that you can take advantage of the city's service.

Mayor Outlines Six Main City Projects

Examination Date Is Set For Green

John Clark Green, 25, of Mason, returned here last Friday from California on an embezzlement charge was arraigned before Judge Roy W. Adams in Mason justice court last Saturday morning and released on $2,000 bond.

Green, former manager of the Dancer store in Mason, is accused of taking $1,800 from the store safe and fleeing to California on April 9, taking his 2 young daughters with him.

A divorce action is pending between Green and his wife and he was permitted to visit his children each Sunday. On April 9 he took the children and boarded a plane for Los Angeles.

When he did not return with the children Mrs. Green notified officers who traced his movements and found he had purchased plane tickets for Los Angeles. Los Angeles police were notified and detectives there arrested Green as he stepped off the plane with the 2 children. The children were turned over to their aunt, who resides in Los Angeles and had been notified of the matter.

Chief Tim Stolz of the Mason police and Wells Moses, under-sheriff of the Ingham county sheriff's department went to Los Angeles and returned Green to Mason.

Judge Adams set a tentative date for Green's examination in justice court for 10 a.m. Monday, April 24.

IT'S FIREWOOD NOW--A large pine tree to the west of Jim Frew's home, 725 E. Ash street, Mason, fell victim to Monday night's big wind and rain storm. The tree fell across the entire house damaging the roof of a screened in porch.

Will Seek Industry For Mason

One step at a time --This seems to be the policy of Mason's new mayor Loren Shattuck. Shattuck outlined some of the major goals which should be accomplished this year at the Monday night city council meeting.

Councilmen were told to direct their efforts to 6 major areas and not to lose sight of these until they were completed. The 6 goals are:

- Hire a city administrator. Complete at least 80 or 90 percent of the city's Laylin Park construction.
- Adoption of adjusted water and sewer rates.
- Completion of the Fire Police building reconstruction on Jefferson street.
- Completion of the N. Okemos street project, which includes storm sewers, curb and gutters and reconstruction of the street.
- Careful consideration of various ways to bring industrial development to Mason.
- In outlining his goals for the council, Shattuck said: "I anticipate a very busy year and have confidence that the council will all work together to complete a number of projects that have been in the mill for a long time."

"Once we tie up the loose ends, the city can progress to new projects."

What remains to be done on the 6 projects of the mayor? According to Shattuck the city has appropriated some $15,000 in this year's budget to pay an administrator's salary. So far the city has accepted 10 applications for the job, several of them indicating previous experience and excellent qualifications, the Mayor said.

THE HAND POSTER--Mason's Jaycee auxiliary has begun a campaign to get designated homes in each city block to display a hand poster. This tells children where to go for help in an emergency. The program was approved Monday by the city council. Showing one of the posters to Mayor Loren Shattuck are Mrs. Michael Trudeau, auxiliary president, (left) and Mrs. John Reilly, Helping Hand chairman.

Mason Jaycee Auxiliary Launches Plan To Assist Children in Need of Aid

What would your child do if he was threatened or molested on the way home from school?

The Mason Jaycee Auxiliary have the answer to this problem and others that children may face. The Auxiliary is sponsoring, "Helping Hands", a nation-wide project of placing wordless signs in the windows of homes throughout Mason for children in trouble.

If children have an injury, are bullied by other children, become lost, or are threatened by a child molester, the youngsters will know they can run to a home displaying a hand card to receive aid.

Mrs. Mike Trudeau, Jaycee auxiliary president, said this week the drive will be launched in Mason in time to have homes in each block in the city posted with the "Helping Hand" signs before the beginning of summer vacation.

This will be a continuing program with the Jaycee auxiliary and is comparable to programs being carried on in many states throughout the country.

The women are asking the support of the Mason elementary schools, the PTAs, the city council, Mason police and the Mason churches.

Residents displaying the signs at their homes will all have been investigated relative to the character of the home and the importance of having someone home during school hours. They will be instructed to assist the child by summoning the parents and the proper emergency agency. They are advised against any application of medication.

The symbol of help is an 8 by 8 inch square placard on which a dark blue hand has been placed. Parents will be receiving letters explaining the project and asking for their co-operation.

Mrs. John Reilly, "Helping Hands" project chairman, asks that after parents receive their letter, they explain the symbol to their children and, together with the child, locate the homes in the area with the hand in the window.

The auxiliary plans to establish 280 Helping Hand residences in Mason.

The Helping Hand organization here was set up a month ago by the auxiliary.

There are at least 10 communities in Michigan which now have the Helping Hand program of the Jaycee auxiliaries, Mrs. Reilly said. They include Livonia, where the program originated; Belding, Harbor Beach, Farmington, Grand Ledge, Lincoln Park, St. Johns, South Kent, St. Charles and Gaylord.

Eleven women of the Mason Jaycee auxiliary are working on the program here. It will operate the year around, both during the school months and the vacation months.

New Bicycle Permits Now For Sale

The Mason police department is issuing the 1967 bicycle permits starting this week, according to Police Chief Tim Stolz.

Mason residents are required to register their bikes with the department and purchase the 50-cent permit. Permits will be sold Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to noon and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Bikes to be registered must be 20 inches and larger. Youngsters are urged to bring their bicycles when purchasing a permit so they may be inspected for defects. The department may refuse to issue a permit if a bike is ruled unsafe.

If bikes are not brought to the police offices on W. Ash street, information needed includes name and serial number of the bicycle and the name of the person who will be riding it.

Last year some 1,000 bicycle permits were sold in Mason.

Thieves Prowl Through School; Take Nothing

Thieves who apparently were looking only for money, broke into the North Aurelius elementary school, 115 N. Aurelius road sometime Thursday night or early last Friday morning.

They roamed the building, prying open desk drawers and filing cabinets. Nothing was reported missing.

In several of the rooms they entered there was valuable equipment but it was untouched.

The thieves entered the building by breaking out a window on the west side of the kindergarten room and crawling through.

Once inside the building, they went up a hall to Room 102, a projection room. Entry was made there by breaking the window in the door, then reaching through and turning the knob.

They tried to get into the kitchen, but failed. Prymarks were found on the door.

They entered the offices of the principal, Walter McIntosh, and ransacked a desk in his secretary's office but apparently took nothing. They tried to pry open other desks in the 2-room office but failed.

The break-in was discovered by Carl Barto, 307 W. Oak street, Mason, when he reported for work at the school at 7 a.m. last Friday.

2 Vacancies To Be Filled

Two vacancies on the Ingham Intermediate school board will be filled June 5 when representatives of each of the school districts in the county will gather at the intermediate board offices here and make the selections from a list of candidates.

The vacancies to be filled are those of George Hirschman of Lansing and Donald Crakes of Leslie whose terms will expire.

To become a candidate for a post on the board, one must circulate petitions which must be signed by 50 Ingham school electors. These petitions are now available at the offices of the intermediate board, 147 W. Maple street, Mason.

The signed petitions must be returned to the intermediate board office by May 5.

"Interviewing of the applicants will begin by the personnel committee very soon with the final decision left up to the council -- we hope to hire a man by July," Shattuck said.

According to the recreation committee, work that remains to be done in Laylin park includes the cutting of remaining elm trees, dredging 2nd pond, removal of tree stumps, grading the area, seeding the area in August, cutting 2 drive-ways and parking areas, plus building shelter houses if funds hold out.

Okemos Gals View Film

Corporal Duane Smith of the State Police was the speaker for the Okemos Woman's club on Thursday, April 6, at the home of Mrs. Milton Lamb, 4542 Eastwood drive, Okemos. Sergeant Zane Gray was slated to speak on "Women Drivers on Our Highways". Instead, Corporal Smith showed 2 films: "We Drivers" and "Motor Mania". The second film centered around "Goofy" by Disney.

Corporal Smith also passed around a group of enlarged cartoons. These visual aids were interesting and humorous while getting their message across. A question and answer period followed the movies and gave individuals a chance to get answers to their own special problems.

There is $10,000 allowed for park development in this year's budget. Last year one pond was dredged, large number of trees cut and a ditch improvement completed.

A study of the water and sewer rates this year indicated that the city was barely breaking even in this area of operation. It is the councilmen's feeling that the fees paid should cover costs of replacement and improvements for anticipated expansion and need.

"These city services are necessary to attract new industry to Mason and new rate schedules will be an important factor in financing expansion," the mayor said. "I understand that a resolution will soon be presented which will detail a new water - sewer rate schedule for the city."

Chairman of the building committee, Gilson Pearsall, told the council he would be seeking an architect for the fire - police building project and should have something to report at the next meeting. The city's plans and specifications for the N. Okemos street improvement have been approved for financing through the Motor Vehicle Highway bonds. Public hearing of necessity on the project will have to be scheduled again and then the project is expected to progress.

Mayor Shattuck indicated he is looking into various means of selling Mason as a good site for future industrial development.

"This year for Michigan Week's mayor exchange day, Mason will be changing with Howell, which has had remarkable success in attracting new industry," he said. "I am anticipating the exchange day and intend to investigate thoroughly their methods of securing new industry and hope to bring back some useful ideas which Mason could initiate."

New On-Farm Tire Service

A new on - the - farm tire repair and replacement service for the farmers served by the Lansing District of Farmers Petroleum Cooperative of Lansing has been announced by Executive Vice-president W.N. Guthrie.

The new service will feature the very latest in air operated tire repair equipment.

In the past, when a farmer had a flat on one of the huge rear tires of the modern farm tractor, he seldom had the equipment or the time to change it. This service will enable him to get on - the - spot service reducing time lost and the danger of personal injury while handling tires with inadequate equipment.

As demand builds and equipment becomes available, the service will be made available in other areas of the state according to officials of the cooperative. At present, the service will be available only in this district as the techniques are tested and perfected.

Gloria Brown To Attend Washington 4-H Confab

Gloria Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brown, Mason, is one of 4 young people chosen for their outstanding citizenship 4-H program to represent Michigan at the National 4-H Conference in Washington, D.C., April 23-28.

The trip to the nation's capitol is the state's top 4-H honor for club members. Delegates from the 50 states, Puerto Rico, and the 10 Canadian provinces will represent over 2 and a quarter million 4-H Club members in the United States and 4-H youth in Canada.

The 2 boys and 2 girls named to Michigan 4-H Hall of Fame include: Gloria Brown, Ingham county; Susan Roiddebush, Iron county; John Kinney, Calhoun county; and James Andrews, Newago county. They will represent 100,000 Michigan 4-H youth. 1967 Conference delegates will spend the week learning more about national issues and problems facing the American people today.

By sharing experiences with other 4-H delegates and attending special programs, they will learn better ways to carry out citizenship responsibilities and opportunities in their own communities, county and state, according to Rhoda Peck, Extension 4-H youth agent.

In 1930 Ludell Cheney, Ve-vay township supervisor, was the first Ingham county 4-H delegate to attend the National 4-H Conference then known as National 4-H Camp, and youngsters stayed in tents while at Washington, D.C.

Others who have attended National 4-H Conference include Mrs. Leroy Leyrer, Lansing, a 4-H leader in the Bishopettes 4-H club and Judy Brown, Mason, a senior at Michigan State university. The 1967 delegates will stay at the National 4-H Center at Washington, D.C.

Ingham County's Forester Speaks to Aurelius Club

The Aurelius Garden club met Friday evening, April 14, at the Aurelius Town hall with an attendance of 20. A potluck supper preceded the meeting which was presided over by president Mrs. Lawrence Dolbee. The new program books were distributed and everyone looked for their places among the deer's.

The matter of a memorial to deceased members was discussed. The group voted to place a book in the Ingham county branch library after this instead of sending flowers.

Mrs. Dolbee explained the plans for the state annual meeting of the Michigan Federation of Garden clubs to be held in Dearborn and Greenfield Village on May 17, 18 and 19. Plans were made for the bus trip.

Elton Twork, Ingham county forester, talked informally with the members about the trees in Columbia Creek park. He said 7 or 8 more shade trees are needed to replace the elm which died out. After visiting the park he was pleased to see such a good stand of red and white pine. He suggested sugar maples because the insects do not bother them, along with sycamore and weeping willow in various places. Also walnut trees should be planted.

The group will hold a clean-up varnish-up day on April 29 with a potluck dinner at noon. Bill Gavin's Boy Scouts and Mrs. Wesley Clark's Girl Scouts will help at the different chores making it easier for the "old" folks.

After this discussion, Mrs. Dolbee showed a film on Decorating the Home with flowers. Pine with other greens make lovely arrangements alone, but just add white mums to make a change without having to get different background material. The combination of Narcissus and Buttercups make a beautiful naturalistic design for certain spots too. Blossoming pearl-boughs used with yellow tulips really delight the eye. Pine boughs and clippings make good holding material in a vase and can be dried out and reused without deterioration.

The next meeting will be May 12, at the Aurelius Town hall with Mrs. A.B. Ziegler as Chairman. Mrs. Leslie Idings of the Lansing branch of National Farm and Garden will speak on "Keep Michigan Beautiful."

NEW ADDITION--Mrs. Pearl Horst food service supervisor at Mason General Hospital is extremely pleased with a new toaster presented to the hospital by Mr. and Mrs. James Glotta, formerly of Mason now living in Dimondale. The toaster can handle 24 slices of bread in 2 minutes, while the old toaster was a utility 4 slice machine.

PROUD BIKE OWNER---Seventh Grader, Betty Niswonger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Niswonger of 2363 E. Tomlinson road, was the second youngster to earn a free bicycle through The Ingham County News subscription contest. She sold 26 new subscriptions. Betty attends the Mason Junior High school and enjoys fishing, horseback riding, sewing and cooking.

WE'RE FIRST--Officers of Mason's Industrial Arts club are quite proud of their new jackets. Mason High's group is probably the first club to receive their jackets complete with the American Industrial Arts association emblem and members' names. Officers include (l to r) Gary Eddy, treasurer; Steve Collar, vice president; Art Kieselbach, president, and Clarence Carris, secretary.

