PFC DAVID KETCHUM

Soldier Returns Home With His Medals and Life

David Ketchum brought only "my medals and myself" home from Jackson Hole in the central highlands of Vietnam. He feels those were the most important things.

His family, the Gordon Ketchums, 1155 Cedar street, Mason, heartily agree with him -- maybe even without the medals.

The medals David speaks of are the Vietnam service medal, given to all men who are fighting for the Vietnamese government, and the Army's Bronze Star received for involvement in rescue operations for men caught inside a burning tank which was carrying explosives.

David, 20, enlisted in the Army 3 years ago, serving in Korea for 13 months and in Vietnam for nearly a year. He arrived back in the United States August 23, and was out of the Army and back home in Mason 4 days later.

While in Vietnam, David's job consisted primarily of running convoys. He was about 6 miles from the fighting lines most of the time.

David said most of the men he served with feel they are fighting for a good cause, that they are handling an important mission. He said the anti-war demonstrations in the United States are very bad on the men there. "They

Elementary Principals Evaluate Enrollment Conditions in Schools

School doors at Mason public schools were open wide today, September 6, for the first day of classes for the 1967-68 year. As throngs of youngsters ended their summer vacations, members of the school board, school administrators and the Mason Citizens Study committee were wondering if there would be enough space for Mason students next year or the year after.

There are no major changes for Mason's 1,837 elementary students other than a new starting time for classes. According to the 2 elementary school principals, Howard Oesterle and Walter McIntosh, many new teachers have been hired, but the rate of turnover is about average.

Firemen Pitch Hay 9 Hours

Mason and Holt firemen are experiencing some sore back muscles after pitching an estimated 50 tons of chopped hay from a barn loft belonging to Mrs. Chellis Hall at 3288 W. Columbia road, Mason. Smoldering hay was discovered and reported to the Mason fire department at about 11:30 a.m. Sunday. Some 9 hours later Mason firemen with an assist from Holt had pitched the burning hay out of the barn and distributed it on nearby fields.

Fighting the burning hay was a cooperative effort on the part of firemen and area friends and neighbors. Everyone rolled up their sleeves and got to work. It was a slow process for men were able to remain in the barn for only 5 to 10 minutes due to fumes, heat and smoke.

One Mason fireman Don Barr was injured accidentally when a pitch fork went through his foot. He was taken to Mason General hospital where he was treated and released. Barr was presented with the perennial fire department floral arrangement. He is spending a few days at home off his foot.

Mason firemen were not sure how long the hay had been burning, but floor boards were charred some 15 feet from the top of the mound. Firemen chopped holes in the sides and floor of the barn to get the smoldering hay out and as a safety precaution had the charred barn beams reinforced.

There were 13 Mason firemen, 9 Holt firemen and approximately 10 neighbors who got the hay removal job completed. They were helped by sandwiches and beverages supplied by the Halls and firemen's wives.

Mason Man's Quick Action Averts Possible Tragedy

Michigan's water fatality rate over the Labor Day could have been 2 digits higher without the quick thinking of Howard Roberts, 717 McRobert's street, Mason.

Roberts was trying out a new motor boat on Lake Margrethe near Grayling on Monday. He was in the process of snapping some pictures of Howard Becker of Lawton street, Mason, who was sailing, when the men saw a large sail boat capsizing dumping its 2 passengers into the lake.

Putting all his motor's 50 horsepower to work, Roberts sped over to the floundering man, who was rapidly nearing exhaustion. The man's wife had succeeded in grabbing the side of the boat.

High winds made the rescue operation difficult as Roberts took his boat in a number of times for the woman only to drift out of reach or be in danger of hitting her with his own boat.

Finally the couple who are in their 50's were aboard the boat. Both were said to be good sailors, but not swimmers. They had life preservers in the boat but were not wearing them. After the rescue operation it took Roberts, Becker and 2 other men about 2 hours to right the boat, which had a 30 foot mast with sails out driven into the lake bottom.

Primary stipulations were a 50 foot buffer zone between Eugenia drive property lines and the complex; one public street servicing the entire project should be dedicated at the very beginning of the project; sewers running through the project will be the responsibility of the developer; and Rose Hill should be encouraged to develop the project under the "community unit plan."

The development firm submitted a letter to the council (See HEARING-Pg. A-2)

Labor Day Festivities Staged at Fairgrounds

Monday was Labor's Day and members of the Lansing Labor council and their families gathered at the Ingham county fair grounds here at an outing that attracted more than 10,000 persons.

The festivities started at noon and continued until 6 p.m. The day was ideal with the temperature in the 70's and hardly a cloud in the sky. Roads leading to Mason were loaded with cars, at least 90 percent of which were headed for the outing. They brought workers from Lansing, East Lansing, Eaton Rapids, Charlotte, Grand Ledge, Mason, St. Johns, DeWitt and Owosso.

And there was much waiting for them at the fair grounds. There were 2 ferris wheels and numerous rides, and clowns for the children on the midway, there were eating stands, a rock and roll dancing party for the teenagers in the brick building, helicopter rides over Mason and the surrounding countryside and a grandstand show.

This show included a model show, a magic performance for children, Hawaiian dances and a kiddie ballet. Gus Scholle, president of the Michigan CIO council, spoke to the grandstand crowds. Viewing the outing was another dignitary G. Menen Williams, former Michigan governor.

There also were baking, canning and handicraft contests for women.

Several Lansing industries had exhibits on the grounds. They included Oldsmobile, the Warner-Swasey company, Melling Drop Forge, Board of Water and Light and others.

Prizes were given away every hour during the afternoon.

Si Nana was general chairman of the event and he had a large committee working with him. John Harufka, one of the committeemen, said that the 1968 Labor Day outing will not be held in Mason. He said fair board officials told the committee the grounds are booked for another event.

He said the Labor council has not yet decided where the 1968 outing will take place.

Bond Issue Meeting Set

The Mason Board of Education is holding an open meeting Wednesday, September 6, at 8 p.m. in the Manual Arts building. The purpose of the meeting is to answer questions that any citizens may have concerning the bond issue coming up for vote on September 25. William Kane, architect, will be present to discuss plans for the Junior high building.

Economic Development Group Will Determine Mason's Assets

By HAYDEN R. PALMER
Editor, Graphic Publications

What physical properties does the municipal government of Mason have and what does it need?

That is a foremost question in the minds of Mayor Loren Shattuck's committee, which will meet this month to start a campaign to bring Mason up to date in its operations and to establish an orderly and planned growth for the city.

William Bopf, Mason city administrator, has taken a preliminary inventory using all figures available and has come up with these findings:

He has discovered that Mason has approximately: Forty-eight acres of land zoned industrial, 372 acres zoned residential, 26 acres zoned commercial, 99 acres set aside for recreation, 67 acres devoted to institutional uses, 4,440 acres of undeveloped areas of which 239 acres are vacant and 201 are unusable, 904 acres zoned agriculture, for a total of 2,190 acres within the city limits. Mason also has 18.27 miles of hard surfaced streets and 5.59 miles of unpaved streets. Assets of the city total $4.9 million.

It also has a sewage disposal plant now operating at 50 per cent of capacity and a water plant operating at 65 per cent of capacity.

The city owns a building housing its city hall and city offices, the sewage disposal plant and a building at Oak and Jefferson streets which is about to undergo remodeling to house police and fire department units.

This building is regarded as one of the improvements badly needed in Mason. One city councilman regards it as a "must" in the city's progress.

"We need this building now," he said. "Our police load is getting bigger and we have needed a fire station for several years. This building project is a must."

Among other improvements favored in the future expansion of city projects is a community center with a large auditorium, quarters for youth groups and other facilities common to such buildings in other cities.

There also is a need for more playground space on the west side.

There are now in Mason about 99 acres of recreational space of which approximately 50 acres are in use.

But the big need is industry. Some of Mason's most progressive leaders favor a type of industry that is not dependent upon the auto industry. "What we need," said one city councilman this week, "is industry that provides steady, year around employment, and I would like to see some type of industrial expansion that would bring more professional people to Mason."

There are other needs, too. Leaders see a day not too far distant when more downtown parking will be necessary if the city develops the industry it hopes to attract here.

CLOWNS AND KIDS--Clowns and balloons, games, rides and hundreds of people combined to create the holiday spirit of the annual Labor Day rally at the county fairgrounds.

Extreme examples of the over-loaded classrooms are Alameda's kindergarten sections with 38 students in one section and 33 in the other. Even the 2 special education rooms at North Aurelius school and one of those at Cedar street school are now utilized as regular classrooms.

Of the only 2 remaining special education rooms in the school district, both at Cedar street school, one of these may be used this year as a regular classroom, Oesterle said. Since these rooms at Cedar Street are constructed by county special education funds, they can be used as regular classrooms by paying rent for them--rent which costs the school district $800 a year for each room, he explained.

Both principals, sincerely interested in providing a good education for Mason's youngsters, sadly pointed out that such large classes created discipline problems, for note-taker can humanely keep the desirable class control necessary for good learning.

"Teachers fold under the strain and either leave teaching for good or move to another school system where classes are not so crowded," Oesterle said.

"Many parents have expressed the desire for elementary libraries and there is Federal money available to buy books and other audio-visual equipment, but with schools filled to capacity not even one room in each school can be spared for this purpose," McIntosh said.

All schools also lack a "special purpose" room for use by speech, remedial reading, and visiting teachers, visiting nurses, sight and hearing clinics, hand practice and all the other specialists who visit the school on a routine basis.

In answer to what is to be done, the elementary school officials suggested voters consider carefully the upcoming bond issue for a new junior high school.

"So much attention has been directed toward the overcrowding in the present Junior high with little said about the equally pressing situation in the elementary schools. Few people have considered the fact that this bond issue is actually designed to accomplish 2 purposes," they said.

"Not only does it correct for the junior high problems but by turning the present building into an upper elementary school for 5th and 6th grades, the pressure is immediately relieved on all our elementary schools."

The elementary principals echoed the words of other school officials when they urged voters to remember that we are growing and no bond proposal can be expected to meet all school needs for all time.

Both elementary school principals are urging any parents or others in the school district to "walk through" the area schools at any time during the school day. By a call to the office before a visit, a personally guided tour by the principals themselves will be arranged.

Nature Way Association Schedules Dinner Meet

Nature Way Association of Lansing is making plans for its 2nd annual dinner meeting at Woldumar Conservation Education center, 5539 Lansing road on Tuesday, September 12, at 6 p.m.

Harold Walter, president of the association this week said reservations should be made as soon as possible. Attendance is limited to the first 200 members and guests. There will be a tour of the grounds at 6 p.m., followed by a buffet chicken barbecue.

will be "Natural Areas for Survival." Following the dinner the guests will hear an address by Thomas Kimball of Washington, D.C., an outstanding conservationist for the past 25 years who has served as director of both the Arizona and Colorado game and fish departments. Kimball now directs the National Wildlife Federation in Washington, with affiliates in 50 states and an estimated total membership of 2 million persons. The subject of his address

County School Districts Finalize Contract Talks

Some 61,000 youngsters trooped back to classrooms this week as the 1967-68 school year began in Ingham county. More than half of this number are enrolled in the Lansing school district. The rest are scattered over 11 other districts in the county at East Lansing, Mason, Williamston, Webberville, Leslie, Holt, Okemos, Haslett, Waverly, Stockbridge and Danville.

All 12 of the districts are set to start operating under master agreements which cover salaries of teachers and various fringe benefits. The Williamston district, in which it was feared agreements would not be reached before the opening day of school, fell into line Monday.

The Williamston board of education approved a contract at a meeting Monday night. The teachers had ratified it earlier Monday.

But the agreement did not come without a struggle. The negotiators for the teachers finally approved the pact after a 13-hour session that ended at 2:30 a.m. Sunday.

Banks Join Up

The annual banquet to kick-off membership and class enrollment in the Lansing chapter of the American Institute of Banking will be held September 12, starting at 6:15 p.m., at the Steinhaus, according to an announcement by David C. Walsh, chapter president. Sixteen Lansing area banks are represented in the chapter's membership. The A.I.B. is the educational arm of the American Bankers Association, and teaches 4 courses each year in what it terms "the largest adult education program in the U.S."

A state mediator was brought in during the final sessions of negotiations.

The teachers voted 36 to 8 to accept the contract. The vote on the board after a 4 hour session was 6 to 1.

Lansing schools expect to enroll about 32,000 pupils this year, Holt approximately 3,900, Mason about 3,350, Stockbridge about 1,875, Okemos about 3,100, Haslett 1,940, East Lansing around 5,000, Waverly an estimated 4,400, Leslie 1,550, Webberville 725 and Williamston 1,000.

All these enrollments represent increases from last year's figures.

First State Aid Checks Are Issued

Mason public schools have received $164,930 in the first state school aid payment for the 1967-68 school year.

The apportionment is 1/6 of the total amount appropriated to the Mason schools for the year. The state department of education will make further payments throughout the school year.

Mason's special education classes will receive funds from the $38,970 given by the state to the Ingham intermediate school district, department of special education. The intermediate district, of which Mason is a member, also received $5,840 for general needs of the intermediate district.

indicating they would provide for a 50 foot buffer zone, there would be no parking area built closer than 25 feet from Northbrook with enclosed ends of any parking area in close proximity and facing homes in the subdivision.

Rose Hill further stated they intended to build an initial complex of 100 to 150 units in the first phase of construction. They would also build the swimming pool, a recreational area and start development of the park 3 golf course.

Developers also agreed to requesting the re-zoning on the basis of a "community unit plan" as appears in Section 1902 in city ordinance book of June 2, 1958.

Mason city councilmen have called a work session for Tuesday, September 12, to consider in detail the Rose Hill proposal.

★ STUDY

There also is a need for safe storage of city records. And there is a vital need now for the employment of a full time assessor.

Mason has 2 things going for it now.

One is the proposed Rose Hill apartment complex to be built just west of Eugenia drive. This, city officials say, will bring between $40,000 and $50,000 a year in tax money to the city and will provide school tax funds of between $80,000 and $90,000.

The other is the announcement this week that the Morrison Industrial Equipment company is planning to establish a plant in the Mason area. It will need approximately 9 acres for its Mason facility. The city government wishes to keep the property tax rate within reasonable limits, but if it is going to attempt any large expansion it must have a larger tax base than it does now.

The answer to this, as leaders see it, is industry. And if industry comes, the city must be prepared to absorb its impact with the least possible inconvenience.

To do that it must prepare now for more schools, expanded city facilities, and more housing.

The city now is engaged in a program of sidewalk repair and when that is done it will endeavor to rebuild many curbs that have broken down throughout the city.

These are little things but they add much to the appearance of a city. There appears to be a general feeling that Mason is on the verge of something akin to the wave of growth and expansion that has swept over other nearby communities.

When it comes--and it may be sooner than one thinks--Mason must be prepared to meet it.

Mason Teen and Horse Excel at State Fair

A 15-year-old miss from Mason has distinguished herself at the Michigan State Fair in Detroit by earning several championship and reserve championship ribbons and trophies with her horse and riding abilities.

The young miss is Charyl Dietrich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dietrich of 726 S. Rogers street. Riding one of her horses named Miss Priss, Charyl received 2nd place in amateur 3 gaited class, 2nd place in amateur 3 gaited championship; 1st for saddle seat equitation for 14-17 year olds; championship of the saddle seat equitation for the class; reserve championship for the 3-gaited saddle horse and grand championship for saddle seat equitation rider of the Michigan State Fair.

Showing horses is no new thing for Miss Dietrich as she has been participating in horse shows for the last 5 years.

This was the first time she had ever entered the state fair though.

Charyl has owned "Miss Priss" for 3 years and boards it at the Kisor Stock farms. The Mason teen spends at least 3 to 4 hours daily taking care of her horses. She is also a member of the Michigan Horse association and has been touring around Michigan and surrounding states to various horse shows this summer.

Miss Diane E. Duchane Repeats Wedding Vows

The First Presbyterian church of Mason was the setting on Sunday, August 20 for the afternoon wedding of Diane Ellen Duchane and Karl H. Asmus.

Presiding over the double ring ceremony was Rev. Philip C. Hirtzel. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Margaret Duchane, 443 W. Ash street, Mason.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Frances Asmus of Chicago, Illinois and the late Karl H. Asmus.

Given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Charles A. Butler, the former Miss Duchane wore a floor length empire gown of ivory silk faille styled with a modified squared and slightly scooped neckline.

The Edwardian sleeves of imported re-embroidered Belgian lace were tightly fitted and buttoned at the wrist. The skirt was slightly gathered and a chapel train was attached at the back waist with a large bow.

A large bow of matching silk faille and re-embroidered Belgian lace secured her shoulder length veil of imported French illusion. She carried an Edwardian bouquet of ivory roses and carnations.

Serving as her sister's matron of honor was Mrs. Charles A. Butler of Mason. The bridesmaid was Miss Ann Wicker of Lansing.

Both wore floor length gowns of olive green crepe. The empire waist lines were marked with a band of matching satin. They wore head pieces of yellow camellias and carried flowers of yellow roses and camellias in an Edwardian motif.

Best man was Peter Formuzis of Tacoma, Washington. Roy Gilbert of Lansing served as groomsmen.

Miss Elizabeth Butler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Butler of Mason and a niece of the bride was the flower girl.

She wore a floor length dress of yellow dotted swiss designed with a green bustle and cummerbund effect. Green velvet trimmed her yellow basket of flowers.

A reception and buffet luncheon immediately followed the wedding in the dining rooms of the church. Guests attended from Chicago, California, Tacoma, Washington, Coldwater, Bay City, Lansing, East Lansing and Mason.

Following a wedding trip to the upper peninsula, the couple will reside at 104 Espanola avenue, Kalamazoo, where the bridegroom has accepted a position on the faculty of Western Michigan university.

He received his bachelor's degree from the University of Illinois and a master's degree from Michigan State university. He is to receive his doctor's degree from M.S.U. in the field of economics.

The new Mrs. Asmus, who also attended M.S.U., worked as a dental assistant for several years for Dr. Bayard A. Benfield of Okemos.

MRS. GALE LAMPHERE

Gale Lamphere Claims Bride in Methodist Rite

The First Methodist church of Mason was the setting on Saturday, August 26, for the wedding of the former Kathleen Dysert of Scottsdale, Arizona and Gale Lamphere of Mason.

Presiding over the double-ring ceremony at 2 p.m. was Rev. Keith L. Hayes, pastor of the church.

Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Celand Lamphere, 1770 W. Dexter Trail, Mason. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Dysert of Scottsdale, Arizona.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of crepe and Chantilly lace accented by hand sewn pearls on the bodice and sides of the chapel train.

Her four tiered veil of imported French illusion was held in place by a flowered crown trimmed with pearls and crystals. She carried a white Bible topped with a cascade bouquet of white roses and English ivy.

Maid of honor was Judith Lamphere of Mason, sister-in-law of the bridegroom. She wore a sheath gown of yellow crepe and lace with a matching headpiece of roses. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses and carnations.

Bridesmaids were Joan Dysert, sister-in-law of the bride, Susan Bunker and Karen Bunker, cousins of the bride and Sally Lamphere, sister of the bridegroom.

Their gowns, styled like the maid of honor's, were in the colors of pink, lavender, mint green and blue, respectively. They wore matching flowered headpieces and carried bouquets of orchids to match their gowns.

Flower girl, Ronda Gibson, wore an apricot dress with matching headpiece. Ring-bearer was Troy Sika.

Serving guests at the reception were Mrs. Sharon Morgan, Mrs. Annabelle Morgan, Miss Tammy Morgan and Mrs. John McClung.

The dinner was prepared by Mrs. Dysert, mother of the bride.

Following a honeymoon to Niagara Falls and Florida, the couple will reside in Mason. The bridegroom served with the United States Army following his graduation from Mason high school in 1961.

He is presently working as a carpenter with Lamphere brothers. The bride, a graduate of Scottsdale high school, Scottsdale, Arizona is employed in Jackson.

New Ballet Group Seeks Members

On September 17, the newly formed Lansing Ballet association, inc. will start its first membership drive. Through the efforts of people too numerous to mention, the dream of a permanent, performing ballet company for the Lansing area is now a reality.

The company will be known as the "Festival Ballet Company." They will make their debut, under the new association, at the "Day with the Arts" program at the Lansing Civic Center on October 29, 1967.

For many years now, Lansing area dance enthusiasts have traveled to Detroit, Flint, Ann Arbor, etc. seeking this form of entertainment. It is hoped that Lansing area residents will join in the enthusiasm and help support this group of talented young girls from their own city.

The company is made up of approximately 26 girls; 14 in the company and 12 apprentice members. To become a member, they must be 12 years old, have had pointe work, and pass a rigid auditioning board.

The company is under the able direction of its Artistic Director, Miss Theda Assiff and the Ballet Asso. President, Miss Judi Pressick. Many technique sessions are held for both the company and the apprentice group by co-operative and talented dance instructors from the community at large.

The purpose of the "Lansing Ballet Asso., Inc." is mainly to form, create, direct and operate a civic Ballet Company; to stimulate community support, interest and participation in the Company; to promote awareness and appreciation of the Ballet in particular, and dance in general.

For more information write to Lansing Ballet Association, Inc., 140 W. Grand River avenue, East Lansing, Michigan.

George W. Balzer Takes Hudson Girl as Bride

In a candlelight ceremony at the Wheatfield Congregational church located at Church corners in Hudson, Carolyn Louise Doty became the bride of George W. Balzer on Saturday evening, August 26.

Presiding over the double-ring ceremony was Rev. Thomas Toy, Mrs. Dean Briggs played the organ prelude and accompanied soloist Mrs. Vernon Briggs.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Doty of 1179 Beecher road, Hudson. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. August Balzer of Onondaga.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of organza over taffeta styled with a scoop neckline trimmed in lace and seed pearls.

Her detachable train was secured at the shoulders with bows. A forward headpiece of petals trimmed with seed pearls held her elbow length veil of illusion.

She wore a single strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom, and carried a cascade bouquet of white daisies and yellow roses.

Maid of honor was Sharon Doty, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Marcia Doty of Lansing and Patricia Double of Toledo.

They wore floor length empire gowns of gold and maize styled with brocade bodices and accented in back by a square neckline. The gowns were designed with full length detachable trains. Each attendant carried a bouquet of white daisies.

Pat Bullard, daughter of John Bullard of Detroit, was flower girl. Ringbearer was Jeff Knowlan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Knowland of Pittsford.

David Balzer of Aurelius was his brother's best man. Ushers were Gilbert Wilkins of Haslett, cousin of the bridegroom and Ralph Snow of Mason.

A reception for 150 guests immediately followed the ceremony in the church parlors. Guests were present from Lansing, Haslett, Perry, Portage, Aurelius, Pittsford, Hudson, Waldron and Toledo, Ohio.

The three tiered wedding cake was made by Mrs. Virginia Cunningham and served by the bride's aunts, Mrs. Alfred Double of Toledo, Ohio assisted by Mrs. Wayne Doty of Hillsdale and Mrs. Arthur Young of Hudson.

Pouring coffee and punch were Mrs. Kenneth Kopke of Portage and Mrs. Robert Knowlan of Pittsford.

Presiding at the guest register was Mrs. Philip Doty. Mrs. David Balzer and Mrs. Gilbert Wilkins were in charge of gifts.

Following a wedding trip to Expo '67 at Montreal, Canada the couple will make their home at 816 Louisa in Lansing.

The bridegroom, a 1961 graduate of Mason high school, has served four years with the U.S. Navy. He is attending Lansing Community college and is employed by Robert Carter Plumbing and Pipe Fitting Contractors.

The new Mrs. Balzer is a 1961 graduate of Pittsford high school and attended Jackson Business university. She is employed at Michigan Department of Social Services in Lansing.

Pre-nuptial parties honoring the bride were given by Mrs. Arthur Young of Hudson, Mrs. Joel Swinson of Hudson and Mrs. Marcia Doty of Lansing.

Pioneer Club Guest Day Brings Out Many Oldsters

By RUTH STILLMAN
News Special Writer

OKEMOS—"One of the best ever"—that was the claim made by guests at the annual Okemos Pioneer Club guest day, attended by 87 people in the Social Hall of the Okemos Community church last Wednesday.

The Okemos Pioneer Ladies was organized more than 30 years ago and each year acts as host to former Okemos. Of this number attending 19 were past 80 years old 11 men and 8 women.

Heading the list of these oldsters was Mrs. Ida Can, now of Eaton Rapids who will be 90 in November. Others were Lawrence Guile, Ralph Hudson, Martin Allen, Miss Caroline Bray, Mrs. Joseph-line Cline, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Daniels, Neil Distz, George Dormer, Heber Hulett, Mrs. Dora Kaiser, Mrs. Lulu Kelley, Jacob Lange, Mrs. Vern Miles, Mr. and Mrs. Claud Mitter, Harry Olin and Jake Tilhart.

Also present were 78 year old twins, Lee Hulett and his sister, Mrs. Leella Arend. After a picnic dinner, Mrs. Ethel Stratton, president of the club, asked each one to introduce themselves and a number of interesting remarks were made about earlier events. Several people brought mementos of historical and family interest to display.

Okemos as a settlement was started in 1839-40 and several families had arrived by 1842. Of these families coming into the area there were a number of descendants present at this affair. Among them were Miss Caroline Bray, her sister, Mrs. Nellie Bray Becker, Mrs. Josephine Moore Wolf and Mrs. Fern Moore Slagh, descendants of Freeman Bray original owner of land on which the village was platted.

The Brays came in 1840. Closely following was the Myron Barnes family represented at the meeting by Ida Palen Hawkins of Howell.

Miss Jessie Turner of Okemos is a descendant of Melzor Turner also an early day arrival. Mrs. Kate Youngs Welch, her brother Ward, and niece Mrs. Gladys Everett are descendants of Daniel Youngs, whose Cooper shop was the first school room in the area.

Lawrence Guile and Ralph Stillman are the great-grandsons of Daniel Stillman who settled the Stillman farm on Doble road in 1841. Miss Ruth Sargis' fore father settled on Hagadorn road in these early years.

The period from 1842 through the 1850's saw many families moving into the area and large percentage of those enjoying the guest day were of those families, such as Hulett's, Smith, Gredenberger, Hammond, Daniels, Wever, Allen, Kirkpatrick and others.

Mason Stamp club will meet with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ferris, 502 W. Columbia, Mason on Thursday, September 7 at 8 p.m.