MHS Industrial Arts Club Receives Jackets

By NANCY BROWN
Mason High School
Mason is the first school in Michigan to get the American Industrial Arts association club jacket.

The jackets are of a dark blue baracuda color with the club and members' name embroidered in red. The official club emblem in worn on the front.

Don Dexter and Lou Shephard are advisors to the club. President is Art Kieselbach, vice-president is Steve Collar, secretary is Clarence Carris and treasurer is Gary Eddy.

The goal of the club is to give the boys a chance to use their skills effectively. It's also to help the boys have a greater understanding of industry. By working together the fellows receive an understanding of each other and become a club of the school's.

NANCY

The club originated in Mason 3 years ago. Today it boasts 42 members. Library assistant along with Mrs. Snook attended a convention in Ann Arbor on Monday.

Representatives from many schools attended the session. Gym classes are busy playing championship badminton games. The mixed - doubles games began last week and the champions of each class will play phys - ed teachers Mr. DePue and Mrs. Webster.

A sock hop is scheduled for Friday, April 21. It is sponsored by the Seniors, who are raising money for their class trip May 27.

Tickets for the computer dance had to be turned in last Friday. Approximately 220 students signed up to see who their ideal date is. The revealing will be April 28 at a big dance.

One consolation, is that you don't have to stay with your match. The evening should prove to be quite interesting.

Baseball Season Starts

By MARSHA LOTT
Webberville High School
WEBBERVILLE -- The Webberville Spartans started their 1967 Baseball season off on a fine note Tuesday night by beating Dansville 7 to 6. Both teams displayed fine playing ability and it looks like the Spartans are going to have a fine season.

Starting 9 for Webberville were: John Swain, Jerry Hart, Tom Sawyer, Rich Davidson, Chuck Ross, Steve Chase, Roy McFarland, Dean Silsby, and Tim McDaniels.

The Spartans travel to Portland St. Patrick's Thursday night for their first league game.

All the senior English students have been busy doing term papers for their English IV class. Their papers could be on the topic of their choice and were to be 2,000 words long. The students have put many hours of work into their papers but know it is well worth while since many of them will be doing the same thing in college.

Students in speedwriting class also have been busy working on an assigned project. Each student was to interview a secretary and write a paper on what they learned from the interview, Thursday and Friday in class everyone was busy typing and writing their papers and are all hoping for a good grade.

Mr. West's government class members have become great orators lately. During the last 6 weeks they have given 2 speeches for the class. The first one was on Patriotism and what it meant to them. The second one was on democracy and whether they thought the majority were right more often than they were wrong in the decisions they made.

As each student gave his speech many interesting points of view were shown and an assignment like this gives everyone a chance to state his personal opinion.

SHS Junior Prom Set

By RUTH CAMP
Stockbridge High School

STOCKBRIDGE -- The school board said "no" to the idea of staging the junior prom at the American Legion hall. The board said this is in accordance with a provision that all school activities be conducted at the school whenever possible.

The J-Hop planned for the evening of May 12, will have an "Around the World" theme, featuring a huge central globe surrounded by decorations depicting themes of the past.

The Freshman sponsored "Chic Pic" turnabout dance last Friday night was well attended. Music was by the Concessions and the dance lasted from 8:30 until 11:30. Chaprons included Mr. and Mrs. Fred Streets, Mrs. Marvin Stephens, Mr. and Mrs. William Osterman and Robert Boyd.

The senior class has decided how to spend their 2 nights in Washington during their senior trip. Members of the class voted to go to the Cinema where they will see the movie, "The Bible." They will also attend the stage play, "Half a Sixpence" and tour the Wax museum.

Congratulations to the varsity baseball team for their 12-11 victory over Webberville last Thursday. The pitchers for Stockbridge were Dan Bloxom and Larrell Whitaker.

The junior varsity baseballers went all out in beating

Chelsea 10-0 last Wednesday. The week of sports was made complete when our tennis team won a match with Holt, 3-2.

The entire student body is proud to announce that Mr. Cronkrite's Ag. boys won the soil judging contest for the 5th straight year. Top students for SHS were Ron Steffey with 285 points; Mike Otis, 280; Duane Schoonover, 277; Jim Myer, 272; and Bill Allen, 245.

The 1968 Stockbridge High school yearbook staff has been selected and will soon be working on next year's edition of the Panther. They are: Diane Hazell, Ray Mikalonis, Faye Camp, Ann Meyer, Diane Neeley, Judy Collings.

The new uniforms for the senior band arrived last week. Within a short time they were sorted and issued to members of the band.

Since the bandmen were measured last spring, some of the new outfits will have to be refitted, but on the whole, everyone is well pleased with them. Seniors in the band will have a chance to wear the new uniforms twice before they graduate, once at the spring concert and again in the Memorial Day parade.

The Athletic club will be sponsoring a hootenanny Friday night at the school. There will be a dance right after the hootenanny that will last until midnight. The Ragging Storms of Findlay, Ohio, will play for the dance.

Theme writing students turned in their last assignment of the year last week. This year's class, large in number at the beginning, has now dwindled to just 5 students. For their last assignment, each student was required to write a personal essay.

Holt Homerooms Participate in Clean Up Week

By CONNIE BROWN
Holt High School
HOLT -- This week was Clean-Up Week at Holt High school. The Student Council Buildings and Grounds commission decided last fall that Clean-Up Week would be their project for the year.

After much planning and deliberation the week of April 10-14 was decided upon for the event. Homerooms were asked to decorate their bulletin boards in their homerooms. One bulletin board in each homeroom was supposed to pertain to the theme of Clean-Up Week. The Commission divided into 2 groups. Each group took half the homerooms and judged their bulletin boards Thursday and Friday. The bulletin boards were judged on the basis of originality, pertinence to Clean-Up Week, use of material, neatness and color. The winning homerooms were announced late Friday afternoon.

Because of the enthusiasm for Clean-Up Week the Commission was unable to choose only one winning homeroom. Instead, 3 were selected to tie for 2nd place and one was chosen to win. The winning bulletin board was done by the seniors in Mrs. Freda Winkler's homeroom. The 3 homerooms tied for second place were Mr. Rex Richardson's seniors, Mrs. Naomi Cheryholme's juniors; and Mrs. Leon Steinfatt's sophomores.

Holt High School Literature club met Monday evening. The main topic of discussion was a trip to Detroit to see the presentation of "Romeo and Juliet." The date planned for the trip is May 4. Mrs. Norma Hood, sponsor of the club, will accompany the group.

Tuesday afternoon the senior girls attended a tea at the Dimondale Elementary school. The tea, sponsored by the Dimondale Culture club, was to honor the girls and their mothers. The girls were dismissed from school at 1:30 and either went with their mothers or on a school bus. The seniors received a corsage and a gift with everyone welcomed by Mrs. John Sullivan, president elect of the Dimondale Culture club.

Entertainment at the tea included a flute duet by Linda Hadwin and Diane Jarrad, a solo by Sue McCabe accompanied by Mr. Ronald Allen, and a bassoon duet by Jean Nethery and Maxine Wood. All 5 girls are juniors at Holt High.

Mrs. William Nethery, program chairman, introduced the guest speaker, Reverend Father Michael Beahan. Reverend Beahan has conducted a television program "Fifteen with Father" for the past 15 years. He spoke on success and definitions of success. He left the girls with some very important points to ponder.

Following his oration, the girls and their mothers were served punch and cookies. Several of the women faculty members of Holt High accompanied the girls to the tea. The Annual Staff met Wednesday evening. The group continued work on various layouts and worked on identifying pictures. There was further discussion about the dedication of the annual but as yet no definite arrangements have been made.

Softball, dodgeball, and tumbling were the order of the evening when the Girls' Athletic association held a play night Wednesday evening. The weather was nice and allowed 2 teams of girls to play softball outside while the others played dodgeball and tumbling.

When the girls could no longer see the softball - and couldn't find the plates - they came inside where the entire group formed 2 basketball

Williamston Senior Play Is Presented

By CHRIS STEWART
Williamston High School

WILLIAMSTON -- The seniors at Williamston High school presented their senior play, "Midsummer's night Dream," on Thursday and Friday night April 13 and 14.

A frustrated Greek father tries to force an unwanted marriage of his daughter, while she is desperately in love with a nother man. Another girl, a twin, loves the father-picked suitor, so 2 sets of lovers flee to the forest where their dilemmas are confused even more by the forest fairies and a mischievous sprite named Puck.

The real humor comes from the ridiculous behavior of people in love and from a motley crew of rustics who attempt to rehearse a play in the forest but are thwarted when their lead actor's head is transformed into that of an ass by luck. Everything results in major confusion but true love prevails and the rustics successfully present their play for the duke.

The cast of character in order of appearance were Theseus (Duke) Mike Vincent, Hippolyta (queen of the Amazons) Sue Espinoza, Egeus (Greek father) Keith Allen, (See SENIOR PLAY Page B-9)

BAN ON LITTER--Holt High's Student Council successfully promoted a "Clean up Week" at the school. One of the things accounting for the success were any number of original posters and bulletin boards. This particular one was designed and created by 3 teens (l to r) Eldon Bennett, Barry Ballard and Phil Bennett.

High Corn Plant Population Pays

In 122 of 161 experiments in Michigan, a corn population of about 16,000 plants an acre yielded 15 percent more corn than 12,000 plants an acre. Populations of 20,000 plants had higher yield in 27 of the 135 comparisons but the average increase was only 3 percent above 16,000 population.

It's Sugar Sweet

About four-fifths of liquid honey (by weight) is sugar. It is mostly simple forms of sugar which can be easily absorbed by the body, foods specialist with the Cooperative Extension Service say.

R.C. Lott, Ingham county extension agricultural agent, thinks farmers who plan to step up the plant population in corn this year should be certain that they are setting their planter right. MSU Extension Bulletin 436, available at the Ingham county Extension office, gives a complete, easy-to-read table that will help farmers determine the rate of planting.

The county agent warns, however, that while plant population can be too low it can also be too high. This will result in lower yields when moisture is a limiting factor. Farmers must also remember that fertilizer needs are increased by higher plant population and lodging frequently increases which could make higher harvest losses.

Corn growers will find 3 Michigan corn production publications EB 436, EB 439, and EB 440, helpful in cultural practices, insect control and weed control. All are available at the Ingham county Extension office.

Planes to Spray For Gypsy Moth

A small scale aerial war will be waged in the woodlots and hedgerows of Calhoun county this spring in an effort to protect all of Michigan from the devastations of the gypsy moth.

Seventeen thousand acres near Duck lake are scheduled for spraying in May, according to the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

Detection of gypsy moth in Clarence township, Calhoun county, last summer prompted the renewed efforts to eradicate the leaf-chewing pest.

The gypsy moth, capable of destroying shade trees, orchards and millions of acres of forests, was first discovered in Michigan in 1954. Traps set by the state and federal departments of agriculture detected the arrival of the moth in Michigan, as feared.

"Within weeks of its first discovery, an eradication campaign began," said Dean Lovitt, chief of the plant industry division of the Michigan Department of Agriculture. "By 1962, no trace of a gypsy moth could be discovered in Michigan."

Traps were set each year, however, since no chances could be taken. Gypsy moth larvae have already chewed the leaves off millions of acres of trees in northeastern states.

Upon finding gypsy moth in July, 1966, for the first time in 4 years, trapping was intensified. The infestation was pinpointed within Clarence township, generally around the north side of Duck lake.

Plans call for 2 aerial applications of an insecticide, Sevin, to woods, hedges and brushy areas of 17,000 acres of the township. The chemical used has extremely low toxicity to domestic animals, wildlife, birds and fish.

AGRICULTURE IN ACTION

State Farmers Unhappy With Federal Programs

BY MELVIN WOELL

The current campaign to pass federal laws curbing and controlling the sale of certain guns, was a final straw to outdoor writer Gene Little of the Lansing State Journal. His pointed observations follow:

Either through apathy or ignorance, the people of our country have traded away or given away their rights to control their own destinies, until now we have come to the place where the proverbial last straw is about to be placed.

The move started innocently enough back in 1887 when funds were authorized for the payment to states that would establish agricultural experiment stations. A recent report by a Senate subcommittee on intergovernmental relations indicates that there are now well over 100 different programs, with 200 or more authorizations for federal aid, in the form of money and the final control by an all-seeing, all-powerful government.

In the field of natural resources alone we have nearly 30 different programs, financed in part or in whole by the federal government. And with these funds come the inevitable control.

In Michigan the federal government has a foot in the door in almost every program in progress. The success or failure of every one of these programs is at the whim of the government and not with the resource agency charged with the responsibility by law.

It is unfortunate indeed that the home-grown legislator for many years past could not see far enough ahead to determine the need and the rightness of some of the things that we are being spoon-fed from Washington.

Now they are passing the laws down there and are, in effect, saying that if you don't cooperate to the fullest and enact this type of legislation, the money (our money) will go to some other state...

With every grant of money, there are inevitable strings attached. These strings can be yanked at any time and the states can find themselves lifeless on the stage, at the pleasure of the federal agencies.

Now comes the federal spectre again and almost at gunpoint requests states to pass gun laws that are unreasonable and restrictive, or else face federal laws that are more restrictive. No doubt there are funds that could be withheld and other "considerations" to be dealt with until we do hamstring the honest sportsmen with unrealistic red-tape.

The thing that I want to bring out here is that the time is perhaps come... now... when we should reverse this trend toward a one-government system that controls the activities of all of us from sunrise to sun-down, from birth until death.

But it will never happen unless we want it to.

New Potato Publication Is Offered

"Potato Production in Michigan" is a new Michigan State university publication of interest to potato farmers and others considering going into potato production in Michigan. R.C. Lott, Ingham county extension agricultural agent says the new publication gives some general ideas regarding soil requirements, recommended seed varieties, preparation of the soil and the seed, planting and fertilizing, disease and insect control, harvesting and storage.

The agricultural agent points to the continued transition many farmers are making from small acreage to large-scale, specialized potato production. Potato yields are increasing rapidly due to new technology and specialization.

The new publication, Extension Bulletin 546, is available at the Ingham county Extension office.