All Mason area church women are invited to attend a meeting of United Church Women on September 15 at 9 a.m. in the St. James Catholic church. A speaker will be present from the Human Relations Commission of greater Lansing.

The East Alaledon Aid will sponsor a benefit rummage sale on Saturday, September 9, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Alaledon township hall, 2021 W. Holt road or 1/2 mile east of the Mason road.

Proceeds will aid an American Indian boy that the group is helping send through school.

Welcome Wagon club of Mason cordially invites residents to attend their open meeting at Flower's by Mr. Jerry, 440 S. Jefferson, Mason beginning at 8 p.m. September 12.

The Service Wives club will meet on Friday, September 8, at 5:30 p.m. at East Lansing park, section A, for a picnic. In case of rain the picnic will be moved to the American Red Cross, 1800 E. Grand River, Lansing.

Each wife should bring a picnic lunch for herself and her children. Newcomers will be welcome.

The Aurelius Garden club will meet Friday evening, September 8, at 8 p.m. in the Aurelius town hall. The program will be "Winter Windows" by Mrs. Clayton Matteson.

The North Aurelius School association will meet Monday, September 11, at 8 p.m. Guest speaker will be Robert Watts, superintendent and member of the school board. He will be discussing the bond issue.

North Aurelius PTO will hold its first meeting of the school year on Monday, September 11, at 8 p.m. Melvin Swanson, president of the PTO, and Walter McIntosh, principal, will introduce PTO officers and the teaching staff. Robert Watts, superintendent of the Mason school district, and a school board member will be guest speakers for a discussion of the proposed school bond issue.

Alaledon PTO will hold its

first meeting on Tuesday, Sept. 12, at 8 p.m. Dr. Weldon Burchill president of the PTO for this year announced that Mr. Robert Watts, Superintendent, and a School Board member will speak on the proposed School Bond Issue. Refreshments will be provided by PTO mothers.

Tuesday, September 12, is the date set for the general meeting for all school bond issue precinct and township workers and their chairmen, at 7:30 p.m., in the Junior high auditorium. Citizens committee members are asked to attend. The bond issue proposals will be outlined by Rex Stribley, school board member, and the campaign material will receive printed material for general distribution.

The Legion Auxiliary of Brown Cavender post will have its regular meeting with Mrs. Viola Doane at her cottage at Laird Lake located near Hale. Members going will leave Mason at 7 a.m.

The Skeeter Hill 4-H club is having a hayride on Friday, September 8, from 7 to 10 p.m. beginning at the corner of Seven Cables road and Dexter Trail. Members should bring their own hot dogs and other food.

Four Winds Farm Bureau group will sponsor a benefit square dance on Saturday, September 9, at the Ingham County fairgrounds.

Dancing will be from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. with calling by the Kin Folk. Tickets will be sold at the door. Proceeds will go toward the group's scholarship fund.

Mason City Slicker's 4-H community meeting will be Monday, September 11, at 7 p.m. at the Vevay town hall. There will be an election of officers.

Vandalism Reported In Okemos

Two more cases of vandalism were reported to the Ingham county sheriff's department this week, both in Okemos.

Gary Peterson, of Tomahawk drive, reported that he and 2 friends left his home at 7 p.m. Monday and when they returned they found that someone had strewn toilet paper all over the house and shrubbery.

Ward Soper, 4631 Meridian road, told officers he and his neighbors had joined together in building a bus shelter for school children to use on rainy days while waiting for the school bus. Now someone has ripped the shingles off the shelter. Officers picked up 2 young boys and their parents have agreed to repair the damage.

Green Arraigned

John F. Green, who faces charges of embezzlement from a Mason store where he was formerly employed, was arraigned Monday before Judge Roy Adams in Mason justice court. Judge Adams set his bond at $2,000. No bond was furnished.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE STEEPLEJACK

Look closely . . . in this picture a man is risking his life!

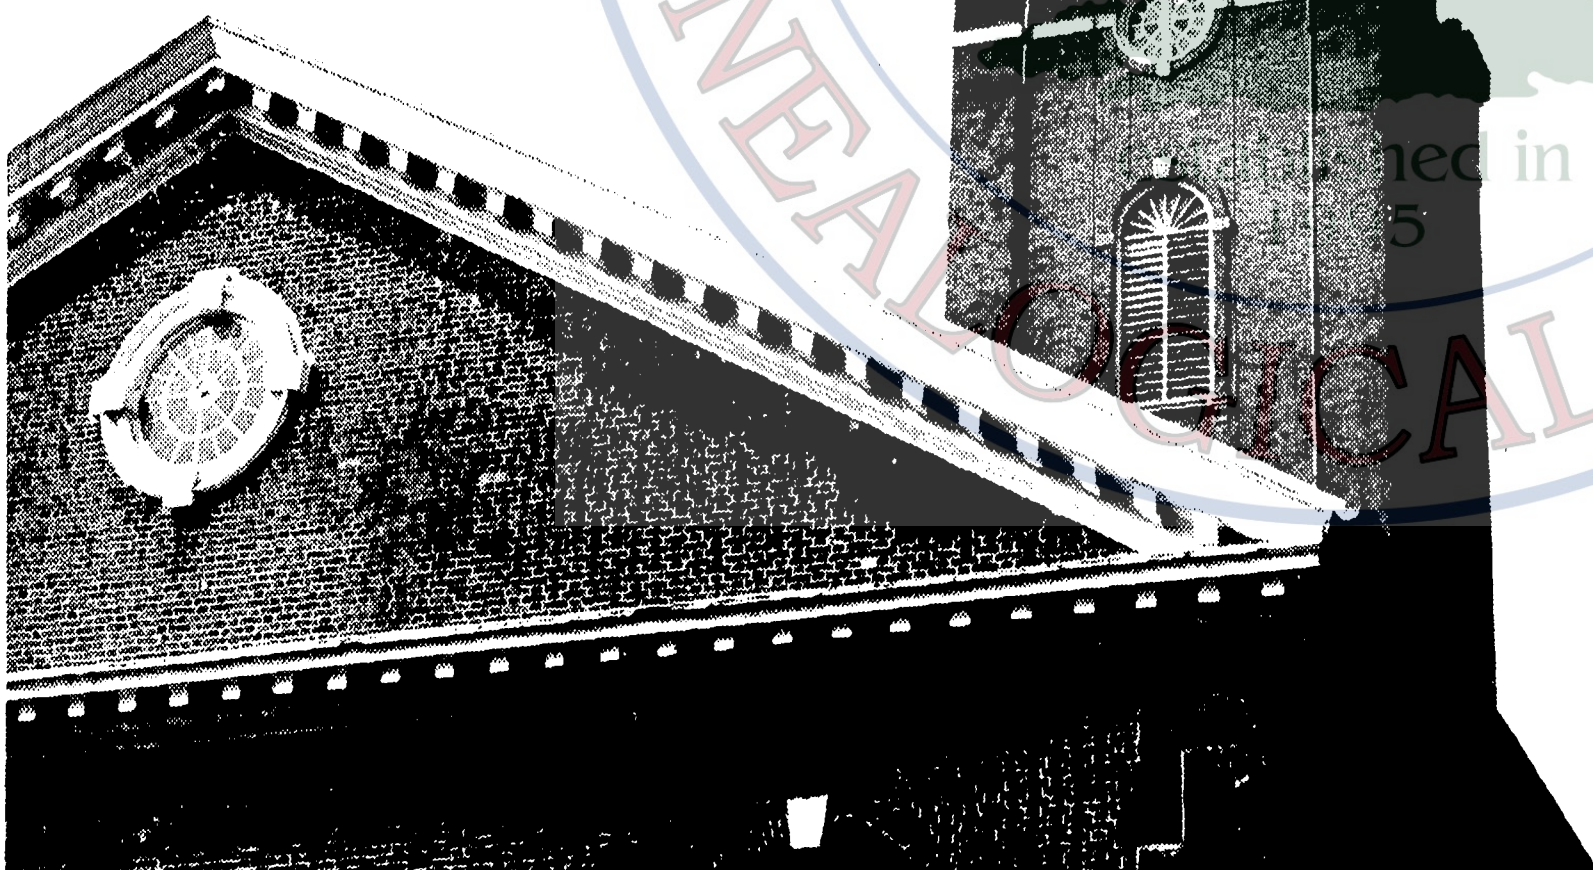

An old and respected trade is his. It had its beginning centuries ago when Christianity first began to express its devotion in unique forms of architecture. How could Christians proclaim constantly their faith in Christ? How could they lift the eyes of others to behold the Lord of Life?

Soon, over gabled village roofs rose gleaming spires. And men who tilled the fields, and men who trod the lanes, rejoiced to behold the symbol of Faith.

Then one day cities replaced villages . . . skyscrapers dwarfed the spires of God. And so, on the day this picture was taken, ten thousand people passed by and never raised their eyes. Only a few looked upward and thought in mild surprise, "Why, isn't that a man way up there on the steeple?"

Yes, A MAN. One of hundreds of millions whose skill and courage continue to be needed as the Church fulfills its mission.

Maybe your church doesn't have a steeple. But it has a task to challenge your skills . . . your courage.

What About Future Septembers?

Mason school pupils went back to classes Wednesday morning, 1967.

There was probably a sigh of relief from many mothers after a summer of vacation.

But there is no sign of relief from school officials who are thinking of September, 1968, 1969, 1970 and the other Septembers of the future. "Where do we put them?" That's the question that is bugging them.

Mason school administrators, with the help of a citizens' advisory committee, have come up with a plan which will be presented to the school district electors September 25. This proposal calls for a bond issue of $3,125,000 with the bulk of the money to be used for the construction of a new junior high school.

This move is the most logical to the study committee and the school board. It was not arrived at hastily but came after exhaustive study of enrollment projections and a hard look at property valuations in the district and the needs of education.

The same hard study is mandatory on the part of the taxpayers before they go to the polls September 25. The fate of the proposal rests with the voters. They need all the information available on the junior high situation. A good way to start would be for individual school electors to spend 5 minutes during a class changing period to see how 7th, 8th and 9th graders are jammed into an inadequate school facility.

The school board has some alternate plans ready--but they all cost money and do not do the job that proponents of the new junior high insist must be done.

The proposal to be placed before the electors September 25 calls for a new junior high at an estimated cost of $3,000,000 built to house the seventh, eighth and ninth grades with a total enrollment of 1,050 with the maximum capacity to be reached in 1974.

Another $70,000 would be included in the bond issue for acquiring a junior high site and an elementary site. The balance of the bond issue would be used for equipping the new building.

Under this plan the senior high would be adequate as is until 1974 with another addition necessary on the present high school in 1976.

The present junior high school would be converted to a middle school to house fifth and sixth graders. Such an arrangement in the fifth and sixth grades would make this building adequate for the 783 pupils projected for 1975.

The present elementary schools are deemed adequate to handle the pupil load of 1,572 which will be reached in 1974. At this point additions to present buildings or a new elementary school would be necessary.

In other words the plan to be placed before the voters will take care of the school enrollment through 1974 or 1975.

The price tag is $3,125,000.

What are the alternates?

The first alternate calls for moving the ninth grade into the high school. This would do the job until 1969 when the high school limit would be reached. Another addition to the high school would take care of the pupil load until 1972.

The present junior high would handle grades 7 and 8 through 1971 and would also take care of half the sixth grade and then a new junior high school would definitely be needed.

Under this alternate the elementary schools would handle the load until 1971 when additional rooms would be needed.

The cost of this alternate would end up costing a total of $4,975,000 to give the Mason district adequate facilities through 1974.

Comparing the 2 plans indicates that the least expensive and most efficient plan is the one which is before the voters.

Both plans are based on pupils we now have and those who are already with us and will be entering school. They do not take care of any sudden rise in enrollments brought on by big subdivision and apartment house developments.

In a brief sketch this is the problem. Any questions should be directed to school officials or the study committee.

In any event, voters should become informed and once informed they should go to the polls. Blindly rejecting the proposal isn't going to solve the problem. If the proposal is rejected the voters should at least know what the alternatives are.

It Takes 2 to Tango

Late last week the Johnson administration, wrestling with war in Vietnam and unrest and inflation at home, took to the soap box to condemn the inflationary act of the major steel companies in raising steel prices 2 per cent.

President Johnson may be right. Jumping prices on merchandise probably is inflationary. But why is it that the president and his advisors can see inflation trends only when they look at price increases?

Where is the hue and cry over the inflationary impact of exorbitant labor demands?

What ever happened to the president's labor increase guidelines.

If we are in the midst of inflation, and there is no doubt but that we are, then both sides of the labor-business tug-of-war are to blame. Let's pass out the blame on a share and share alike basis.

Teacher Gains Point To New Questions

Today's Enquirer and News carries an extensive comparative report on area teacher salaries, present and negotiated for the new year. In some cases the die has not yet been cast.

As the accompanying news story brings out, the settlement of these matters comes about in a new type of ball game between teacher negotiators and school boards.

It is evident that teachers, through collective bargaining, have made substantial gains in most levels of salary structures. Some of this corrects inequities between teacher salaries and salaries for other types of employment. Some--considering the summer vacations available to teachers--assumes the proportions of a major break-through for the teaching profession.

Some of the gains have been reasonably arrived at, and some goals being sought are the ill fruit of a pressure policy which, if not subdued by common sense, will have long-run injurious effects on public education and teaching careers.

As Dr. Fred Vescolani, professor of administration and higher education at Michigan State University, said last week: "What evidence is there that Michigan has a better educational system or better teachers because of collective bargaining? 'The former president of the Michigan Education Association asks a question which must and will be answered. Too many teacher negotiators have been saying that better education will result from higher salaries. The obvious retort to such a statement is to ask whether teachers are not doing their jobs properly now."

The missing factor, as he sees it, is that teachers should exercise more control over certification "just like members of other professions." He feels that they should also take a stronger voice in teacher-training programs in colleges and universities. If something of this nature isn't done, the teaching professions will go through what many industries have experienced. The incompetent and inadequate will be frozen into their comfortable positions. However, in the case of teachers it is the taxpayer who will be supporting the over-priced teacher.

Some of the negotiating demands indicate that there are teachers who are blind to anything except a sudden opportunity to improve their financial positions whatever may be the effect on their professional status.

Such greed may pay off temporarily where school boards are backed up against the wall, but in the long run it will grind down the good teacher to the dead level of mediocrity.

It is unfortunate that the wheel has turned so completely from the former position of the Michigan Education Association (MEA) as to bring the charge that it is "out unionizing the union," yet these are the words of Charles T. Schmidt, Jr., of MSU's School of Labor and Industrial Relations. He was pointing out reasons for "the recent hardening of attitudes toward collective bargaining by school boards throughout the state." Such a "hardening" is inevitable when MEA councils resolve to exhaust all the resources of fact-finding and mediation.

As the situation now shapes up, some schools in our area may not be able to open up on time. Others have worked out reasonable and appropriate compromises with their teachers.

The Enquirer and News is not attempting to analyze individual school districts' problems, involved as they are in negotiation or mediation. But we certainly believe that taxpayers expect school boards to negotiate on reasonable demands and stand up and fight against unreasonable ones.

It is important to open the schools on time, but it is even more important not to allow bargaining demands and pressures to inflict fundamental damage on school systems. (Battle Creek Enquirer-News)

Something for Nothing Promises Are Frustrating

Before hailing the new depression-proof era of a finely-tuned, government-managed economy of perpetual abundance as a complete success, the following facts should be noted:

1) Since 1960, the population of the United States has grown by 10 per cent; 2) Since 1960, the personnel comprising the civilian bureaucracy of the federal government has grown by 25 per cent; 3) Since 1960, expenditures for national welfare and health programs are up 210 per cent.

The deficits for the eight years since 1960 will total $50 billion and for the decade will probably be about $75 billion. The national debt will be up by approximately the same amounts. Forty-two million people now receive regular checks from the federal government--either directly, or from states under aid programs financed largely with federal funds.

Maurice H. Stans, former director of the budget, points out: "The government can spend only what the people provide, either directly in taxes or indirectly through inflation. If the people are constantly led to expect more than can be delivered to them, the result is bound to be frustration and unrest--and worse." (Clinton County News)

Saluting Society's Forgotten Man

It was with more than a good deal of sympathetic interest that we noted a recent speech made by President Miller Upton of Beloit College, Wisconsin. He hit some kind of a nail on the head when he said:

"I have just about reached the end of my tolerance for the way our society at the present time seems to have sympathetic concern only for the misfit, the pervert, the drug addict, the drifter, the ne'er-do-well, the maladjusted, the chronic criminal, the underachiever, the loser--in general, the underdog."

Upton went on to declare he does not in any way oppose public efforts to assist such people. But he thinks that somehow more recognition and solicitude should be shown for the members of our society who go about their business and amount to something. . . .

What the educator was talking about here was America's forgotten man. He is the ordinary, decent man of character who goes to work on time, pays his bills and taxes, worries about his family, probably goes to church, obeys the law, casts his ballot, avoids trouble with the neighbors and seldom goes to extremes about anything. In short he is what our drop-outs refer to as a "square."

Like Upton, we most certainly are not opposed to social uplift programs. But, along with him, we emphatically lament the fact that the forgotten man is so prevalently either taken for granted or laughed at because he constructively conforms to his responsibilities.

So here, at least, is a salute to the man who gives instead of asking. . . . Without the forgotten man and his tax payments there would be no such programs. -- The Examiner (San Francisco)

Barbs and Praise

By DICK BROWN

The age of science has provided the world with many fine things. Research has created all sorts of things to make life more enjoyable, but science has developed into something of a killjoy, too.

They have succeeded in putting the fear into cigaret smokers, although not to the extent that smoking has dropped off.

The scientist's have developed miracle drugs but many of them have side-effects which are a constant source of fear. These days everyone in the science world is pointing suspicion at the air we breathe, the food we eat and the water we drink.

Man is pictured as the greatest nest fouler ever put on earth.

Science has put fear into the hearts of us fat people by yelling about calories and cholesterol.

And then science has given us the thermo nuclear bomb.

But--what's the use. The kill joys have really come up with a fear campaign, now. Leading killjoy Fritz Wentz, a University of Nevada botanist, is now expounding the theory that Mother Nature is killing us off with her own pollution. He maintains that the pungent pine, the fragrant sage and other related trees give off 1,000 per cent more pollution than all man's trash fires, factory smoke stacks and gasoline buggies.

He points out that trees send out molecular substances known as terpenes and esters, simulating reaction similar to manmade pollutants. Terpenes are especially toxic.

Those people who are more timid than others had better get out the ax and go at the shrubbery.

There are even some scientists who are busy developing the theory that grass is lethal. That's something I have always suspected with the suspicious the strongest while I am mowing the lawn.

While on the subject of lethal weapons, I would like to thank all those drivers who used US-27 between Higgins lake and Mason on Monday between the hours of 2 and 5. They done good. We got home intact.

It was quite a parade with traffic bumper to bumper. There were lots of trailers and boats as an added thrill. But, in spite of the traffic volume I didn't see so much as a wrinkled fender. That's a tribute to the driving skill of those on the highway or a tribute to the dodging ability of everyone.

There is something depressing about breaking up housekeeping at a summer home in the north. I cried all the way to M. Pleasant. I couldn't determine whether it was sadness or sore muscles from pulling in docks and the Brown naval fleet.

Did you ever wonder what happens to presidential directives? Just a year ago LBJ ordered a freeze on federal employees. He ordered the government work force frozen at the July, 1966, level.

Delaware's Sen. Williams wondered. He started checking and found that the federal work force has actually increased by 131,800 during the 12 months. He figured out that every 5 minutes the federal government adds 8 more people at the public trough.

And that is what happens to presidential directives.

Just Thinking

By VERNON BROWN

It must be that time of year again! There's a cold bite in the air every morning and little brother Rick is limping around the house as if he were an old man instead of a 14 year old.

Football practice has started! Dear "old Dad" is even getting the itch. At least 5 times a day he mentions the fact he hasn't gotten his tickets for the State-Notre Dame game.

Mom's girding herself for many late suppers (due to football practice), the loss of her family on weekends to various football fields and about 100 games blaring from the TV.

Over the years she has become accustomed to the fact that during the fall months football is the BIG word around the Brown household.

Once in a while a guy can even catch Mom sneaking a look at the tube.

Things must be getting pretty bad. We are facing so many riots that the National Guard has to hold riot practice in the streets of Lansing--the only major Michigan city that didn't experience riots this summer.

I was glad to see the Lansing city fathers make the Guard cancel their plans. I wasn't sure whether I liked the reasons given for the cancellation--fear of tension, and more riots--but the end result is the same. No National Guard troops will be in Lansing streets just for practice.

Speaking of city fathers, Mason's own leaders deserve a pat on the back for launching a detailed study of what to do about this city's future. Mason has needed this sort of plan for a long time. We have been content to sit by and watch the world go by.

If Mason is to keep pace with the rest of Michigan, it is time we become aggressive. Mason is in a tremendous location. We are right in the center of Michigan's highway system, we have railroad service and every other ingredient to success right at our doorstep.

There is one exception: a detailed plan for using the ingredients to bake the progressive city cake. Get out the mixer and turn on the oven, let's get Mason moving!

The Melting Pot

By HAYDEN PALMER

News writers and school teachers for years had one thing in common - low salaries.

Back in the 1930's the news writers decided to do something about it--at least in the metropolitan centers. They organized the American Newspaper Guild and sought contracts with publishers.

As in all such new ventures they met opposition in some quarters, but the Guild struggled on and within a few years became an established fact in the newspaper world.

There were strikes--many of them - at first, but today the Guild is recognized not only in the metropolitan centers of the country but also in the smaller city dailies. Strikes are much less numerous.

Now the teachers have organized and are seeking contracts much as the Guild did 30 years ago.

There have been and probably will continue to be for a while strikes by the instructors who have struggled along in many instances over the years at starvation wages in a sort of dignified poverty existence.

Now, like the Guild, they have taken the bull by the horns, so to speak, and demanded salaries commensurate with their abilities which they gained by long years of study preparing for their life work.

There will be just school boards and unjust ones for a time, no doubt, but in the end it appears predictable that things will settle down and the teachers and their agreements will be taken as a matter of course.

The Guild learned, and the teachers will too, that there are 2 sides to every problem. They cannot make exorbitant demands upon school boards any more than news writers can upon publishers.

Some school boards are not in as good financial position as others and teachers must take this into consideration in making their demands for bigger pay checks.

During the past week Holt and Mason teachers and their school boards signed agreements. There were no great difficulties, no one "lost his head" and the contracts were worked out agreeably and satisfactorily.

That is the way it should be.

People took for and see different things. One man goes to Europe and returns with memories of the cathedrals and art galleries. Another returns with glowing reports of the beauty of the Alps or the grandeur that was Rome.

Still another saw only the Follies Bergere or Riviera night clubs.

Grandpa DeCamp on his return from the West Coast rated the views of Iowa corn and Kansas wheat far above the Grand Canyon at sunset or the sight of sunrise on the Pacific.

When a friend pointed out a breath-taking scene from a peak of the Sierras, Grandpa's only comment was, "What good is it? It won't grow corn."

To some folks the livestock exhibit is all there is to the county fair. To others it may be the midway, the horse races, the pulling contests or the display of needlework and baked goods. . . . What's one man's meat is another man's poison.

This week men and women are getting their exhibits ready for the county fair. Boys and girls in 4-H clubs are doing the same. They're grooming a calf, teaching him how to respond to pulls on his halter.

Candidates for public office are also getting their exhibits ready for the county fair. They are grooming themselves, combing their own wool to remove the temptation of pulling it over someone's eyes. They are filling off the rough edges of their official records, and sanding the slippery places on their platforms. . . . They are practicing pointing with pride and vowing with alarm.

Those fat barrows wearing the blue ribbons Friday of next week will be pork chops on some rich man's table in a few short months. Joe's prize Holstein, Guernsey or Jersey is milked twice a day even while she is at the fair.

Those fancy steers have only another week before their throats will be slit. Those beautiful fleeces sported by the sheep will be shorn so some man can have a pair of pants.

Those candidates on exhibit have only a few days in the spotlight. Then they, too, will have to go back to plowing, rounding up client or customers or patients or victims. . . . All too soon the candidates will have the spotlight rudely jerked away.

Unique Training Program Aids 'Hard Core' Unemployed

By Elmer E. White

Michigan's "hard core" unemployed in the upper peninsula were picked for a unique retraining - educational pilot program. Although job retraining has been conducted at many locations for quite some time, the UP project combined basic education and increased general education levels. Others spent less time in classroom, but acquired skills in welding, woodworking, auto mechanics, and other fields.

A federal program passed in 1964 provides funds for attacking hard core poverty. The Michigan Department of Social Services and Northern Michigan university, at Marquette, pooled their talents to provide a more flexible program, based on individual needs, than is normally found in retraining.

The 201 enrollees were first given thorough medical-dental examinations and underwent extensive counseling. Factors which become apparent - and which could affect the trainees' success in completing courses - included organic problems, drinking habits, marital difficulties, low reading and mathematical competencies.

Trainees, housed in special quarters at Northern, received specific help on these individual problems. During this period social services staff visited homes, explained the program and asked for cooperation and support from families.

Once a vacancy developed in the job training classes, a trainee was "promoted" from basic education to job skills. No class schedule was set; trainees graduated from classes as employment was found or when they entered a more highly-skilled course.

Programs planned for 10 week intervals actually averaged 11 1/2 weeks. Maximums and minimums ran from one year to the other. Some men spent the entire periods in the basic education program and increased general education levels. Others spent less time in classroom, but acquired skills in welding, woodworking, auto mechanics, and other fields.

At the end of the year's program, 94 of the 201 originally enrolled planned to continue their education or vocational training, 52 had or were promised employment, 27 were unemployed, 14 were in work-experience projects, 8 were under medical care, six were in jail, unknown or dead.

Estimated trainee cost was $1.62 per hour, although exact figures will not be known until the books are officially closed. Results of the program were felt to merit its continuation for another year.

COLOR IT BLUE

Motorists traveling north on U.S. 27 near Mt. Pleasant or Clare and those northbound on U.S. 23, between Ann Arbor and Flint, will note blue markings for exit ramps. Both projects are part of a "color-coding" experiment by the Michigan State Highway Department.

Previous tests in Minnesota and Florida prompted Michigan to add a third color code to the existing yellow and white-on-green interstate signs on its freeways.