Don't Confuse Fescues When Seeding Lawn

When seeding your lawn this spring, don't confuse your fescues.

Some make attractive, fine-leaved lawns; others look more like tough, hardy clumps suitable for roadsides, but not for front lawns.

C. M. Harrison, Michigan State university crop scientist, points out that the preferred fescues are members of the "creeping red" species. Any one of its improved varieties is a worthy ingredient in a lawn seed mixture.

Harrison says the varieties to look for include "Chewings," "Illabe," "Pennlawn" and "Rainier." All are excellent companions for Kentucky bluegrass, he says, and are noted for persistence on poor, droughty or shaded areas.

But the MSU crop scientist warns home owners to beware of the less favorable coarse, bunchy, "tall fescue." This includes "Alta" or "Kentucky-31" which are not suitable for attractive lawns.

Action Taken To Bolster Dairy Prices

Further action was taken by Secretary of Agriculture, Orville L. Freeman, recently to bolster market prices for dairy products, Frank Light, chairman of the Michigan Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, reported today.

Action taken by the Secretary, Light added, was the announcement that dairy products acquired by CCC under the Dairy Price Support program, would not be offered for sale back to the domestic market at less than 110 percent of the purchase price. This would prevent government stocks from competing with current production and would eliminate any possibility of such stocks depressing the market.

At the same time the Secretary also announced that present support prices for dairy products would be continued through the 1967-68 marketing year which ends April 1, 1968.

The current support price, Light added, is $4 per hundredweight for manufacturing milk and 68 cents per pound for butterfat. These support prices have been in effect since June 1966 and were increased at that time from $3.50 per hundredweight for milk and 61.8 cents per pound for butterfat in an effort to stem the downward trend in milk production.

Light noted that this action is consistent with the objectives of the United States Department of Agriculture in administering the Food and Agricultural Act of 1965, and follows other concerted action by the Secretary to improve farm income and help the dairy farmer stay in business.

ANNOUNCING

Spring Market Outlook Dependent on Weather

The April outlook for farm prices is based more on the weather and planting reports than on what's happening in the marketplaces for farm products.

Dr. John Ferris, Michigan State university agricultural economist, finds weather's influence on wheat crop conditions in the Great Plains and on spring crop planting influences all grain markets greatly at this time of year. Livestock and egg price outlook is influenced to some extent by crop reports for feed supplies.

In Ferris' early April report, here is the outlook by commodity:

MILK -- With Michigan Class I price $1 a hundred-weight over Milwaukee, Wisconsin there continues to be movement of Wisconsin milk into Michigan. Base price in Detroit area is expected to hold from $5.40 to $5.50 about 60 to 70 cents a hundredweight over a year ago. Volume has been decreasing 5 to 6 percent over a year ago and estimates for late March during withholding action by some farmers indicate only a slight increase in the trend.

CATTLE -- The short term price outlook is "touchy" but long range better. Increased pressures on the market will continue through about July, after which supplies should taper off and prices improve. There may be fewer "dairy type" cattle on the market in the future due to cutbacks in dairy cattle breeding and fewer calves to go into feedlots.

HOGS -- Optimism has been dampened by recent drops to as low as 18 cents due to larger supplies. Farrowings continue to increase, according to estimates, but in some sources market men feel the butcher supply may be lower in months ahead.

LAMBS -- Liquidation of flocks continues but heavy slaughter may tend to improve the lamb prices after the quantity available lessens. Wool prices have dropped sharply and there may be some recovery, but not back to the 52-cent level averaged in 1966 in Michigan.

EGGS -- Prices continue below a year ago and while some improvement is indicated, prices will not be as high as last summer.

TURKEYS -- Hatchings indicate another big crop on the way -- even larger than a year ago -- and this may mean lower prices to growers.

WHEAT -- Wheat continues to be strictly a "weather market" based on conditions in the Great Plains. USDA has not increased export subsidies. Exporters cannot compete in dollar markets without subsidies unless domestic prices are down to world prices.

DRY BEANS -- Acreage reduction anticipated but carry-over is large. Much depends on plantings and crop condition.

SOYBEANS -- Record U.S. and Michigan plantings are anticipated with soybean acreage exceeding oats in Michigan for first time in history. Prices are expected to hold above the support rate.

CORN -- Increased planting intentions will not greatly influence price because of the need to replenish feed grain supplies. A poor growing season, however, could result in a tight supply situation and higher prices.

Dairy cattle breeding management is still the major limiting factor in reaching economic levels of milk production per cow. No time is the time to give up. There are no one shot wonder remedies.

The problem stems from many dairy herd environmental conditions. However, this doesn't mean that no one can help you improve the breeding management in your herd. The first bit of advice is to keep individual cow health and breeding history records. They are necessary first, in order to identify the extent of the breeding problem and secondly, to record your efforts of treatment and guide the veterinarian in diagnosis and treatment of individual animals.

If you haven't yet started keeping your Ingham county individual cow herd health records better get started now. The second bit of advice is to use your veterinarian to a greater advantage in dealing with the hard breeders in your herd. Dairy farmers' first falling step is taken when they decide to call the veterinarian's attention to the problem cows. This means you do the diagnosis and the veterinarian simply administers treatment.

Anybody can administer the treatment but not everyone can diagnose - that's why veterinarians spend 6 years in training. When you try the diagnostic work yourself, the resulting problems are the real sterility victims in the dairy herd go unnoticed.

Instead, I suggest you follow a different approach with your veterinarian. Ask him to examine all cows periodically for sterility conditions. He will likely want a record of each cow starting with calving, calving problems and following clear through the lactation. Ask the veterinarian what you can do to help him, not what he can do to help you.

These 2 rather simple steps could result in $100 more milk sales per cow than many dairymen now get. If you want to see how you did last year divide your milk income gross by the average number of dry milking cows kept in the herd last year. The average dairymen on telfarm in Ingham county received $645 milk sales per cow. The highest was $820 - the low was $456.

Governor Announces Annual Arbor Week

It will be Arbor Week again this year - April 23-29 - instead of Arbor Day.

Breaking with tradition to promote an extended salute to trees in Michigan Governor Romney last year, at the request of the Michigan Association of Nurserymen signed a proclamation calling for a week's observance rather than one or 2 days as in the past. Last year's Arbor Week was so popular that it was repeated this year.

"Because of the increased interest in, and the importance of, the statewide 'Keep Michigan Beautiful' program, one or 2 days do not afford enough time and opportunity for a full and proper obser-vanee of Arbor Day" Governor Romney explained.

As in the past the Governor will plant a tree on the State Capitol lawn furnished by the nurserymen, who will also, as in the past, place a potted evergreen tree on the desk of each member of the legislature and state official during Arbor Week. Before that the legislature will pass a concurrent resolution calling upon the people of Michigan to plant trees during Arbor Week.

Keep Michigan Beautiful, incorporated, will hold its annual meeting at the Lansing Civic Center, Wednesday, April 26, and will join with the nurserymen in the tree planting ceremonies on the State Capitol lawn.

The Michigan Education association is urging all school superintendents to hold tree planting programs on their school grounds. Municipalities, service organizations and other groups are urged to participate.

The five regional chapters of the Michigan Association of Nurserymen at Detroit, Lansing, Saginaw, Kalamazoo and Grand Rapids will aid groups and individuals with their programs.

For information and program material they may contact M.A.N. headquarters at Lansing, P.O. Box 5367, Phone (517) 484-0479 and the Michigan Conservation department, publications room, Stevens T. Mason building, Lansing, Michigan 48926.

Soybean Varieties Listed for State

Soybean varieties available in 1967 in Michigan are about the same as in 1966.

R.C. Lott, Ingham county extension agricultural agent says Chippewa 64 is still the best early variety for the southern part of lower Michigan. Harosoy 63 is the best variety for the southern 2 tiers of counties as a mid-season to full-season bean.

Records at East Lansing show Harosoy 63 is slightly late for the south central section even though it is grown by many producers in that area. Some growers like Lindarin 63 because it stands slightly better than Harosoy. However, Harosoy 63 yields a little more. All of these varieties are resistant to the disease Phytophthora rootrot.

Also on the recommended list for the southern tier of counties is Hawkeye. Although soybeans are not recommended for an area north of Isabella county, either Acme or Portage varieties could be used if the farmer wants to gamble.

S.C. Hildebrand, Michigan State university crop scientist, says Amsoy, a new variety from Iowa, is on the recommended list but seed may be hard to get this year.

Michigan Certified Seed growers will be producing it in quantity for certified seed next year. This variety is of Hawkeye maturity and is best in the southern tier of counties only. Growers who have had problems with Phytophthora rootrot are warned that the new variety does not have resistance.

Another new variety for Michigan in 1968 will be the Hark. It is mid-way between Chippewa 64 and Harosoy 63 in maturity and in tests at East Lansing and in Monroe county it has yielded well. Hildebrand thinks it should do well as a moderately early variety in the southern tier of counties and mid to full-season bean in south central lower Michigan. It does not have resistance to Phytophthora rootrot.

Farmers planting soybeans on organic soils should try Acme or Portage, the county agent suggests.

Zinc Lack Cause, Cure Determined

Research is helping to rescue Michigan pea bean farmers from a severe case of "over efficiency."

For years, these farmers used the most modern techniques to test their soils for possible phosphorus deficiency. And, when these shortages did exist, they applied the latest phosphorus fertilizers.

Yet, despite their efforts, many growers were actually getting lower yields.

The reason: zinc deficiency. But Michigan State university research shows that the deficiency can be easily corrected. Soil scientists Ray L. Cook, J. Fred Davis and Boyd G. Ellis found that as little as nine-tenths of a pound of zinc per acre, applied as a chelate, has more than doubled bean yields where residual phosphorus is 36 pounds per acre or higher.

"Until recent years in Michigan," they said, "we thought we could not cause damage with excessive applications of phosphorus. We were wrong! Excessive phosphorus induces zinc and/or iron deficiency in plants to the extent of depressing yields."

"Our field trials showed that yields without zinc was 10.7 bushels an acre. When nine-tenths of a pound was applied as a chelate, average yields jumped to 24.5 bushels an acre."

The MSU researchers were also able to increase yields with zinc on soils where soil phosphorus tests were medium to low, but the increase was only 3.6 bushels compared to the 13.8 increase on soils high in residual phosphorus.

"Our research showed that, without zinc, an application of 32 pounds of phosphorus in a band close to the seed caused a significant reduction in yield of beans," reported the scientists. "Larger applications of phosphorus caused a complete yield failure."

"But when zinc was mixed with the phosphorus fertilizer, the applications actually increased yield of the mature beans. Furthermore, zinc uptake was greatly increased by having zinc in the fertilizer."

Cook, Davis and Ellis further noted that iron, applied as a chelate, also substantially increased bean yields on soils containing high levels of residual phosphorus. Even higher yields were obtained by applying both iron and zinc chelates.

"As fertilizer usage is extended to the limit, these and other micronutrient deficiencies will become evident," said the scientists. "We must keep plant nutrient supplies in balance if top yields and quality are to be obtained."

Corn Tillage Field Day Is Slated on April 28

West central Michigan corn growers may find some new techniques for higher corn yields demonstrated at a field day to be held April 28 at the Vern Wegner farm in Kent county near M-50 and I-96 highways.

R.C. Lott, Ingham county Extension agricultural agent, says the event will be sponsored by the Michigan Cooperative Extension service and machinery and equipment companies.

The Wegner farm is at 11554 One Hundredth street, Alto. Directions will be well marked at intersections in the area.

New equipment and techniques for preparing seedbeds and planting corn will be emphasized. There will be demonstrations of minimum tillage along with use of wide and narrow-row planting equipment.

The event will begin at 10 a.m. with Robert White, MSU extension agricultural engineer, in charge of the program.

Agricultural agents Robert Knisley, Kent county; William Pryer, Ionia county and Arthur Steeby, Barry county, are working out the local details.

"Egg Factory"

The trend in Michigan egg production is toward large flocks of laying hens concentrated in modern "egg factories," according to the Michigan Department of Agriculture. Some Michigan farms have more than 40,000 laying hens in production at one time.

WWI Veterans Honored in Resolution

Republican State Representative Philip O. Pittenger of Lansing is the co-sponsor of a resolution honoring World War I Veterans. The resolution came on the 50th anniversary of the beginning of World War I, April 6.

The resolution was co-sponsored by Pittenger and Democratic Representative Joseph M. Snyder and was offered to commemorate the sacrifice of Michigan veterans of that war.

Pittenger, chairman of the house committee on Military and Veterans' Affairs, said he was honored to have a part in paying tribute to the 150,000 Michigan citizens who responded to that war. It is particularly designed to honor the 78,000 who still remain, Pittenger said.

Governor Romney Reports

Effective Implied Consent Legislation Seen Necessary

More people were killed and injured on Michigan's streets and highways in 1966 than in any other year in the history of our state.

And a drinking driver was involved in more than half of the fatal accidents.

To combat this problem, our law enforcement officials need more effective tools to reduce and control the problem of drinking drivers.

In special messages of the Legislature this year and last year, I suggested just such a tool.

In both messages, I urged passage of effective implied consent legislation.

This legislation would write into law the principle that a driver who had obtained a license had given implied consent to a chemical test if he was arrested or involved in an accident and suspected of drunk driving.

The legislation would provide for revocation of a driver's license by administrative action if he refused to take the test.

What I consider to be an effective bill was introduced in the legislature early this year. Since then, however, a substitute bill has been introduced. The substitute has 2 distinct shortcomings.

First, it provides that any person who has been arrested on a charge of drunk driving will be guilty of a crime if he refuses to take the test. In my opinion, this raises very serious constitutional questions.

Second, the substitute requires that the test must be performed "by qualified medical personnel in a medical environment."

In recent years, great confidence has been developed in the use of breath-testing equipment used by police in station houses in some areas. The required use of medical personnel in a medical environment would be a severe handicap to those who already have effective programs underway.

Others whose judgment I respect in the traffic safety field, including State Police Director Fredrick E. Davids and Detroit Recorder's Court Judge Richard M. Maher, have strongly opposed the substitute bill on the two points I mentioned earlier, as well as others.

They both have said they would prefer no new legislation to the substitute bill.

But failure to enact an implied consent law by December 31, 1968, could lead to the loss of 10 percent of the federal highway funds the state currently receives.

The national highway safety act allows the national highway safety administrator to cut federal highway funds to a state if it does not have a satisfactory highway safety program.

And the proposed standards by which a state's program would be judged call specifically for an implied consent law.

Any cut in the amount the state is able to spend on its highways would be a further blow to the safety of our highways.

Therefore, I strongly favor enactment of the implied consent bill as it originally was introduced in the House of Representatives.

Library System Serves 60,000 Persons in County

The Ingham county library system serves almost 60,000 persons in the county with the Mason library, 11 branch libraries and a bookmobile as stated in the annual report for 1966.

Renwick Garypie, director of the system, said the library has a "hot line", a system of telephone calls which has replaced the mail for referral of questions and requests to the Mason library reference department.

The staff is well qualified to answer questions with the hiring of 3 new professional staff members each of whom has master degrees in library science.

The library is zeroing in on the specific needs of the public as the information desk at Mason is now staffed 66 hours a week by trained librarians.

The Ingham county library system has over 68,000 books, over 1,100 filmstrips, 211 record albums and 184 magazine subscriptions with a backlog for most of them of 5 years.

More than 287,000 books were loaned to persons in 1966 and the bookmobile traveled more than 8,500 miles to serve the public.

Girl Scout Troop To Aid Handicapped

Lansing's most recently organized senior girl scout troop No. 32, has chosen to make special instructional materials for its troop service project of the year. These materials will be utilized by the Ingham Intermediate Special Education staff in its work with handicapped children throughout Ingham County.

At present, Troop 32 is the largest senior girl Scout troop in the Tri-county area. The troop is composed of 20 girls of high school age. Troop membership includes girls from Everett high school and Sexton high school in Lansing, Waverly high school, Grand Ledge high school, East Lansing high school and high school students from the Michigan School for the Blind. Included among the members are high school exchange students from Ireland and Sweden.

Contact with the troop was made by Mrs. Jane Scandary, teacher counselor for the physically handicapped, who spoke to the troop about the need for specially made materials for some of the children with whom she, and other members of the Ingham Intermediate staff, worked. The girls expressed an interest in assisting in the making of these materials, and planned to spend a portion of their weekly meeting time in this project. The troop has made a large number of acetate-covered folders for the children's use. Heavy cardboard templates were also made by the troop. Paper for the templates was donated by the Triquet Paper Company of Lansing.

Mrs. Richard Newport and Mrs. Paul Flink of the Waverly school district are advisors to the troop.

Michigan's Traffic Deaths Up Seven Percent for 1966

Michigan's traffic accidents in 1966 caused record totals of 2,296 deaths and 156,694 persons injured, according to State Police final tabulation for the year. The former death mark was 2,175 in 1965.

Fatalities were up by 100 or 7 percent over 2,136 the year before while injuries topped by 1,436 or one percent the previous high of 155,258 in 1965. It was the 5th successive annual rise for deaths, the 8th for injuries.

However, the 302,880 reported accidents were down

7,718 or 2.5 percent from the all-time high of 310,598 in 1965, the first reduction after 4 successive years of increases.

It was the 3rd year in a row and the 6th time in 34 years of record keeping that deaths exceeded the 2,000 mark in Michigan.

Total casualties, deaths and injuries combined, set a new annual high for the 5th consecutive year.

Exposure factors showed gains too: Licensed drivers by 1.8 percent to 4,806,266, registered motor vehicles by 1.4 percent to 4,133,199, and estimated travel mileage by 6 percent to 43.9 billions. All these totals also are new highs.

Despite the exposure gains, the death rate per 100 million vehicle travel miles remained at 5.2, the same as in 1965.

The estimated cost of accidents was $415 million, a new high and an increase of $30 million or 6.5 percent over $385 million the year before.

Four types of accidents accounted for 2,096 or 91.3 percent of the deaths: Collisions between vehicles killed 1,034 or 45.3 percent, ran off roadway accidents, 517 or 22.4 percent, car-pedestrian accidents, 386 or 16.7 percent, and collisions with fixed objects, 159 or 6.9 percent.

Most of the deaths, 1,548 or 67 percent, occurred in rural areas while most of the injuries, 97,983 or 62 percent, and most of the accidents, 215,172 or 71 percent, happened in urban areas.

Jurist's Portrait Presented April, May, June Are Tornado Danger Months

A portrait of the late George E. Bushnell, former associate justice of the Michigan supreme court from 1933 to 1955, was presented to that court in formal ceremony Tuesday, April 11, at the state capitol in Lansing.

Justice Bushnell's portrait will be placed with those of other famous Michigan justices in the supreme court chambers.

Among those attending the ceremony was George E. Bushnell, Jr., son of the late justice and a past president of the Detroit Bar association, and Mrs. Bushnell, Jr., his wife. Unable to attend the ceremony, due to illness, was Mrs. Ida Mary Bushnell, widow of the late justice.

Presenting the portrait to the Supreme Court in behalf of the family was Roscoe O. Bonisteel, an Ann Arbor attorney, and past president of the State Bar of Michigan.

Remarks were made by William M. Ellmann, of Detroit, president of the State Bar, and John R. Dethmers, chief justice of the Michigan supreme court.

Assisting in the unveiling was Roy C. Gamble, noted Detroit artist who painted Justice Bushnell's portrait in 1955.

April, May and June are months of maximum tornado danger in Michigan, according to the Michigan Weather Service, which keeps tornado records and plots the paths of expected danger.

Next most dangerous tornado months are March, July and August. No tornadoes have ever been recorded in Michigan in November, December or January according to the weather service, which is operated in conjunction with the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

A highly accurate forecasting system generally gives 3 to 5 hours of warning. By tracking winds aloft with radar equipped balloons, the path of tornadoes can be predicted with 90 percent accuracy.

Tornadoes occur when cold and violent winds of the upper atmosphere, sometimes up to 200 miles per hour or more, cross the path of warm, moisture-laden winds near the earth's surface. Drastic differences of air pressure at the intersection cause a whirling vortex, the tornado funnel.

A house or building near the funnel may literally explode outward, due to the vacuum created as air rushes upward in the core of the tornado funnel.

Around the funnel, for as much as a quarter of a mile, swirling winds may reach ground velocities of up to 300 miles per hour. All the while, the funnel skips across the land at speeds upwards of 20 miles per hour.

While modern records seem to indicate a growing frequency of tornadoes, weather service officials point out that this is probably due to better reporting, rather than any great increase in tornado activity.

GAS INCINERATOR

Sounds like magic doesn't it? But it's a "sleight of hand trick" that more and more modern housewives are performing. You just drop burnable garbage and papers into a Gas incinerator - NO SMOKE, NO ODOR, NO MESS - trash and refuse disappear! All that's left is a small mound of fine white ash that's ideal for fertilizing flower beds. For an encore you can make the garbage can disappear too - you won't need it!

Lansing Recovery Inc. Marks 13th Birthday

The Lansing district of Recovery, Inc., the national mental health organization, had its anniversary dinner Thursday night in Lansing to celebrate the 13th birthday anniversary of the Lansing unit.

Dr. H. C. Tien, neuro-psychiatrist, talked on mental health. There was also a panel discussion on the after-care techniques developed by Dr. A. A. Low, founder of Recovery, Inc., 30 years ago.

The self-help group has 160 groups in Michigan alone meeting regularly each week.

Lansing has 7 such groups with each group led by a former mental patient or someone who has suffered from a nervous disorder. Leaders are trained in methods developed by Dr. Low in helping others to help themselves to return to useful lives.

Guests of honor at the birthday dinner were Mayor and Mrs. Max Murningham of Lansing, Dr. and Mrs. Tien and Dr. Charles Orlebeke, representing the governor's office.

Special guests were Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Stanley, director of Ingham Medical hospital; Charles Stolz of the governor's human resources council; Mrs. Lenore Kromen, director of the Lansing consultation center; Mrs. Imogene Farrell of the social welfare staff of Ingham Medical; Mrs. Dorothy Rozan, director of the Family Services agency, and Manfred Lilliefors, representing the Community Services council.

Mrs. Jessie Porter Has 91st Birthday

WILLIAMSTON -- Jessie Porter, a well known resident of the Williamston area, observed her 91st birthday this month.

Mrs. Porter has lived this 91 years in Ingham county. She was born in Leroy township and received her early education in the Podunk and Lee schools.

On September 27, 1899, Jessie Rouse was married to Clayton Porter at the home of her parents.

The Congregational pastor, Rev. Wiedenhoff, officiated at the ceremony.

In 1910 Mr. and Mrs. Porter moved to the Porter home- stead on Holt road, which has been her home since that time. Porter died in 1958.

The Clayton Porters were active in community life and Mrs. Porter still enjoys the family gatherings, lodge meetings and other gatherings with friends.

They were members of the First Baptist church, the Masonic Orders, Eastern Star and I.O.O.F. fraternities, the Farm Bureau and Larkin club.

Mrs. Porter is a member of the Past Matron's club of the Eastern Star and a past president of the Woman's club.

On the occasion of her birth-

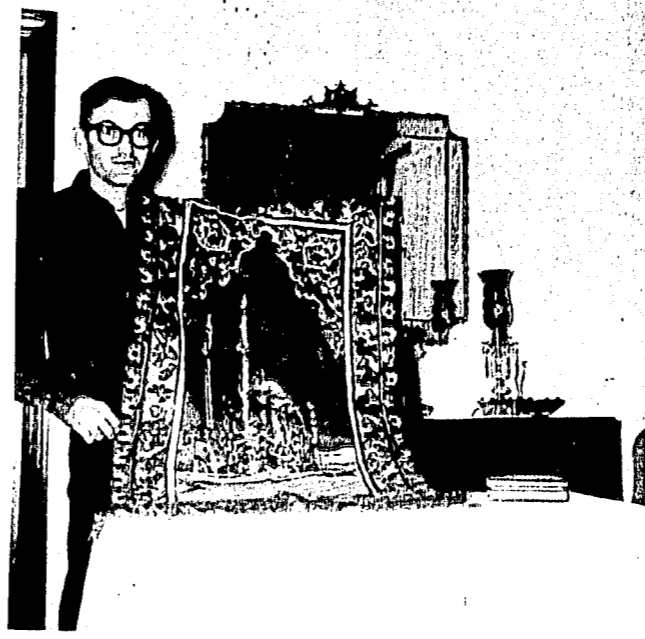

MRS. JESSIE PORTER

day she was a guest of her sister, Mrs. Emma Dunn of Perry, and enjoyed the celebration with her nephew, William R. Dunn and his daughter, Susan.

When she returned to her home she found the Vera Risch family had planned a birthday dinner party for the following Sunday and 25 members of the family enjoyed a bohemian dinner and brought a birthday gift of a Polaroid camera for the honor guest.

Jessie Porter's kind, gentle manner has won for her many friends who shower her with good wishes on her birthday anniversaries.

Arlin Head displays a piece of hand weaving from Turkey.

Arlin Head Returns From Oversea Service

WILLIAMSTON -- S.P. 5 Arlin Head is home from Turkey. Home after 2 years in U.S. Army service, one year in training in specialized communication and the past year at Sinop on the Black sea.

His location was a fixed field station-an American base for 600 men stationed alongside the Turkish station. Each base operated under its separate administrations.

After 3 weeks leave here Head will take up his army duties at Fort Meade, Maryland.

An alumnus of Williamston high school and a former student of MSU Head was associated with 4-H and FFA work through the years he lived in Williamston.

When he arrived home he changed his army uniform for farm clothes and gave his car a workout. He then got the big tractor out to do some plowing on the Head farm.

While in Turkey he saw farming in a different manner. In some places instead of the big plows turning 6 furrows or more, the ground was "plowed" with a crooked stick, he said.

In other places modern equipment was used.

While stationed at Sinop, 2 friends from the army base accompanied him on a European trip, visiting London, Paris, Frankfurt and Athens.

At a birthday dinner party on Sunday slides were shown by Head and Gary Benjamin of various points of interest in Turkey as well as the trip to Europe.

Musical Carousel Is LHS Success

By SHARON GRINNELL
Leslie High School

LESLIE -- The musical, "Carousel", by Rodgers and Hammerstein drew capacity crowds to the L.H.S. cafeteria on April 13, 14 and 15.

The story takes place on the new England coast from 1873-

1888. Near an amusement park.

Billy Bigelow, the amusement park's carousel barker, meets and falls in love with young Julie Jordan. They marry, and later, Billy is accidentally killed in an attempt to steal money for his unborn child.

Portraying Billy Bigelow excellently were Max Lantz and Lee Gilman. Tetra Robinson did a wonderful job as Julie Jordan, and Joan Wright played a delightfully impish Carrie Pipperidge.

Linda Webber as Nettie Fowler drew many a tear as she consoled Julie upon Billy's death by singing "You'll Never Walk Alone". Other lead performers were Enoch Snow, portrayed by Rick Townsend; Jigger Craigin portrayed by Vince Bridge; and Mrs. Mullin, owner of the carousel, portrayed by Shari Wellman.

Special recognition goes also to Carmen Lantz and Mickey Cortis for their beautiful ballet scene as Billy was gazing down from heaven.

Settings for the musical were the work of art teacher William Reyer. Mrs. Fowler was responsible for the choreography. Mrs. Donald Crakes was the accompanist for the show under the direction of Mrs. Donald Crane.

On May 8, Kenneth Parr's sociology classes will spend the day in Coldwater touring the institution there.

Vicki Waters, president of the Leslie Chapter of F.T.A., reports only a few chocolate-almond candy bars on hand. F.T.A. members have been selling the candy as their year-making project for the year.

The Junior class are planning to sell nylon parkas and colored tee-shirts bearing the Leslie High school emblem.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist churches will be at the Assembly church in Flint, April 26, from 9:45 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Miss V. Otto, a returned missionary, will be the guest speaker.