High-speed freeway travel requires "glance" notification of interchange areas to permit advance positioning for exit maneuvers. The need is greater when exit ramps are approached from left lanes and look identical to the thru-way. Erratic driving maneuvers were observed at such interchanges with drivers switching lanes two and three times before deciding whether to exit or continue on the freeway. The erection of blue signs and edgemarkings at Mt. Pleasant and Clare reduced erratic maneuvers 38 percent. Data from 30,000 driver interviews is now being processed. The highway department has received many letters from motorists expressing favorable reaction to the coding system.

Results on U.S. 27 showed enough merit to justify a similar experiment on an extended length of freeway. In 1965 color coding was established on U.S. 23.

National adoption of the system could result if tests continue to show favorable results. The U.S. Bureau of Public Roads contributes 75 percent of test funds and watches the experiment closely.

Although there is considerable red tape involved, the Michigan system stands a good chance of becoming a standard for all interstate highways. Research data should be processed by next July.

Public Should Cooperate With Its Law Officers

By Douglas Dilday

Of all professions, the one that is the most berated is that of law enforcement officers. I have often heard people complaining about how law officers do their job, of course these are always the ones that are stopped for traffic violations or some sort of wrong doing or else they just don't know anything about the law at all! A law officer's job is hard enough without people making it harder by adding criticism to the job.

People, that is, private citizens and everybody, can make an officers job easier. How? Cooperation! For example, a recent incident here in Mason, which is alleged to have had witnesses, could be solved right away if people were willing to cooperate with the proper authorities. But such a thing would be "ratting" or "squealing" on somebody, so why cooperate with the law? What's the loss of a little civic duty and self respect when you're covering up some wrong doing and making life tough for everyone else.

Most people don't quite understand what I am talking about, but those who this "shoe" fits, I hope get the message and decide to get some backbone and come out into the open. Because until you do, all teenagers in this town are "underdogs" from the word "Go".

A hundred years ago, law was a six-gun and a hangman's noose, and justice was something that had to be in order for mutual existence, today though, the law has been bent and reformed to meet modern man's interpretation of it in such a way, that justice is designed for the individual and not the over-all population.

Thus, for good law enforcement, it is up to each individual to hold an active part in law enforcement. This means everyone, over and... under 21.

MASON TRANSIT MIX

The Countryside

By Bill Lutz

I recently had an unexpected visit with an old friend, Dale Ball, director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture. Dale and I grew up in the same neighborhood - Deer Creek in Livingston county. We went to the same one room country school and one room country church. As small boys we were the closest of friends. Scarcely a day went by that we didn't scuffle like cub bears. We called it wrestling.

Every summer a half dozen of us lads went camping together in Eddie Berry's cow pasture down by the river behind the church. Our staple foods were potatoes and pancake flour. Luckily one of Eddie's cows was tame enough to stand still while we milked her. For variety we foraged a little. Some roasting ears could usually be found and occasionally a stray chicken found his way into our pot.

The swimming hole was close by. We dove off the bank or from an old tree that had fallen into the river. After a dip we stretch-out on the river bank in the sun and watched the clouds go by. Nobody had a swimming suit. Sometimes we did some fishing. There were shiners, bass, blue gills and suckers.

We washed our dishes in the river and dipped our drinking water out of it. The water was usually clear except just after a rain or after the cows had crossed on the way to the barn for milking. I don't think anybody ever had typhoid.

Once in a while our mothers would bring a pan of beans or scalloped potatoes. Maybe even a pie. We were glad to see them come but also pleased when they left.

Dale and I both remember those days as being very good. We didn't have any money but we had fun. When we got around to reading "Tom Sawyer" we felt that he was one of us. It was like meeting an old friend.

Today our children are rich in things but poor in some experiences. In just one generation the waters have become so polluted as to be almost useless to adults and children alike.

Stopping by a farm home a few days ago I asked some boys in the family about the fishing in the creek just down the road. They said the only fish were carp. Their father observed that the water was contaminated by two villages upstream. It wasn't safe for swimming.

Some friends just returned home from a canoe trip with a group of high school youth on the Au Sable river, one of the finest canoe trails in the country. One of the boys stepped on a broken bottle in the river and suffered such a hideous cut on his foot that a cast had to be applied.

All over the country our streams have become sewers and our lakes cess pools. Why must our children be so deprived? Is there any good reason why all the waters should not be pure and the banks and bottoms of lakes and streams clean?

Looking Into The Past

One Year Ago--1966

Labor had its day Monday at the Ingham county fairgrounds here as it observed its annual outing which drew a crowd estimated between 12,000 and 15,000 persons.

Mason school teachers Wednesday voted 90 to 17 in favor of ratifying a contract with the Mason school board.

Figures compiled Thursday morning credited Mason schools with an enrollment of 2,075.

The Michigan Association of Registers of Deeds, meeting in Ludington last week, elected Mrs. Mia Belle Humphrey of Mason president. Mrs. Humphrey has been the Ingham county register of deeds for 5 years.

Ethel Cleaves, 785 N. Cedar street, Mason, reported to sheriff's officers that sometime during the week end of August 26-27 someone in a truck broke the gate at her home and knocked down 15 feet of fencing.

Class for School Bus Drivers

A class for all school bus drivers in Ingham County is being held at Mason Senior high school (Cafeteria) 900 South Barnes street on Thursday, September 7, 1967 at 7 P.M.

This class is for both new and experienced school bus drivers. The new laws pertaining to school buses that were passed by the 1966 State Legislature will be discussed by the Michigan State Police, as well as the accident record of this past year.

A new film and discussion dealing with seat belts on school buses will also be a part of the program.

This class is under the direction of Eastern Michigan university at Ypsilanti and sponsored by the Michigan Department of Education at Lansing.

All school bus drivers should plan to attend. School administrators and school board members are urged to send their drivers.

Phi Beta Kappa Chapter Granted Charter at MSU

The nation's oldest scholastic fraternity, Phi Beta Kappa, will have a new chapter at Michigan State University. A charter for MSU was granted last week during the 28th triennial meeting of the Council of United Chapters of Phi Beta Kappa in Durham, North Carolina. Seven other schools, selected from more than 60 that have applied since the council's 1964 meeting, were granted charters. They are the University of California at Davis, the University of California at Santa Barbara, Macalester college, Morehouse college, Muhlenberg college, the University of Notre Dame and St. Louis university.

Representing MSU at the council meeting were Dr. Harry H. Kimber, professor and chairman of the religion department, and Dr. Milton E. Mueller, dean of the school for advanced graduate studies and vice-president for research development.

Founded in 1776, Phi Beta Kappa encourages achievement in the liberal arts and sciences. Its members are selected for outstanding scholarship in these areas. There are 184 chapters in the nation. About 125 MSU faculty members are now members of Phi Beta Kappa, and they will organize the university's chapter.

New State Law To Be Reviewed

Michigan's newly enacted Implied Consent law will be carefully reviewed and explained in a 9-city series of Governor's regional traffic safety conferences this fall.

Gerald W. Shipman, executive secretary of the Michigan State Safety commission, conference coordinating agency, said, "This new tool for law enforcement authorities will, hopefully, bring some favorable results in the fight to keep the drinking driver off our roads. The public needs to know more about this law that will become effective November 2, 1967 and we plan to have a presentation at the conferences covering the use of breath testing devices and correlative legal implications."

Additional conference sections will be presented covering legislative review and priority aims in the fields of education, highways, enforcement, licensing, public support and federal-state traffic safety relationships.

The conferences, open to the public, will be staffed by key state and local personnel. Local committees in the various locations are working with the Safety commission in sponsoring the events that will see Lt. Governor William G. Milliken, Secretary of State James M. Hare and Col. Fredrick E. Davids, Director of the State Police, delivering main addresses on alternate dates.

The state wide schedule begins September 11 in Lansing and is followed by meetings in Saginaw--September 13; Tecumseh--September 15; Pontiac--September 18; Gaylord--September 20; Niles--September 22; Sault Ste. Marie--September 23; Grand Rapids--October 2; and Escanaba--October 6.

JUDGING TEAM--Placing 10th in the state for their dairy judging abilities at the 52nd annual State 4-H fair was the Ingham county team. Coached by Omar Joramo of Williamston, the team members are (l. to r.) John Kurtz of Williamston, Dan Brown, Yvonne Hartig and Kathy Deeg, all of Mason.

Public Utility Agriculture Seen Threat

The future of American agriculture is bright--if farmers will seek economic solutions to their problems rather than political solutions, a national farm leader said at a recent press conference in Lansing. Roger Fleming, secretary-treasurer of the 1,700,000 farm family member American Farm Bureau federation and director of its Washington office, was in Lansing for a meeting with Michigan's county Farm Bureau leaders.

Listing disengagement from government price-fixing and regulations as one of the perquisites for an optimistic agricultural outlook, Fleming warned, "The greatest threat to bigger per farm income is the concept that agriculture should be made a government-controlled public utility." Although farmers would not vote to do this, he explained, there is danger that they might "inadvertently" support programs which would lead in this direction, such as allowing the government to set up national marketing boards.

He pointed to the proposed "National Farmer Relations Act" as a "government framework parallel to that of organized labor," providing the structure for farm bargaining, with the Secretary of Agriculture given authority to establish the ceiling price on commodities. Urging a return to the free market system, he said, "Farmers will get a bigger income from consumers than through voters."

"Farming has become a business--not a 'factory in the field'--but on the basis of commercial family farms. We should build on this success rather than resort to government programs which put a ceiling on opportunity."

Fleming listed passage of S-109--the marketing rights bill--as vitally important to farmers. The bill is designed to make unlawful discrimination by purchasers of agricultural commodities against producers who join marketing and bargaining associations. "The question remains whether the Administration will work actively toward passage of the bill in the 1968 session of Congress, or will they use it as 'running gears' to put on their 'wagon box' for more government control of agriculture," Fleming said.

Ram Sale

The annual Ram Day sponsored by the Michigan Sheep Breeders' association will be held at the M.S.U. beef cattle barn in East Lansing on Wednesday, September 20. Purebred sheep breeders will assemble over 100 top quality rams and offer them for sale. All rams will be inspected, weighed, priced and penned by breeders.

Hugh Henderson, beef cattle specialist at M.S.U., has been doing considerable research in corn silage. He has concluded that:

Late Harvested Corn Silage Proves Costly: -- Research shows that delaying harvest of corn silage from mid-September to mid-October reduces dry matter yield per acre 11 percent and to delay the harvest to mid-November causes a reduction of 21 percent in dry matter yield per acre.

To make matters worse, cattle gained 6 percent slower when fed the October and November harvested silage, required about 6 percent more silage matter to produce a pound of gain, and required about 11 percent more silage space to hold 100 pounds of silage dry matter.

Any way you look at these facts, you come to the same conclusion: Start harvesting corn silage as soon as it dries down to 65 percent moisture or 35 percent dry matter, (corn well dented and in the dough stage), and continue harvesting as rapidly as possible.

To harvest at moisture levels higher than 65 percent will cause seepage in the larger silos, which in turn causes a loss in nutrients (seepage is about 10 percent digestible nutrients) and a rather severe erosion of the silo. At moisture levels above 70 percent, excess silo pressures can cause a silo to "to down" and if not, the silage is unpalatable and smells even worse.

Fine Chopped Corn Silage Proves Best: When MSU researchers compared 3/8 inch and 3/4 inch pre-frost chopped silage, they were able to store 17 percent more dry matter per cubic foot of silo capacity with the 3/8 inch chopped silage, but there was no difference in average daily gain and feed efficiency of cattle fed the 2 silages.

Treat Corn Silage With Urea: Every ton of corn silage harvested this fall should be thoroughly mixed with 10 pounds of urea per ton at the time of filling the silo. This practice will increase the energy value of corn silage approximately 8 percent and increase its protein value 50 percent.

High - calcium limestone added at the rate of 10 pounds per ton of corn silage, along with 10 pounds of urea, will also further increase the energy value of corn silage and should be done if limestone can be purchased for $15 per ton or less.

To get maximum benefit from urea additions, corn silage should be between 60 percent and 70 percent moisture. If moisture levels drop below 60 percent, do not use urea. Research is now being conducted at MSU on urea additions below 60 percent moisture, and results will be available for the 1968 harvest year.

3 County Dairymen Join Group

There are 3 Ingham county dairymen who were recently accepted into the Holstein-Friesian Association of America membership. They include James M. Day of Mason, Bruce E. Deeg of Mason and Mahlon G. Covert of Leslie.

The state had 41 names among the 1,496 individuals and firms granted membership at the recent annual Holstein convention.

Members are entitled to register and transfer Holstein cattle at reduced rates. They also qualify for voting, participation in breed improvement programs and to receive general membership publications.

There are 46 states listed in the Holstein report. Largest new member groups came from Pennsylvania, New York and Wisconsin. Total membership in the national breeders' organization now exceeds 45,000.

Grand Haven Firm's Machine Wins Ag Development Award

A highly sophisticated five-ton monster that treads as softly through the fields as a man walks and does the work of 300 men picking blueberries is Michigan's 1967 Agricultural Development of the Year. It is the Harvey Harvester, manufactured by Harvey Machine Inc. of Grand Haven.

John Calkins of the state department of agriculture, chairman of the awards committee of Michigan Week, announced it as the winner among entries from 12 regions in judging completed this week. The award will be presented in a ceremony at the band shell at the State Fair in Detroit Wednesday evening. At the invitation of company president John Harvey, the inventor will come to Detroit to accept the plaque. He is Emil Perties, LaPaz, Ind., fruit farmer. The presentation will be made by Dale I. Sellers, president of the Greater Michigan Foundation. The machine weighs more than 10,000 pounds, stands more than 12 feet high and oscillates blueberries with oscillating fingers that select the ripe berries and leave the green ones. Its complicated operation is by hydraulic power. Price of the machine is $35,000. The first machines were sold in 1966 and now 38 are in use in the blueberry fields of Michigan and two other states--31 in Michigan, five in New Jersey and two in North Carolina. Michigan is No. 1 in blueberry growing.

Experimental work is being done with the Harvey Harvester in the cherry orchards. Shortly one will be tried in the California grape industry. As soon as international red tape can be unraveled, one will be at work experimentally in coffee harvesting in Brazil. Thirty people are employed in the plant at Grand Haven.

The judging panel who looked through scrapbooks submitted by Michigan Week awards committees of the 12 competing regions and examined the entries on exhibit at the State Fair, were Dayton Matlock, editor of the Michigan Farmer magazine; Marshall Wells, farm director of radio station WJR, Detroit, and Melvin Woell, director of Michigan Farm Bureau News.

In the state contest which began with county judging during Michigan Week in May and continued through regional contests during the summer, the Harvey machine was the entry of Region 8, made up of Allegan, Barry, Kent, Montcalm and Ottawa counties. Richard Tillstrom, public affairs director of Wood Broadcasting, Grand Rapids, is the Region 8 awards chairman.

A western Michigan entry also won the state contest last year. It was an experimental project by the Gerber baby food company of Fremont which demonstrated that sweet potatoes can be successfully grown in Michigan. The Gerber project was carried on in Berrien county.

The state Agricultural Development of the Year need not be a product. A research or marketing program or any achievement benefiting Michigan agriculture is eligible. The same state committee also directs the selection of Michigan's Product of the Year. Richard K. Arnold, executive secretary of the Michigan Agricultural Conference and farm director of radio station WKAR, East Lansing, is deputy chairman in charge of the agriculture contest.

Members of MACMA, an affiliate of the Michigan Farm Bureau, produce approximately 60 percent of the state's canning and freezing apples. The price announcement came as a result of several weeks study of market factors by the association's marketing committee.

Robert Braden, MACMA manager, listed lower supply and higher demand, in addition to labor costs and weather problems, as chief factors in the price increase. "We feel that the suggested price is fair to the grower and the processor," Braden said. "It takes into consideration the major factors setting the market for our products and still gives the farmer money to cover sharply increased costs which have developed over the past twelve months."

Prices being asked of Michigan processors are: $5.00 per cwt. for Northern Spys, the variety preferred for apple slices and sauce; $4.50 for Jonathon, Golden Delicious and similar varieties; $4.25 for applesauce varieties; and $3.50 for McIntosh and Wealthy.

Growers expect acceptance of their higher price suggestions by Michigan processors prior to the harvest which begins in September.

As they dashed on, they left behind one thoughtful farm reporter, shaken a bit by the whole exchange, and wondering how anyone could properly assess the value of such an experience in terms of the lives of these young people.

Not everyone likes fairs and this is understandable. Most fairs are much alike, and some have allowed the carnival part to far overshadow the serious side. Usually, this is the fault of local people who fail to exhibit, or in other manner withdraw their advice and support.

The theme "Consumer Meets Producer" of the Michigan State Fair was especially appropriate this year and the State Fair authority is to be commended for much obvious effort in developing and carrying it out.

Where else--except in a few big zoos--do city children see live farm animals and learn to distinguish between them? Horses, to most of them, belong in the unreal world of western television, and Herefords are as rare as Hippos. Where, but at a fair, can they see where milk comes from and have a chance to feel the fat grains of oats in a shining sheaf?

Someday soon, farmers must realize that fairs--big ones and little ones, county and state fairs--provide one of the few remaining important links between the country and the non-farm public. Fairs deserve more rural support than most of them receive, if for no other reason than their educational value alone. They force us to think in terms of the best, and with only a little extra effort can easily become the farmer's most important public relations tool.

The local delegation was greeted by Mayor Byrne of St. Paul and Lt. Governor Jim Goetz of Minnesota. Congratulatory telegrams were received from Governor George Romney of Michigan and from agricultural leaders throughout the nation.

The Production Credit and Federal Land Bank offices located at 148 E. Ash street, in Mason serve the Ingham county area. The borrowers of these associations along with the Bank for Cooperatives throughout the 4th state area of the 7th farm credit district are the owners of this new St. Paul farm credit building.

Events included a dinner for 3,000 farmers and their wives, tours of the new 7-story building which provides over a billion dollars in farm credit each year. They also attended The Federal Land Bank, Federal Intermediate Credit Bank and Bank for Cooperatives annual meetings and Farm Credit Day at the Minnesota state fair.

Apple Price Due to Rise

Apple pie, apple juice, applesauce--or just plain eating apples for lunch sacks--will bear a higher price tag this year, due to higher labor costs of both grower and processor, and a shorter crop caused by adverse weather.

Consumers, who already are paying increased prices for applesauce, can anticipate higher prices in all fruit except citrus, as reflected in an announcement of a suggested price of nearly $1.00 per cwt. over 1966 prices by Michigan Agricultural Cooperative Marketing Association (MACMA).

Members of MACMA, an affiliate of the Michigan Farm Bureau, produce approximately 60 percent of the state's canning and freezing apples. The price announcement came as a result of several weeks study of market factors by the association's marketing committee.

All ladies may not agree, but the gal with an outdoor husband is indeed fortunate. Her man is truly different!

Take those holidays and weekends, for instance. Hubby always hops out of bed long before dawn to make preparations for the day. (Whoever heard of going fishing or hunting at any other time of day?) This thoughtful husband will insist his wife stay in bed--that getting his own breakfast is really nothing.

Barely has she snuggled back under the covers, though, when in he comes and hoarsely whispers, "Where did you put the coffee pot?" Or, "Did you see my thermos bottle?"

By the time she gets up and locates these elusive items, the wife usually decides it will be the lesser of evils to stay up and fix breakfast and get him out of the house.

New brides, of course, sometimes have difficulty becoming adjusted to this brand of thoughtfulness. And, it is strictly thoughtfulness for her which prompts him to sally forth in quest of fish or game.

For one thing, his absence with the family car assures her of plenty of time to do all her housework without any interruption. It is one time when there will be no cigar ashes on the rug or dirty socks in the middle of the living room floor. His absence also gives her time to sit and meditate about his better qualities or perhaps to phone her mother and discuss his sunny disposition.

As family provider, the husband feels bound to bring something home from his trip afield, no matter how insignificant it might seem to an outsider. It may be only a 4-ounce bluegill or a slightly bedraggled duck, but as he bears his trophy proudly home, he proclaims his favorite hobby is slicing the meat budget to the bone!

There were, of course, a few slight expenses, such as the 200-mile drive and the gas and oil expended; a new reel or the 3 boxes of shotgun shells; and the T-bone steak with the boys. (How did he know he would get stuck with the whole check?)

Yes, the gal with a real outdoor husband probably doesn't realize what a lucky person she is!

Fall Health Clinics Set

The Ingham county health department has announced that immunization clinics have been scheduled for the second Thursday of each week during the fall.

All children in Michigan schools are required to be immunized before school starts. Any children who have not received their shots may take advantage of the clinic.

Clinics will be at the county health department offices in Mason.

New Law to Curb Drunken Driver in Effect Nov. 2

EAST LANSING -- November 2, 1967, is a day long awaited by traffic safety officials in Michigan. On that day, Public Act No. 253 goes into effect. Michigan finally has an "implied consent" law.

The drinking driver is no longer looked upon as just a funny drunk. One study has shown that in 50 per cent of all fatal accidents in Michigan, alcohol was involved. Some researchers say the actual percentage could be as high as 65. The drinking driver is a serious traffic safety problem.

Under the present statute, a driver's refusal to take a blood alcohol test could not be used as evidence against him in court.

A driver who now refuses a test will face possible suspension or revocation of his license. The findings are admissible and could work either for or against the defendant depending upon the test results.

Under the law, up to 0.05%, by weight of alcohol in the defendant's blood will give rise to any presumption that the defendant was, or was not, under the influence but may be considered along with other evidence; 0.10% or more will be presumptive of impairment of the defendant's ability to operate a motor vehicle; and, 0.15% shall be construed as indicative that the defendant was under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

Because of the objections of many groups against the drawing of blood, the statute specifically states, "Notwithstanding any other provisions of this act, a person requested to take this test shall be advised that he has the option to demand that only a breath test shall be given, in which case his refusal to submit to any other test shall not constitute a refusal for the purposes of sections 625d and 625f." These are sections dealing with rights of citizens and suspensions and revocations.

Since it is assumed that a high percentage of persons arrested for driving under the influence of liquor will demand the breath test, a serious shortage of equipment and trained operators currently exists in Michigan.

In order to meet this challenge, the Michigan Law Enforcement Officers Training Council, the Michigan Department of Public Health, Department of State Police and Michigan State University Highway Traffic Safety Center have teamed together to begin a mammoth training program.

Early estimates indicate that 188 breathalizers, a proven breath type instrument for measuring blood alcohol content, will be needed, along with 750 trained police operators. Also, 20 state police instructor-inspectors will be trained to assist in the instruction program and perform periodic instrument checks in the field.

The first class of 20 men will begin their training at Kellogg Center's Continuing Education facilities on the Michigan State University campus on Monday, August 28. Be careful initial selection

U.S. Slang Confuses Aliens

Invite a foreign student to "chew the fat" or "bat the breeze" and you're asking for cross-cultural confusion, especially if the student is a new arrival stateside.

American slang is one of the foreign student's biggest obstacles, according to Richard E. Miller, director of Michigan State University's summer orientation center for foreign students.

To combat this problem, each of MSU's 70 participants spends three hours a day in pronunciation, conversation and composition classes.

And after class, armed with glossaries of American slang expressions and academic terminology, he finds numerous opportunities to exercise his newfound linguistic skills.

His roommate at MSU is usually an American student. His classmates represent a spectrum of nationalities whose only common tongue is English. His contacts beyond the campus are, invariably, Americans.

So he soon learns that to "have a beef" does not mean eating a steak and that the "big man on campus" is the one with the most power and prestige, not the widest girth.

MSU is one of 18 similar orientation centers sponsored by the Institute for International Education. Enrollees are all exchange students with grants from the state department. However, they make up only a fraction of this country's annual influx of students from abroad.

Nineteen countries including Afghanistan, Cyprus, Korea, Spain and Ecuador are represented by this summer's group at MSU.

In addition to language classes, they also take 3 seminars dealing with such aspects of American life as American's national identity, culture and personality of the family, and academic and social life on an American campus.

These are aimed at increasing their awareness of basic cultural differences and in some cases correcting impressions of the U.S. that students have acquired in their homeland.

For example, when the students went to Detroit recently on one of their frequent excursions, most expected to find the city totally destroyed, reports Miller. Exaggeration by their native press had apparently caused this misconception.

Spending a weekend with a family in an outlying Michigan community, says Miller, brings these cultural differences in sharp focus and later stimulates discussion about them.

Ample free time allows students to attend cultural and recreational activities or take advantage of regularly scheduled small-group language tutoring sessions. In addition, two full-time counselors are available to consult on personal, academic and social matters which may be troubling the newcomers.

Most of MSU's enrollees will be studying at some other university, next year. Foreign students accepted at MSU are receiving their orientation at some other center. "This gives them the widest possible variety of cross-cultural experience," explains Miller.

But perhaps the best first-hand practice the students get this summer in cross-cultural communication occurs within their own group. Nineteen nationalities live, study, eat, travel and explore together.

Easing into the new culture from the relatively secure vantage of the orientation center, Miller indicates, apparently increases their chances for successful adjustment.

Informal studies of these students and those who have not participated in similar orientation programs show they adjust more easily and rapidly to American campus life and that a higher percentage tend to finish their master's or doctoral programs.

23 Join Course For Ambulance Crew Training

Twenty-three men turned out for the first class of a 5-week course in first aid that will qualify them to serve as volunteer crewmen for Stockbridge Area Ambulance Inc. The first session took place in the basement of the Stockbridge Township Hall Thursday evening and classes will continue to meet on Thursdays at 7:30 p.m.

David Hoffman of Jackson will serve as instructor. Hoffman is a qualified instructor for both the standard and advanced American Red Cross first aid courses. During the first meeting Hoffman told his students that by the time the course is finished they will be able to handle almost any type of emergency situation requiring first aid and transportation to a hospital.

William Barber, who is responsible for recruiting drivers and attendants for SAAI, said he hopes to secure enough men to start a second class immediately. He said that anyone wishing to volunteer can do so by contacting him or William Woll. Barber said that many more volunteers will be needed to make SAAI operational by October 1st when Caskey Funeral Home in Stockbridge will discontinue its ambulance service.