The Interboard School of Training at Stockbridge Methodist church is set for Saturday, May 6.

James Cooper is recovering at Lansing General hospital, following major surgery.

teams and had a vigorous game of basketball. Following this game, refreshments were served.

The GAA plans a horseback riding expedition on April 22.

Thursday morning the sophomore class officers met with Mr. M. Chandler Nauts, high school principal, and Mr. Lee Zimmerman, representative of the L.G. Balfour company, to select a ring style for the class. After about an hour of deliberation they finally agreed upon the style of which revolves around an hourglass type design.

In previous years the class officers have selected 2 ring styles but because of the increasing size of the classes it was not feasible to do it this year. In addition to the style chosen by the class officers, the traditional school ring will be offered. Mr. Zimmerman will return later this spring to take orders for the rings.

Class officers making the selection were Fred Goff, president; Dan Adcock, vice president; Nora Mitchell, treasurer, and Shirley Cooley, secretary.

Student Council met Thursday morning for further consideration of Twirp Week. It was voted to have Clash Day. If approved, the event will take place Thursday, April 27. The Student Council also hopes to have other such days later in the year or next year.

Two tryouts were planned for the Student Council Talent show. One was held Thursday after school. The other will be held this week for those unable to attend the first try-out.

On the panel to judge the acts are Linda Adams, Joan Bauer, Nina Havens, Julie Jennings, and Margarita Schmidt. Mr. Dan Hovanessian will also be on hand to aid in the judging.

The committee in charge of assemblies for next year has agreed on 2. The first will be a lecture by Dr. Leroy Augenstein, and the second a trampoline spaceball act. Another assembly will be chosen by the Student Council of next year.

Student Council passed a motion to take collections in the homerooms for the purpose of buying play equipment for the White Lily Orphanage in Korea. Money from the Student Council treasury will be added to the donations.

Earlier this month Student Council treasury will be added to the donations.

Earlier this month Student Council discussed the possibility of students being allowed to wear bermudas during exams, but the proposal was vetted. Student Council discussed the possibility of having a Bermuda Day in late spring.

Judy Rasey was appointed to look into this matter. There was some discussion about school policy and several suggestions for improvements around the school.

Friday after school there was a meeting of the Holt Chapter of National Honor Society. After the meeting was called to order by Sharon Lambeth, Chapter president, copies of the minutes from the previous general meetings and executive meetings were distributed.

Committee members from the banquet and induction ceremony were asked to submit written evaluations of their work on the event. Discussion then turned to the picnic planned by the Honor Society. Definite plans for the picnic will be decided later.

Mrs. Alice Baumbach told the group about a meeting of all the Honor Society sponsors held at the Sycamore school. In the planning stage is a general conference of Honor Societies of the area. Representatives from the Honor Societies in Holt, Okemos and Mason will meet Tuesday evening at Mason High school to plan the conference.

Some of the planning will be assigned to other schools in the area. Four members from the Holt chapter were chosen to represent Holt at the meeting.

The Campus Life club sponsored a hilarious party at the high school Thursday evening. "Freddie's Feather Frolic" proved lots of fun for all. Admission requirements included that each person bring a pillow. Entertainment involved pillow fights, a mattress tug of war, use of an "electric chair," and big and small pillow fights with representatives from different classes competing.

Refreshments proved to be the world's largest milkshake made in a garbage can. The door prize - a real door - was won by Dan Adcock.

Mr. Gerald Woolston is the faculty sponsor for this group which meets each Monday night at 7 p.m. at the choir room of the high school. Everyone is welcome. There are no dues. Two more events are scheduled, one on May 4 and one on May 8, by the Campus Life club.

Officers of this club are Mike Priest, president; Jim Cooley, vice president and secretary - treasurer is Carolyn Cooley.

Many Tax Returns Filed Minus Withholding Slips

Detroit -- Some 11,633 federal tax returns without the required W-2 withholding statements have been filed so far this year by Michigan taxpayers and those in the other 4 states comprising the IRS central region.

This means a delay in the processing of refunds until the W-2's can be obtained from taxpayers according to A. M. Stoepfer, IRS District Director for Michigan.

Copy B of the W-2 statement that employers are required to give employees is the one that should be attached to federal tax returns, he said.

When returns are received in IRS offices without a W-2 for all income on which taxes have been withheld, a letter requesting the missing document is sent to the taxpayer. Until the W-2 is received, or an acceptable explanation of why it cannot be supplied, processing of the return cannot be completed.

One of the major reasons for delay in issuing refunds is the failure of taxpayers to include their correct Social Security number on the tax return.

As of last week, Stoepfer reported, 2,710 refunds had been delayed in Michigan and the other 4 states of the Central Region, because of incorrect or missing Social Security numbers.

Stoepfer reported that to date other refunds are being held up because of a variety of other errors or failures to comply with instructions mailed to each taxpayer with his tax forms.

Tax returns filed up to last week included 19,070 without the signatures of husband or wife or both. These will have to be sent back to the taxpayers before refunds can be processed.

Returns with errors in arithmetic which are causing delays in sending refunds so far total 103,281 and returns where taxpayers have used the wrong tax table total 23,360.

As of last week, Stoepfer said, the IRS service center in Cincinnati had processed 534,000 refunds of Michigan taxpayers.

"There isn't a better intermediate size car sold in the United States than the 1967 Rebel" says Tom McCahill, automobile expert for Mechanix Illustrated.

Tom McCahill evaluates the automobile industry for Mechanix Illustrated. Recently, he took out an SST hardtop equipped with a 343 cu. in. Typhoon V-8 for an exhaustive series of road tests. How did our Excitement Machine perform?

"In roadability and performance, it would top most of the newer specialty cars. There's absolutely no plowing and little body roll. The whole feel of the car, when going over ruts or across dirt roads, is excellent."

What about comfort? "It's extremely comfortable and relaxing to drive. In straight-line driving the SST is as comfortable as the Jell-O specials."

How about Rebel's new four-link rear suspension?

"Of all the new sporty-type cars, as they come from the showroom, Rebel has by far the best and safest suspension of the whole kit and caboodle."

And the looks? "As sharp in appearance as a thousand-dollar bill. And from a cost angle, Rebel's not overpriced."

This is your kind of excitement, created by American Motors. A company that has created an entire line of six-passenger Excitement Machines that give you more excitement for the money.

See your American Motors/Rambler Dealer. He'll convince you the 1967 Rebel is the best intermediate built in the country today. Then do what Tom McCahill did. Take a test-drive.

Turk Leader Given Degree

The president of the Republic of Turkey, addressing a special Michigan State university academic convocation in his honor, said his nation will participate "in every effort which may lead to establishment of a just international order."

President Cevdet Sunay visited MSU last week and was awarded the honorary doctor of laws degree during the convocation.

The Turkish president said that "big or small, developed or developing, young or old, nations can realize their expectations only with the rule of law and peace, which alone can guarantee their independence and equality."

President Sunay's MSU stop was part of a 12-day tour of the United States which included a meeting with President Lyndon Johnson.

MSU is providing technical educational assistance to four Academies of Commercial and Economic Sciences in Turkey; at Ankara, Istanbul, Eskisehir and Izmir.

The eight-year assistance program is being carried out by the MSU Graduate School of Business Administration. This is under a contract with the U.S. Agency for International Development and with the cooperation of the government of Turkey.

At MSU, President Sunay was cited for his "courage and patriotic dedication to freedom and the hopes of democracy."

The honorary degree was presented by MSU President John A. Hamann.

The citation said of President Sunay: "Wherever you have been entrusted with great responsibility, whether as military Chief of Staff, as a Senator, and now as the President of your country, you have kept faith with the finest qualities of leadership."

Medicare Kits Can be Obtained

Medicare beneficiaries who signed up for medical insurance protection can now obtain an information kit to help them keep a record of their doctor bills so they will know when they reach their yearly $50 deductible, Roger W. Seamon, Lansing, Social Security district manager, announced.

The kit includes a record-keeping folder and two leaflets which explain the two methods of payment for medical insurance claims, and what medical expenses count for the $50 deductible. The folder has pockets on the inside for holding doctor bills and space to write in the date and amount of each bill so that the beneficiary will know immediately when he reaches the $50 each year. After that, the medical insurance plan pays 80 percent of the reasonable charges for covered expenses for the remainder of the year.

Seamon said that all new Medicare beneficiaries will receive the kit when they sign up for medical insurance. Those who already have medical insurance coverage should write, telephone, or visit the social security office to obtain this free kit.

The office is located at 216 Townsend, Lansing, telephone 372-1910.

Also, people who need help in completing a medical insurance claim are urged to get in touch with the social security office. "We know that these claims--especially the first claim--can be confusing to people," said Seamon, "and we will be glad to help in every way possible."

OLD STYLE BAND--One of the big attractions at the Dansville PTA Variety show April 21 will be an old fashioned kitchen band. Two members of the band are Mrs. Jack Waterstradt at the piano and Mrs. John Hummel with the wash board.

Variety Show Is Slated for Friday

There will be 15 local acts participating in the Dansville P.T.A. variety show, "Down the River of Golden Dreams," on Friday, April 21, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

To be staged at the high school gymnasium, tickets will be sold at the door. The evening's program features country and western music, an authentic kitchen band, songs and dances from the "Gay Nineties," modern day rock and roll and a male chorus line.

Committees for the variety show include Dr. D.C. Car-center, writer and director; assistants, Mrs. John Hummel, Don Lieder and Mrs. Ellsworth Crandall; music, Mrs. Jack Waterstradt; tickets, Mrs. Wilma Shinevar; costumes, Mrs. William Van Epps, Mrs. Roy Wheelon and publicity, Mrs. O.B. Cornett. Proceeds from the variety show will go toward some school improvement, but a definite decision on the project has not been made as yet. Some suggestions under consideration are lights for the athletic field or a public address system for the school gymnasium.

Dansville Language Club Enjoys Spanish Banquet

By CAROLE LAXTON
Dansville High School

DANSVILLE -- School is progressing nicely. With some luck, we may all graduate. The first baseball game was held at Webberville last Tuesday. It was a non-league game, which was only practice. High scorer was Barry Chapman.

The next day, which was Wednesday, there was also a track meet. Jack Prince broke the 52' 2" shot put record with 52' 4".

Another issue of the exciting BRONCO was published last week. Much work was put in to make it a success.

Report cards will be distributed Thursday. Take heart, students. There is only one more marking period left until graduation!

"Better Family Relations Through Communication" was the Freshman girls' theme for the F H A meeting held Tuesday. Priscilla Diehl narrated several skits, which involved all of the Freshman members. They did an excellent job in presenting their ideas and running the meeting.

The F F A met last week, also. President Steve Driggs reported that they accepted chapter farmers, set up official requirements, and discussed the judging contest. Marc Traver reported on Club Convention.

Friday was a special night for all Spanish club members. Anyone who had never eaten Spanish cooking before surely got his fill at the Spanish club banquet! Mrs. Helen Laughlin, Spanish club adviser, worked very hard on planning the banquet and making it the success that it was.

The menu consisted of aji de queso queteno (Spanish potato salad), Las cordillas de cerdo con arroz (Spare ribs with rice), Tomates, Frijoles, Tortillas, Pollo Espanol (Spanish Chicken), Arroz Espanol (Spanish Rice), Ponche de frutas (Strawberry

60 Delegates Attend Youth Leaders Meet

Over 60 4-H young people and high school representatives from Ingham, Eaton and Livingston counties learned how high school age boys and girls can discover that they can "come alive" by waking up to their wonderful abilities and take responsibilities in their world about them.

Miss Dorothy Emerson from Washington, D.C. led a stimulating discussion, and some of her ideas were: We choose to learn; success is up to you; value your good points; live appreciatively; compliment others; be creative; think and speak for yourself; citizenship is a way of life.

The adults and youth leaders who attended learned how to become more effective in group leadership.

The "Wee Folks" of the Dansville 4-Leaf Clovers 4-H club led folk singing. Square dancing was also enjoyed. Miss Rhoda Peck and Richard Hill, 4-H Youth Agents, said that 30 older 4-H members also had a tour and dinner at Kellogg Center prior to the youth leadership conference.

Punch), and Biscoches (Cookies rolled in Cinnamon and Sugar). The food was delicious.

The Spanish club would like to give special thanks to Mrs. Minnie Craft and Mrs. Sharon Garcia, who worked especially hard on preparing the food. Also, the club would like to extend very special thanks to Mrs. Jenny Nelson who was the guest speaker. She showed interesting slides of Ecuador and answered any and all questions the students had.

All in all, it was an evening well spent.

50 Years! State Police Started In 1917 with 204 Men; Now Has Force Of 1,576 with 300 Civilian Employees

Monday, April 17, marked the golden anniversary of the Michigan state police.

Created 50 years ago as the Michigan state troops in the strife-torn days of World War I, the department is recognized as unsurpassed in its field. Col. Fredrick E. Davids is the present director.

From the first days when the mounted troops were mobilized to a strength of a mere 204, there is now an authorized enlisted strength of 1,576 and more than 300 civilian employees.

Starting with a tiny suite of 3 offices off the balcony of the senate chamber in the state capitol in Lansing and a wooden barracks, dining room and stable at East Lansing, the department has grown to a complex of a headquarters in East Lansing district headquarters and 59 posts throughout the state.

The growth did not come easy or overnight. The law under which the Michigan state troops were organized became effective April 17, 1917, shortly after President Woodrow Wilson signed the proclamation of war against Germany April 6.

Colonel Roy C. Vandercook, a Spanish-American war veteran and a member of the National Guard, was selected to head the new military arm of the state.

The troops were mobilized to replace the National Guard, which was summoned for service in foreign fields, principally in France. They were needed for internal security, and this they provided for 2 years.

Railroad tunnels on the border of Detroit, Port Huron and Canada were guarded against sabotage, munitions plants likewise were protected, acts of treason were investigated and the troops were even sent to the "Copper Country" in the upper peninsula when the old Independent Workers of the World organization fomented a strike and disorder to disrupt the war effort.