Those attending the first class in first aid included:

Carl Mullins, Gerald Lawrence, Clyde Faber, Forest Hartley, Robert Wilson, Howard Bodell, Carlson Diefenthaler, William Woll, Robert Camp, Dennis McVay, John Johnston, Roland Stoffer, James Wiley, Theron Patterson, Keith Grosshans, David J. Sweet, Floyd Cosgray, Pat Heeneey, Aaron Craft, Harold Ludtke, Richard Ashmore, Ezra Zumbrum, and William Barber.

READY FOR DEDICATION--The Rev. Milan G. Maybee of the Eden United Brethren church and his congregation are working hard to have everything in the church's new sanctuary complete for the special dedication services later this month.

In New Church Services Set in Eden Dedication and Revival

A week long revival campaign is being scheduled by the Eden United Brethren church prior to dedication services for the new sanctuary September 24.

The Rev. Milan Maybee, pastor of the Eden church, announces that Bishop Clyde W. Meadows, D.D., president of the World's Christian Endeavor union, will be the special speaker at the dedication ceremony which begins at 3 p.m. He will also speak at the 11 a.m. service and 7:30 p.m. services.

Bishop Meadows has been active in work with young people for many years. His interest in them has taken him into many countries around the world. He was elected head of the World's Union, which has more than 3 million active members in Protestant churches in 75 countries or island groups.

The Bishop's favorite hobbies are flying, music and woodworking. He holds a private pilot's license for flying light aircraft and has been flying for over 25 years. He is often called the "flying parson."

There will be nightly revival services at 7:30 beginning September 18 through 24. The speaker will be Rev. Martin Magnus, pastor of the Warendale United Brethren church. The song evangelists will be "The Singing Chatfields" from Columbus, Ohio.

Webberville Garage Head Is Transferred

WEBBERVILLE--The State Highway commission today announced the appointment of new superintendents for its maintenance garages at Mt. Pleasant and Webberville.

Clair H. Rathburn, 56, presently superintendent of the Webberville garage, will be transferred to Mt. Pleasant where he will succeed Fred Campbell who retired.

Succeeding Rathburn at Webberville will be Milton R. Ames, 42, presently a foreman at the Brighton garage.

Both appointments are effective September 5.

Rathburn, a native of Manton, joined the highway department in 1945 and was assigned to the weighmaster division until 1957 when he was transferred to the maintenance division.

During the last 10 years, he has held supervisory positions in Lansing, Newberry, Grand Rapids and Brighton. He has been superintendent at Webberville for the last 2 years.

Ames, who was born in Newaygo, has been in the maintenance division ever since joining the highway department in 1946. He worked in the highway department's Grand Rapids sign shop from 1947 until 1963 when he was transferred to the Brighton garage. At Grand Rapids, he was a foreman from 1959 until 1963.

Webberville garage serves portions of Ingham and Livingston counties.

Hear Ye!

Doctors will Test Ears
For Free September 20

Adult residents of the Stockbridge area will have the opportunity to have their hearing tested during a month long testing program in Ingham County.

Dr. Maurice S. Reizen, Ingham County Health Department, said this week that the 10 Kiwanis clubs in the county will join his department in sponsoring the adult hearing testing program throughout September. Dr. Reizen said that the Michigan Association for Better Hearing will supply sound treated mobile units, electronic testing equipment and professional testing personnel.

The unit will be at the fire station in the Stockbridge Township Hall, Wednesday, September 20, from 1 p.m. until 5 p.m.

In urging all persons over the age of 18 to take advantage of the test, Dr. Reizen said, "Early detection of hearing loss can frequently prevent seriously handicapping problems."

Crash Fatal To Okemos Resident, 74

Funeral services were conducted Saturday, August 26 for Adolph Netzloff, 74, who died August 23 at Mason General hospital of injuries suffered in a truck-tractor accident on Okemos road August 21.

Netzloff was making a left turn into a driveway when his tractor was struck in the rear by a gravel truck. He was taken to Mason General suffering from a skull fracture and broken ribs.

Netzloff resided at 3560 Hulet road, Okemos. He had lived in Ingham county for 47 years, 25 years of which were spent in numerous townships.

Survivors include his wife, Tina, and a son, Richard, Soss.

Rev. Douglas McBride of the Faith Lutheran church in Okemos officiated at the funeral services and burial was in Evergreen cemetery, Lansing.

Pallbearers were Hanford Thorn, Arthur Cooper Jr., Philip Abbott, Fred Hoffecker, Edward Rennett and Roger Theodorski.

9 Ingredients in Prescription For Educational Opportunities

A nine-ingredient prescription for educational opportunities to combat the evils and injustices of inner-city life was recommended to the State Board of Education Wednesday and adopted unanimously.

Ira Polley, state superintendent of public instruction proposed a program of urgent and immediate action to use the schools, the teachers, the total education resource of each community, its people and its businesses and industry, in a concerted frontal attack on the ghetto conditions that are producing the greatest internal challenge to this nation since the Civil War.

Polley proposed extended use of the schools after hours and in the summer, reductions in class sizes, a step-up in pre-school programs, summer work-study opportunities, incentive awards to encourage college aspirations, creation of a College Service Corps, and a less restrictive policy possibly for participation in school athletic activities.

The program to become operational sometime during the 1967-68 school year would require an $11.8 million legislative appropriation. Estimated cost for a full year of operation, which could begin in the fall of 1968, is $23.8 million. Marilyn Jean Kelly of Detroit, state board of education vice president said, "I move that the Board endorse the program as the Board's answer to the many questions which the inner cities have brought before the community this summer."

James F. O'Neil, of Livonia, a board member, also praised the proposal and seconded the motion.

Edwin L. Novak, board president, cited the far greater costs of riots and the irretrievable losses in human life, ability and dignity in contrast to the positive approach the program offers. The plan received unanimous board approval and the budget proposal to activate the programs is being submitted to the governor and the legislature.

Beamed only into areas of severe economic deprivation, the program would:

- Reduce class sizes to 15 students in grades kindergarten through 2nd to establish a teacher-student balance that would permit the personal attention and individualized instruction that the very young child of the ghetto needs to adjust to the "outside world." The program, viewed as a first step in reducing class sizes in all six elementary grades, would cost

$7 million for the portion of 1967-68 in which it could be put into effect. Estimated cost for a full year of operation is $18.7 million.

- Pre-school programs for four-year-olds to introduce them to the school environment and to provide the social tools and the age-equivalent knowledge, denied them by poverty, that are essential to the learning process. If established in the second semester of the coming school year, the program would serve some 20,000 students at a cost of $1.6 million.

- Provide funds, through a $400,000 appropriation, to open the schools in late afternoon and early evening hours to extend the influence and the services of the classroom and recreational facilities in contrast to the ghetto streets and tenements.

- Provide $1.5 million for ten-week summer educational and recreational programs for a maximum of 30,000 youth, to absorb the leisure hours that must be spent in the inner-city vacuum of "nothing to do."

- Supplement federal funds which have provided more than 2,200 Michigan youth employment in work study programs with a $500,000 appropriation to serve an additional 1,000 students. The appropriation would supply 10 weeks of employment to these students at $1.25 an hour.

- Establish 400 grants of not more than $800 to give high school youth who have demonstrated the ability to achieve college level work the where-with-all to continue their educations. The incentive awards, at a total cost of $320,000 are aimed at demonstrating the deep interest of our society in encouraging its members to develop their abilities to the fullest extent.

- Establishment of a college service corps to enlist the aid of college students in tutoring and other activities which would extend the friendship and interest of plain human understanding and warmth that has proved successful in Peace Corps programs overseas to the domestic scene. The program would require a $500,000 appropriation to permit local school districts to employ 100 community workers to organize and direct these services.

- A re-examination of eligibility requirements for participation in inter-scholastic athletics programs to examine possible ways of relaxing academic standards to expand, in a prudent manner, the opportunities for under-achieving youth to be included. Participation in the athletic programs is seen as a positive influence in retaining student interest in the school and its activities and a means of giving the severely ego-shattered youth an area of self-pride and the incentive to stay in school.

Boat, Motor Are Stolen

James Bucher, 3409 Gale road, told sheriff's officers that sometime between 6 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. on August 30, someone took his boat which was in the Grand river behind his home, and an outboard motor which was lying on the ground about 50 feet from where the boat was tied.

The boat was described as a 12 foot home-made fiberglass rowboat with a blue top and white bottom. The motor is an Esca Golden Jet.

Bucher placed the value of the boat and the motor at $100 each.

Service Men

STOCKBRIDGE -- John W. Beard II, 24, whose parents live on Route 1, 4621 Milner, Stockbridge, was commissioned an Army second lieutenant upon graduation from the Armor Officer School at Ft. Knox, Kentucky August 31.

The lieutenant received 23 weeks of instruction in preparation for his first assignment as an armor platoon leader.

STOCKBRIDGE -- A Army Private Ernest C. Corser, 20, whose wife, Carolyn, lives on Kane road, Stockbridge, completed 8 weeks of advanced training as a combat engineer September 1 at Ft. Leonard Wood, Missouri.

During his training, he received instruction in combat squad tactics, use of infantry weapons and engineer reconnaissance. He also was trained in the techniques of road and bridge building, camouflage, and demolitions.

Staff Sergeant Monte C. Mingus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allan M. Mingus of 3901 Stillwell avenue, Lansing, is serving in Vietnam with a special engineering construction unit at Tuy Hoa Air Base.

The sergeant, a site development specialist, was assigned at Sheppard AFB, Texas, before going to Vietnam. He was graduated from Holt high school and attended the University of Alaska. His wife, Gail, is the daughter of Gale Farr of 3141 Harper road, Mason.

WEBBERVILLE -- Fire Control Technician Seaman Apprentice Robert K. West, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. West of Crystal, Michigan, and husband of the former Miss Suzanne M. Bowen of 1351 Stockbridge road, Webberville, is in the Mediterranean serving aboard the Sixth Fleet destroyer USS Davis.

His ship has seen duty in Vietnam both as an aircraft rescue destroyer with several aircraft carriers and as a naval gunfire support destroyer. As a result of this action the ship holds several battle efficiency gunnery and operations awards.

LESLIE--The U.S. Army Satellite Communications agency recently received its first re-enlistment under a new military communications specialty.

S/Sgt. Ronald L. Brower, formerly of Leslie and now stationed at Monmouth, New Jersey, was sworn in for a 3-year re-enlistment as a Satellite Communications Ground Equipment Agency Commander. He will be participating in a testing program using the agency's experimental system.

S/Sgt. Brower has been in the army 10-1/2 years. He and his wife, Kazuno, have 3 children, Carol, Michael and Virginia. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brower of Meridian road, Leslie.

His new position requires that he have a thorough knowledge of satellite communications systems as well as associated communications systems and networks.

HERE'S HOW IT WORKS

PICK UP FREE BINGO CARDS: Each week (Adults only, please) pick up your Free Bingo Cards from the sponsoring merchants listed below. Rules of the game allow the merchants to give you only one card on each store visit. You may, however, make as many visits as you wish each day of the week. THE MORE CARDS YOU PLAY THE BETTER YOUR CHANCES ARE TO WIN.

HOW TO PLAY: To play, check the ads in EACH WEEK'S issue of the Ingham County News. The ads of the merchants listed below will contain one or more "Newspaper Bingo" numbers in the "Bingo Bug" symbol (shown above). Occasionally numbers, in the "Bingo Bug" symbol, may be found elsewhere in the paper. Check the classified ads for additional numbers. IF YOU CAN MATCH (JUST CIRCLE OR "X") THE MATCHING NUMBERS) ALL 24 NUMBERS ON ONE OF YOUR BINGO CARDS WITH THE TOTAL OF THE NUMBERS PUBLISHED IN THE ISSUE OF THE NEWS EACH WEEK - YOU HAVE A "BINGO" - AND YOU ARE A WINNER!!!

AT LEAST $50.00 WEEKLY!! Winners will share a weekly $50 Bingo Bucks prize. If there is only one winner, he wins all of the Bucks. If there is more than one winner, all winners will share the Bucks equally. If there are no winners any week, the $50.00 weekly Bingo Bucks will be added to the following week's prize fund.

CHECK EACH ISSUE OF THE PAPER: A new game will start each Wednesday and be completed the following Monday. A new set of Bingo numbers will be published for each week's game. A new color of Bingo cards will be available each week at the sponsoring merchant's stores. To be eligible to win, you must play Bingo cards of the correct color for that week's game. The color of the cards for each week's game will be announced on this page.

IF YOU ARE A WINNER: If you have a winning Bingo card, on which all 24 numbers have been matched with the total of the numbers published that week in The News, write your name, address, phone number, and the name of the store where you got your winning card on the back of your card and mail or bring to The Ingham County News, 222 West Ash Street, Mason, Michigan, on or before 5 p.m. the Monday following the publication of each Bingo game.

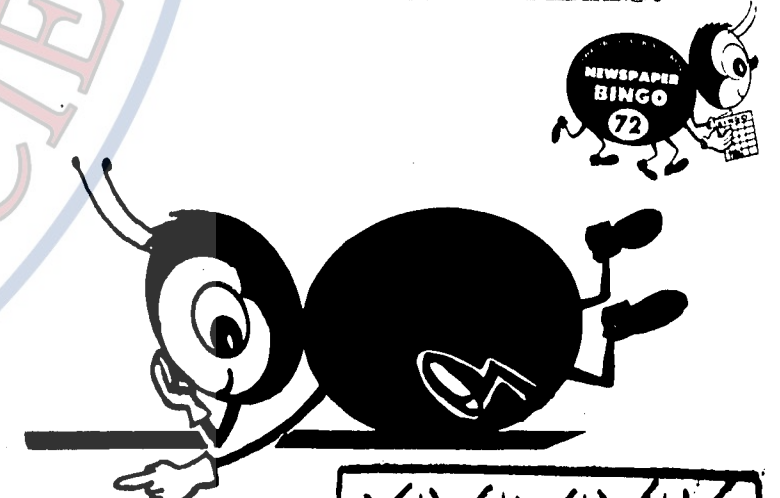

RULES OF THE GAME

NO OBLIGATION OR PURCHASE NECESSARY: There is no obligation or purchase necessary. A copy of the paper is available for playing the game at the office of this newspaper - also at the public library. You may play as many cards as you wish - they are free. Get as many cards as you wish - one at a time - from the friendly merchants listed below. (Adults only, please).

DIFFERENT COLOR OF CARDS EACH WEEK: The color of the cards changes each week. To be a winner, you must play cards of the correct color for that week. Mutilated or altered cards will not be honored. ALL 24 NUMBERS MUST BE MATCHED TO WIN.

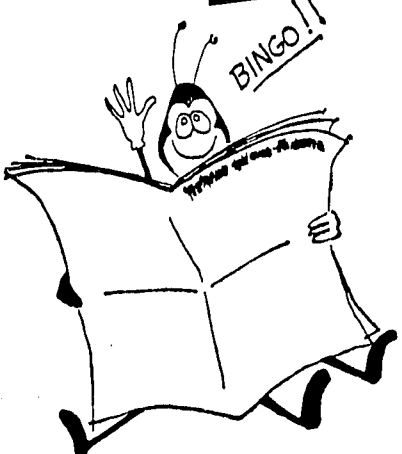

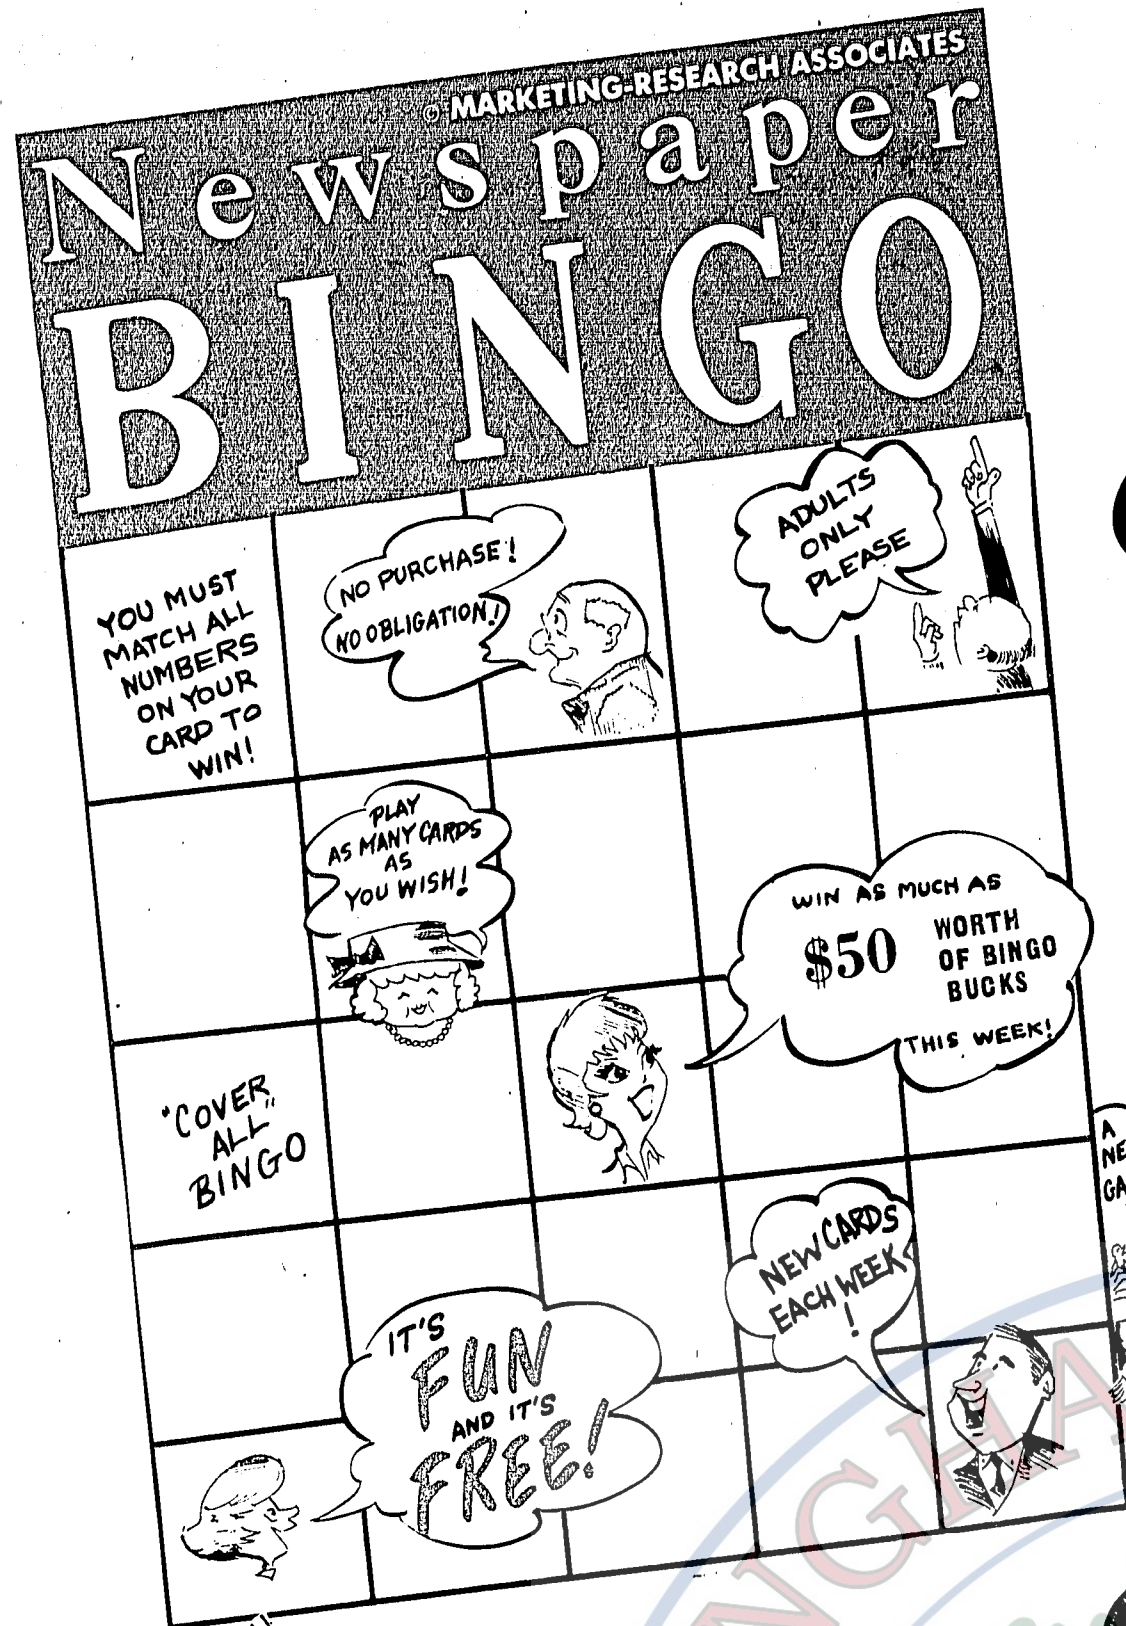

CHANCE DETERMINES NUMBERS: The Bingo numbers for each week's game are drawn from a revolving Bingo number dispensing cage at the office of this newspaper. Some duplication of Bingo numbers may occur in sponsor's ads. This duplication does not affect the total of the numbers drawn or the game. All numbers drawn will appear in the sponsoring merchants' ads, also possibly elsewhere in the newspaper, for each week's game. Employees of The News and their families are not eligible to win any of the cash prizes.

If summer squash is on your list, choose those that are small in size. The best yellow straightneck or green Zucchini are not more than 2 inches in diameter and 6 to 8 inches in length. No need to peel or remove the seeds for both are soft enough to eat and they add color and texture. Squashes of larger sizes have tougher skins and more seeds so are better suited for frying or baking than boiling.

If you're planning to freeze or can peaches, plan your time to match the ripening time of your favorite peach, use recommended varieties, and know how much to expect.

After the Halehaven variety, we'll find the Kithaven, then Redskin, then Michigan Elberta varieties. Only the Halehaven variety has a tendency to darken, so use ascorbic acid when freezing this kind. The Elberta is recommended for canning only. Otherwise, our fine Michigan peaches all excel as fresh eating and for canning and freezing.

It's peachy to know that 2 1/2 pounds of fresh peaches give 2 pints canned or frozen. One bushel (approximately 48 pounds) of peaches gives 34 to 48 pints canned or frozen, depending upon quality and size, whether halves or sliced and closely packed.

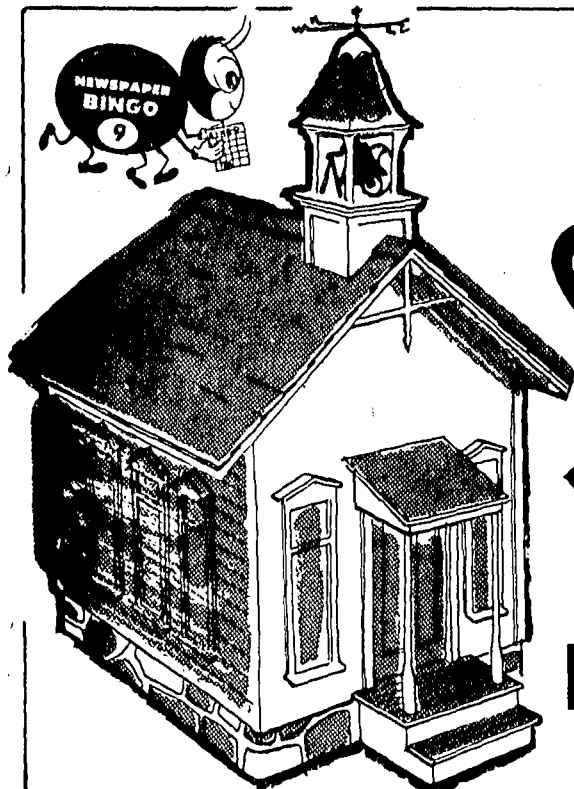

Michigan peaches, mostly the red varieties--Redhaven, Richhaven and Halehaven--are coming to this area, mostly from Benton Harbor. Both varieties are excellent fresh, frozen and canned. When really ripe, they are freestone--the pit separates easily from the flesh. Ripeness is your clue--peaches must look good to be good. Quality indicators include firmness, maturity and good form. Firm, ripe peaches will be full ripe in 3 to 4 days at room temperature. Keep full-ripe peaches in the refrigerator.

Most modern peaches are defuzzed by soft brushes soon after picking. Because of their tender skins, peaches can be sliced without peeling.

Cool, wet weather has kept the lettuce supply crisp and high quality. But delayed the harvest of carrots and celery--a little behind schedule. Low supply and high price describes cauliflower these days.

Blueberries, sweet, almost seedless, and finest quality continue coming at peak supply. Available through September. The clue to blueberry quality is in the name. Ripe and flavorful blueberries are really, truly blue. If they have a reddish cast, avoid them--they'll be sour and disappointing. The blue bloom on blueberries is a protective coating. It protects us, too, by telling us that blueberries are the ripest and best.

we care

how many ribs in a pork loin rib portion?

We think there should be seven.

Not five or six.

With A&P's seven-rib portion, you get more of the select meat.

How can you tell how many ribs you're getting?

It's easy.

With your fingers, you can feel and count the rib bones in the package.

Next time you're buying a Pork Loin Rib Portion, check it.

If you can't count one, two, three, four, five, six, seven ribs, you're missing select meat.

You're not getting the best value for your meat dollar.

Seven-Rib Pork Loin Portions are just one example of the full value A&P meats offer.

We think that caring like this about fair portions has helped make A&P America's largest meat retailer.

When you think about it, shouldn't A&P be your store?

IN DOUBT ABOUT WHAT A News WANT AD CAN DO FOR YOU? READ TODAY'S WANT ADS AND FIND OUT!

If you are not a regular reader of the Want Ad pages, you don't know what you are missing. Want Ads make very interesting reading. Take the wide range of useful items offered in the For Sale columns, the selection of better living opportunities in the Real Estate For Sale and Rental columns, and the list of cars, from jalopies to limousines in the Automobile columns. Then there are the Help Wanted, Announcement, Services Offered and Wanted columns, all packed with interesting news for buyer or shopper.

When you see all these ads, you will recognize that many of them are placed by private individuals and families. These are folks who have learned what a low cost Want Ad can do for them. They know that when they have something to sell, or wish to find something, a Want Ad is their answer. A call to 677-9011 or 694-0425 puts them in contact with a pleasant, helpful ad-visor at the Want Ad department. And almost without fail, a NEWS reader, or several, will respond to their ad.

*If you want results,
you want the News.*