Then came the moment of decision. In 1919 the war was at an end with the signing of the armistice. It is interesting to note that during the dis-ussion of the Treaty of Versailles in France that followed, in evaluating the armed forces of the combatants, the Michigan troops were classified as a military arm of the federal government.

But the mission of the Michigan state troops to protect internal security was over. The troops, however, had automobile fleet. The cars, however, were not purchased by the state, but seized and confiscated from bootleggers who had used them to convey their cargoes from points of supply to their markets.

A special boat patrol also was established on the Detroit river to overhaul and apprehend rum runners ferrying whisky from Canada to the United States.

Traffic highway patrol, of course, was far from being the problem of those days that it is now, but even in 1919 when a spanking new Model T was still a sight to behold, the troopers policed 6 automobile accidents. Last year they handled 33,833.

Other battles fought, or to be fought, were against big time gamblers, "blind pig" bars and hideaways, and the usual run of bank robberies, thefts, holdups, murders, etc.

Nothing was or is too big to handle nor too small, even down to investigating the raiding of a farmer's hen coop.

And during the years 22 troopers have died in line of duty, nine of them by gunfire.

Although half a century old—or young—there have been only eight heads of the department. Five are dead, including Colonel Vandercook, Major Robert E. Marsh, Alan G. Straight, Harry H. Jackson and Oscar J. Olander. The others are Joseph A. Childs, now state racing commissioner, Donald S. Leonard, a Recorder's Court Judge in Detroit and Colonel Davids.

Not being exclusively a highway patrol, the state police have general police powers which enable them to render a much greater and more comprehensive service, and a large percentage of the time is spent investigating and disposing of criminal complaints.

In 1929 the department established the first state police radio system in the world and will observe their golden anniversary with the start of a new computer law enforcement information network in May.

The network will involve a central bank of police information which will be available through terminals in sheriffs' offices, many municipal police departments, state police posts, and other authorized agencies.

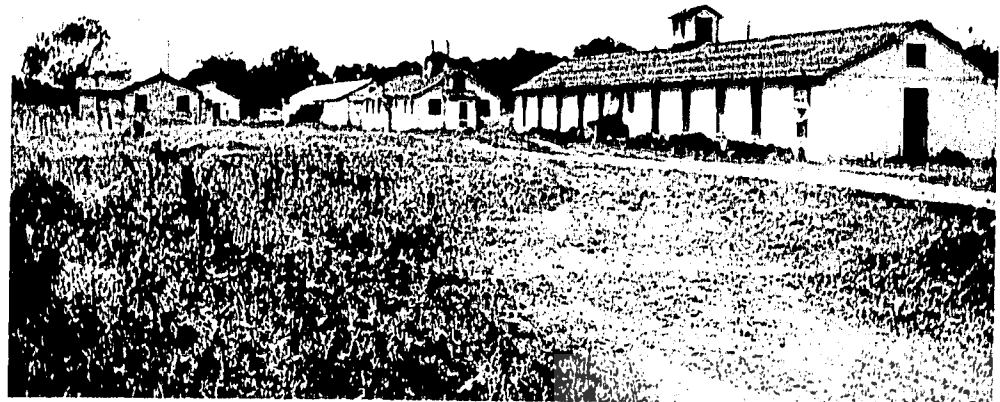

The member stations will be able to insert and retrieve information at electronic speed. Many responsibilities have been added to the department throughout the years and as department director, Colonel Davids is the state fire marshal, director of state civil defense, member of the state safety commission which now is a division of the state police, member of the state electrical board, and member of the state aeronautics commission.

In addition, the office of emergency planning has been assigned to the state police as is the new law enforcement training council, although it operates independently. However, Davids, a designated member, is the elected chairman of the council. The state fire board and the state fire fighters training council likewise are assigned to the state police. Finally, he is a member of the Michigan commission on crime, delinquency and administration of criminal justice.

The state police are a co-operating agency for all police and sheriff departments in the state, particularly in the use of the new computer system and the department's radio network. The department maintains a crime laboratory, large fingerprint identification file, the state central pawnshop ticket file for the recovery of stolen articles, photographic laboratory, lie detectors, scuba divers, tracking dog teams and other facilities which the average police agency cannot afford, but the services are available to them without charge.

The department has a remarkable reputation for efficiency and services performed. The troopers enjoy their work, believe in the dignity of their profession and have the respect of the people. Theirs is a career job. Enlistment is now always open to young men between 21 and 30.

Monday, the anniversary day, was just another busy day with no special commemoration of the event. But a reception for all retired members, of whom there are many, is planned for May 26 at headquarters, and later in the year a special history, privately financed, will be published.

Here were the original state police headquarters of the state police in East Lansing.

Colonel Roy C. Vandercook was the commander of the Michigan State Troops and then commissioner of the Michigan State Police.

performed so admirably and because of the need for increased public safety there was a demand they be reorganized as the Michigan state police.

This was done by the legislature effective March 27, 1919. But the proposal had met stiff opposition.

Many were against a "constabulary" or "Cossacks" as they were termed by some. A few law enforcement agencies, fearing an intrusion into their jurisdictions, also were against.

The arguments flew fast and thick but eventually the act was approved, although for a long time there still were rumblings that the department should be abolished.

Colonel Vandercook was chosen to direct the transition and head the reorganized department.

And the new troopers, without jurisdictional restrictions within the state and able to cross county lines in the pursuit of criminals, came at a time when the automobile was beginning to be used by criminals to cross those lines in a hurry in an effort to escape apprehension.

Then, too, the prohibition era was in full swing and bootleggers were working furiously to provide thirsty drinkers with some sort of alcoholic beverage.

They were busy times. At the first, the troopers rode horses, then transferred to motorcycles and, as the prohibition battle proceeded, began to build up their small makes you a better cook!

Here's "inside information", of a brand new variety... a meat probe that has the "good sense" to know when your roast is perfectly cooked! How does it work? Simple. Into the center of the meat you put a thermostatic probe, one end of which is plugged into the oven wall; slide the roast into the oven and turn the indicator to the exact degree of doneness you want. No more peeking, prodding, or guessing... the meat probe gets the right "inside" information and then automatically shuts the oven off.

(Concluded from Page B-1) levels and could be viewed from all directions. The stage was covered with green grass, and flowers along the background added to the set.

One of the most impressive things about the play was the lights. Lights were rented from Michigan State and were purple and blue. The lights spotlighted the main people speaking at a certain time, and dimmed out the rest of the stage at the same time.

Another very impressive thing about the play was the costumes. Costumes also had been rented from Michigan State. The girls all wore long dresses, except the fairies, and they wore leotard outfits. The boys wore tunics, with the leather sandals and laces up their legs.

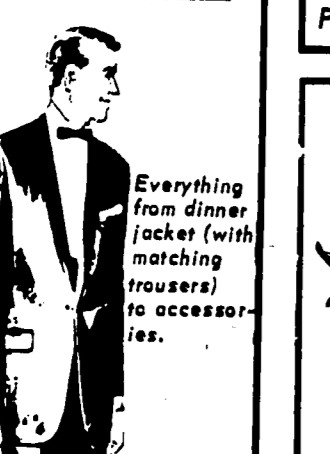

The Duke wore a long purple robe and Oberon wore a long white flowing robe, which was slit up the sides. The play proved to be a huge success, with many people coming each night.

The computer dance to be held on May 12 is going to be a huge success. Forms were sold all last week, and the answers cards were all turned in on Friday.

Approximately 250 tickets were sold to the dance. It has not yet been decided whether there will be a band or whether the seniors will get a disc jockey. The dance will be held in the cafeteria.

A pep rally was held Friday in the gym during 6th hour. The pep rally was for the track and baseball players. This was the first pep rally held for the players, and will probably be the last. The track and baseball players were all introduced and the new baseball uniforms were modeled.

Library Has Something For Just About Every One

By Gary Kleinhenn
News Staff Writer

Library offers, a walk around the Ingham county library can be very revealing.

It is not just a book library but a record library as well. Classical records of the works of the great composers, Mozart, Bach, Handel, to name a few number up to 100 albums of listening enjoyment.

Mason's library also has available, 1,100 films ranging over subjects of interests on the Civil War, Puerto Rico, Flower arrangements for the home and -- well one can't name all 1,100.

Walking over to the magazine section one can pick from not only the major periodicals on the market, but from 185 magazines of general and specialized interests. Included are many newspapers such as the New York Times, the Christian Science Monitor and smaller central Michigan newspapers.

And of course there are books. And like books the Ingham county library sandwiches much of the world's wisdom between its front and back doors. As a matter of fact the library houses approximately 35,000 of them.

Have you misplaced your daughter's telephone number who now lives in Los Angeles or St. Louis? Telephone the library and find it out. They have telephone directories from all over the country and supply a reference service for people who have such factual questions.

A service provided for children is "story time," for those of the ages from 3 to 5 in the Hall Memorial Library room, a brightly lighted, carpeted, pastel blue room.

The library is chock full of knowledge and entertainment for the youngest and the oldest citizens and provides many services for meeting this end for the public. From the beauty of the simplicity that you may find in a poem to the complexity of the abstract the library is aiding and can aid anyone who wishes to utilize its facilities.

deducted by Bernard Berelson of the University of Michigan and the culmination of his findings were published in the book, "The Library's Public, 1950".

He found that about 25 percent of the adult population reads one or more books a month. That only 1 out of every 10 adults really use the library, and that 1 out of every 3 children and adolescents use the library.

Other facts are that those people who have a home library are more apt to use the public library than those who don't. Furthermore single persons use it more than married couples. Also nearly half the books borrowed are juvenile and almost two thirds of the total circulation is fiction. Finally, studies show a steady increase in the use of the library during the past 30 years.

Berelson states that the general public has little knowledge about the public library and its services and that they seem to regard the public library as a fine thing for a community to have--for other people to use.

On this idea, that the bulk of the public is unaware of the multitude of services a public library can provide, a true copy: Gertrude Tallier, Deputy Register - Juvenile Division 16w1

Through His Eyes

This is a day of reckoning. This is a day of exactness. This is a day when every man must stand up and be counted. Whether you are a watchmaker or a grinder of high-powered lenses... you've got to be good. God demands our best. He is not satisfied with average products. To be out of measurement means the whole of what you are doing is useless. Precision grinding is expected of you if you are to be trusted with the operation of this highly efficient machine. Spiritual Precision is necessary if you are to walk with God.

We also are to work in the field of sensitive minds, hearts, nerves and spirits. This is the realm of spiritual and eternal values. Flesh and blood persons are to be dealt with. Am I as careful in moulding the life of a child as in creating a watch, or a lens, or a pilotless plane? There is no better place to learn of the fundamental workings of God than at the little Church on the corner. Here, you will hear the Master Workman, as he says, "Inasmuch as you did it unto one of the least of these, you did it unto me."

Plenty of Reasonably Priced Beef Available

By EILEEN BELL
Extension Consumer
Marketing Agent

Abundant beef supply across the nation assures us all of plenty of reasonably priced beef eating through the spring and summer months. Americans are great beef eaters—about 103 pounds per person average in recent years.

Beef is the most popular meat. Pork is next. Pork consumption per person will average a little less than 60 pounds this year. A supply increase of about 7 to 10 percent more pork than last year at this time will bring more to us.

Retail prices for some cuts of meats appear likely to advance some this summer. As consumers incomes increase, the demand for meat is greater and this tends to keep prices steady. Certain cuts, as steaks, will be wanted when the weather warms and so will increase in price then. Freezer owners may be wise to pile in some steaks now for summer eating and dime savings.

There's a good supply of lamb in market now, but this will seasonally taper off and there will be less lamb available the rest of the year.

We really don't eat much lamb, about 5 pounds per person, compared to better meats.

Eggs continue as one of the "best buys" in the food stores. Large supply, due to larger flocks and more laying, puts production up as much as 6 percent over the next few months. Because the price is down, it's been expected that more eggs will be used this year than last.

Have you met the Michigan Seal of Quality on labels on celery, eggs, hothouse lettuce and hothouse tomatoes? The purpose of the Seal of Quality is the ready identification of superior agricultural products of the state. Inspection provisions of the Seal of Quality law assures family food finders of a top quality, uniform product. Sweet cherries and apples, only the very, very best, of course soon may merit the privilege of wearing the seal, too. This program satisfies the needs of food shoppers for superior products, and, of course, the price is higher than for average produce.

Apple trees in Michigan soon will bloom—then will bear. In the fall we'll munch with enthusiasm. Apple trees are interesting. Eighty-four percent of all the apple trees in the state are standard trees. Sixteen percent are dwarf or semi-dwarf.

Of the standard apple trees in Michigan, 27 of each 100 are Jonathan, 25 are Delicious varieties, 12 are McIntosh and 7 are Spy. The remainder, in small amount, mainly include Winesap, Rome, Wealthy, Ida Red and Cortland varieties. This report from the Michigan State Apple Commission assures us that production of all varieties will probably increase for the next few years.

Browsing among local supermarket shelves, we find adventures in rice are as close as your rice display. Herbed rice, spiced rice, long grain wild rice, instant rice and just plain rice offer lots of variety.

Eleven percent more top quality rice was harvested in our rice growing states of Arkansas, Mississippi, Texas, Louisiana and California. Over half the world's people depend upon rice as their main food. Many Michiganites know rice only as in rice pudding. Try some new ones.

Food Prices To Go Up Again In Coming Year

Get ready! Food prices are expected to go up again in 1967.

If it's any comfort, they aren't expected to go up as much as they did in 1966. But the increase may be greater than in most recent years, according to specialists with the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service.

Mrs. Anita Dean, and Lucille Ketchum, specialists in foods and home management, have been keeping close track of the food price situation. They say that though the prices are going up, they don't expect the homemaker to tighten purse strings. Food expenditures are expected to go up, but not as much as in 1966. And the increase probably won't be as high, in proportion, as the increase in income the average homemaker has to spend. This creates hardships for families whose incomes don't increase.

On the average, the percentage of income spent for food probably will decline slightly in 1967, as it has in

Solid State System Could Cut Repairs

How would you like a home computer that could automatically keep your bank account and household budget up to date, work out your tax return, keep stock of household supplies, and decide the best way to store food in the refrigerator?

Sound impossible? This and other highly efficient appliances may be entirely possible soon. The key? Solid state systems, said Carl Edwards, agricultural engineer specializing in housing with the Cooperative Extension Service at Michigan State University.

Solid state systems are a recent introduction in appliance and consumer electronics fields.

Simply, a solid state system combines the functions of many separate electro-mechanical operations in electrical circuits. The circuits are incorporated into one solid chip of silicon. The chip may be no larger than the head of a pin, but each can perform the work of many vacuum tubes or transistors in electronic equipment or many electro-mechanical devices in appliances.

Solid state systems are a space age development. They make it possible to reduce weight and size of home electronic equipment and electronic controls. And they increase reliability and ease of operation.

"Deterioration with age is almost eliminated and repair requirements are low. Some warranties on solid state products are for as long as five years," Edwards said.

These systems might logically make it possible for homemakers of the future to have a TV that can be turned off and on, tuned and adjusted by a wave of the hand; a temperature-sensitive oven that cooks to perfection; a washer-dryer combination that cleans clothes, discards the water, dries them and turns off when the correct dryness is reached.

With solid state systems a central air-conditioning and heating system is possible that automatically controls the humidity and air flow as well as temperature.

So far, production of home appliances and equipment using solid state is limited, but it's expected to increase substantially within the next few years. Once in mass production, solid state devices will make available to the consumer a variety of new designs and features for equipment at reasonable rates," Edwards concluded.

most postwar years," Miss Ketchum noted.

In giving a capsule prediction of what retail food prices might be like in 1967, the specialists estimated:

Reduced beef supplies will mean higher beef prices, particularly after mid-year. Dairy product prices are expected to remain high, and above 1966 on the average. Cereal and bakery products will move upward gradually as they have in most postwar years, but the increase won't be as great as in most recent years.

Prices will also creep upward on fats and oils and many processed fruits and vegetables. Sweet potato prices for the winter and spring will be much above a year ago, but potato prices in general will average only slightly higher.

Pork, poultry and eggs are expected to be lower in 1967. The large increase in the citrus fruit crop this winter should result in lower prices through much of 1967.

The outlook for 1967 indicates that Americans will continue to demand more food. And food supplies will increase. This is the basis for most food price predictions.

The specialists pointed out that volume of crop products available will increase. Other increases are expected in supplies of pork, poultry, eggs, fruits and vegetables.

Food for military use will take some of the supply, the food specialist indicated, but civilians will use more food too, in proportion to the population.

"Food consumption in 1966 was averaging close to one per cent above 1965 on a per person basis," Mrs. Dean says. "The increases were mainly in crop products. But consumers are eating more poultry, vegetables oils and potatoes. They're eating less pork, milk, noncitrus fruits, vegetables, melons and animal fats."

Mrs. Dean noted that the long-term trend showed that meat consumption per person hasn't changed much over the last half-century. But poultry meat has increased greatly since 1940. The steady meat consumption is a combination of a rise in beef consumption and a corresponding decrease in pork consumption.

Seek Improvement In Powdered Milk

An extensive research project aimed at reducing losses in powdered milk quality is under way at Michigan State University.

MSU agricultural engineers are teaming up with scientists in the U.S. department of agriculture to find ways to reduce the quality deterioration that often occurs when excessive heat is used during processing.

The engineers explain that if milk powders are not cooled immediately after they are made, the heat remaining in them can lower their quality, especially if they are handled in large bins, tanks or containers. Under the direction of Dr. A.W. Farrall, MSU agricultural engineer, the scientists will determine how much heat the powders are subjected to under present cooling methods.

Both skim and whole milk powders cooled at various densities, moisture contents and temperatures will be studied.

The USDA and MSU engineers will also work out the principles for cooling milk powders effectively and efficiently. They will apply these principles to improve the cooling equipment now being used commercially and to test new laboratory-size cooling system.

Sees Increased Need For Food Scientists

More people, money, and knowledge mean more career opportunities in the food industry of the future, a food researcher told participants in a food science symposium at Michigan State University.

W. L. Vollink, manager of General Foods' Post Division Research Laboratories in Battle Creek said that the technological innovations which will continue to cut down labor requirements will increase the need for food scientists.

The demand for food in the U.S. will continue to rise with the population, which is expected to reach over 300 million by the year 2,000, Vollink said.

Consumer incomes also are expected to continue to climb, bringing an increased demand for greater varieties of foods and more convenience foods. The growing number of working wives and the shift from rural to urban living also will make for greater use of prepared foods, he said.

As technology produces improved methods of preserving and preparing foods, more scientists will be needed to apply those methods to new food products, Vollink said.

Increased overseas food aid also was cited as a factor in the growing need for food scientists. "Increasingly, our country is turning to food scientists and technologists—including those in industry—for ways to develop new, inexpensive food supplements and protein substitutes to help feed the exploding populations in many of the world's underdeveloped countries," Vollink said.

"American agriculture and food processors, as well as our governments, will be increasingly involved in this global battle against hunger as time goes on," he said.

Vollink sees a "wide variety of opportunities" in the food industry. "We will continue to need specialists in horticulture, chemistry, engineering and food technology as we do today. The food scientist will find himself working in many different fields, such as biochemistry, biology, zoology... veterinary medicine... quality control, design and production," he said.

Vollink took part in the dedication of MSU's new Food science building, which he praised as a step toward providing some of the thousands of food scientists that will be needed in the near future.

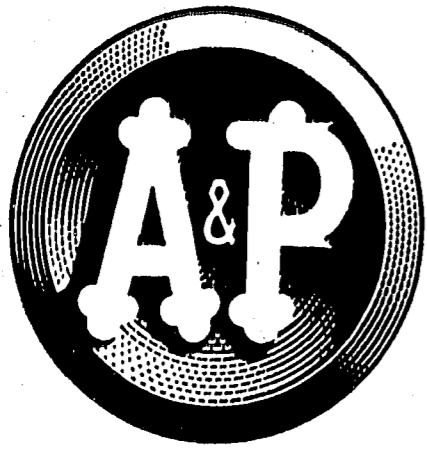

Some of the developments which food scientists will have to deal with, he said, are freeze-drying of foods, freezing at extremely low temperatures and food preservation through atomic radiation.

Other technological advances predicted include more widespread use of computers and "environmental sensors" to control food preparation; improved conveyor and transfer systems to handle food being processed; and more automatic equipment to grade, weigh and package a wider variety of foods, Vollink said.

What Quality Beef Does A&P Sell?

That's a fair question. But not an easy one to answer because we have our own quality standards, different from any other meat merchant.

These standards don't fit exactly the familiar terms you know for grades of meat. As an example, did you know that some beef, graded U.S. Choice, just doesn't meet our "Super-Right" specifications? It's true! You see... we don't buy by grade. We use our own high standards to bring you the best values.

That doesn't mean we don't approve of such grading—not at all. It just means we're very fussy about the beef we label "Super-Right." It stands to reason we have to be or A&P wouldn't be America's number one meat merchant.

Are "Super-Right" Meats a good reason for shopping A&P?

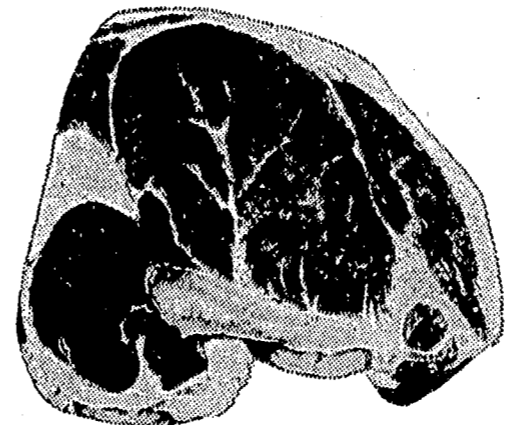

They're one of many!

Smith Appointment to U-M Regents Draws Applause

By Elmer E. White

Recognition of ability is theoretically the basis for appointments to public office. Frequently Gov. George Romney has been criticized, as have other governors, for leaning too heavily on political factors in his appointments.

Several Republicans certainly could have been found with public service experience closely matching that of Smith's. It must be assumed that Romney weighed heavily on Smith's personal attributes and felt he was a man who should be duly rewarded without regard to politics.

Other drivers on the freeway are not conditioned to seeing pedestrians along the right-of-way. "This could make the pedestrian highly vulnerable to accidents or could cause a driver to suddenly swerve into the path of another auto," said Hill.

Another safety rule: make every effort to get a disabled vehicle off the roadway onto the shoulder. If all or part of a traffic lane is blocked, some warning device should be placed: flares, flashing lights, lanterns or reflectors.

Understanding Your Health

Asthma Is a Disease With No One Single Cause

By Albert E. Heustis, M.D.

Some 3-million Americans suffer from asthma to one degree or another. Perhaps you know of a family member or friend who suffers from this disease from time to time during the year.

Usually asthma has no one single cause, but may be due either to one or more of the many possible human allergies, or to infection, or to emotional difficulty, or to a combination of these factors.

choles, spasm of the muscle in the walls of the air passages, or there may be small mucous plugs in the passages which prevent the movement of air.

Fortunately, most attacks of asthma are mild. They are ordinarily more distressing mentally, than dangerous physically to the victim.

Asthma usually affects its victims with symptoms only part of the time. The typical "attacks" may come on in any season, and may last from a few minutes to a number of days. The victim feels as if he were choking during a severe attack. He cannot get enough air in, and he cannot breathe it out afterwards. He coughs repeatedly and usually spits up white frothing mucus. Often the individual will perspire a great deal, and may even turn slightly blue during an attack. He seems to be suffocating as he struggles to get enough air.

Can asthma attacks be prevented? Very frequently, they can, if the specific cause can be identified. Where an allergy is suspected this can be a long, trial-and-error process for the physician and for the patient. In some cases this may mean a seemingly-endless series of tests and more tests. And, if the cause is linked to the patient's emotional problems, some kind of help in that area may be recommended also.

The best method of prevention used so far is a series of injections given over a variable period of time to desensitize the patient. These shots are designed to decrease the patient's sensitivity to the specific substance to which he is allergic, and prevent further attacks for some time. Even so, they do not make the patient permanently immune, and they, therefore, must be repeated periodically.

There are a few patients who seem to need a complete change of climate. These are usually people with severe asthma which is made worse with colds, sinusitis and other respiratory infections. But such individuals should not even consider moving to another area without first checking with their doctor. The physician can best judge whether or not the proposed relocation may offer any help. It would be tragic to move across the country only to find that asthma is worse instead of better.

So, if you or some member of your family suspects asthma, consult your doctor for proper diagnosis and effective treatment. And don't be fooled into spending your money for so-called "cures" you might see advertised. Unless advised by your doctor, the chances are you'd be wasting your money.

The person with asthma should also attempt - and I know full well this is easier said than done - to maintain a relaxed mental attitude. This will aid in preventing attacks and in shortening them when they do occur. Worrying about asthma won't help a bit. It often makes the condition worse.

You Don't Say

It's spring and many celebrations are scheduled for the warmer months of the year. Michigan Week is in the latter part of May and this week's question pertains to it.

The question: "Do you think Michigan Week is a worthwhile affair and why?"

Mrs. Eva Hancock, 316 E. Sycamore street;

"It's alright, but participation isn't as good as it should be. The greatest value of it is the attraction we draw from outstate.

"If it were a large attraction like the Canadian Exposition, it would be of greater value and might bring more people and business into the state."

Mrs. Alvin Bauman, 690 E. Covert road, Leslie;

"Michigan Week brings out all the good things we have in Michigan, like education, industry and farming.

"I think that the system of having a separate day for each of the state's plus factors gives the people an enlightenment of the state. I don't know what's all involved in Michigan Week, but generally I'm in favor of the main idea."

Mrs. Muri J. Eastman, 529 E. South street;

"I don't think it's a waste of time. We Americans have so few traditions and this tradition helps us to realize the nicer qualities of our state. I know when we had our centennial some people criticized it, but actually we had so much fun that it created many good feelings within the community."

"There are many celebrations throughout the year that are silly, but I think Michigan Week makes sense. I think one of the best parts of Michigan Week is Mayor exchange day because it helps build a better understanding of like town situations and problems."

Mrs. Donald Scott, 4600 W. Barnes road;

"Texans are always talking about Texas and Michigan. I should talk about Michigan. We've got a lot to brag about and this is a good way to do it so I'm all for it."

"I think as a means of promoting our state in agriculture, industry and tourism it's very good."

Fred Streets, 610 S. Clinton, Stockbridge;

"I think it's a good idea. I like the mayor exchange day because when mayors canvise the same caliber town and see their problems and what they're doing with them it can give a person's own town possible solutions to its problems."

"Also the state can use the advertising in attracting tourists. Overall I would say it's good for the state."

Yet, in my opinion, even with my disappointment over his latest speech, George Romney would still be a far better President than Lyndon Johnson, Richard Nixon, or -- Heaven forbid! -- George Wallace.

Red Wagons Roll Again

W. G. Wade Shows Now One of Giants Of Outdoor Entertainment

When the big red wagons of the outdoor entertainment world start to roll, you can be sure it's spring.

And they have started from the winter quarters of the W.G. Wade shows in Mason, this past week to play a date at Meljer's Thrifty Acres at the southern edge of Lansing. The Wade organization is 74 years old. It started way back in 1893 when the grandfather of the present owner, Glenn Wade, acquired a merry-go-round on a bad debt and started the organization that today is the biggest in the country.

The Wade organization last year entered into a cooperative working agreement with the World of Pleasure Shows, headed by Rod Link, under which the 2 organizations work together using each other's equipment.

Study Shows Need of Skills, Education for Better Jobs

By GARY KLEINHENN News Staff Writer

The age of technology is here and for proof of it one needs only to read the want ads to know that acquiring a good job requires skill and more education than ever before.

This trend in the labor market will continue to increase and in recognizing the need for higher skills and education for better jobs, Robert Sloum, vocational education director of the Ingham Intermediate board of education has conducted an area vocational study on education and employability.

A study of the Michigan manpower situation by the Battelle Memorial Institute for the Michigan Employment Security commission indicates that employment opportunities in Michigan will grow at the annual average rate of 1.9 per cent until 1980. The institute predicts that there will be a decided increase in pressure from now on for labor-force skills to meet the demands of industry.

The commission says there must be a continued up-grad- ing of education and skill. Workers not adequately prepared, the commission points out, will find it more and more difficult to find satisfactory and rewarding jobs.

Studies show that those high school students graduating with some job skills do not have the difficulty in finding employment that is experienced by those graduates with only a general education, and further, that they have greater employment security.

Authorities agree that of those people seeking full time employment, the school dropout has the most difficult time in finding a job because of his lack of training, and when he obtains work it is almost always in the unskilled labor field. Furthermore one of the main reasons given by dropouts for leaving school is dissatisfaction with the vocational training available in their school.

In 1965 it was found that among high school graduates 41.1 per cent are going into the labor market, according to the annual University of Michigan high school report. The challenge is to have facilities for occupational training for these people.

A possible solution is to operate area vocational centers which would offer a broader range of vocational subjects than any one high school. In this instance, Lansing Community college is recommended because it is centrally located and has the facilities. Another center should be located in the Holt - Mason region in centralized area of the great- est student density. The vocational schools should be open to high school students, graduates, dropouts and adults in the Ingham intermediate school district, portions of the Eaton intermediate school district and the Lansing Community college district. People in other areas could be admitted on a tuition basis if space were available.

All the committee and study findings point to the validity of the idea that secondary school districts must cooperatively combine efforts in order to offer truly comprehensive vocational programs for their high school students. The Community college commitment to Vocational and technical education also must be expanded. In addition, correlation and coordination of the various course offerings at the high school and the Community college levels should be strengthened to insure needed continuity. Costs of future facilities and operations must also be considered in future planning to provide maximum use with the lowest cost for both secondary and post-secondary offerings.

Furthermore school districts should cooperate to establish vocational centers for high school students, out-of-school youth and adults with classes being conducted in the day time and evening. This arrangement would complement the presently expanding need for technical training facilities.

Looking Back At the Past

One Year Ago--1966 Lawrence Barton of McRoberts street, and Mr. and Mrs. William Dexter, E. Maple street, who built the Cherry Grove apartments, announced this week they plan to double the size of the facility at 702 S. Rogers street.

Two area farmers were honored by Mason Kiwanis this week. Recognition was given to Gerald Salow and Charles Risch of Webberville for their soil conservation work.

Four of 6 candidates for Mason's 3 council posts went on record Tuesday in favor of a city manager. They are Gilson Pearsall, Robert Schaeffer, Harry Smith and Robert Tear.

Shoemaker, Frank Guerriero and Ed Ferris. S. A. Murdoch has returned from Florida and is planning spring work at the golf course as soon as the snowbanks disappear. He does not anticipate an early opening of the course.

Band directors George Murthum of Mason and Gerald Winters of Holt are receiving congratulations for their successes in the district band and orchestra festival at Lansing Eastern high school last Saturday. Both bands won 1st division ratings.

30 Years Ago--1937 Mason's Legion Community building will be started May 10, according to a statement by WPA officials in Lansing. William Swartout of Mason, a former contractor, has been assigned to the Mason project as supervisor.

20 Years Ago--1947 A special water softener study committee has issued its report which favors the establishment of a water softening plan in Mason. Members of the committee are Alderman R.R. Robbins, chairman; Dr. A.C. Smith, Alderman U.B.

Gordon Ketchum, 12, was struck by a car driven by a Lansing man Tuesday. The Ketchum boy was walking along US-127 just north of Mason. Beyond severe bruises, young Ketchum was not seriously injured.

We Get Letters

Farmers Deserve Fair Price

Dear Mason Housewife: In answer to your letter 2 weeks ago, called "Congratulations N.F.C." Easter Sunday morn, as well as Christmas day the poor old farmer is out in barn pitching hay.

wrong war, in the wrong place, at the wrong time. I feel sure that Kennedy had Vietnam in mind.

You were complaining about the price of milk, but when the price of cigarettes or beer go up we never hear people like you hollering about it. The poor farmers don't get any where near what you have to pay for the milk. Have you ever heard of a farmer going out golfing Sunday morning? Or have you ever seen a cabin cruiser sitting in the farmer's yard?

Neither the Vietnam war itself nor the envisioned Great Society style of reconstruction proposed to follow are worth the cost. That mad and costly adventure is such a sorrowful waste; one last perverted set-up called "war" in this especially vile and corrupt era that dates from the last century.

Instead you might see a old tractor with rust for the lack of paint and the poor farmer has to worry how long he can keep the thing running. Don't you think it is about time the farmers get a fair price for milk? If he is living so rich in his farming life, why are so many farmers selling out? I had milked cows for better than 30 years and I had to quit and go to the shop to work.

Also, in my opinion, with no clear and present danger to the security of the United States itself -- such as a war in western Europe (for example) could be -- it is unconstitutional to maintain a conscripted army in peacetime, let alone to wage war with such an army in a small, remote, non-vital land, and, at that, without a Congressional declaration of war. No treaty may require that this country act against its own constitution.

A Future Farmer Living On Hope, Charles Heiler Mason

At best, only a facade of the stated goals in the Vietnam mess can be achieved at this time -- at best! And at such great cost. Frankly, even at this supposedly late date and after such large and costly overcommitment, withdrawal would be the wisest course to pursue, were such a course open to us. But, being possessed by a madness, the United States persists along an erroneous course.

Romney Wrong Vietnam today is, as I believe John Kennedy put it, "The subject the other evening, it is regrettable that, by newspaper accounts, Romney did not repeat this statement. To his credit, by saying we should avoid "future similar entrapments" and by pointing out the dangerous lack of a Congressional declaration of war, Romney did indicate that he still holds the view of the omitted statement.

But, on the whole, in this speech Romney fell in league with President Johnson in now supporting the mad and unwarranted United States involvement in the mad Vietnam adventure. On the whole, the speech was disappointing. Judging from the recent television presentation of "Mark Twain Tonight!", it seems reasonable to assume that Samuel Clemens (Mark Twain) would not have approved.

Big Catholic Conference In Lansing

A blueprint for action, that will ultimately affect 74,000 Catholic women, will be drawn April 26-27 when the Lansing Diocesan council of Catholic Women meets in its 15th annual conference at the Jack Tar hotel in Lansing.

Approximately 500 women, representing more than 100 Catholic women's organizations in the 15-county Lansing diocese will vote on a number of major resolutions and constitutional changes, including one which would reshape every woman's parish and interparochial organization in the Council.

The proposal would involve consolidating the 13 existing committees under five commissions; Organizational Services; Church Communities; Community Affairs; Family Affairs; and International Affairs.

The theme of the conference, which will be patterned after the Commission system, will be "The Lattic; Informed, Involved."

The most Rev. Alexander M. Zaleski, D.D., Bishop of Lansing, will be the principal celebrant of a concelebrated (more than one priest) Mass at St. Mary Cathedral on Wednesday and the principal speaker of the Church Communities Commission session Thursday morning.

AMERICAN BOYS ARE GROWING LARGER!

DUE TO BETTER HEALTH AND NUTRITION. IN 1906 THE AVERAGE STUDENT AT HARVARD WAS 5 FEET 7 1/2". A RECENT STUDY SHOWED HE IS NOW OVER 5 FEET 10".

LONGEVITY IS ANOTHER MEASURE OF INCREASED FOOD SUPPLIES AND BETTER MEDICAL CARE. IN 1900, THE AVERAGE LIFE EXPECTANCY WAS 47.3 YEARS; BY 1940 IT WAS UP TO 62.9 YEARS, AND IN 1964 IT HAD SOARED TO 70.2 YEARS!

PESTICIDES CONTRIBUTE DIRECTLY TO THESE GOALS, HELPING PROVIDE NUTRITIOUS FOODS AT REASONABLE PRICES, AS WELL AS PROTECTION AGAINST PEST CARRIED DISEASES. DDT ALONE IS CREDITED WITH SAVING 15 MILLION LIVES AND PREVENTING 100 MILLION ILLNESSES DURING AND AFTER WORLD WAR II!

THE MODERN COWPOKE

Today's "Cowpoke" might own a horse, but more than likely, his bronco is a racing bike or small scooter to zip around with to all those unlikely "happening" places essential to his way of life.

Today's cowpoke is just that. His attire is nothing more than the good old American western-influenced fashion, reflecting the best of previous generations.

Take the low-slung hip-hugger trousers of cowboy days, add the chunky rawhide belts of the frontier, then add the fabric picture "Riverboat Gambler's" striped pattern, and you have the youthquake look of '67.

There is another important ingredient which the old "stovepipes" didn't have: the durable, permanent press in synthetic blends of Avril rayon and polyester. What was once the permanent-wrinkle has now become the permanent-press, with all those new Avisco fibers available.

Some have called the young fashion trend "mod," but remember, the look is not imported anything. It's good old fashioned frontier: exported, then imported again, acquiring the best features of each generation, and interpreted by JBC slacks.

Put them all together in style, color, pattern and new fabrications and today's hip young man has the best in fashion, durable good looks and wearability.

HOW'S YOUR KNOWLEDGE OF TRUCKS?

The next time you eat an apple, read a book, buy a coat or drink a glass of frozen orange juice, give a thought to our "knights of the road"—for the chances are good that each of these items (and many, many more) came to you by truck.

According to Diamond T, one of the nation's largest trucking concerns, an average tractor-trailer outfit has a value from $15,000 up to $40,000; and its cargo can represent even more than that! The United States currently has an estimated 16 million vehicles registered as trucks. Of the approximately 49 million males who are employed in the U.S., almost one in every three will have occasion to drive a truck.

Although the differences between panel and pickup trucks and tractor-trailers are dramatic, they are not in themselves so great as the difference in knowledge and skill required to operate 65-foot tractor-trailers over the road at legal speeds.

Many people are surprised to learn that there is now a college course for truck drivers! Last year, Lansing Community College in Michigan, working with highway officials, traffic authorities, Diamond T engineers and others, formulated a course that is administered in 180 hours of on-campus classroom and driving range attendance. The charge for tuition and fees is $259. Communities, industries, schools and individuals interested in starting a similar career training program may secure full details by writing to: Truck Driver Course, Lansing Community College, Lansing, Michigan.

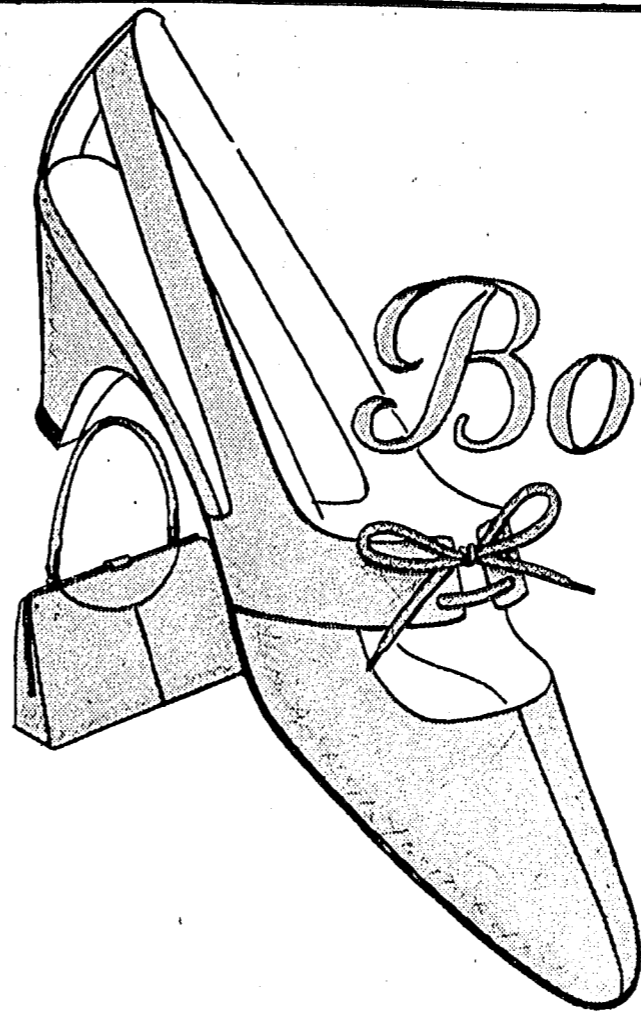

Young men attracted to careers in heavy vehicle operation will encounter, either as students or apprentices, an ever-present awareness of costs and equipment suitability for assignments. Highway truck drivers actually might be termed "transportation engineers".

Their need for equipment sophistication is indicated by Diamond T Trucks' offering of hundreds of components and equipment items on one recent model. These include ten choices of diesel engines from three engine specialists, a choice of aluminum or all-steel frame, choice of various axle combinations, transmissions, and brake assemblies.

What are the chances of your boy becoming an operator of a tractor-trailer outfit? Diamond T truck research studies show that the chances are about one in 30—and then he must possess the basic qualifications: good reflexes, an alert mind, and a sound physique.

★ Aluminum screening is available at most hardware and building materials dealers across the U.S., and the Spring home repair can be a do-it-yourself project. However, a growing number of dealers offer a re-screening device with information available through the Yellow Pages of the phone book.

★ A portable electric hand drill is probably the first machine the average handyman acquires. It's an excellent tool which can serve until you get a drill press and is especially valuable for all work that cannot be taken to your workbench. If you're going to start making shelf molding or toys and ornaments, get a jig saw.

★ If dirt was left caked on the spades, rakes and hoes, brush off all you can. Use a wire brush to remove any rust, then wipe all metal surfaces with a cloth soaked with motor oil.
